

STUDENTS PASS DEBATE PROPOSITION BY LARGEST MAJORITY EVER POLLED

Contest Postponed Until December 16 Account of Disastrous Fire in New Bern.

HARD FIGHT IS EXPECTED

The proposal to put inter-collegiate debating on a sound University basis, with each student paying an annual fee of 50 cents, was voted upon Monday, November 27, and passed by the record vote of 1,055 to 244.

The results of this ballot have been reported to the University administration, which will provide suitable means for collecting the annual fee of 50 cents at the beginning of each fall quarter.

Heretofore, only men belonging to one of the two literary societies were eligible for the debating team. Now, however, any student may try for a place. The University debating council is to be reorganized so that it will be composed of four members elected by the student body, two elected by each literary society, and two faculty advisers who shall be chosen by the eight student members of the council.

The proposal for the 50 cent fee was discussed fully before the vote on Monday; so there can be no feeling that anything was "put over" on anyone. Every student was invited to vote the way he was inclined, and in response came the largest number of votes ever polled, and the largest majority by which any motion has ever been passed.

Tennis Team Takes Honors In Virginia

The University tennis team has added one more laurel to the wreath that Carolina wears, sorely defeating both the University of Virginia and the University of Richmond, Va.

On the 28th of November the Carolina tennis team played the University of Richmond, at Richmond, seven matches (five singles and two doubles), winning all of them. The scores were, for the singles: Coxe of Carolina defeated Treadway of Richmond, 6-2, 6-2; Bruton defeated Hatcher, 6-1, 6-1; Johnston defeated Bell, 6-0, 6-1; Jernigan defeated Riley, 6-2, 6-0; Smith defeated Lloyd, 6-2, 6-2.

In the doubles, Johnston and Bruton of Carolina won from Treadwell and Hatcher of Richmond, 6-1, 6-0; and Coxe and Jernigan defeated Bell and Riley, 6-4, 6-4.

The next day, on November 29, at Charlottesville, North Carolina took all the tennis matches from Virginia, except that which Captain Flournoy of Virginia won from Bruton, 6-3, 6-2.

The weather for the matches was ideal, but the arrangements were somewhat mediocre.

In the singles against Virginia, Captain Coxe of Carolina won from Hoffheimer, Virginia, 6-1, 6-2. Johnston, Carolina, from Bruns, Virginia, 2-6, 6-2, 6-1; and Jernigan, Carolina, from Miller, Virginia, 6-1, 2-6, 6-3.

In the doubles, Coxe and Jernigan, Carolina, defeated Flournoy and Bruns, Virginia, 6-1, 6-4.

E. L. MACKIE HEADS MATHEMATICS CLUB

At the meeting of the Mathematics club Wednesday, November 29, at 206 Phillips hall, E. L. Mackie was elected president and E. T. Brown secretary of the club for the year. After the election of officers Dr. J. W. Lasley presented a paper on "The Solution of General Cubic Equations," after which there was a discussion of the problems of the department, and especially of the prize problems of last year.

BRILLIANT GRID SEASON GIVES CAROLINA CHAMPIONSHIP TITLE

Only Other Undeclared Team Is V. P. I., Whose Tie With Davidson Ranks Them Below Tar Heels in South Atlantic Standing.

A fitting climax to a brilliant season on the gridiron was the Thanksgiving Day 10-7 defeat administered by the invincible Tar Heels to their traditional rivals of the old Dominion. The outcome of the game did not upset any dope, although some disappointment that the margin of victory was not larger has been expressed.

ANNUAL MARY D. WRIGHT DEBATE TOMORROW NIGHT

W. D. White and J. M. Saunders of Phi Will Oppose H. D. Duls and L. T. Bledsoe of Di.

The fourth annual Mary D. Wright Memorial debate which will be held in Gerrard hall tomorrow night promises to be a hotly contested affair. W. Dabney White and J. M. Saunders of the Phi will uphold the affirmative, while L. T. Bledsoe and H. D. Duls of the Di will defend the negative of the query: "Resolved—That the United States Railroad Labor Board be given the power to enforce its decisions."

The affirmative will probably attack the present conditions of the railroad industrial situation, and advocate the granting to the board power to enforce its decisions. The negative will oppose the proposed plan from many angles, one of which will be that the granting of power to the board is simply putting compulsory arbitration into effect.

The Mary D. Wright Memorial debate takes the place of the old junior inter-society debate. It was established in 1919 by Mr. P. E. Wright, of Landis, in memory of his wife. A medal valued at $25 is offered each year to the best speaker on the winning team.

Since the establishment of the debate the winners of the memorial medal have been as follows: 1919—T. C. Taylor, Di; 1920—C. L. Moore, Phi; 1921—V. V. Young, Phi.

CAPTAIN PRITCHARD ENTERTAINS TEAM

Captain Grady Pritchard entertained 18 members of the football squad at an informal supper at his home last Tuesday night at 6:30. Those enjoying Captain Pritchard's hospitality were the team that started the Virginia game and Shepard, Lineberger, and Fordham from the line, and Randolph, Sparrow and Merritt of the backfield. Coach Bob Fetzer and Jimmy Ragsdale also were present.

Debaters For Chain Contest Try Out

Three men and an alternate will be chosen in the preliminaries tonight to represent the University in a series of chain debates which will be held in January. The competition for the debate is very keen, about 12 men going out for it. The judges for the preliminary will be Professor George McKie, Professor Murchison, of the school of commerce, and D. D. Carroll.

The subject for the debate is: "Resolved, That the allied nations should release each other from all indebtedness incurred for the purpose of carrying on the World War." The University has the negative, and the team chosen Friday night will meet the affirmative teams of the University of South Carolina at Columbia, S. C., on the night of January 11; Oglethorpe University in Atlanta on January 12, and the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa, Alabama, on January 13. The arrangement of chain debating is a new thing here.

The large number of men going out for the debate, together with the large majority by which the debate bill was passed last week shows that the student body is taking a great interest in intercollegiate debating this year.

CALENDAR

- Friday: Devereux Players in Memorial Hall at 8:30 p. m. Saturday: Class football championship game on Emerson field at 2:30 p. m. Literary societies meet at 7 p. m.

The University of North Carolina was represented this season by perhaps the greatest football team ever developed at Chapel Hill. To this team the South Atlantic championship is generally conceded, as the Tar Heels' record is superior to that of any other eleven in this section, and in addition to this honor, Carolina is classed with Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt as the "Big Three" of the South. V. P. I. also finished the season without suffering defeat except at the hands of Centre, but the 7-7 tie with Davidson, a team that was later beaten by Carolina 29-6, places the Blacksburg outfit second best in South Atlantic circles.

Georgetown and Navy are in the geographical division known as the South Atlantic states, composed of Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina and the District of Columbia. Both institutions had exceptionally strong teams, but as they did not play other elevens in this section, they cannot be considered as candidates for South Atlantic honors.

By comparing the records of V. P. I. and Carolina it is obvious that the latter has a decided advantage over the other. The Virginians had to be contented with a tie at Davidson, while the Wildcats were easily subdued by the Fetzer clan 29 to 6. Both elevens overwhelmed Maryland, but the Tar Heels ran up a larger score, using scrubs most of the time. The Blacksburg crew licked Hartsell's Wolfpack in a more decisive fashion than did the University, but it must be recalled that the Fair Week battle was Carolina's fourth game in thirteen days. The V. M. I. scores do not indicate much difference. The Cadets failed to cross V. P. I.'s goal line but scored a touchdown on the Tar Heels, thanks to Ryder's interception of a short pass which resulted in his 55-yard sprint. White's field goal was all that V. M. I. could produce Thanksgiving and V. P. I. carried off (Continued on page three)

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE FOR 1923 ANNOUNCED

Mercer, Florida and Virginia Among Big Teams to Meet Carolina on Local Court.

Manager Harold Ross has announced the schedule of the 1923 basketball team, which opens the season December 16 with the Durham Y. M. C. A. at Durham. The schedule is shorter than usual, only 13 games being listed before the Southern Intercollegiate Tournament, which will be held in Atlanta beginning February 28. Mercer, Florida and Virginia are among the teams to be seen here this winter, while Washington and Lee, V. M. I. and Lynchburg College will be played on the Virginia trip.

- The schedule follows: December 16—Durham Y. M. C. A. at Durham. January 9—Durham Y. M. C. A. at Chapel Hill. January 19—Wake Forest at Chapel Hill. January 23—Mercer at Chapel Hill. January 30—Washington and Lee at Lexington. January 31—V. M. I. at Lexington. February 1—Lynchburg College at Lynchburg. February 5—Wake Forest at Wake Forest. February 8—Florida at Chapel Hill. February 17—Trinity at Durham. February 19—N. C. State at Raleigh. February 22—N. C. State at Chapel Hill. February 24—Virginia at Chapel Hill. February 28—S. I. C. Tournament at Atlanta.

All the manuscripts for the Mask and Wig contest were received before Thanksgiving and are now in the hands of the judges. The winners will be announced in the next issue of the Tar Heel.

ASHEVILLE AND NEW BERN HIGH SCHOOLS IN BATTLE FOR STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

Intercollegiate Debating Will Receive All-University Support—Program to Be Extended.

ALL STUDENTS ELIGIBLE

The final game in the state high school football series, between Asheville, western champions, and New Bern, eastern champions, which was scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, has been postponed for one week and will be played Saturday, December 16. The reason for this action is on account of the recent disastrous fire at New Bern, many of the players having been on guard duty for the past week and therefore not in good condition for the game.

Both teams have come through the season without having been defeated, and the best high school football game of the year is expected.

By defeating the fast Sanford team Saturday New Bern won the right to represent the East. The fact that they have scored 183 points to their opponents 6 shows that "Hap" Badin, a guard on the 1919 Carolina team, who is coaching the eastern elevens, has built up a team that is good both on offense and defense.

The Asheville eleven is a heavy, fast stepping bunch, and has rolled up the total of 200 points to their opponents 20. The last obstacle in the West was removed Saturday when they romped on the powerful Monroe eleven 20 to 7.

New Bern's Record: New Bern ... 27; Rocky Mount ... 0; New Bern ... 24; Washington ... 0; New Bern ... 19; Kinston ... 0; New Bern ... 39; Goldsboro ... 0; New Bern ... 24; Washington ... 6; New Bern ... 13; Wilmington ... 0; New Bern ... 31; Rocky Mount ... 0; New Bern ... 6; Sanford ... 0. Asheville's Record: Asheville ... 40; Blue Ridge ... 0; Asheville ... 9; Knoxville ... 0; Asheville ... 24; C. M. N. A. ... 7; Asheville ... 14; Asheville School ... 0; Asheville ... 34; Christ School ... 0; Asheville ... 49; Salisbury ... 0; Asheville ... 13; Charlotte ... 0; Asheville ... 6; Bingham ... 6; Asheville ... 20; Monroe ... 7.

FALL DANCES ARE WELL UP TO PAST STANDARDS

In Spite of Counter-Attraction of Virginia Game Large Crowds Attend Annual Hops.

The annual fall dances at the University are always considered among the best in the South, and this year they came fully up to their established reputation. At first it was feared that because the Virginia game was to be played in Charlottesville it would ruin the Carolina dances and only a few would attend. This, however, was far from the truth. The dances were well attended and it is recorded in the annuals of frolic that quite a few "queens" did Chapel Hill honor as the conquering heroes returned from the Old Dominion. The dances were given December 1 and 2.

The Carolina club, successors and better of the renowned Tar Baby Five are well worthy of high mention, for their music was exceptionally good and will remain a credit to them. It is said that they far exceeded Weidmeyer's last appearance in Chapel Hill. Several of the players on this orchestra have time and again turned down offers to join orchestras of national fame, it is said. Of all the five dances given it would be hard to pick any one and say that it was the best. The German club dance Saturday night was the best attended. All of them had life, and a maximum of joy in evidence.

Young ladies attended the dances from all over the state, but the majority of them were from the east. Greensboro had a large number present. Raleigh, Charlotte, Wilmington and Durham were all well represented. Quite a large number of out-of-state girls also attended. It is estimated that over 60 girls were on the Hill Friday and Saturday.

With only two weeks until the Christmas holidays, and examinations close (Continued on page three)

EIGHT EXPERTS HELP THE TAR HEEL TO PICK TEAM

Athletic Reporter Submits Question to Vote of Well Known Coaches and Sport Writers.

The Tar Heel has succeeded in getting eight of the best known coaches and sport writers in the South Atlantic states to vote on an all-sectional team. This method of selecting a composite eleven is more satisfactory than having one man who has probably seen only two or three teams in action, pick a mythical team based on newspaper reports. Every important team in this region has been seen on the field by at least one of the voters in the All-South Atlantic selection printed above.

"Red" Johnston, the flashy Carolina halfback, was the only player to be chosen unanimously, although Tilson and Gettle, of V. P. I., received seven votes each. R. Morris, Hardwick, Pritchard, Blount, and McDonald were the choice of five voters. Captain Hall, of Virginia, was selected by four, and Arnold, his team-mate, came next with three votes. The voters differed widely on one of the tackle positions but Hunt, of V. M. I., received three votes and beat out Fenwick, who got only two.

Carolina Geologists Take Important Trip

A trip to the coal mines at Cumbock, near the banks of the Deep River, was taken by 15 members of the geology department, Saturday before Thanksgiving. The trip was taken for the purpose of getting a better idea of the coal resources of North Carolina, and of studying at first hand coal fossils and the way in which coal is mined. Fossils were brought back to Chapel Hill which are expected to be useful in determining the disputed age of the coal beds, which are thought to belong either to the Triassic or the Permian age.

Members of the party report that the coal resources of the state are far greater than is generally known, and prospects for the future development of the Cumbock mines are bright. The members of the party were Dr. W. F. Prouty, G. R. McCarthy, H. C. Amick, C. H. Walker, T. E. Powell, instructor in geology at Elon College; E. C. Leonard, of the faculty of Bur-

DEVEREUX PLAYERS HERE

The Clifford Devereux Players, who have formerly delighted Chapel Hill with the excellent performance of worth-while drama, present a program of Shaw and Shakespeare in Memorial Hall this afternoon and evening. Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" is the matinee; "Arms and the Man" by G. B. Shaw is the nightcap.

DAMN LATEST SCHOOL OF MODERN THOUGHT SAYS HUGH WALPOLE, NOVELIST

Noted English Author Delivers Interesting Lecture on Novel Reading and Novel Writing.

HEARD BY LARGE CROWD

"Damn the latest school of modern thought!" These were the words used by Hugh Walpole, English novelist, during the course of a lecture before the University community Wednesday night in Memorial hall. The great British author thus expressed his opinion of the modern critics and all other "modern fanatics," while in the midst of bewailing the hardships the present-day author undergoes.

Mr. Walpole's lecture was the second of the series arranged by the University lecture committee for the current year. It was heard by an appreciative audience which filled Memorial hall to its capacity. The Britisher's address, intermingled with some very telling bits of humor, was well received by the students and townspeople.

"Novel Reading and Writing" was the theme which Mr. Walpole selected to present before the students. The one chief characteristic he noted among present-day novel readers is a tendency to divide into the superior and the inferior classes. Novels of genuine merit published today, thus, are not read by the reading public at large, as were the books of Scott, Dickens, Thackeray, and a later group of popular but classical authors. If continued in this manner indefinitely in the future, the speaker predicted that novel reading will become a thing of the past, because treatises on sex and stories built around the theories of psycho-analysis will predominate.

The present-day novel writer would give an inestimable fortune to have lived one hundred years ago, when there were no set theories or rules to be followed in the preparation of a novel. Mr. Walpole explained when making reference to the art of novel writing. There are too many rules, too many cranks to be pleased, too many critics of the modern school of thought, in his (Continued on page three)

Carolina Play Gets Run In New York

"Off Nag's Head," Douglas MacMillan's waird tragedy of the Carolina coast, was presented last month at the Threshold Playhouse in New York City. The play was well acted by a cast of Threshold players and was well received during its run of three weeks.

This play will very likely be carried on the Playmakers' tour of eastern North Carolina which occurs in February, since a serious play of this type is needed to give much-needed contrast to the program which will be otherwise rather sprightly. In that case it will be handled by a veteran cast, including Elizabeth Taylor, Katherine Batts, LeGrande Everett and George Denny.

FIRST SHIPPING OFFENSE DEALT WITH BY COUNCIL

The shipping machinery of the University student body was recently called into action for the first time this year; a student having been sent home for stealing. On the 25th of November an overcoat was missed from Swain Hall. A few days later, at the Carolina-Virginia game, a member of the sophomore class was seen snugly ensconced within the missing coat. The owner recognized the coat, and forced a showdown; at first the culprit waived the insinuation that he had stolen the coat, denied any double dealing, and claimed the coat as his own. But the rightful owner knew his coat by the marks thereon, established his claim upon it to the satisfaction of the student council, and the defendant confessed.

The thief was soon advised by the student council to seek other fields; he left quietly. The owner has his coat, the honor of Carolina is vindicated, and the sin has been paid full wages; it is dead, and he-gone.
