A BRIGHT FUTURE

Hats off to the Wigue and Masque! "The Kalif of Kavak" was as delightful and entertaining as could be. That was a real show, with plenty of color, wit, and song, and as pretty girls as we have seen on the stage. It was a brilliant, sparkling spectacle that made one hold his sides with the physical reaction from the clever vaudeville.

The Wigue and Masque has started something. We can see a bright future for this organization at Carolina, if its initial production is representative of the kind or using it will continue to produce here. It in no way conflicts with our celebrated Carolina Playmakers, a dramatic organization whose life is no more in question. The purpose of the Wigue and Masque seems to be something really new and novel, and with the send-off it has received on its initial appearance, it would seem that the Wigue and Masque is here to stay.

The possibilities of this organization at Carolina are unlimited. We feel safe in predicting that in time it will truly be to Carolina what the Triangle club is to Princeton, and that membership in the Wigue and Masque will be the same high and coveted honor that Triangle membership is to Princeton men.

CAROLINA SPIRIT AGAIN

The Carolina spirit of yesterday is still with us. At an institution the size of the Greater University, with its various and diversified campus complexities, so widely and highly organized, with factions and fraternities and orders and clubs of every description tending to break down the old college spirit and order, it takes some special event backed with a respectable tradition to bring the men together and test the spirit which, after all, may not be lost. Such an event was the Carolina Smoker last Saturday night.

The unification that is needed on the campus, the drawing together of the loose ends into a more definite unity, as wanted by those speaking of Carolina's needs in the current number of the Magazine, was in evidence this night. Here, under the roof of Swain Hall, gathered for a program which at any other event than the Carolina Smoker would have doubtless sounded dull and platitudinous for the most part, was Carolina. The law student, the pharmacist, the literary prodigy, the physics lab instructor, the Phi Beta Kappas, the Cake Eater, the Y. M. C. A. devotee, men from all parts of the Carolina campus, men representing every activity, were together as one, and that one on this night was the 100% Carolina man.

We laughed, we talked, we smoked, we saw some men we had never seen before and discovered that they room the dorm below us, we discussed the chances of this or that political candidate, we ate too many pickles and drank too much coffee, we relished Dr. Connor's Boll Weevil slap-in-the-face, we applauded long and vigorously Dr. Chase and the faculty impersonations on the stage; we got together. That last, in short, was the main thing that we did—we got together, and something inside of us made us feel good and happy, proud of Carolina and her traditions, proud of the ideals that the University stands for. Here, in Swain Hall, we found friends and classmates, and we made right sure, once and for all, that the Carolina spirit is still with us, apparently to remain for all time.

BASKETBALL ISSUE

This is the basketball issue of the Tar Heel.

The editors have attempted to give a comprehensive review of the season, bringing out many facts that are not known by a great number of the followers of the game. In spite of the defeat in Atlanta the season has been a most successful one, the team winning the South Atlantic championship and losing not a single game on the regular schedule.

The student body should feel proud of the work of McDonald's quint this season. It had added another successful chapter to Carolina's remarkable athletic history. The team has elected as next year's pilot, Winton Green, of Wilmington, two years star forward on the Carolina five. Green is a brilliant basketball player, and has been a genuine star during his two seasons on the varsity team. Under his leadership next year we can do no less than expect another fine season and a championship or so.

Trustees Named By State Legislature

In a joint meeting of the House and Senate Friday, the General Assembly named the trustees for the University. The Assembly confirmed the report of the joint committee. The trustees for State College were also named.

Those elected to the University board are as follows: For the term ending November 30, 1931—Thomas Conter Bowie, Ashe; Bennahan Cameron, Durham; Adolphus Hill Eller, Forsyth; J. W. #### Walters Captain Of Wrestlers Next Year

J. S. Walters, of Mooresville, a junior in the University, was elected captain to guide the 1924 wrestling team last Saturday night. The team met for its final meeting at the home of Coach A. A. Shapiro, who entertained them. Cocoa and sandwiches were served. During the meeting various questions were brought up, and it was agreed that every effort should be made to have the Athletic association take over wrestling. All the other colleges in the state are behind this new sport, and it is thought that the University officials will in the near future see fit to take over the sport at this institution.

Wrestling was brought to a close last Thursday night in Raleigh when the Tar Heel mat-men defeated N. C. State 26-5. The attendance at this meet was over 800.

The season has been an unusual success for a new team, having won three of its four meets. The results of the season were: Trinity 23; N. C. 8; Guilford 0, N. C. 35; Davidson 9, N. C. 18; N. C. State 5, N. C. 26.

A. E. Shackell will be manager next year.

All you have to do to get a crowd to follow you is to find out which way the crowd is going.

Maybe the reformers this spring will stop the fish from biting on Sunday.

THREE MORE TEAMS ARE ELIMINATED BY GAMES IN BYNUM GYMNASIUM

Raleigh, Sanford and Durham Quints Lose Out in Eastern Championship Series.

SMITHFIELD UPSETS DOPE

During the past week three high school teams were eliminated from the championship race in games played in Bynum Gymnasium.

Durham 28; Raleigh 19

The first victim was the Raleigh team which went down before the fast Durham five Wednesday night by the score of 28 to 19. The Durham quint ran up a big lead in the first half, chiefly by the excellent shooting of Green and R. Haekney. With a comfortable lead in their favor the Durham lads settled down to a defensive game and the Capital City team did not even threaten until near the end of the game when three goals were engaged in short order.

Green and R. Haekney were the best performers for the Durham five, while Spence was the outstanding man for Raleigh. Line-up:
Durham ..... Raleigh
Satterfield ..... Young
Right Forward
Green ..... Crinkley
Left Forward
R. Haekney ..... Waring
Center
Vickers ..... Spence
Right Guard
Kelley ..... Isenhart
Left Guard

Substitutions: Durham—B. Haekney for Kelley. Raleigh—Hawkins for Isenhart, Goodwin for Chinkley. Referee Corboy (Pittsburgh).

Smithfield 15; Sanford 12

In a slow and uninteresting game the Smithfield team stopped the Sanford quint Friday night by the score of 15 to 12. The shooting of Brown, a Smithfield substitute, from the foul line was responsible for the victory. The Sanford team scored one more field goal than Smithfield. The game had been going on 16 minutes before either team could locate the basket for a field goal. The score was tied at the end of each of the first three quarters.

Cathel for Sanford and Brown for Smithfield were the best performers of the game.

Smithfield ..... Sanford
Hill ..... Makepeace
Right Forward
Holland ..... Jones
Left Forward
Stephens ..... Byerly
Center
Godwin ..... Holland
Right Guard
Skinner ..... Cathel
Left Guard

Substitutions: Smithfield—Brown for Godwin. Referee, Shepard (Carolina).

Smithfield 23; Durham 19

The real upset of the dope came Saturday night when the Smithfield quint which had played only mediocre ball the night before came back strong and licked the Durham five by the score of 23 to 19. The Durham team was playing without the services of Captain Vickers and was considerably weaker than in any other game played at Chapel Hill this season. The Smithfield team played rings around them in the first half and this period ended 16 to 7 in favor of Durham, but the Durham lads gamely rallied and held the Smithfield team without a field goal in the last half. Line-up:

Smithfield ..... Durham
Hill ..... Green
Right Forward
Holland ..... Satterfield
Left Forward
Stephens ..... R. Haekney
Center
Brown ..... Kelley
Right Guard
Skinner ..... B. Haekney
Left Guard
Referee: Lineberger (Carolina).

N. C. CLUB GETS OUT NEW FARM BULLETIN

The new North Carolina club bulletin on home and farm ownership made its appearance on the campus last Saturday evening. It is a bulletin of 209 pages and 22 chapters. It is the only volume in existence that organizes this great subject. The volume treats every phase of the subject in every country in the world, at least every country that is now studying measures for the relief of tenant farmers and landless city-dwellers.

Faculty members and students can have the bulletin free of charge by applying at the office of the Extension Division in Alumni building. It goes free of charge to all North Carolinians who apply for it. The price for all others is one dollar, post-paid. The edition is small and will soon be exhausted.

PHI ELECTS OFFICERS FOR SPRING QUARTER

Speaker Elected at Previous Meeting—Spencer Speaker-pro-tem—Ragsdale Editor Magazine.

The quarterly election of officers for the spring quarter was held by the Phi assembly Saturday night. E. C. Jernigan was elected speaker for the approaching quarter a few weeks ago, this being done so the speaker's picture could be inserted in the Yackety-Yack. The assembly discussed one bill, a resolution endorsing the action of the General Assembly in exempting stock in foreign corporations from taxation being defeated. The vote was overwhelmingly against the bill.

Discussion on the proposal was very one-sided, only one member of the Assembly speaking in favor of the action of the legislature. Opponents of the project charged that the bill discriminated in favor of rich capitalists, at the expense of the "laboring" tax population of the state. The bill was also attacked on the ground that its effect would tend to drive industry from the state.

J. Y. Kerr, retiring speaker, made a short address to the assembly, in which he praised it for its activity during the quarter and urged the assembly to carry on its good work of the past.

Officers elected were: C. E. Spencer, speaker pro tem; L. T. Rogers, reading clerk; Z. T. Fortescue, sergeant-at-arms; M. M. Young, reporting clerk, and J. Y. Kerr, chairman of the appellate committee. G. Y. Ragsdale was selected as the editor-in-chief of next year's Carolina Magazine, while J. O. Bailey, J. E. Hawkins and J. M. Saunders were elected as assistant editors. Abram Weil secured business management of the Yackety Yack, with W. M. Saunders, G. Y. Ragsdale and D. A. Brown elected as assistant editors. A. F. Essie was given the position of chairman of the ways and means committee, J. J. Beale and G. Y. Ragsdale being the other two members of the committee.

SENATE HAS PASSED APPROPRIATIONS BILL

The Senate on last Saturday passed the $10,000,000 Appropriations Bill, providing for a $1,560,000 building fund and $1,375,000 maintenance expense fund for the University. Since the House passed this bill last Tuesday, the bill now becomes a law.

"Towering Masses"

The Garment Center Building
New York City
WALTER M. MASON, Architect
Drawn by Hugh Ferriss

HERE the new architecture expresses itself in great vigorous masses which climb upward into the sky with a pyramidal profile—gigantic, irregular, arresting. An earlier, conventional building on the near corner is overshadowed, engulfed in towering masses of the newer building which are prophetic of an architecture of the future which is vividly stimulating to the imagination.

Certainly modern invention—modern engineering skill and organization, will prove more than equal to the demands of the architecture of the future.
