

CAPTAIN CASEY MORRIS AND HIS FAST ELEVEN TO JOURNEY OVER TO DURHAM AND MEET TRINITY

Reports From the Methodist
Camp Are to the Effect That Game Will Be Close

CAROLINA IS CONFIDENT One Team Will Be Knocked Out of the State Championship Friday

After a two weeks rest, broken only by the scrub's late siesta with "Old EH", the Varsity has fully prepared itself to enter what is probably the deciding stretch in the race for the State Championship. In all probability the winner will be decided within the next ten days and more than likely on Friday, Oct. 12, when Carolina and Trinity celebrate University day, twelve miles away, on Hanes Field. Coach Fetzer, apparently sensing this contest as the crisis of the season refused to take the Varsity to Yale in order that it might be in the pink of condition on Friday.

If Trinity can be disposed of, it will leave Carolina with two wins and two to go. State, who will be played on the following Thursday, is usually Carolina's strongest opponent as it is her biggest game and is played on her home ground. State appears to be much weaker than is Trinity this year and in case the latter is well beaten there should be but little trouble with the Wolfpack. Davidson is the fourth and last of the North Carolina Colleges on the schedule and is played on Nov. 17th.

From the loud and continuous reports arising from Durham the Methodists have whipped into shape a terrible machine, a self-styled steam roller, and have been literally baptizing their opponents rather than sprinkling them, as good Methodists should do. In her two games this season she has christened her two opponents with a total of 122 points.

DI DISCUSSES KU KLUX KLAN ISSUE

Governor Walton's Action Against Ku Klux Is Sound In Eyes of Di Society

The Di Society held its regular meeting Saturday night, October 6. The question for discussion for the evening was: Resolved that the Di Society go on record as favoring Governor Walton's action against the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma. Speakers for the affirmative were L. M. Gudger, W. White, S. M. Cathey, W. H. Coltrane, J. W. Deyton, W. E. Drake, and those for the negative were E. L. Justice, A. E. McIntyre, and Tommy Turner. At the end of the discussion the society voted almost unanimously in favor of the affirmative.

An amendment was made to the constitution providing for the lowering of the dues to 2.00 a year and the initiation fee to $5.00. A committee was appointed by the president two weeks ago to meet with a similar committee from the Phi Assembly for the purpose of lowering the dues in both bodies. These committees met and as a result framed the above amendment which has been passed by both societies.

L. E. Watt was elected first censor morum to fill the vacancy left by L. T. Biedsoe.

President Raper appointed a committee to see all those freshmen who took part in debating and public speaking in high school and who live in the western part of the state, and freshmen was looked up and a list of over two hundred men was furnished by Dean Bradshaw. The committee is composed of: C. Raper Jonas, chairman, Leonard Huggins, A. E. McIntyre and A. L. Groce.

Under new and necessary business A. E. McIntyre stated that the Di Society pins had been ordered and would be here and for sale in about two weeks. The pins will have the Di emblem on them.

The following men were taken into the society and initiated: J. L. Kapp, C. R. Shuford, P. H. Greenwood, L. E. Hauser, and B. W. Griffith.

The question for discussion by the society for next Saturday night is: Resolved: That the Federal Government should guarantee the farmer a fair price for his wheat. There will also be a humorous address by J. W. Deyton.

THE POST OFFICE SITUATION BETTER

Official Sanction Has Already Been Given For Town De- livery To Begin November

At last the post office situation is beginning to assume a favorable aspect. Everything is being hurried along as fast as possible. The post office inspector is expected to arrive at Chapel Hill in a few days and possibly Tuesday. He will then turn in his report and when it is passed upon a man will come to Chapel Hill and make preparations for town delivery. Dean Royster says that the officials in Washington were very pleasant and that they were trying to remedy the condition here as fast as they possibly could. Official sanction has already been given for town delivery to begin on November first, provided that the government regulations have been fulfilled. This, of course, means that the students will receive their mail in their dormitories.

The government regulations prohibit the putting of more than two boxes in a box, unless they are in the same family. When the system is gotten to working there will be a box for each room, placed on the first floor, where the mail will be delivered twice a day. This will do away with the loss of time going to the post office and also will save the money spent on rent.

The regulations for the town delivery are that at least fifty per cent of the houses on the block must have boxes before mail will be delivered in that block. So it all comes down to the proposition of getting the equipment ready. Just as soon as it can be installed in the dormitories after November first, delivery will begin. The only two possible things that could possibly keep this from going through is the inability of the University to get the boxes quickly and the chance that mailmen may not be procurable. Probably the post office officials will put in temporary carriers until they can get some one who has passed the civil service examination. Although nothing definite may be promised, it is almost certain that the system will be in good working order by Christmas and probably by Thanksgiving.

The boxes in the post office will still be for rent to any one desiring one for some special reason, but for the main part they will be taken up by people who will not get the carrier service.

"Y" Campaign Not Over Yet

The $4000 goal of the "Y" financial campaign has been more than half reached, and special plans for this week will probably bring forth the entire amount. Failure to reach the quota in the expected time was largely due to the fact that a large part of the students were out when the canvassers visited their rooms.

Students who have not been approached and who would like to make a contribution to the Y. M. C. A. are asked to drop by the "Y" office. Members of the cabinet will try this week to see as many students as possible. The average amount per student was entirely satisfactory, and the raising of the full quota will depend only on the entire student body being reached.

Archibald D. Murphey Club Meets Wednesday

The Archibald D. Murphey Club will meet in the auditorium of Peabody Building at 7:30 on Wednesday evening, October 10. The Murphey Club is the "Education Club" of the University. Monthly meetings are held for the presentation and discussion of educational topics of interest to teachers, prospective teachers, and others interested in educational work. There are no membership dues.

The topic for discussion, which will be presented by Dr. Trabue, is: "The abilities of high school seniors in North Carolina as shown by the scores they made in standardized tests given in forty odd representative schools last year."

As usual, the gallery was well filled for the dance Saturday night.

SENIOR CLASS MEETING

There will be an important meeting of the Senior Class in Gerrard Hall Thursday at the Chapel hour. All members are requested to be present.

YACKETY YACK ANNOUNCES ITS BEAUTY CONTEST

1924 Annual to Have Six Pages Beauty Section—North Carolina Beauties Only

TO SELECT TWELVE GIRLS

The Yackety Yack for 1923 has eliminated the sponsor section and in its place will run a six page beauty section, the beauties to be picked by an artist from photographs to be sent in to the editorial offices of the annual. Every student of the University is asked to send in a picture of his girl if she be a North Carolinian.

The pictures will be received until October 30th. They will then be sent to an artist who will pick the best twelve. The twelve selected will be beautifully arranged in a section that Baker Jones Houshauser, the publishers, promise to expend their best effort on, and the honor will be great.

The students are asked to mail the picture they select to R. S. Pickens, editor of the Yackety Yack, or bring them to the Yackety Yack offices, across from the Phi Society hall on New East Building. Further announcements will be made with reference to the contest later on as the editorial board of the publication board wishes to arouse considerable interest in the matter and make it not only a success so far as the University is concerned but also so far as the state as a whole is affected.

Miss Rockwell Added To Bureau of Drama

Miss Ethel Theodoro Rockwell, a Dramatic Director of wide experience has been added to the staff of the Bureau of Community Drama of the University, according to announcement by Prof. Frederick H. Koch, director of the bureau. Miss Rockwell succeeds Miss Elizabeth Taylor, who is now doing professional work in New York City.

The new Dramatic Director is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and a charter member of the Dramatic Society of that state. During the past 10 years she has been the author and director of more than a score of large community pageants and dramas. Her work has carried her into 12 different states, chiefly in the Middle West, where she has directed plays for high schools, colleges, women's clubs, and similar organizations.

Among the productions directed by Miss Rockwell are: "The Star Spangled Banner Pageant," with 2,500 characters, at Madison, Wisconsin; "The Pageant of the Black Hawk Country," with 1,800 characters; at Freeport, Ill.; "The Pageant of Bevoit," with 2,500 characters at Beloit, Wis.; "The Historical Pageant of Virginia," given in 1922 at Richmond where she served as State Dramatic Director and assistant director to Thomas Wood Stevens; "The Apostles of Light," a pageant-drama which she wrote and produced for the Centenary Committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, presented at Nashville, Tenn., in 1923, and to be presented in several leading Southern cities at a later date; she is also the author of numerous other productions.

It is announced that Miss Rockwell's services will be available to schools, communities, and clubs. Wherever practicable she will direct the complete production of a play; or she will assist in the final preparation for a performance, rehearsals, stage settings, demonstration of make-up and other problems of production.

Miss Rockwell's addition to the Bureau of Community Drama brings the staff of the Bureau up to four. Its present members are: Frederick H. Koch, Director; Anne M. Majette, assistant director; George V. Denny, manager, and Ethel Theodoro Rockwell, state representative.

ELI SENDS THE INVADING TAR HEELS BACK 53-0

Scrubs to Lone First Down

YALE BACKS RUN WILD

The University football team received its annual defeat in the Yale Bowl last Saturday when the North-carolinians celebrated the opening game by completely smothering the Tar Heel second team, 53-0. Not even scrubs coached by the Fetzers are able, yet awhile, to hold the Bulldogs in check and Fetzers much heralded strategy was rather turned into Fetzer's folly, and gave to the University nothing of glory, honor or prestige.

Yale sent her entire second team into the fray at the beginning of the second half and, by straining themselves the Tar Heel Scrubs succeeded in holding them to eighteen points in twenty four minutes. Richeson, O'Hearn and Stevens had little trouble in making long gains around end or through the air with a fairly successful aerial attack. Captain Mallory, fullback, toyed with the line until he was happily removed to make way for a substitute.

Carolina made only one first down during the whole game and that was put over by Jeff Fordham, Christy's younger brother, towards the end of the third quarter. The University's punting was equally as miserable as ground gaining. Several punts gained less than ten yards, due to their going out of bounds, and these brought down the precious few acceptable ones to a low average.

GRAIL DANCE IS A BIG SUCCESS

Opinion Is That Saturday Night Dance Was One of Best Grail Dances

The Grail dance last Saturday evening was a big success and according to those present it was among the best dances ever given by the Grail. Other dances kept visiting girls away and several of the co-eds were prevented from coming because of other social functions, but the dance seemed to have been an enjoyable occasion because of the orderly manner in which it was conducted.

The chaperons were well pleased at the absence of any sign of intoxicating liquors and of any questionable conduct. This appeared to them as good evidence that the future dances at the University will comply with all the wishes of the faculty and the German Club.

The Order of the Grail expects to give other dances during the year and it is expected that these will be attended by many visiting girls. For this reason the Order intends that the Grail dances shall be among the big social events of the campus during the coming year.

Music was furnished by the Carolina Club Orchestra which is directed by Hal Kemp, a saxophonist of considerable promise. The Carolina Club composed of Hal Kemp, Joe Gill-espie, Buster Waldall, Will Hicks, Billie Vaught, Bob Dey and Fred Spough, are rapidly organizing one of the best student orchestras in the South according to those who attended the dance. This orchestra will furnish music for future Grail dances.

The Forsythe County Club held its first meeting of the year last Friday night. A good number of the men from Forsythe County were out for the meeting. There was the customary feed and bull session.

Drew Harris, of Wilmington, N. C. was initiated into the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity on Thursday night, October 5.

UNIVERSITY WILL CELEBRATE ITS 130TH BIRTHDAY

Alumni Associations Will Meet Throughout Nation—W. N. Everett Chief Speaker Friday

Friday is Founder's Day at the University—the most important day in Carolina's history.

It was announced some time ago that Secretary of State W. N. Everett will be the chief speaker of the occasion. He is a graduate of the class of 1886, and has long been prominently connected with the University, being a member of the building committee of the trustees and a prominent member of the Alumni Association.

Classes will meet as usual at the 8:30 and 9:30 periods. Following these two class periods, all of the students, both undergraduate and graduate, will go to the Alumni Building, where, with members of the Faculty, they will march to Memorial Hall, the scene of the day's impressive ceremonies.

In addition to the services in Chapel Hill, numerous associations of the Alumni will also meet at various places throughout the Atlantic Seaboard. From Boston to Jacksonville, Carolina Alumni will gather to do honor to their Alma Mater on this date. Secretary Grant some time ago estimated that about 75 such meetings will be held throughout North Carolina and the nation on this date.

Officially, University Day is known as "Founders' Day." It is observed annually in commemoration of the 130th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstones by General W. R. Davie, founder of the University. This momentous event took place on October 12, 1793.

It is the custom at the Founders' Day ceremonies to read the list of Carolina students and Alumni who have died during the year, together with the date of death. Any student or alumnus in anyway connected with the University who passed to the Great Beyond during the preceding year will be recorded on this obituary list, which will probably be read by President Chase.

The observation of Founders' Day is one of the most impressive ceremonies of the University's year.

The general public is always cordially invited to attend these ceremonies.

Postmaster Herndon Speaks About Boxes

Postmaster Herndon asks that something be said about the practice of plugging the locks on the Post Office boxes with matches and other similar things. It is a regulation of the postal authorities that no mail is to be delivered to boxes that have broken windows or whose locks are not in working order. Probably most of the students do not stop to think that the box is only being rented and that it is not their property. Several have been notified to this effect and unless some attention is paid to this warning they will soon find that there is no mail being delivered to their box. The officials realize that the students mean no harm, but since it is contrary to the postal regulations it must stop. The students are asked to take notice of this and to co-operate with the men in charge by refraining from tampering with the box lock and from breaking the glass fronts. Their assistance in stopping this will be greatly appreciated.

A quartet from the University Glee Club will go to Raleigh next Friday evening to sing at the annual Founders Day banquet of the Wake County alumni. The men to compose this quartet are: W. F. Fulton, Otis Fulton, C. N. Ceivers, and N. C. Caudle, Jr.

The Carolina Club Orchestra will play at the dance at Lakewood Park, Durham, next Friday evening after the Trinity-Carolina game.

CALL MEETING ON ACTIVITIES TUESDAY NIGHT

Novel Plan to Meet Puzzling Situation Will Be Presented To Representatives

ACTIVITIES CONCERNED

In an effort to meet the problems of an ever expanding University, a novel meeting will be held Tuesday night of committees representing the faculty and students, in an effort to inaugurate a series of monthly meetings to consider all activities of the University, according to F. F. Bradshaw, Dean of Students.

The real aim of this joint meeting is to unify all activities of the campus. Dean Bradshaw explains that with a rapid growth of a University, such as is now being experienced by Carolina, there is a tendency to have the college activities lose their unity. The committee meeting Tuesday night will seek to alter this situation by bringing representatives from all the phases of college life together at least once a month.

The faculty committee is composed of F. F. Bradshaw, chairman; J. M. Booker, W. S. Bernard, C. A. Hibbard, W. J. Matherly, H. G. Meyer, Paul J. Weaver, Dr. Roy McKnight, and Mrs. M. H. Stacey, adviser to women.

The student committee, appointed by President Julian R. Allsbrook, is composed of himself, representing the student body; C. B. Colton, editor of the "Tar Heel"; Merle D. Bonner, the President of the Athletic Association; John T. Gregory, representing the Pan-Hellenic Council; W. W. Gwynn, President of the Senior Class; John Pursar, President of the Y. M. C. A.; M. Reed Kitchin, President of the Publications Union; George Ragsdale, editor of the "Carolina Magazine"; W. H. Holderness, representing the Campus Cabinet; Arthur Raper, President of the Di Society; George Hampton, Speaker of Phi Assembly; R. W. Linker, President of the Dormitory Association and P. C. Foneberger, cheer leader.

Secretary H. F. Comer, of the Y. M. C. A., will be asked to sit with the faculty as an advisory member, it is stated.

PHI DISCUSSES FRESHMAN CAPS

F. P. Parker Sponsors Bill to Have Freshman Wear Skull Caps

The age-worn resolution seeking to have the Phi Assembly go on record as favoring the custom of freshmen caps caused a spontaneous outburst of discussion on the part of both upperclassmen and freshmen, at the regular meeting of the Assembly Saturday night.

F. P. Parker, Jr., one of the Assembly's most antique, unique, and eloquent members, was the sponsor of said resolution. It evoked opposition from all freshmen who expressed themselves, whereas upper classmen seemed pretty evenly divided. Henry Fuller made an impressive plea against the resolution, while David Livingston Ward, the orator who made New Bern famous before the fire, supported Parker's pet project. Despite his pleadings, it was indefinitely tabled by a vote of 38 to 29.

A resolution to have the Philanthropic Assembly go on record as favoring the financing of the Y. M. C. A. through a budget in a manner similar to that of the Publication Union, was passed by an overwhelming vote, the tally being 44 ayes and only 13 nays. This resolution, sponsored by the Ways and Means Committee, brought up the most serious discussion of the evening.

Five freshmen were initiated into the Assembly. They were Charles G. Grady, F. M. Daugherty, Ellis Sparks, J. Lawrence Smith, and Norfleet W. Vick.

A committee composed of Edwin Lanier, K. D. Coates, Jr., and M. M. Young was appointed to assign the new members as representatives of counties in the state.

Dr. F. C. Vilbrandt, with four members of his industrial Chemistry class Chemistry 11, went to Charlotte last Friday to take in the Made-in-Carolina Exposition. While there they met two graduates of the Chemistry department, Robert Dietz and Bingham Owens, now with the Dupont Chemical Co.
