WOODBERRY FOREST ALUMNI FORM CLUB

Twenty-nine Woodberry Boys Here—Harold Lineberger Elected President of Club.

A meeting of the alumni of Woodberry Forest School was called last week, with Harold Lineberger acting as chairman, it was unanimously decided that a Woodberry Club should be formed at the University of North Carolina. Officers were elected and the purpose of founding such a club was discussed. The alumni attending decided that the club should serve a double purpose. First, to maintain through college friendships formed in prep school; and secondly, to keep more closely in touch with Woodberry Forest School.

The number of Woodberry boys who come to Carolina has been increasing each year, and now there are twenty-nine alumni in the University. Many of this number are outstanding in various phases of college life, of whom the most outstanding are probably Jack Cobb, captain of the basket ball team; Billy Devin and Russell Braswell, mainstays of the Carolina eleven; Hill Yarborough, letter-man in track and prominent in literary work; Charlie Gold, Business Manager of The Buccaneer; and Harold Lineberger, Business Manager of The Tar Heel.

Some of the most promising of Woodberry boys come here each year, and it is hoped that many more may be brought to Carolina by the influence which the formation of a club of this kind may have.

The following officers were elected: Harold Lineberger, President; William Devin, Vice-President; and Charles Rouse, Secretary-Treasurer.

The University had about 1,200 men in the military service in the World War, which was about 20 per cent of the total number of living alumni. The central office of the general alumni association is preparing a history of these men concerning their war record to be issued on a basis of advanced orders. The guaranteed maximum cost is $2.50, so any one interested might mail a reserve order to draw 832 Chapel Hill, N. C.

The Leadership of North Carolina

North Carolina is a billionaire state in the wealth annually produced by her factories, farms, forests, fish and oysters—$1,540,000,000 in 1922.

Leads the 10 Southern states east of the Mississippi in Federal taxes paid in 1924, $158,000,000—a sum sufficient to operate the state government for five years counting both current expenses and outlays for all purposes whatsoever. The state pays more Federal tax than all the rest of the Southern states put together, from Virginia to Louisiana.

Ranks 5th as a Federal taxpayer, being outranked by only New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and Ohio.

First in the South east or the Mississippi in the number of cotton mills, the number of spindles, the total products, the volume of wages paid, and the values added in the process of manufacture.

First in the Nation in the value of manufactured tobacco products, and first in the round world in the manufacture of cigarettes—40 billions in 1923.

The assets of a single concern are 131 million dollars—or more than the entire volume of state bonds, more by 20 million dollars.

The net profit of this single concern in 1923 were almost exactly equal to the total cost of operating the state government, counting both current expenses and outlays.

The net profits of this concern in 1923 were 5 times the bank capital the county has accumulated in 75 years. The capital stock of this concern is more than half of the listed taxables of the entire county, and more than twice the bank capital of the entire state.

North Carolina was first in the South east of the Mississippi in 1922 in the value of farm crops, and 5th in the United States. Fourteenth in the total value of farm crops, farm animals, and animal products.

First in the United States in the low per inhabitant cost of state government, $1.47 in 1922.

First in the South in public health work, public highways, and public welfare work.

First in the South in the care of the insane, feeble-minded, tuberculous, and crippled.

First in the South in investment in common and high school property, also first in per inhabitant expenditures for elementary and high school education.

But lagging far behind in total investment in state supported institutions of college rank. Nine states of the Union have more invested in plants for college culture and among these states is Texas with 12 millions invested against 10 millions in North Carolina. But twenty-three states stand ahead of her in per inhabitant investment in such properties; in which particular she is outranked by South Carolina and New Mexico ($3.68 per inhabitant against $4.82 and $4.20).

But also North Carolina lags behind in state appropriations for institutions of college rank ($1,085,000), in which particular she is outranked by 15 states and among these are two Southern states, namely, Oklahoma and Texas. But in state college support on a per white inhabitant basis there are twenty-four states that make a better showing than North Carolina, and among these states four are Southern. In 1923 the State College of Agriculture and Engineering, the State College for Women at Greensboro, and the State University cost North Carolina 67 cents per white inhabitant, which is less than 20 cents a year for each institution upon an average. Four gallons of gasoline cost more; the diversion of a family for a single evening at a moving picture show costs more. North Carolina has yet a long way to go to make her rank in college culture equal her rank in material wealth.

Miss Ethel T. Rockwell has just returned from Snow Hill, where she staged Hartley Manner's "Peg O' My Heart" under the auspices of the U. D. C., of which Miss Mary Colvian Murphy is the president. The play was given very successfully before a house which even standing room was sold out. On her return, Miss Rockwell met with the Woman's Club of Goldsboro, where plans were made for the staging of Augustus Thomas' "Come Out of the Kitchen." The producing committee will consist of Misses Lewis Giddens, Gertrude Weil, and Elizabeth Royale.
