back guards, scored ten points. Dodderer was the center of the Carolina defense and it was largely because of his sensational guarding that the Tulane drive for the basket crumbled. Devin was matched against E. Henican, who is rated as one of the best men to ever play in a southern tournament and who had averaged some eighteen points in all games in which he had played. Devin held him to ten points, these made from difficult tries and gave him more trouble than any guard that he encountered in the tournament. Purser played a consistent defensive game and slipped through the Greenback defense to count nine points for Carolina.

For Tulane E. Henican was the flashiest player, shooting goals while traveling at top speed and from difficult angles. Davidson and Morgan played consistent supporting games, but could not measure up to the brilliance of their team mate.

Tulane had eliminated Washington and Lee, N. C. State, and Mississippi University in the preliminaries. Carolina won her way to the top by defeating V. P. L. Louisiana University, Georgia Tech, Georgia University, and finally Tulane.

Line-up and summary:

Carolina (36)	Tulane (28)
Cobb (10)	E. Henican (10)
McDonald (13)	Davidson (2)
Dodderer (4)	Morgan (6)
Devin	Lind (6)
Purser (9)	J. Henican (2)
	L. G.

Substitutions: Wilson (2) for Davidson. Scoring: Carolina, field goals 17, fouls 2 out of 6. Tulane, field goals 12, fouls 4 out of 4. Referee: Sutton (Penn.). Umpire: Ervin (Drake).

Tar Heels Decline to Play Mercer Team.

Cobb and E. Henican of the Greenbacks fought a close fight for high scoring honors of the S. I. C. tourney, with Cobb winning out by a four-point margin. Henican entered the final contest four points behind the Tar Heel captain and both scored the same number of points in the closing game. Cobb's total score was 67, Henican's 63. Cobb had participated in one more game than Henican but in three contests had not remained in the game for the entire contest. Coach Shepherd taking him out to conserve his strength for stronger opponents. McDonald took third place with 37 points, while Wycoff, Georgia Tech center, was in the fourth position with 29 points.

Mercer, winner of the S. I. A. A. tournament, issued the Tar Heels an invitation for a game to settle the southern championship, but as the examination period was near at hand and the intention had been to close the season with the tournament, the invitation for a game was declined.

N. C. Club Will Meet On Monday

"Does North Carolina Read?" will be the subject of a paper to be read before the North Carolina Club on Monday night by Mr. Orlando Stone. Mr. Stone is a teaching fellow in the Institute for Research in Social Science and has for his special problem the study of the reading habits of North Carolinians.

The topic is timely and deserves a good deal of consideration from those students who concern themselves with vital state problems. The North Carolina Club meets fortnightly in 112 Saunders Hall at 7:30 p. m. Students and members of the faculty are invited to attend.

A new organization of commerce students called the Hansard club has recently made its appearance on the campus. The club was organized for the purpose of petitioning Delta Sigma Pi commerce fraternity and is composed of students who have shown unusual interest in the study of commerce. Although no definite action has been taken yet, it is very probable that the chapter will be installed next spring. National officers of the fraternity have shown themselves very agreeable to the proposal.

Major T. C. Pakenham, of the school of commerce faculty, was married in New York during last week, according to Saunders hall rumors.

Concert On Sunday Afternoon

The University orchestra and the A Capella choir will give a program in Memorial hall Sunday afternoon, March 8, at 4 o'clock. This is one of the regular series of Sunday afternoon concerts, and since both of these organization are popular and well known it is anticipated that there will be a large audience.

The orchestra will play part of two symphonies and some lighter numbers, under the direction of Mr. Frederick Hard. The A Capella choir will sing a group of songs taken from the literature of the Russian church, which contains some of the most beautiful and most interesting choral music that has ever been written. This is the first time that any organization has used any of the Russian church music in Chapel Hill.
