

The musical comedy problem has been solved by the Messrs. Lee and J. J. Shubert and the solution seems simple—so obvious that the wonder grows that it was so tardily reached. No more will jazz assail the ears of that large public which yearns for melody, for beauty in its lighter musical fare. The Shuberts have revealed a promised land, where musical comedy means rhythm, grace, musical intelligence. "Blossom Time" will be presented by the Messrs. Shubert, from its triumphant engagements in New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia and the larger principal cities, where it broke all known records for receipts. "Blossom Time" is a three-act musical play whose score was admirably adapted by Sigmund Romberg from the melodies of Franz Schubert. The piece has had a tremendous vogue in Paris, Vienna, Rome and London, and it will undoubtedly duplicate its first success here. Durham, matinee and night, Saturday.

Playmakers Give "Gaius and Gaius Jr." in Durham

The Carolina Playmakers presented their comedy, "Gaius and Gaius, Jr.," at the session of the District Rotary meeting in Durham Wednesday night. The play took extremely well with the audience and the players were applauded again and again. The speech of the evening was given by Governor Charles J. Smith and the Rotarians presented him and his wife with a beautiful silver service.

written by the various members of Hal Kemp's band were also rendered. It was then announced that on Wednesday, April 14, the orchestra would make some Columbia records in Atlanta. At the conclusion of the concert Hal Kemp himself was given the opportunity to announce his last number of the concert. He made some remarks regarding several subjects. He thanked the audience for their attention. He took this opportunity to thank his friends for the telegrams he had received. He also stated that the trans-continental tour which his orchestra had planned would be announced at a near date.

The announcer made several remarks regarding the boys from North Carolina's University. He told of the popularity of Carolina, in Atlanta. He stated that any more concerts would be announced later. A large crowd gathered at the Carolina Smoke Shop to hear the concert from Dean Paulsen's radio. The crowd was more than delighted and the concert was almost as clear as it would have been had Hal Kemp been there himself. A telegram was sent by this group to let the orchestra know that it had been heard on the Hill.

CAROLINA LOSES DEBATE TO W. VA.

support of the negative were: that democracy is a social ideal of government; that pure democracy has never existed; that democracy is a social contest; that the enfranchisement of women is a growth of democracy; that we have more democracy now than at any other time in the past; and that the present system is representative of the people. The debate was the first Carolina affair to be held in one of the larger cities of the state, and was marked by a very good attendance. Interest was kept at a lively pitch throughout, and the affair was contested from beginning to end. The judges were: Prof. C. C. Cunningham, of the N. C. State College; Prof. C. C. Haworth, superintendent of the Burlington city schools, and Prof. C. C. Taylor, dean of the Graduate School at N. C. State College. The outing which was to have been held by the Lutheran students on Friday the 16th has been postponed till Friday the 23rd. This change was made by the request of Rev. Thornburg.

Carolina Has Won Twelve Times From Rivals.

GAME HELD IN DURHAM

Contest Promises to Be of Much Interest in College Circles.
When the Tar Heel baseballers meet Duke in Durham Saturday afternoon two of the greatest rivals of North Carolina athletic circles will be in competition. Over a period of thirteen years since the first baseball game between the Tar Heels and the Methodists the two teams have met on the diamond seventeen times, with the Carolina nines winning 11 games, losing 5, and tying in one contest.

The two rivals met on the baseball field for the first time in 1913, with the Tar Heels winning the game by the overwhelming count of 10 to 1. After that massacre the two institutions did not meet in baseball again for six long years, but in 1919 the University locked horns with the Trinity tossers in two games. One of those games went fifteen innings to a scoreless tie, and the Tar Heels won the second game 3 to 2.

In 1920 the Carolina aggregation won both contests from the newly nicknamed Blue Devils, with a new world's record thrown in for good measure. "Lefty" Wilson, Carolina hurler, established the new mark for pitchers to shoot at when he retired Trinity in defeat after throwing only 52 pitched balls in nine innings of play. The scores that year were 1 to 9 and 2 to 1, living up the usual close results in the game between the neighboring teams.

In both 1921 and 1922 the Tar Heels made a clean sweep of the series of games, taking two victories in the first year and three the next season. In 1923 and 1924 they split even, with one game each, but last year the Methodists played under their new name of Duke for the first time and celebrated by winning two games out of three from the Tar Heels. The first of the 1925 games was rained out in the seventh inning and 5 to 2 was the way the score stood at the close of the sixth frame.

The dates and scores of the Carolina-Trinity or Carolina-Duke baseball games up to the present season are as follows:
1913 Carolina 0, Trinity 0 (15 innings).
Carolina 3, Trinity 2.
1920 Carolina 1, Trinity 0.
Carolina 3, Trinity 2.
1921 Carolina 4, Trinity 2.
Carolina 6, Trinity 2.
1922 Carolina 15, Trinity 5.
Carolina 9, Trinity 5.
1923 Carolina 2, Trinity 4.
Carolina 8, Trinity 7.
Carolina 5, Trinity 3.
1924 Carolina 1, Trinity 0.
Carolina 3, Trinity 4.
1925 Carolina 2, Duke 5.
Carolina 7, Duke 6.
Carolina 5, Duke 10.

MISS BREWSTER'S MILLIONS

Dainty Bebe Daniels in her latest laughing success "Miss Brewster's Millions," will be the leading screen attraction at the Pickwick Theatre today. This bright and snappy comedy deals with the wild adventure of an "extra" girl at Holy wood, who, left a million dollars is persuaded to get rid of the money within ninety days by an eccentric uncle who promises her five millions more. A riotously amusing film with a pleasing romance which winds into a happy climax. Bebe Daniels in a role which suits her exactly and a brilliant cast. Warner Baxter appears in the hero role, supported by Fred Sterling, Andre de Beranger, Miss Beresford, and many other well-known players. Could you spend a million dollars in ninety days—Come and take a lesson in the art from Bebe Daniels!

HIGH SCHOOLS HERE TO PARTICIPATE IN TENNIS

Seventeen Schools Enter Men in Both Single and Double Matches of the Eleventh Tennis Tournament.

The tennis teams of seventeen North Carolina high schools have arrived here to take part in the 11th annual tennis tournament sponsored by the University Extension Department.

As early as Wednesday morning the visiting lads had unsheathed their rackets and were very much in evidence scampering around the new tennis courts. The courts are in excellent condition at present, and if the elements will permit, there are going to be enough clever exhibitions staged to disturb even the easy crown of the mighty Tilden. Hap Whitaker, captain of the Carolina racket wielders, has been haunting the clay courts with his eye sharply peeled for future Carolina brilliants.

The contests embrace both singles and doubles and any school may enter both, although she may enter only one man for the singles and only two men for the doubles.

The tennis tournament has only been in existence for the past ten years. Wilmington High School won both singles and doubles in 1916, the first year, and repeated in the singles the following year, while Oak Ridge carried off the doubles. Asheville won both titles in 1918. Wilson High School was the first to win both crowns more than once, her regime lasting through 1919 and 1920. Raeford divided honors with Oak Ridge in 1921 by annexing the singles, while the latter was again claiming the doubles. Inspired by the preceding year, the Cadets from Oak Ridge came back in 1922 and carried off high honors in both events. In 1923 Goldsboro was the home of the singles champion, while Charlotte obtained the doubles championship. In 1924 Greensboro took both cups home. Last year Greensboro dived in the doubles but lost the singles to Lexington High.

Teams entering the 1926 tennis tourney are: Asheville, Bethel Hill, Burlington, Canton, Chapel Hill, Charlotte, Fayetteville, Hendersonville, Greensboro, Kernersville, Lexington, Oxford, Raleigh, Salisbury, Shelby, Wilson, and Winston-Salem.

At the Southern Methodist University, Texas, 111 students failed.

FRESHMAN COUNCIL TO HAVE FORMAL BANQUET

Council Members to Act As Secretaries in High School Debates—Comer Praises Years Work.

Plans for the most elaborate banquet and social function yet held by any freshman organization at the University were definitely decided upon by the Freshman Friendship Council at the regular meeting Tuesday night in the Y. M. C. A., with 35 members present, Friday, April 23, was set as the date for the affair. At this meeting of the Council Mr. H. F. Comer made a talk in which he presented several items of importance.

The banquet is to be formal, and will be held at the Carolina Inn Friday night following the Virginia-Carolina baseball game Friday afternoon. Each member is to arrange to entertain a girl at the banquet, which the majority of the members have already done. Committees were appointed before Easter to provide decorations, favors, and to arrange a suitable program for the evening. One of the features on the program will be music furnished by a special orchestra.

In his talk, Mr. Comer praised the work of the Council during this year, and encouraged the organization of a group of students to be selected from the present council for the coming year, whose aim and purpose would be to better conditions in the Freshman class, and to aid in keeping students in the University, who might otherwise leave on account of financial or home problems. Such an organization has been proposed to the Council before, and Mr. Comer stressed the importance of the service in the opportunity this organization would have (given illustration of what has been accomplished by the members of the "Y" Cabinet along this line in the past years.) He also brought up the subject of the Blue Ridge Conference. According to the usual custom of the Freshman Friendship Council, the members of this year's Council will assist the University Extension Division this week with the High School Debating Union, acting as secretaries for the debates Thursday night and Friday morning and as guides for the visitors. The Council will aid the University in arranging an entertainment at the Carolina Inn next Friday night, after the final debate, for the visiting debaters.
