

ORDER OF THE GOLDEN FLEECE TAPS ONLY 4 MEN

TAR HEELS DROP GAME TO STATE BY 8 TO 6 SCORE

Techmen Prove Too Much For Duncanites on Emerson Field Tuesday.

HATLEY AND YOUNG HIT Westmoreland and Poyner Twirl for Carolina Against Beal and Green —Hitting Abounds.

During nine innings of the most erratic baseball that has been seen on the home lot this year, the State College Techmen pounded out eleven safe swats and collected three safeties, one of them a four-bagger by Hatley, to send Beal to the showers, Green taking his place on the mound. He held the Tar Heels out of the game until the final stanza when two hits, a free pass to first, and Harrill's error netted the Tar Heels another marker and aspirations towards one of those famous ninth inning rallies. However, the Duncanites lacked the final punch, and the final count was 8 to 6.

The game was interesting in parts. For the first four innings the game rocked along nicely, the Tar Heels counting twice in the second stanza, and the Techmen scoring a marker in the third and fourth stanzas. Then the fun began. In the fifth frame the Wolfpack hopped on "Lefty" Westmoreland with all four feet and touched him for three swats to score four runs. Westmoreland was sent to the showers, Bill Poyner taking his place on the mound, but the Techmen ferreted out Bill's offerings in the eighth inning and made two safe hits count for two more runs.

During this time the Tar Heels were rolling along at the small end of the score under the masterful hurling of Beal. However, the Tar Heel "murderer's row" got started in the fifth frame and collected three safeties, one of them a four-bagger by Hatley, to send Beal to the showers, Green taking his place on the mound. He held the Tar Heels out of the game until the final stanza when two hits, a free pass to first, and Harrill's error netted the Tar Heels another marker and aspirations towards one of those famous ninth inning rallies. However, the Duncanites lacked the final punch, and the final count was 8 to 6.

CAROLINA RACQUETEERS DEFEAT WAKE FOREST

Deacons, On Home Lot, Fall Before Tar Heels Tuesday Afternoon by Score of 5 Matches to 2.

The Carolina Racqueteers continued their winning streak by defeating the Wake Forest Racqueteers at Wake Forest Tuesday afternoon by the score of 5 matches to 2. Captain Whitaker, of Carolina, was defeated in the singles, and he and Elgin lost to Powers and Sawyer in the doubles. The Deacons had suffered defeat only twice this season to Duke and Carolina. But nevertheless the Baptists were determined to win and went into the game with the advantage of being on their own courts.

For the first time this season Captain Hap Whitaker was defeated in a dual meet. He had played such men as Whitener, Rogers, Agelesto and other star players. However, Powers proved too much for him and sent him back, but not before Hap had forced him to extend himself to the utmost. The other Tar Heels played their usual steady game with occasional bursts of brilliance.

Summaries of matches:
Singles: Powers (Wake Forest) defeated Whitaker (Carolina) two out of three sets, 6-3; 3-6; 6-2.
Elgin (Carolina) defeated Sawyer, (Wake Forest) two straight sets, 6-3; 6-8.
Geddie (Carolina) defeated Agelesto (Wake Forest) two straight sets, 6-9; 6-1.
Harvell (Carolina) defeated Burroughs (Wake Forest) two straight sets, 6-1; 7-5.
Dairympole (Carolina) defeated Slate (Wake Forest) two straight sets, 6-2; (Continued on page four)

CONVENTION HEARS PROF. ZIMMERMAN

Addresses National Foreign Trade Convention at Charleston Last Week.

ADDRESS IS APPRECIATED Spoke on "The Economic Resources of the South Atlantic Area."

Dr. Erich W. Zimmerman, Professor of Commerce and Resources in the University, delivered one of the principal addresses at the thirteenth National Foreign Trade Convention, held at Charleston, S. C., April 28, 29, and 30. He spoke on the subject, "The Economic Resources of the South Atlantic Area," and his discussion met with favor among the delegates.

One distinction which Dr. Zimmerman received was that of being the other college professor on the program. Dr. Jeremiah Jenks, Professor in Research Government in N. Y. University, was the other college speaker. About fifteen hundred delegates from all of North and Central America and Europe were present at the convention which is one of the most important meetings held in the South this year.

Dr. Zimmerman delivered his address Thursday afternoon and the appreciation which it received was shown by the fact that all the printed copies were distributed upon request within a few minutes after the speech. An unlimited second edition is being printed for free distribution throughout the South Atlantic area.

In discussing the economic resources of that section, Dr. Zimmerman pointed out that the South Atlantic area is playing the leading role in the phenomenal rise of the New South. The most important factors leading to this development were the opening of the Panama Canal, the conquest of the cotton belt by the boll weevil which forced upon the reluctant farmer the blessings of crop diversification, and the tremendous increase in the use of tobacco due to the popularity of the cigarette and the widespread devotion to the weed on (Continued on page four)

By JOE R. BOBARR, JR.

For the first time in the history of the organization the Senior Order of the Golden Fleece has deigned to tap only four men—a senior, two juniors, and a fourth whose exact status is hard to define. The tapping of such a small number is entirely without precedent in the twenty-four years which the Fleece has been in existence and comes not only to blight the hopes and aspirations of ambitious undergraduates but as a startling innovation to the student body. Five is the lowest previous number of men initiated into the order and this, coming back in 1910, was considered extremely extraordinary.

Jeff Fordham, ruling Jason of the Fleece, presided over the ceremony and introduced Dean J. F. Royster who in turn humorously presented as principal speaker of the evening Dr. James Howard E. Rondthaler, president of Salem College. In a short address, lasting scarcely half an hour, Dr. Rondthaler proved his reputation as a speaker and entertainer, and brought a splendid address on the "Paradox of the By-Product" in which he stressed the value of the by-products of an education and its resultant effects on student leadership.

Immediately following Dr. Rondthaler's address Jeff Fordham explained the purpose of the organization, stressed the qualifications which the Fleece considers for membership, and briefly reviewed the history of the order. He told how in 1903 two students met with Dr. Horace Williams and after much deliberation and deep study of the needs, formulated the Senior Order of the Golden Fleece and how the order has thrived since that time. ENTRIES FOR SOUTHERN CONFERENCE TRACK AND FIELD MEET MULTIPLYING

Indications Are That All Members of Conference Will Enter
Meet Held Here May 14 and 15—Mississippi A. and M.
Title Holder For Three Consecutive Meets—Expect Many Records Be Made At Meet.

Entries for the annual Southern Track and Field Meet which will be held here May 14 and 15, are coming in steadily, and indications are that practically every member institution of the conference will be represented by at least one or two men, while many of them are sending large squads.

With every indication pointing to a record number of entries and a record attendance, the University authorities are preparing for the biggest meet ever held on a North Carolina field.

Already this season many Conference records have been broken, and with such an array of track and field talent entering the lists, and with one of the best tracks in the South for running events, spectators will probably see an orgy of record smashing such as never been seen in one Conference meet.

Mississippi A. and M. has won the title for three consecutive years, and is sending a strong squad of men with the avowed intention of repeating their past performances. Opposing them will be Louisiana State University, runner-up to the Aggies for three seasons and winner of the Meet four years ago, North Carolina, third place team last year, Virginia, Maryland, Kentucky and Tennessee. Other teams, which will be handicapped by a small number of men, will enter individual stars who are rated a strong possibility for a place in one or more events. Some of these other teams are: V. P. L., V. M. L., Washington and Lee, North Carolina State, Auburn, Georgia Tech, Florida, Sewanee, and Vanderbilt.

The sprint events promise to offer a real thrill. With such men as Gus McPherson of North Carolina; Henry Cummings, of Virginia; Tracy, of Kentucky; Green, of Auburn; Milbank, of Washington and Lee; and Sides of N. C. State, entered, it will be an upset of dope if the dash records do not go overboard. Practically all of these men have done the hundred in 10 second or less, while several have gone under 22 flat in the longer sprint.

Henry Cummings, Virginia star, holds the world's record for the 130 yard dash, and has broken 9.8 seconds in the century several times. His time for the Tar Heels, has also done the hundred in 9.8 and the two-twenty in 21.5, while Sides, of N. C. State, has also clipped off the long dash in less than 22 flat.

Captain Joe Endsow, of the University of Maryland, is slated to place well up in the quarter mile if he does not win first place. Endsow has done the quarter in less than fifty seconds and has also done the half in a fraction over 1 minute, 59 seconds, which is less than the Conference record for that event. Carolina pins her hope for the four-forty on Tom Edwards. In all probability, Irvine will run for Virginia.

More records are likely to fall in the three longer races, for several stars have done some fast time in these events. Endsow, of Maryland, and Jonas, North Carolina captain, have both been under the Conference record for the 880, and they will be in the race for first place. Other star men who will start in that event are Chinn, of Virginia; Williams, of Sewanee; Rhinehart, of North Carolina; Akin, of Kentucky; Dickey, of Florida, and Crum of N. C. State.

YELLOW JOURNAL APPEARS TUESDAY

Reviewer Thinks It A Great Success in Many Ways.

COMMENDS GILDED FUZZ
Says "Sigma Up" Gave Campus Rare
Morsels of Sweet Scandal.

By WALTER SPERMAN
The sensational and spectacular "Yellow Journal" has at last made its appearance on the campus, and has brought grief to many of the Carolina celebrities. This journal not only uncovers all the "hidden sins" of college leaders, but brings to light undiscovered geniuses who deserve to be brought to the attention of their fellow students.

Judging from the second edition, the publication of the first edition would very probably have blasted the reputations of the few students whose characters have thus far remained unscathed. So no doubt fervent thanks are being rendered to the "all-consuming blaze" at the Orange Print Shop and to the mighty powers-that-be who suppressed the first and uncensored "Yellow Journal." Enough muddy facts remain to cause certain well-known campus characters to absent themselves from the "hill" or to slink to classes in round-about ways.

Sigma Upsilon should be commended for furnishing the campus with such choice bits of scandal. The editors have proved without a doubt that they can wield an eloquent pen and are no less adept in the gentle art of ferreting out all questionable acts or even thoughts. No longer can the most skeptical one dare insinuate that the members of "Sigma Up" are not the supreme literary "cream of the campus."

The Gilded Fuzz showed its superiority to the Golden Fleece by knocking twice as many men as the Fleece tapped. Those honored by being selected for the Fuzz were Frank Bell, Bill Cooke, Ruth Hatch, Kenneth Jones, M. L. Radoff, Sid Chappell, Taylor Bledsoe, Al Moore, (Continued on page four)

IBSEN PLAY TO BE READ BY ENITA NICKS MAY 30th

"The Vikings at Helgeland," by Henrik Ibsen, will be the Playmaker reading for the month of May. It will be read May 30 in the Playmaker Theatre by Miss Enita Nicks. Miss Nicks has studied expression for three years at Leland Bowers, prior to coming here, and has already proved her ability by the reading of Edmond Rostand's "The Romanesque" in which she will play the role of Sylvette when it is produced in the Forest Theatre the latter part of May. The action of "The Vikings at Helgeland" takes place about 933 A.D. on the island of Helgeland in the north of Norway. Ibsen secured the theme for his play from the Icelandic family-sagas. The play tells of the love of a Norwegian, Hjordis, who is married to Gunnar, with Sigurd, who has married Hjordis' foster sister, Dagny. The father of the two girls comes to seek vengeance on the men who have carried away his daughters and all meet in Helgeland. How Hjordis tries to straighten out the situation so that she can marry Sigurd, and how finally she kills both him and herself is told in the sweeping, forceful manner which Ibsen alone is able to produce.

SENIOR EVENTS BEING PLANNED

Senior Class Ball Takes Place
May 14, In Gym.

PROGRAM NOW COMPLETE
May 17 and 18 Scheduled for Senior Week Exercises.

The little table and chair stationed in front of the Post Office last week for the purpose of taking orders for Commencement invitations went almost unnoticed by the majority of students, but for that most important of campus groups, the Seniors, it held a poignant significance. The sale of the invitations brought forcibly to the minds of the members of the graduating class the fact that there remains only five weeks of their college career, and they are beginning to inaugurate the events that every year characterize the approaching departure of the Seniors. Class officers and executive committees are working hard, arranging a series of events to be held during the few weeks that remain.

The first of the Senior events will be the Senior class ball, which is scheduled for Friday evening, May 14, at the Bynum Gymnasium. The music by Hal Kemp's band is enough in itself to insure the dance as a complete success, but that is not all. The Southern Conference Track Meet and the crowd of visiting girls that it is expected to draw, together with three other dances that week end should furnish a large and choice collection of feminine talent for the ball. The Gym will be decorated fittingly for the occasion and delicious refreshments will be served. The ball will be formal in atmosphere and significance though not strictly formal in regard to dress. A feature of the evening will be special dances for the various honorary groups in the class, such as the monogram wearers, Phi Beta Kappa men, etc. Those eligible to attend the Senior ball include all who are to receive degrees this June as well as those who are not going to return next year. There will be a committee to check up on all attending, which should do much to insure the right proportion of girls and stags and prevent crowded conditions on the floor. (Continued on page three)

SIGMA NU'S WILL GIVE WEEK-END HOUSE PARTY

Plan Third House Party of Year for Next Week—Entertainments
Program Big Feature.

The Sigma Nu Fraternity is planning a big week-end for the fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth of May. The chapter here is now making arrangements for the third house party to be held in its new house since the opening last fall and all indications are that the one scheduled for next week will be even more successful than the others given this year. Invitations have already been mailed and arrangements are being made to entertain approximately fifty-five girls at the house during the week-end.

Nothing will be lacking in the way of entertainment for the girls, for the week-end will be one of the most active social seasons of the year. Friday evening, May 14th, at the Carolina Inn, there will be a Sigma Nu ball given by the State and Carolina chapters of the Fraternity. The Southern Track Meet, on Saturday afternoon, will be a feature attraction and Saturday evening, the two Sigma Nu chapters will honor the visiting girls at a banquet at the Inn. After the banquet, the Zeta Psi ball, planned also for Saturday evening, should end up the week-end entertainments in grand style.

The Sigma Nu event will be probably the biggest house party given here this year. The week-end certainly promises plenty of entertainment, for with the Senior dance and Grail dance to be given in addition to the functions mentioned above, it should be the biggest in some time.
