

PLAYMAKERS ARE BACK FROM TRIP

Large Crowds Attend Performances on Trip Through Eastern North Carolina.

The Carolina Playmakers have returned from their tour of the eastern part of the state where they have presented Oliver Goldsmith's classic old comedy, She Stoops to Conquer to capacity audiences in every town and at the matinee in Durham it was necessary to turn people away. The tour was one of the most successful of any of the tours in recent years, the towns were near enough together so that no long jumps were necessary. The troupe was not late for a single performance and financially the tour was a huge success.

The Playmakers have the distinction of drawing the largest crowd ever assembled in the Elizabeth City high school auditorium, it being necessary for additional rows of seats to be added to accommodate the crowd.

Murfreesboro was awarded the $50 prize for having the largest audience in proportion to the number of inhabitants of the place. People came from a distance of sixty miles to see the performance. Edenton was a close second with the size of the audience.

The Playmakers were entertained in every town and due to the fact that every member on the tour gained weight it is natural to assume that they were very well fed. The organizations and people providing special entertainment in the towns were: Miss Helen Leatherwood entertained at a dance at the Prince Charles in Fayetteville; Mrs. George Butler entertained the Playmakers after the performance at her home in Clinton; R. J. Madry entertained the Playmakers after the performance at his home in Scotland Neck; and the Kiwanis Club of Scotland gave them a turkey dinner; in Murfreesboro the party had lunch at Chowan college; in Edenton a Rotarian luncheon was given in honor of the Playmakers and they were also taken on a sight tour of the historical places in and near Edenton; in Elizabeth City a Rotarian luncheon was given for the Playmakers; and in New Bern a dance was given in their honor at the Elks club.

The towns played on tour were Durham, Fayetteville, Clinton, Nashville, Scotland Neck, Murfreesboro, Edenton, Elizabeth City, Washington, New Bern, and Hillsboro.

Why? Chapel Monday

Freshmen and Sophs Will Give Reasons for Their Being Here.

In Chapel Monday morning, a survey will be made of the Freshman and Sophomore classes on the following points: "Why you came to college," "Why you came to the University of North Carolina in preference to some other college," and "Why you registered in the particular school at the University in which you now are."

A survey has been partly made in reference to the last point, and the results proved very interesting to the authorities. The information secured Monday will be used as a basis of a report from the Dean of Students' office.

President Chase, N. W. Walker, T. J. Wilson, and L. R. Wilson are in Jackson, Mississippi, this week at the meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, of which Mr. Walker is president. L. R. Wilson is to preside at one of the sessions a paper on "The Growing Importance of Libraries." Thursday he spoke before the Mississippi Library Ass'n.

INDOOR RANGE IS THE RIFLE CLUB'S NEW ACQUISITION

Bad Weather Does Not Impede Practice Since Completion of New Unit.

UNDER MEMORIAL HALL

Matches Are Already Being Arranged—Government Firearms and Ammunition.

The Carolina Rifle Club announces the deepening of its indoor gallery range. This gallery range is situated under Memorial Hall and may be used at any time. It has an advantage over the outdoor range in that it may be used during bad weather or at night.

The U. S. Government has already promised an issue of gallery rifles which will be received before Christmas. The regular rules of the National Rifle Association will apply to all practices in the indoor range.

Both the regular Carolina rifle team and the gallery team will get their winter training on this indoor range in preparation for the National Intercollegiate matches next spring. During the winter several matches will be held with N.-C. State and other schools.

Opening of this new range and the generosity of the government in furnishing supplies make possible the admission of a number of new members into the Rifle Club. All interested in joining should see Burnham Colburn, Alpha Chi House, or Hayward Parker, Sigma Delta House, at once; the initiation fee will probably be raised after Christmas.

Co-eds also are urged to join, as the officers have found it possible to arrange for many Girls' Intercollegiate Matches during the coming year.

Plans are under way now for the organization of two pistol teams, high-power revolvers and gallery pistols.

Electrical Engineers Hear Professor Lear

Speaks on "Illumination" at Regular Meeting Thursday Night.

The Carolina chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers held its last meeting of the fall quarter Thursday, in Phillips Hall. Professor J. E. Lear, of the School of Engineering, talked to the society on "Illumination," and Mr. T. B. Smiley devoted a few words comparing the eye with the ear.

Professor Lear, in his talk, dealt chiefly with the effects of light rays, and of various color rays, on the human eye. He explained how colors are transmitted through the eye to the brain, and took up the question of how the illumination engineer, through certain types of illumination, produces the desired color effects upon the eye. Mr. T. B. Smiley gave a short talk discussing the question of illumination also, comparing the efficiency of the human eye in taking in the light rays with the ear in receiving sound waves.

The meetings of the local chapter are held every other Thursday night in Phillips Hall. President H. L. Coe announces that several good programs are in store for the meetings next quarter, the society having been promised several electrical films by the Westinghouse Electric Company.

Hickerson Author of New Book on Curves

Is a Pocket-Sized Engineer's Handbook.

A pocket sized engineer's handbook of three hundred eighty-one pages, Highway Curves and Earthworks, by Thomas S. Hickerson, Professor of Civil Engineering in the University of North Carolina, has recently been published by McGraw-Hill Book Co., Inc., New York.

Nearly two hundred pages are devoted to tables, some of which are valuable for determining the areas of widening pavements, and for the determination of the true meridian.

The author defines "degree of curve" as the angle at the center subtended by an arc of 100 feet. On this definition he bases his curve formulas, which are adequately explained by examples and supported by original tables for both circular and spiral curves having external deflection angles extending to 140 degrees.

WOODHOUSE AUTHOR OF TWO HISTORICAL BOOKS

Professor Edward J. Woodhouse is the author of two recent studies—"The Historical Background of Municipal Government in North Carolina" and "The Government of Charlotte." They have been published as pamphlets. Mr. Woodhouse was formerly mayor of Northampton, Massachusetts and now is a member of the staff of the North Carolina Institute for Research in Social Science, and is also acting professor of government in the University.

Charlotte and Sanford Meet Here Today for State Title

a powerful contrast to the mealy six which their opponents have been able to secure all year.

Sanford and Charlotte will renew an old feud in the form of the final game. In 1923, Sanford won her first eastern title, and journeyed to Chapel Hill only to be downed by one of the greatest teams Charlotte has ever turned out in its history of state championship elvens. The lads from the Queen city have thrice worn the crown symbolic of the North Carolina football kings, and also have won several western titles.

For pure hard luck, those Lee county boys can't be beat. Three times in four years, starting in 1923, have they been rewarded by winning the eastern championship, but twice they were forced to return without the supreme laurels. The question now is whether the old seasoned state championship winners from the west can again repel the easterners who have been consistently knocking at the door of the state championship, but have not as yet crossed the threshold.

Individual Stars

One rather interesting phase of this afternoon's contest will be the performances staged by two rival football toters. Captain Harry Frazier of Sanford is generously recognized as the best ball carrier in the east, while Charlotte has a lad named Cook, who is acclaimed the best backfield player in the west. When King meets King!

Coaches

Sanford is coached by Parks who has held her coaching reins for a number of years. Practically every player on his team learned football under "Colonel" Parks—as he is affectionately called by his players. Charlotte has "Big Jack" Caldwell, former Duke fullback, and Gullickson, of the Springfield Y. M. C. A. college, to guide her destiny.

The largest crowd ever to witness a high school game in the state will more than likely swarm into the stands of Emerson field today. Charlotte is sending down a special train, and numerous others are coming by auto. Sanford has always had an impressive delegation that follows their team, and today's turnout will be an exception only in that more than usual will be here.

A Mr. Mason of Charlotte has arranged to send down a thirty piece band, the property of Greensboro high school, and this band, coupled with Professor T. Smith McCorkle's University bands, is going to present enough worth while music to lend a tinge of interesting color to the game.

The officials who will handle the game are as follows: J. P. Major of Woffard College, referee; Captain J. R. Boatwright of Woffard, umpire; James N. Ashmore of Carolina, head linesman.

THE BIG SURPRISE
JACK LIPMAN'S
AD FOR TUESDAY

Everything's going to be all right

THAT'S the way P. A. talks to you in the bowl of a pipe. This great national gloom-chaser stabs the darkest clouds with a ray of sunshine. Buy a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today and see. Tamp a load of this friendly tobacco into your jimmy-pipe and light up.

Cool as a sub-cellar. Sweet as the breath of fresh-cut violets. Fragrant in the tin and fragrant as you smoke it. Never a tongue-bite or a throat-parch. So mild you can hit it up from sun-up to sun-down, yet with a body that satisfies completely.

There's more philosophy in a pipe-load of P. A. than in the average Doctor's thesis. No matter what brand you are smoking now, you don't know how much your jimmy-pipe can mean to you until you pack it with good old Prince Albert. Get started now.

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and punch removed by the Prince Albert process.
