Daniels, Elliott and Pritchett
Finish Together—Daniels and Goodwin End Career.

The Tar Heel cross-country teams closed their season in a blaze of glory on Emerson field Saturday between halves of the high school football game when both the Varsity and Freshman teams walked off with the annual State Championship meet for the fourth consecutive year.

The Varsity team, which won the Southern Conference title, placed all of her entries among the first nine men to finish. This is regarded as a new record in the history of North Carolina track athletics. Captain Daniels, Elliott and Pritchett, three Tar Heel luminaries, clasped hands about fifty yards from the finish and romped across the line in a triple tie for first place. The faces of the three distance men were wreathed in smiles as they gaily trotted down before the stands, holding hands, looking for all the world as if they had just finished a five minute jaunt rather than a gruelling race over four miles of hilly Chapel Hill sand roads.

The score of the Varsity was

DEBATE SEASON OPENS THURSDAY

Carolina and Washington Teams
To Discuss Light Wines and Beer Question.

OPEN FORUM DISCUSSION

North Carolina meets George Washington University Thursday night at 8:30 in Gerrard Hall in the first forensic contest of the year. R. S. Noe and Lee Kennett will uphold the affirmative side of the question: Resolved, That the constitution of the United States should be modified so as to permit the use of light wines and beers. George Washington will have the negative argument.

The debate will be conducted under the rules of the open forum, which is to say, the audience will be the judge and decide the winner. This question has occupied for some time a very important place in our political gossip, and as the next presidential election draws near it looms up as yet more important. For this reason it is hoped that the attendance will be as large as possible.

Representing Carolina on the negative side of the question at George Washington University, Washington, are Morris H. Mogulescu and Harry McGalliard. Mogulescu is a veteran of several varsity debates and is secretary of the Debate Council. McGalliard, a sophomore, making his first appearance on a varsity debating team, is undoubtedly the youngest of collegiate debaters, being but 15 years of age. He made a good record on the freshman team. McGalliard is a Chapel Hill boy and a graduate of Chapel Hill High school.

BEST RECORD IN THE SOUTH

The Tar Heel cross-country team pictured above ended its season in a blaze of glory Saturday by winning the state cross-country championship for the fourth straight season. A few weeks ago the team journeyed down to Athens, Ga., and won the Southern Conference cross-country championship from a large field of entries by one of the widest margins ever piled up.

Several of the men on the championship cross-country team were members of the Carolina track team that won the Southern championship in the Conference meet a scant six months ago. Reading from left to right members of the team are: Coach Dale Ranson, R. R. Tilley, H. E. Cox, B. H. Goodwin, H. N. Brown, H. B. Pritchett, Captain A. E. Daniels, and Galen Elliott.

LARGE AUDIENCE ATTENDS SUNDAY MUSICAL CONCERT

Mrs. LeGrand, Miss Read and
Charles Vardell of Salem College Faculty Perform.

PERFORMANCE PLEASURES

(By J. O. Marshall)

The largest audience to attend a student's series concert this year heard Mrs. Audrey Clare LeGrand, soprano, Miss Hazel Horton Read, violinist, and Charles Vardell, Jr., pianist, members of Salem College faculty, in the concert presented Sunday afternoon in Memorial Hall by the University Music Department.

Mr. Vardell began the program with Beethoven's Sonata in E flat major, Op. 81a. This sonata is long, but not at all labored of verbose, and its wealth of motives or themes—all masterfully developed with Beethoven's characteristic unity and terseness—were interpreted with a technic sufficiently ample and satisfying.

This number and Haydn's Capriccio, played by Miss Read, were the only representatives of the classic school in a rather monotonous and thin program of realistic music.

The next group, three violin numbers, was played by Miss Read. It was fortunate that her program selections were all unpretentious; for though her interpretations are sensitive and have a simple imaginative appeal, they lack authority, conviction, and vitality. The closing numbers of her two groups, Imps by Burleigh and Tambourine by Gossec, were well applauded. Undoubtedly, she successfully presented the numbers as realistic music.

Mr. Vardell's second group was composed of six sketches for the piano, from a Mountain Walk. These are Mr. Vardell's own compositions, and every strand of the tonal texture was

Last Night.

HUDGINS IS MANAGER

Garrett Morehead, star tackle on the University of North Carolina football team, last night was elected to captain the Tar Heel squad for the 1927 season. Morehead who hails from Charlotte, has just completed his second year as a regular in the Tar Heel line. His work during both seasons has been outstanding, and at the close of this past season he was named at tackle on the majority of the All-State teams.

Ed Hudgins of Marion was elected manager of the varsity squad and Max Barker of Salisbury.

ENGINEERING SCHOOL, CREATED IN 1922, ONE OF BEST IN COUNTRY

Present School Consists of Departments of Chemical, Civil, Electrical, and Mechanical Engineering—Little Time For Non-Technical Study But Some Cultural Courses Given.

From the very beginning of the history of the University Engineering has played an important part. Hinton James, that well-known first student of Carolina, was later leading engineer of the state. While certain engineering courses have been offered at the University since the founding, it was not until 1922 that the regular School of Engineering was established. For some years prior to that time the engineering work was included under the head of the School of Applied Science.

Courses

The present School of Engineering now consists of the four major Departments of Chemical, Civil, Electrical, and Mechanical Engineering. With the exception of Chemical Engineering, the work in these different departments is practically the same for the first two years and indeed a part of the third year. This consists of instruction in the fundamental principles of engineering as a whole rather than specialization in any one phase. The senior year is given over to courses along the line in which the student is most interested.

During the four years of study certain non-technical courses are offered in English, history, economics, and business administration; but these so-called cultural courses are dealt with in a technical way so that they may have some direct bearing upon engineering. The English courses stress public speaking and the preparation and writing of reports. History is studied especially with a view to ascertaining the causes and effects of industrial movements. No languages are given at all. This may be considered a fault, but it is impossible to include more work of this nature in a four years course which must teach so much engineering. As it is, the School of Engineering is considered the most difficult in the University and certainly requires a maximum of time and effort. Six or seven subjects are taken each term and from twenty-eight to thirty-two hours of class per week are expected.

Co-op Work

The most distinctive phase of the engineering courses is the co-operative work, which every regular student must have before he can obtain his degree. This co-op work consists of an eight weeks summer school at the end of the sophomore year and alternate six weeks work

TEN GAMES ON 1927 GRID CARD

Georgia Tech Appears on Carolina Schedule for Game at Atlanta.

FIVE GAMES PLAYED HERE

The 1927 football schedule of the University of North Carolina has been increased to ten games, seven of which are against conference teams. The only change in the teams scheduled is the addition of a game with Georgia Tech.

In order to resume football relations with the Techmen it was necessary to make several changes in dates of other games on the schedule. The Georgia institution is given the date formerly held by Maryland; Maryland is shifted to the former South Carolina date; South Carolina is given the former Duke date, and Duke will be met on the Saturday preceding the Virginia game on the following Thursday. Five of the games next year will be played at home, and two of the others will be easily accessible to the student body.

Carolina and Georgia Tech will meet on the football field next year for the first time in eleven years; the Tar Heels lost the last game by a score of 6 to 10. The present arrangement is for two years. The game next year will be played at Atlanta, and the one the following year will be played here.

Although Carolina has played as many as ten games in one season in the past, the following schedule is considered the strongest one ever arranged for the Chapel Hill eleven.

Wake Forest, Sept. 25, Chapel Hill
U. of Tennessee, Oct. 1, Chapel Hill
U. of Maryland, Oct. 8, Chapel Hill
U. of South Car., Oct. 15, Columbia
Georgia Tech, Oct. 22, Atlanta, Ga.
N. C. State, Oct. 29, Raleigh
V. M. I., November 5, Lexington
Davidson, November 12, Chapel Hill
Duke, November 19, Durham
Virginia, November 24, Chapel Hill

SANFORD UPSETS DOPE; DEFEATS CHARLOTTE 13-0

Easterners Win High School
State Championship By Virtue of Victory.

FINAL GRID GAME HERE

Lee County Team Outplays
Charlotte in Everyway—
Frazier Scores Both Touchdowns.

The growing ambitions of a fighting Sanford eleven were finally realized on Emerson field Saturday, when the boys from the east downed the Charlotte football representatives by a 13 to 0 count. The Sanford lads, by virtue of their victory over Charlotte, now occupy the championship chair of North Carolina high school football.

Three times during the last four years have those orange bedecked gridiron warriors from Sanford clawed their way to within one game of the much desired football title, and twice they have been ruthlessly denied, once three years ago by an eleven from that same Charlotte. But Saturday, the champions of the east were not to be denied the sacred heights occupied only by the finest football team in North Carolina. The boys from Lee county, outplayed, out fought, and outscored the powerful eleven from the Queen city. Statistics alone show that he new champions surpassed the losers in every department of the game, counting ten first downs to Charlotte's three.

The largest crowd that ever assembled on Emerson field to witness a high school game, had barely settled itself comfortably into the hard cement seats, before Sanford had shoved over her first score of the day. On the third play of the game Charlotte, who had received the kickoff fumbled on her own twenty-five yard line and Sanford recovered. Two straight first downs carried the ball to within one yard of the westerners' goal line, and from this point Frazier bucked it over. A little while later, in the same half, a blocked punt gave the Sanford lads the ball on Charlotte's twenty-eight yard line. Four Sanford men were all over the kicker on this play, any one of whom might have blocked the punt, but to Byerly, Sanford tackle, goes the individual glory of touching the ball first. Two forward passes, Frazier to Williamson, again placed the ball in the shadow of

Benefit Dance Given

Pi Beta Phi Social Successful In Raising Santa Claus Funds.

The Pi Beta Phi Woman's Fraternity gave an enjoyable dance in the Gymnasium Friday night from nine till one o'clock for the purpose of raising funds for the benefit of its settlement school at Gatlingburg, Tennessee. The school is supported entirely by the Fraternity and the assessments on the various chapters.

The attendance at the dance by students and co-eds was gratifying and reports from the officials state that the door receipts were large, making it possible for Santa Claus to fill the mountain childrens' stockings with toys and goodies for Christmas.
