

HERBERT HOOVER IS INVITED HERE

May Speak at Convention of Association of Alumni Secretaries.

Herbert Hoover, secretary of the United States Department of Commerce, may speak here at the convention of the Association of Alumni Secretaries, to be held here April 28, 29, and 30. Daniel L. Grant, University of North Carolina Alumni secretary and president of the Association, extended the invitation to Mr. Hoover through Senator Lee S. Overman, Salisbury, last week. He indicated that he would accept, although he has not definitely done so as yet.

Over two hundred delegates from all sections of the United States and Canada will attend the sessions of the convention. A tentative program for the convention has been almost completed, and will be announced within the next few days.

Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins College, will be among the speakers, secretary Grant announced yesterday. President Chase will also deliver an address.

Charles G. (Hell and Maria) Dawes, Vice-president of the United States, was invited, but he was obliged to decline on account of pressure of business matters.

TAR HEELS BOW TO THE GEORGIA BULLDOGS

Bulldog forwards, cut loose with a literal deluge of long shots and sent Carolina over the route so many favorites have taken since last Friday. One by one they have fallen. First Tennessee, and then Auburn, Maryland and Georgia Tech in rapid succession. Only Georgia and Vanderbilt remain, and tonight they will battle for the choice morsel that has been the bone of contention.

The Phantoms' last stand was a gallant one and worthy of a better reward. Their inability to make their scoring chances good proved their downfall. Statistics show that the Tar Heels took 39 shots from the court and made 7 good. Georgia tried 30 shots and sunk 8 of them, four of their baskets coming in the last two minutes. The Tar Heels made 6 foul shots good out of 14 attempts, while the Bulldogs counted 10 points in 19 tries.

Billy Vanstory led the Carolina attack with 8 points, and was runner-up for game honors. Florence, Georgia forward took top honors with 11 points. Purser of Carolina and Keen of Georgia each counted an even half-dozen markers. The score at half-time was Carolina 9, Georgia 8.

Line-up and Summary:

the neophytes seemed resolved to make theirs of the highest order. During the grand march led by Micky Block and Miss Elizabeth Soloman, hammered silver bracelets with the fraternity's coat-of-arms were given out to the representatives of the fair sex. As honored guests,

Billy Vanstory

Billy Vanstory fired the Tar Heels' parting shot in the 1927 tournament. With Georgia leading 25 to 18, he loosed a long "prayer shot" from the open spaces. It whipped the nets and brought Van's total for the game to eight and his total for the tournament to 30 points.

MITTMEN LIKELY TO BE CHAMPIONS

The Tar Heel boxing team is working hard for the coming tournament to be held at Charlottesville, Va. March the fifth and sixth. Six teams have been met and defeated by the "mittmen" this season. The Southern Boxing Conference is composed of six teams besides Carolina and the Tar Heels have beaten all these.

Taking into consideration that this year is the second year for the team to be under the tutelage of a regular coach, such achievement is phenomenal. With three veterans as a nucleus to build a team around, Coach Rowe has done wonders towards developing another Southern Championship team. Captain Shuford, Warren and Butler came up from last year's team and Brown, and Carpenter had done some fighting previously. Coach Rowe easily developed these men into good fighters and Warren, Shuford and Butler have won all of their fights. The lightweight and featherweight classes have been handled by Buck, Shaw, Cummings, Mathe-son, Russell, and Meiggs.

The tournament at Virginia will be attended by the University of Georgia, the University of Virginia, the University of North Carolina, Washington and Lee, V. P. I., and V. M. I.

"Pinky" Morris

"Pinky" Morris will be a leading candidate for an All-Southern berth. His defensive play scintillated in every game in Atlanta.

two national officers, M. B. Wagenheim and George Macy, were entertained by the installed chapter. The men initiated this week were: Norman and Milton Block, Henry Weil, Charles Brown, Caesar Cone, Alvin Kartus, William Breman, and Joe Berwagner.

CO-ED FINDS BIG PUNCH IN BOXING

Declares Sport Is Real Interesting and Comments on Gentlemanly Conduct.

(Co-ed Cora)

I simply can't begin to tell what a big time every body had at the boxing matches the other night. Everybody seemed so happy. The boys who participated in the match certainly deserved the thanks of all true Carolina men, for their cooperation in giving every body a simply wonderful show.

Boxing is simply grand. And anyone who says that it is a brutal sport should certainly be ashamed of themselves. And the boys were all such nice boys. All the feminine spectators voted that the Carolina men were twice as good looking as the Castoria College boys. However they were nice looking too. Each man had his hair combed just as nice as could be.

So Grand

The whole thing was conducted in a gentlemanly way. The players all wore gloves to keep from hurting each other. And even the floor was padded so that if any one slipped and fell he wouldn't hurt himself.

Boxing has changed a great deal. Players used to fight until they dropped, but now all that has been changed. When the players get tired someone rings a bell and they stop and rest a little while. They even had little chairs in the corners for them to sit in and rest.

The umpire was simply grand. Whenever the players got excited and started to fight he would separate them. No doubt he kept them from hurting each other just lots. He certainly must have been brave.

Rings Bell Early

The man who pulled the bell, let me ring it twice. There was such a nice boy from Castoria. His eyes were grand, although one of them was a little black where he had run into something. It must have been terrible to have had that happen to him just as he was going off on a trip.

He was playing against a Carolina man. The Carolina man slipped and fell down, and the umpire began waving his arm up and down, motioning for him to get up. He had counted to nine and I got so excited that I pulled the bell, although there was just lots of time left.

The players quit and rested. They had to pick the Carolina man up and carry him to his chair. The Carolina man didn't want to play any more and so he pretended that he was asleep. But they found him out and made him go back when the bell rang. He ought to have known better because there were too many people looking at him.

I can't understand why the referee didn't help the players up when they fell instead of motioning for them to get up. He must have been fanning them too.

After having such a fine time, I'm glad to report that Carolina won. I don't remember the exact score.

University Trustees Recommend Twelve New Men for Board

The committee on University Trustees recommended twelve new members to the Board of Trustees of the University. The recommendations will be approved by the Senate and House in joint session early next week.

The term of each person recommended is for eight years.

The twelve recommended will fill vacancies on the present board, which were caused by the deaths of some and the expiration of terms of others.

The joint committee considered a list of 19 men from which the 12 were selected.

The election of former Governor Cameron Morrison was close. Out of the 22 votes cast by the members of the joint committee, the former Governor received 12.

The list of those recommended are: W. C. Woodward, of Nash; Fred Sutton, of Lenoir; J. T. Mangum, of Haywood; R. T. Fountain, of Edgecombe; Cameron Morrison, of Mecklenburg; Dr. Charles E. Maddry, of Wake; J. G. Murphy, of New Hanover; R. E. Little, of Anson; David B. Smith, of Mecklenburg; Claiborne Royall, of Wayne; and A. B. Andrews, of Wake.

students. They were: All voters must register 5 days before the nominations are made; any candidates who withdraw must do so 48 hours after their nomination; sub-assistant managers of athletics must try out a period of time and then be selected by the teams; immediately after the nominations there must be published in the TAR HEEL a concise list of the nominees for the convenience of the campus at large; and every candidate will be required to make an open statement in the TAR HEEL of the sources of organized support that he has.

F. S. Gilreath deplored the lack of attendance, saying that the group could transact no business.

Carroll replied that, in his opinion, the group was not called to transact business for the campus. He told those attending that their presence was requested for a simple discussion and not a majestic ruling on campus-wide matters. "This meeting was called," he said, "to give the campus its chance to discuss all suggestions that might arise. Their fate does not depend on the interest of a sleeping student body but upon the interest of the elections committee."

The only one of the five suggestions that would require the approval of the student body is the one which would disfranchise men who did not register. All the other suggestions are within the jurisdiction of the elections committee.

Six of State's Ten Most Beautiful Things Found Here

8. The porticoes of the State Capitol.
 9. Exterior of Christ Church, Raleigh.
 10. The living spirit of Ed Graham, which here, there, and yonder in North Carolina may be glimpsed flaming in the souls of some of those who knew and loved this man.
- The State Capitol at Raleigh was mentioned most often in the lists submitted. Christ Church, also at Raleigh, was second. Other things mentioned were the run for a touchdown by Walter Fuller in the Virginia game in 1919, the spirit of Dr. Potest, president of Wake Forest college, Isaac Irwin Avery's essay on "Violents," and "the spirit of helpfulness taken by North Carolinians toward negroes."
