

Tar Heels Are Determined To Lick Conquerors of Notre Dame

Clash of Tar Heels and Georgia Tech Here Saturday Will Be First Time Tech Has Invaded Northern Section of Conference in Years.

The University football squad went to work this week with the determination to put up its best fight of the season against Georgia Tech here Saturday, when the Southern Conference champs and conquerors of Notre Dame invade Kenan Memorial Stadium for the first time.

The Golden Tornado will leave its home field for the second and last time this season in order to do battle with the Tar Heels.

It will also be the first time in years that Tech has invaded the northern section of the Conference.

The Tar Heels gave the Yellow Jackets the fight of their lives on Grant Field in Atlanta last year. The Tar Heels lost 13 to 0, but, as one famous Atlanta sports writer said, it was the hardest fought 13 to 0 game ever seen in the South.

This year the Tar Heels have a stronger backfield than they were able to muster last year. Their line, perhaps, is weaker than last season. Taken all in all, however, Tar Heel supporters believe they have a stronger team than last year's.

The Tar Heels walloped Wake Forest 65 to 0 as the season's opener and they beat Maryland 26 to 19. But they lost to Harvard 20 to 0 and to V. P. I. by the close score of 14 to 16. They have been pointing for the Tech game all along, and while the odds favor the Tornado, the Tar Heels are counting on staging the sort of upset that happened last Saturday when V. M. I. beat Virginia after the Cavaliers on the previous Saturday tied Princeton and won a moral victory.

Tech this season has defeated V. M. I., Tulane and Notre Dame. That record shows beyond question that Tech has a powerful football team. Can the Tar Heels stop them?

It will be the biggest home game of the year for the Tar Heels. Indications are that it will draw a crowd of between 25,000 and 30,000.

The record football crowd for the state to date was reached last Thanksgiving when North Carolina and Virginia opened the new Kenan Memorial Stadium here with 28,000.

The gridiron rivalry of North Carolina and Tech covers a period of 13 years during which they have met three times. Tech has been the winner by close scores.

Foreign Alumni Attend Reunion

Two Alumni from abroad will attend the get-together banquet of the University Student Monogram Club and the Central Alumni Association to be held here on October 27, when the Tar Heels meet Georgia Tech.

According to Maryon Saunders, Alumni Secretary, these two Alumni are letter men who hold places of importance in foreign fields. The first, Dr. W. P. Jacobs, is connected with the international Health Commission of the Rockefeller Foundation, Colombia, Ceylon. He was of the class of 1904, going to University of Pennsylvania in 1907-9 for his degree in medicine. The second, Lacy L. Little, of the Southern Presbyterian Mission, Shanghai, China, is now on furlough and will attend the banquet. Mr. Little was captain of the football team of '39. He has been in China since 1895 in the capacity of missionary and teacher, and founded the James Sprunt High School for boys at Kiangyin.

The Alumni Secretary expects at least 700 letter men to attend the reunion, and states that arrangements are being completed for taking care of this number.

Golf Tournament Will Start Soon

Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors who wish to try out for the University golf team may receive cards to play at the Hope Valley Country Club from Luther C. Steward at the Chi Phi house. It is desired that all men trying out for the team obtain these cards at the earliest possible date.

There will be two old men back to form the nucleus for the team this year, Billy Vanstony and Luther Steward. Sam Pettus is also a high man on the ladder. From the rising Sophomore class Charlie Chatham, Willis Henderson and Meade Willis will undoubtedly contend strongly for places this year.

While no definite schedule can be announced as yet, Manager Steward announces that all college teams in North Carolina will be met as well as several from out of state.

Le Cercle Francais Holds Meeting

Le Cercle Francais met Friday night at 7:30 in one of the social rooms of the Baptist church. The meeting was opened with the singing of the Marseilles. Mr. J. L. Smith gave a most interesting lecture on his trip to Quebec. He described some of the scenes and the places of interest. After this talk, several French word games were played. Each person had to give an adjective describing certain objects in the room. Judging from some of the adjectives there must have been some odd looking faces there.

There were two residents of Paris present who were the main entertainers of the evening. These were Mme. Denise Sebin and her sister, Mme. Christiane Sebin, of 29 Avenue Charles, Fouquet, Paris. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting consisting of several varieties of cakes, and apples, bananas, and other fruit.

There was an unusually large attendance at this meeting. Judging from the interest manifested the most successful year in the history of the society might be expected.

The officers of the society for this year are: G. Frederic Cole, president; Miss Emily M. McClelland, secretary; and P. L. Boardman, treasurer. Owing to the absence of Miss McClelland, Miss Peggy Nickles acted as secretary for the night.

All officers and students of the University are eligible for membership and are cordially invited to attend. The meetings will be held monthly and notices will appear in the Tar Heel.

AMERICAN SCHOOLS FOR BLIND

In 80 institutions maintained in the United States for the education and training of the blind, 6,084 pupils received instruction during the school year 1926-27, as shown by United States Bureau of Education Bulletin 1928, No. 9. The figures represent an increase of 22 per cent over the enrollment in 1918. Graduates from the high school department of such institutions numbered 177, of whom 101 were boys and 76 were girls. Instruction in instrumental music during the year was given to 2,688 pupils, vocal instruction to 2,729; and 3,499 were enrolled in industrial courses. Children in kindergarten classes numbered 336.

Of institutions included in the report, 47 are State supported, 21 are schools or classes in city school systems, 5 are private institutions, and 5 others are private institutions receiving some State aid; 1 school is located in the Philippine Islands, and 1 in Porto Rico. Both blind and deaf children are accepted in 17 of the schools. Of the 863 instructors employed in institutions for the blind, 220 are men, and 643 are women. This is an increase over 1918 of 19 male instructors and of 122 female instructors.

Total expenditures of the 67 institutions which reported this item amounted to $3,993,404. They possessed permanent endowments of $5,707,168. The value of buildings and grounds was $17,283,141; equipment, including libraries, $2,151,091. Libraries of the institutions reporting contained 157,380 volumes in raised type, and 46,324 volumes printed in inked type. Regular courses for teachers of the blind are offered in two institutions, and George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn., gives special summer courses for teachers of the blind and semi-blind.

COMMERCIAL GRADUATES FOLLOW COMMERCIAL PURSUITS

That graduates of high school commercial courses are more likely to follow commercial pursuits than are graduates of college preparatory courses to enter college is indicated by a recent statewide survey conducted by the Connecticut Board of Education, involving the postgraduate records of 2,780 graduates of Connecticut high schools. The survey showed that 77 per cent of the graduates from high school commercial courses in Connecticut were actually engaged in commercial occupations, whereas only 63 per cent of the graduates from high school college preparatory courses had entered higher institutions.

To schools having at present three grades a fourth grade will be added. In schools which have now only two grades, first-grade work will be discontinued next year and second and third grade instruction given; the following year, third and fourth grade; and the year following, fourth and first grade work, completing the cycle of instruction in four years.—School Life.

ART ON PARITY WITH ACADEMIC SUBJECTS

Because of the value to the child as an individual and as a citizen, art is placed on a parity with academic subjects in Lincoln Platoon School, South Bend, Ind., and it becomes an integral part of the child's school life. Pupils work in a room particularly adapted to needs of drawing classes, with necessary paraphernalia, including facilities for applied arts. To develop an interest in civic improvement, architecture, and in home planning, art study is related through problems to civic enterprises and interior decoration.—School Life.
