

HEEL WRESTLERS TACKLE DAVIDSON

Will Meet First "Big Five" Foe Of Season in Tin Can Here Tonight.

The Tar Heel wrestlers tackle their first "Big Five" mat squad this season tonight, meeting the Davidson Wildcats on the mats in the Tin Can here at 8:30 o'clock in the opening drive for the 1929 state championship.

Coach Chuck Quinlan has taken his men through their early season tests in fly style. The Davidson meet will show how the new edition of the Tar Heels stacks up against intra-state competition. The Tar Heels have not lost a meet this year to date.

The line-up for the Wildcat meet seems pretty well settled in most of the weights. The only uncertainties appear to be in the 125 pound and 145 pound classes. The big question being in the lighter division, where three scrapping matmen are battling for recognition.

The other uncertain weight is the 145 pound class, where Peyton Abbott, undefeated veteran of three years competition, has held forth in early season bouts. It may be, however, that George Sanders, husky grappler from New Jersey, will take the mat against Davidson's 145 pounder.

The complete team, likely to start the Davidson meet includes Stallings, 115 pounds; Thompson, Zealy or Albright, 125 pounds; Woodard, 135 pounds; Abbott or Sanders, 145 pounds; Moore, 155, pounds; Cowper 165 pounds; Stone, 175 pounds; and Thompson, unlimited.

Wrestlers' Captain May Lose His Berth

Captain Gene Thompson, leader of the University wrestling team, finds it tough sledding to make the team that he captains this year. Thompson, a student in the Law School, was kept off the mats for two weeks by mid-year examinations, and now he is hard put to win his berth back from younger material. Bob Zealy, varsity reserve of a year ago, and Mayne Albright, up from last year's freshman team, are in the scrap for the 125 pound berth. Zealy recently defeated Andes, V. P. F.'s Olympic wrestler.

Wake Alumni Will Entertain Players

Just before the State-Carolina basketball game tomorrow night, the Tar Heel team will be the guests at a banquet given in their honor at the new Carolina hotel in Raleigh by the Wake County Alumni club. Governor Max Gardner, former athlete from both State and Carolina, will be present and will make a short talk.

The chief address of the evening will be made by Mr. W. T. Shore of Charlotte, President of the General Alumni Association. There will be a musical program in addition to the speaking.

All the Carolina alumni who are members of the legislature have been invited to be present. Coach Bob Fetzer will also be there and will make a short talk.

As the alumni board of directors will hold its annual meeting at the Sir Walter in Raleigh Thursday at ten o'clock it is expected that many of them will arrive in time to attend the banquet. The group will attend the Carolina-State game in a body after the banquet.

Phi Calendar

The Phi Assembly will meet tonight and the following resolutions have been drawn up for discussion at the next meeting:

1. Be it resolved, That the Phi go on record as approving abolition of capital punishment.
2. That the Australian Ballot system be adopted in North Carolina.

4. That birth control is essential to the progress of the United States.

6. That there should be a reorganization of the Phi and Di.

FROSH SEASON NEARING END

Have Three Stiff Games This Week All Bearing on Championship Honors.

This week marks the end of the season for the Tar Baby basketball team. There are three stiff games on the schedule and each of them will have a direct bearing on the outcome of the state championship race. Last night the freshmen met the Wake Forest freshmen before the varsity game between Wake Forest and the Tar Heels. Wednesday the Tar Babies journey over to Raleigh to meet the State yearlings in the curtain raiser to the game which Coach Ashmore's men will play. Then on Saturday night in the Tin Can the Carolina freshmen will close the season with a return game with the Duke Blue Imps.

The State game will be a stiff battle if the first meeting between the two teams is any indication. The Tar Babies will have to defeat the State freshmen again in order to stay definitely in the running for state championship honors because Tar Heels. Wednesday the Tar Babies over the Duke frosh while the Tar Babies suffered a defeat at their hands.

The closing game of the season will find Coach Belding's men up against a strong fighting Duke team which already holds one decision over the Tar Babies, won only after an extra period was played. The Tar Babies will be out for revenge and will fight to turn the tables on the Duke freshmen and atone for their only defeat at the hands of a team in North Carolina this season.

Wrestlers Take Third Victory

The University of North Carolina wrestling team turned in its third successive victory for this season by defeating the Virginia Cavaliers, 21 to 11, last Saturday night in the Tin Can. It was the toughest meet the Tar Heels have encountered this year, and one marked by thrills in almost every match.

The Virginians jumped to an early lead by winning the first two matches; the first by a time advantage, and the second by a fall in the last few moments of the bout. The Tar Heels quickly recovered and soon amassed sufficient score to insure victory. Abbott, Moore and Ferguson each assisted in rolling up the score by earned falls. Woodard and Stone gained time decisions.

Carolina Boxers Trounce Cavaliers

The University boxers, hot after a second successive conference title, won their fourth straight meet Saturday night, defeating the Virginia Cavaliers 6 to 1, in the Tin Can. Fishburne, Virginia bantamweight, won his teams' only bout from Cohen of North Carolina, Vaughn, regular Tar Heel bantam, was not in togs. Captain Brown and Warren, both of Carolina scored technical knockouts in the middleweight and heavyweight scraps.

Wild Hog Passeth

Students at the University of Arkansas plan to present a razor-back hog to the undergraduate who is held to have done the most for the university during the present school year. When they adopted this plan they figured that getting the porker would be the least of their troubles. But now they are finding that the wild razorback, for years one of the most striking bits of animal life in the state of Arkansas, is apparently on the verge of extinction.

Accordingly, a bulletin from the university's news bureau says that the students are going to make a state-wide search for a wild hog. It is said that there was a time when these wild razorbacks were so plentiful in Arkansas as to be a veritable nuisance—but that time is past. It seems that Arkansas is no longer a backwoods state.

TAR HEELS CLOSE SUCCESSFUL TRIP

Face Stiff Week in "Big Five" and Southern Conference Circles.

Returning home Sunday from a successful northern invasion, the University basketball squad faces an active week of "Big Five" and Southern Conference games. Carolina forced Princeton's court quint to play an extra five-minute period before going down by a single point to the Tigers, 20 to 19, on the New Jersey court Saturday night, in a thrilling inter-sectional game. End of regulation playing time found the teams tied at 18-all. During the first half both teams played a cautious defensive game and as a result frequent fouls were called. Captain Miles of Princeton and Captain Hackney of Carolina were removed on personal fouls.

The game with Princeton was the third of a northern invasion for the North Carolina quint and marked their only defeat of the trip. On the two successive nights previous, the Tar Heels won decisive victories over Virginia and Maryland. Incidentally, Princeton's narrow margin of victory marked the third defeat for the Tar Heels since the 1929 season regularly opened, having lost earlier in the year to South Carolina and more recently to Duke.

This week is a strenuous one for Coach Ashmore's proteges. Last night's game with Wake Forest will be followed by an engagement with State in Raleigh tomorrow night, and then a return contest with Duke here on Saturday night.

To date the Tar Heels have won nine of the eleven games they have played with Southern Conference teams, having lost only two. They still head the list in "Big Five" standing, but with State and Duke close on their heels and with Davidson threatening to overtake the whole outfit.

The three games this week will make or break Carolina's chances for another clear title to the State championship.

American Historical Association To Meet At Duke University

Will Be the First Meeting of the Organization at a Southern College.

The American Historical Association, which is the national association of historians and history teachers in the United States, will hold its 1929 meeting at the University of North Carolina and Duke University jointly, according to Dr. R. D. W. Connor. The association is composed of approximately twenty-five members and comprises many of the leading teachers of history in the largest colleges and universities of the United States. The 1929 meeting of the association will begin on the Tuesday after Christmas and will last for four days.

The 1928 meeting of the association was held at Indianapolis and lasted from December 26 to December 29. At this meeting Dr. Hamilton, of the Department of History in the University of North Carolina, was elected to membership on the national council of the association. Due to the fact that the national council is the body which governs the activities of the association, membership in that body is a rather singular honor. Dr. W. K. Boyd, of Duke University, is chairman of the program committee of the association. As yet, however, he has not formulated his plans for the 1929 meeting except with regard to the place of meeting.

This will be the first time that the American Historical Association has ever been the guest of a Southern college or university.

Hubert Potat Will Revise Latin Book

Dr. Hubert M. Potat, head of the department of Latin in Wake Forest College, has been commissioned by D. C. Heath and Sons, publishers, to revise and re-edit his edition of Cicero's letters, published in 1916. This work will entail a rewriting of the preface and notes to the earlier edition, and when it is finished the new volume will be one of a complete series of new Latin text books to be published by Heath. Dr. W. L. Carr, of the University of Michigan, will be editor-in-chief of the new series. Dr. Potat states that his work of revision has already begun, and that the new book will be ready sometime next year. The first edition of Dr. Potat's work has enjoyed sustained popularity in the United States as well as in foreign countries. Several hundred copies have been sold in England.

In response to a great number of questions which the student body has asked during the past month, Humphrey Marshall, Jr., president of the University band issued the following statement yesterday regarding the campaign for uniforms for the organization.

"At least two thousand dollars will be required to properly outfit the band with uniforms that will last for several years. Thus far we are some eight hundred dollars short of the goal.

"The largest single gift is a provisional one from the Athletic Association for $1,000, given with the proviso that it match dollar for dollar other amounts we may raise to a maximum of a thousand dollars.

"Other contributions have been as follows:

- Student contribution at pep meeting $23.81.

Math Club Meeting

The Math Club meets tonight at 7:30 in room 360, Phillips Hall. The program will consist of a discussion of the "Nine Point Circle," by E. C. Hunter, and a discussion of "The Logical Development of Number," by J. J. Slade, Jr. All students taking math courses higher than math 2 are cordially invited to attend.

Law Professors Will Address Debate Class

At the regular weekly meeting of the debate class Thursday night two members of the Law School faculty will discuss the question as to whether the United States should enter the World Court without reservations. The greater part of the time, however, will be given over to a general discussion between members of the class and the directors of the meeting. All members of the class who are candidates for the team which will represent the University in the debate with Emory University on March 26 are advised to have some kind of an outline of their arguments by Thursday night in order that the general discussions may be of some value in singling out valuable contentions.

May Add Triangular Debate To Schedule

Officials of the Debate Council announce the possibility of a triangular debate with the University of Alabama-State University to take place at some time during the latter part of the Spring quarter.

For several years Carolina has been participating in a triangular debate with the University of Alabama and Tulane University. This contract expired, however, last year and Tulane has not as yet consented to a renewal of the same. For this reason the Debate Council has been attempting to secure Louisiana State as a substitute for the University of Alabama. At present it seems rather probable that this arrangement can be made, as Alabama is in accord with the idea.

In the case that the triangle is arranged Carolina will send one team to Louisiana and keep one at Chapel Hill.

THE QUEST FOR THE BEST CIGARETTE

LIFE, liberty, and the pursuit of the finest in cigarettes. And hope springs eternal. . . . Our quotations may be a little mixed—but as far as this "quest for the best" business is concerned, Camels are the end of the trail, and the realization of hope. We'll bet life, liberty or what-have-you on that.
