Allen and Sapp Win Their Fights

(Special to the Tar Heel)
Archie Allen, 135-pound Tar Heel boxer, and Odell Sapp, light heavyweight, won their fights in the third annual Southern Conference bouts staged at Charlottesville, Va., last night. All the other Tar Heel boxers saw action last night with the exception of John Warren, heavyweight, who will fight today. However, the other bouts occurred too late to be released in time for this issue of the Tar Heel.

Thirty-One on Law School Honor Roll

Eleven students averaging at least eighty, and twenty averaging not under seventy-five have been named on the honor roll for the first semester of the University law school. Due to the fact that a different standard of grading prevails in the school, the first group made the standing of A, while the second number obtained B's.

Miss Susie Sharp, topped the list, made the grade of eighty-seven, an average considered very excellent in law school circles. J. B. Fordham and D. S. Gardner were not far behind, both making averages of eighty-six. Walter Hoyle and H. P. Brandis, Jr., followed with the grade of eighty-four, while A. W. Ghoslon, Jr., turned in an eighty-three for the semester. C. B. Sparger, J. H. Chadbourne, and N. S. Sowers, all averaged eighty-one; C. T. Rouse and A. K. Smith obtained grades of eighty.

Those students averaging below eighty and above seventy-five were: D. E. Hudgins, Jr., J. W. Crew, Jr., R. T. Giles, and T. V. Sprinkle, 79; A. S. Kartus and T. A. Uzzell, Jr., 78; J. H. Anderson, L. H. Wallace, and W. S. Malone, 77; J. A. Williams and Harry Rockwell, 76. Those averaging 75 are: H. T. Powell, Jr., C. S. Mangum, Jr., A. C. McIntosh, J. B. Lewis, Y. M. Smith, LeeRoy W. Armstrong, Moore Bryson, T. C. Smith, Jr., and H. B. Parker.

WILL BE FIRST APPEARANCE AT THE UNIVERSITY

Eight Universities and Colleges and 12 Prep and High Schools Registered for Meet.

Indications are that the University of North Carolina's first annual Winter Track and Field Carnival, carded for the Tin Can here tonight at seven o'clock, will go over with a bang. Entries are already in from eight Universities and colleges, and twelve prep schools and high schools have sent in teams or individual entries for the scholastic events.

Washington and Lee, Georgia Tech, Wake Forest, Georgia, State, Davidson and Campbell College have already entered, along with Carolina's own Tar Heels, in the intercollegiate section. Duke University will probably enter a team. The Duke Blue Devils recently won second place in the University of Virginia's invitation meet and will rank among the favorites here.

The 12 prep and high school teams entered will probably send close to 100 of the scholastic stars into action. Charlotte High and Hargrave Military Academy are each sending 16 men, while Campbell College and Hugh Morson High School of Raleigh have entered 11 men. Other schools sending entries are Greensboro, Bragtown, Oxford, Wilmington, Jefferson High of Roanoke, Va., Goldsboro and Apex.

The University authorities in charge of the meet have decided to eliminate the team championship in the intercollegiate section owing to the inability of far away schools to enter full teams. That leaves the competition for honors up to the individual stars, and the entries indicate a fast field in all events.

The officials of the meet urge all the spectators to cooperate with them by keeping the track clear and staying in the stands during the entire time of the meet. There will be no admission charges.

HEELS EXPECT 17 LETTER GRIDMEN BACK NEXT YEAR

Prospects Begin To Take Shape As Winter Football Season Closes.

With the University of North Carolina's winter football practice almost over, some line on Tar Heel football prospects may be drawn. Coaches Collins, Cerney, Fetzer and Enright have had their charges down to hard work for nearly two months now, and numbers of new men are ranking almost with the lettermen as prospects for the next year's varsity.

There are seventeen lettermen of last year expected to return for next season, among them being two ends, two tackles, four guards, a quarterback, six halfbacks and a pair of fullbacks. Scrapping with these veterans, the University mentors have more than a score of the freshman numeral winners and several rookies who did not play either varsity or freshman ball last fall.

Don Holt and Julian Fenner, letter ends, are due back next fall; but they will find a lot of competition from such men as Nelson, Tabb, Parsley and Packard, all off last year's varsity reserves. Morris, Runnels and Reid are the outstanding flankmen from the freshman team.

Billy Koenig and Fenton Adkins will be out for their old tackle posts again, and they will too find lots of younger competition. Clyde McKinney, 250 pound reserve last fall, is a candidate, along with Alexander, Buchan, and Rose of the freshman squad. Bill Suggs, 200 pound freshman fullback, has been working at tackle in winter practice and may step into a berth.

The guards present no problem, for four lettermen return for next year, including Captain Ray Farris, Bud Eskew, Bob Blackwood and Jimmie Hudson. Hutchison, Dunavant, Rosenfeldt, and McIver are freshman guards likely to play next fall. Between the guards, however, the real competition comes in for the center berth left vacant by Captain Harry Schwartz. Gilbreath, freshman pivot star, seems a likely prospect, but he may see competition from Schneider, of last year's reserves; and Belton, a freshman reserve.

With nine letter backfield men, including Wyrick, quarterback; Magner, Maus, Nash, Jackson, Erickson, and Ward, halfbacks; and House and Harden, fullbacks; there appears few offensive worries. Added to this veteran squad there is a host of promising young material. Yank Spaulding, a veteran fullback who has never quite made a letter, will be worth watching. Johnnie Branch and Rip Slusser appear to be the pick of the freshman backfield this past fall, but others have been showing well this winter. Among them are Johnnie Greene, quarterback and halfback; Bob Chetty, halfback; Worth McAllister, fullback; George Houston, halfback; and Buck Yost, halfback.

At the Carolina

While making Columbia's production "Restless Youth," which will be the attraction at the Carolina Theatre today, the members of the cast amused themselves between scenes by discussing the reasons for the uneasiness on the part of young persons. From these discussions Christy Cabanne who directed the production obtained many suggestions which he utilized in securing the atmosphere.

ERICKSON, BRANCH STAR IN GRID TILT

Tech Defeats South Carolina With Brilliant Aerial and Running Attack.

With an aerial and running attack that has not been equaled in any of the winter football games heretofore, "Georgia Tech" defeated "South Carolina" Thursday afternoon 22 to 6. "Shorty" Branch, freshman star, and "Chuch" Erickson led the attack, and their passing and running was the feature of the game. Both touchdowns in the first half were made by Erickson after receiving passes from Branch. Harden bucked the ball over for the other score after Erickson had brought the ball to the two yard line by a sixty yard run after receiving a pass from Branch over left end.

"South Carolina's" touchdown came in the last quarter after recovering a blocked punt on the fifteen-yard line. Moore passed to Park over right end for the score.

The outstanding event of the game was Branch's eighty-yard run after receiving a fifty-yard punt by Suggs. However the run did not count as a member of the "Tech" team was caught "clipping" from the rear. Suggs in the backfield, and Alexander in the line, stood out for the losing team.

Contest Announced

Announcement was made yesterday by Foister's Photo Service, local Eastman dealer, of the launching by the Eastman Kodak Company of a mammoth contest for amateur picture takers in which 1,223 cash prizes will be offered to a value of $30,000. A grand prize of $2,500 is being offered for the best picture, 11 prizes of $500 each are being offered for the best picture in each of 11 classes, and numerous other prizes, state and national.

Classes included are child and baby pictures, scenes, informal portraits, story-telling pictures, sport pictures, animal pictures, nature study pictures, buildings and architectural details, interior pictures, still life studies, and unusual photographs.

Awards will be made for technical skill alone, and the contest is strictly for amateurs. Contestants may enter as many "shots" as they desire. Complete information may be had from Foister's which has its headquarters at the Student Supply Store next the Methodist church.

Varsity and Freshman Wrestlers To Meet V.M.I. in Doubleheader In Tin Can Here This Afternoon

The Carolina-V.M.I. wrestling meets, both varsity and freshman, have been shifted up to this afternoon to avoid conflict with the University's first annual Indoor Track and Field Carnival tonight. The Carolina Freshmen meet the Cadet "Rats" this afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the rival varsities clash at 3:30 o'clock.

These two meets ring down the curtain on the University's indoor athletic season, for the Tar Heel cagers and boxers top their seasons with the annual Southern Conference Tournaments in Atlanta, Ga., and Charlottesville Va., this week-end.

Coaches Quinlan and Mot-singer, since the Tar Heels met Duke in Durham on Tuesday night, have been grooming their mat stars into top form for this championship engagement with the V.M.I. strong men.

Against the Cadets the Tar Heels will present the finest team that ever wore North Carolina tights. Six sophomores and a pair of husky veterans have carried the Tar Heel colors to the heights in the Southern Conference this year, and the Saturday afternoon matches put the climax to the season.

Coach Chuck Quinlan plans to start his regular line-up in that final meet, with Stallings, 115 pounds; Captain Thompson, 125 pounds; Woodard, 135 pounds; Abbott, 145 pounds; Moore, 155 pounds; Cowper, 165 pounds; Ferguson, 175 pounds; and either Stone or Thompson, unlimited.
