By YARBOROUGH

THE SPRING
Finally it seems that spring is here to stay for a while. The presence of the new season is more apparent to one if he goes down to Emerson Field and watches the baseball and track men work out. On the diamond there will be several men playing the infield positions while Coach Jim Ashmore drives out "grounders" for them to handle. Back of the goals there will be several men warming up for work on the mound. Across the track another group of outfielders are chasing flies.

The track men have begun to shed their heavy sweat clothes and are doing heavier work now. Several of the weight men are working daily at the far end of the football field, while the track men are working out around the track. Another group of field men are working on the lower end of the auxiliary field with the javelin.

So it goes. Spring certainly must be here.

Before long though we will get a taste of next year's work. The boxers and wrestlers are likely to get in some spring work, while the grid candidates not interested in another sport will begin playing with a football in the afternoons.

But the real sign that spring is here to stay will be when the boys begin to use the tennis courts regularly. Now the courts are too wet for use, but when the days stay warm for stretches then the racquet-ers will get going.

VIRGINIA'S NEW COACH

Authorities at the University of Virginia are jubilant over the signing of Abill, former coach at Colgate. While at the Northern institution Abill turned out some good teams. His team built around Tyrone was the greatest ever turned out by Colgate. That team enjoyed a great season. No team was too good for them and they ran through their schedule without trouble. V.P.I. held them to a low score that year and the Gobblers had a great season.

But the point about Virginia's new coach is what kind of a team will he give the Cavaliers next year? Evidently he plans to build his outfit around one man. Tommy Campbell, under whom Abill used to work, followed that plan; and the success the Colgate team enjoyed with Tyrone as its mainspring indicates that Abill uses the same system.

Just whom the new Cavalier coach will use as the key man in his attack is problematical. Perhaps he will use the flashy freshman back who performed so well against Carolina—one Thomas by name.

When the Young Cavaliers came down to play the Tar Babies they boasted of what Thomas would do. He did, but the Carolina freshmen did more. This fellow is just the type that Abill could use to build his team around. He is fast and during the past fall was just about all the attack the Virginia yearlings had.

With the offense built around this boy and with several of the Virginia stars returning for another season, Abill should have a successful season.

But the plan of having a team built around one man has too many fallacies. The greatest of which is that a good team would soon have that man stopped and then where would the attack be? We like the system employed by the Carolina coaches—that of having any number of capable backs. We certainly have them here.

Coaching Staff Will Offer Courses for Education Students

The University Coaching staff will offer during the spring quarter a course in athletic coaching. This course will be similar to the courses offered in the regular Summer Coaching school, and will consist of lectures and blackboard drills five hours per week as the class room work and practice demonstrations on the field or court five hours per week as laboratory work.

The course is given under the auspices of the School of Education, and is planned especially for men who are preparing themselves to teach. Although it will not count for credit it should prove of great practical value to those men who expect to teach next year.

Registration in this course is open to any student in the University without addition charge or fee.

CARR BOYS ARE CAMPUS CHAMPS

Won from Kappa Sigma's In Annual "Dorm-Frat" Battle Tuesday Night.

A fighting five from Carr dormitory annexed the campus basketball championship of the 1929 season, clinching the honors by virtue of a 19 to 16 victory over the Kappa Sigma basketeers in the annual "Dorm-Frat" battle in the Tin Can on Tuesday night. It was the second successive year that the Kappa Sigmas have won the fraternity league crown, only to drop the campus honor to the dormitory champions. New Dorms defeated the Kappa Sigs by one point last season.

Captain Bob Lingerfeldt and Buck Hewitt, a pair of brilliant forwards, were the aces in the Carr drive. Both of the boys played sterling games over the floor, and Lingerfeldt rang up four field baskets to lead his club's scoring. Captain Bo Shepard, Kappa Sigma leader, topped Lingerfeldt for game honors, ringing five baskets for a total of 10 points.

The rival quintets started off slowly, both feeling out the other's offensive. It was five minutes before Hewitt dropped a foul shot through for Carr's first score, and a second later Bo Shepard sank a "pot shot" from far afield. That Kappa Sigma lead was short, however, and a minute later Lingerfeldt had rung two flying baskets to reverse the lead. Carr was never headed, although the Greek Letter champions did put on a thrilling rally in the closing minutes.

The score was 9 to 2 at the half, with the Kappa Sigmas apparently unable to solve the man-to-man defense put up by Carr's tossers. The scores mounted after intermission, and with less than three minutes to go the Carr boys were leading 19 to 8. Then Kappa Sigma ran amuck. Shepard sunk three baskets in almost as few seconds, and Ed Hudgins dropped a clean basket through the netting. The whistle cut the rally short.

This game marked the close of the Intramural cage season, a season that has produced several fast teams and more brilliant individual performers. An All-Campus quintet chosen from both the Dormitory and Fraternity Leagues would include Bo Shepard of Kappa Sigma and Bob Lingerfeldt of Carr, forwards; Tom Craig of Delta Kappa Epsilon, center; and Buck Hewitt of Carr and "Bugs" Race of Beta Theta Pi, guards.

Line-up and summary:
Carr (19) Kappa Sigma (16)
Lingerfeldt (8) rf Gray
Hewitt (3) lf Webb (2)
Crane (2) c Hudgins (4)
Davis (2) rg Shepard (10)
Rape (4) lg Cox
Substitutions: Kappa Sigma Eagles for Gray, Gray for Cox. Referee Price (Carolina.)

Tar Heel Scout Picks All-Southern Quintet

There are three N. C. State and two Duke cage stars on the two All-Southern teams chosen by Lester Belding, University coach and scout. Belding scouted for the Tar Heels during the Southern Conference Tournament in Atlanta, and he saw every game played during the four-day elimination series.

The first team is a well-balanced combination, with stars chosen from five different teams. Sanford, Georgia center, is named as one forward, with Selby, "Ole Miss" ace, as his running mate. Frank Goodwin, elongated N. C. State center, draws the pivot post; while Werber of Duke, and McGinnis, Kentucky Wildcat, earned the guard calls.

Larry Haar and Maurice Johnson, stars of N. C. State's championship five, both rate the second team. Haar is one of the forwards paired with Palmer, high scoring Georgia star; and Johnson pairs with the towering Laird, of Mississippi, on the second team guards. Joe Croson, lanky Duke Sophomore, is picked for second center.

BASEBALL BOYS START PRACTICE

Coach Jim Ashmore Has Six Lettermen Out With Shortage of Pitchers.

With a game with the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College team scheduled for March 25, varsity baseball has begun to show some form of organization. The majority of players have their arms in pretty good condition and have now settled down to real work.

Particularly keen is the competition in the infield. Captain Luffy has as competitors for the "initial" sack: Sapp, who made his letter year before last, but was forced to stop later due to a bad arm, Brown, Fox, and Goodson.

Phil Jackson is back at his position at second base while Wyrick, of football fame, and Prevatt are also showing good form at this post. Whitehead and Rand, sophomores, are competing for the berth at shortstop left vacant by Satterfield, who will likely hold down the "hot corner" this year. The outfield appears to be the strongest part of the team with Cox and Barnhart, veterans of last year back, and Jessup, who is not here at present, but probably will be next quarter. Sinclair, Wall, Paxton, Harden, and McKinney are also working hard for outer positions.

The catching staff promises well with Maus, of last year's team, and House, Potter, Fysol, and Johnson all doing good work.

Only one of the pitching staff of last year's team has returned, Jim Ball, a southpaw. However, several of those out show promise of developing into pitchers among whom are: Burt, of last year's freshman team, Wright, who played in the infield year before last, Spaulding, Huntley, Adams, Johnson, and Fleming.

TAR HEELS LOSE FOUR COURT MEN

Hackney, Satterfield, Cathey, and Price Will Receive Diplomas This Spring.

Basketball at the University will be hard hit this spring by graduation, which will mark finis to the court career of four veteran Carolina stars. Hackney, Satterfield, Cathey, and Price will receive their diplomas in June, and will carry with them all the glory that goes with distinction in North Carolina basketball. While these boys are leaving the collegiate hardwood, Coach Jim Ashmore will have three of this season's regulars back for a nucleus of his 1930 club—Harper, Brown, and Marpet, all rookie cagers this year.

In the leading role as Flying Phantoms this season, Captain Rufus Hackney and Henry Satterfield have concluded their seventh year of basketball together. Before their entrance into the University this pair of forwards had played for three years on the Durham High School quint, where their performances marked them as excellent collegiate prospects. Since their matriculation here, these boys have played one year of Freshman basketball and three years of Varsity. Their college career on the court has clearly marked them as two of the University's finest athletes, deserving to be ranked with those select few of All-Southern stars who have preceded them on the Carolina basketball teams.

Coach Ashmore must draw from this year's reserves and freshmen to fill the gap left by the exit of the four veteran cagers from University athletics. "Puny" Harper, gigantic center, and Billy Brown and Artie Marpet, effective rookie guards, remain as the only lettermen making bids for next year's aggregation. Among the reserves who may come through next winter are Neiman and Farleigh, forwards; Dameron, center; and Craig, Smith, and Choate, guards. This year's Tar Baby quintet, with a fine season against freshman and prep school teams, sends up several good men. Outstanding among these freshmen candidates are Green, Sachs, and Hutchinson, forwards; Meyers, center; and Alexander and Reid, guards.

Notice Track Men

Final varsity track practice before the holidays will be held Wednesday afternoon; all members of the squad finishing exams before that time are requested to remain over for this practice. The first workout after the holidays will be Monday afternoon, March 25th, at 4 p. m.

The coaches desire that every member of the varsity squad receive personal instruction regarding workouts while home during the holidays.

School Newspapers Are Awarded Honors

Two Asheville school newspapers, both of which have girl editors at the head, won prizes in the 1928 national student competition in journalism conducted by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association of Columbia University, it was learned here today. "Sky High," senior high school news sheet, won first place in Class A, in which more than forty high school newspapers competed, thus ranking at the top of high school newspapers in the country. Miss Gretchen Mason is editor, and the first girl to edit this publication.

"Highland Outlook," the Asheville normal school newspaper, took fourth place in its class, competing with nearly thirty other newspapers. Miss Lucille Young, of Troutman, N. C., is editor-in-chief.

Notice

All applications for the various teaching fellowships offered by the University this year must be in the office of the dean of the Graduate schools not later than March 15, it was announced by Dr. A. C. Howell, assistant dean of the Graduate school. Mr. Howell requests all students who have intentions of making applications to do so immediately.

An announcement of those students who have been awarded these fellowships will be printed about April 1.
