Carolina Cops AAU Meet As New Records Are Set

Kelly, Twining Set Pace In Slaughter

By Bob Jones

Carolina's powerful mermen team swept to its sixth straight AAU squad championship by slaughtering and outclassing a large field of entries in the annual pool classic last Saturday night. The Dolphins also walked away with the two National Junior AAU titles tucked under their belt.

The Caseymen racked up a total of 67 points to stand way ahead of their nearest competitor which was Duke with 24 points. Pre-Flight took third place with 18 and the teams following were Staunton Military Academy, 5; Boys High, Atlanta, 2; N. C. State, 2; and Charlotte Y, 1.

Earlier Saturday afternoon, the Dolphins downed Georgia Tech in a dual meet by the score of 50-25 for their 20th consecutive dual meet. Carolina won six out of the nine events and set four pool records in the victory.

Meet Duke Tomorrow

The Tar Heel swimmers will journey to Duke tomorrow afternoon to engage the Blue Devils in a dual meet which will decide the champs of the Southern conference. The pool event is scheduled at 4:30.

In one of the feature events of the Carolinas AAU program, Carolina's relay team composed of Snooky Proctor, Jack Zimmerman, Bill Pritchard and Bill Ward captured the National Junior AAU 400 meter freestyle relay championship, and set a new pool record in swimming the distance in 4:13, cutting two-tenths of a second off the old mark.

Twining Wins Race

Dick Twining, the Tar Heels' sensational swimmer, pulled ahead in the final lap to nose out Zimmerman, a teammate, by a few yards to win the National Junior AAU 200 meter free style championship. The winning time was 2:21.2.

Billy Kelly held up to his reputation as one of the finest swimmers in the South as he fell short of establishing a new world's record in the 100 meter breaststroke by only 1.3 seconds. Kelly's time was 1:09.2 which is not bad in anybody's pool. This incidentally set a new pool record by bettering the old one by 4.6 seconds. The Marine trainee and a candidate for the Teague Award, placed first in the 100 meter freestyle with a time of 60.3 which tied the present record.

Ben Ward was pushing the speedster as he finished close on Kelly's heels.

Nufer Sets Record

Prince Nufer, Carolina's lady wonder, outraced a strong field to cop the 50 meter freestyle for women in a record-breaking time of 33.5. Nufer also placed second in the 100 meter freestyle by being nosed out by Evelyn Barbee of Goldsboro.

In the meet against Georgia Tech, four new pool records were established by Carolina swimmers. Billy Kelly knocked off an even eight seconds off the old pool record in the 200 meter breaststroke by covering the distance in 2:43.6. Dick Twining swam the 100 meter freestyle in 60.3 to set a new record which was later tied by Kelly. The old mark was 61.4.

Carolina's relay team, made up of Snooky Proctor, Kelly, and Ben Ward posted a new pool mark in the 300 meter medley relay with a time of 3:24.3 and the relay team composed of Jack Davies, Jack Zimmerman, Bill Pritchard and Ben Ward established a new pool record in the 400 meter freestyle relay by swimming the distance in 4:13.6.

Pugmen Gain Unofficial Southern Boxing Title

Twohey Breaks Hand In Beating Jenkins

By Stan Colbert

Carolina's potent ringmen captured the unofficial title of Southern boxing champions Saturday night when they handed a 6-2 defeat to the fighting Cavaliers of Virginia before a crowd of nearly 2,500.

It was Carolina all the way, with the totals showing one loss, two draws, two forfeits and three decisions.

Keyes Undeclared

Eddie Keyes, diminutive bantamweight, continued his undefeated record for this, his first year as a ringman, by handing Cavalier Jim Elkins, the team co-captain, a thorough thrashing.

In the 127-pound class, it looked like Bobby Thomas all the way, but Tom Markwood put on the steam near the end and the fight ended in a draw.

Lodge Fights Well

Jim Lodge, representing Carolina in the 135-pound class, put up a beautiful fight, but his inexperience and the fact that he has been with the squad just two weeks, was too much. He lost to Ernest McFadden.

In what appeared to be a poor decision, Jim Worley, Tar Heel dynamo at 145 pounds, drew Chuck Pomatto of Virginia. The crowd lustily booed this decision, for Worley had boxed terrifically for three rounds.

Twohey Tops Jenkins

In what proved to be the feature scrap of the evening, red-headed Ed Twohey, representing Carolina for the first time in the ring, decisively won over Jenkins, in one of the oddest fights in the annals of Carolina's boxing history.

Jenkins was originally scheduled to fight KO Kraus, but actually he had been losing enough weight to weigh in at 155 pounds and be sure of winning his bout.

About two inches taller than Twohey, Jenkins had the advantages of reach and experience, but in the first round Twohey came right out and worked under Jenkins with a flurry of lefts and rights to win the round.

Hand Is Broken

In the second round, Twohey landed a terrific punch to Jenkins' head, but to all eyes it just hurt Jenkins. See PUGMEN, page 4.

Indoor Track Meet Set For Saturday

150 Stars To Participate In Program

A total of nearly 150 track stars, representing 10 college, university and military units, have filed entries for the annual Invitation Indoor meet, sponsored by the University of North Carolina, which will be held in Woollen Gymnasium next Saturday, Feb. 10, it was announced tonight by R. A. Fetzer, Director of Athletics. Additional entries are expected.

Earl Mitchell, nationally famous star from Camp Lejeune, is scheduled for the one and two-mile events, and his appearance, along with that of North Carolina Pre-Flight's Charlie Beetham, middle-distance ace, assures the meet of at least two nationally known standouts, in addition to many of the best track men in this section.

Dale Ranson, track coach at Carolina, said the entries already filed indicate the meet "will be just as good as any in the past."

Teams already entered include Clemson, Georgia Pre-Flight, Virginia, N. C. State, Georgia Tech, Carolina Pre-Flight, Cherry Point Marines, Laurinburg-Maxton Air Base, Norfolk Naval Training Station, and North Carolina. Earl Mitchell and Kenneth Farris, of Camp Lejeune, entered individually, not as representatives of the base.

Mitchell under the colors of the University of Indiana won the indoor mile in the Millrose games, Madison Square Garden, in 1942, with a time of 4:8.6, only a fraction more than a second slower than the world record. He was Big Ten two-mile champion in 1942, and his best time in that event was 9:13. Since the meet record for the mile is 4:25, and the two-mile is 9:58, it looks as if there are two new marks, at least, in the offering.

Snavelly May Be Here Wednesday

Coach Carl Snavelly, newly-appointed Carolina mentor, is slated to arrive in Chapel Hill tomorrow morning and will address the Carolina alumni in Durham that night. Snavelly will be guest speaker at the Teague Memorial awards in High Point on February 26 at which time he will present awards to the most outstanding men and women athletes of the two Carolinas.

The University of Cincinnati observatory was the first erected in the United States with public funds.

CAROLINA CHATTER

The Med students might not have enough spare time to participate in varsity sports, but they certainly go out in a big way for the intramural activities. Check their records for the evidence of this statement. The future docs walked away with the mural wrestling championship by copping five of the eight classes and are staging a big fight for the basketball crown.

The Med School furnishes Carolina with a lot of stalwart athletes including Denny Hammond and Ira Abrahamson, swimmers; Sam Hay, football, and Bill "Red" Forrest, baseball. But there's no question about the fact that the Med students main interest lies in the line of intramurals and their record is enough to prove it.

Otto Graham and Dean Meador, two of the Pre-Flights star basketball players are reported to be leaving today for further Pre-Flight training. Both have been the two big guns in the Cloudbusters' attack all season and Graham has made quite a name for himself as an all-around athlete while being stationed in the local Pre-Flight school. Graham is headed for Glenview, Ill., not so far from the All-American's home.

Maj. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, home on leave as Commanding General of the 15th Air Force witnessed the Carolinas AAU swim meet and saw his son, Dick Twining win the National Junior 200 meter freestyle event and earlier in the afternoon Dick set a new pool record in the 100 meter freestyle while his father was watching.

Bernie Mock, former cage player for State and Carolina, is playing with the unbeaten semi-pro team of Smithfield. Carolina All-Stars are planning to play the potent crew tomorrow night. Phi Hudson, who is at Carolina working on his masters degree in Physical education, may be at the reins of Appalachian State's football team next season, that is if the Apps' return to the gridiron sport. Jim Poole, now Ensign Poole, was a visitor in Chapel Hill last week. Jim played basketball for the White Phantoms and is a pro baseball player.

Bill Adams, home on a week-end pass from Bainbridge, dropped by Carolina for a short visit. Adams was a member of the 'B' cage team last fall and now he is on his way to San Diego, Calif. for Yeoman training. Bud Stanback, V-12 trainee is doing a fine job as coach of the Chapel Hill high school basketball team. His outfit trounced a previous unbeaten Methodist Orphanage squad last week.

FROM THE EMININE ANGLE

Girls! Girls! Girls!
"Hut—2—3—4!" The supremacy in drilling of the male population on the campus will be seriously threatened tomorrow when the co-ed present their DEMONSTRATION DAY, in the Women's Gym at 4. For among the day's outstanding features presented by the co-ed physical education classes will be an exercise in military drill, and these girls are really "hep to their step".

Also to be seen are graceful young mermaids in a water ballet; an exercise in posture training which would shame even a Powers' model; and a star-studded basketball game between the "sizzling sycloones" and the "horrible hurricanes".

With the season rapidly drawing to a close, a minor change has been made in the schedule of the Co-ed Intramural Basketball League for this week. All three of the games scheduled for tonight have been postponed until Monday, February 12.

At a recent meeting of the Woman's Athletic Association, Anne Christian was elected to fill the office of treasurer to replace Jeff Foster, who will graduate this month.

Phantoms Play Davidson Five Tomorrow

Coach Ben Carnevale's Carolina basketball team will play its final pair of home games this week, facing Catawba tonight in a non-conference battle and locking horns with Davidson in a Southern loop encounter Wednesday. Both games are slated for Woollen gym at 8 o'clock.

After the home court finale Wednesday, Carolina will travel to Richmond Saturday to battle the University of Richmond. The Phantoms are scheduled to meet State in Raleigh next Monday and conclude the regular season play Wednesday at Duke.

The Tar Heel cagers are favored in both home games, tonight and tomorrow night, by virtue of previous wins over the same clubs earlier in the season. Coach Carnevale's Phantoms will also be rated to overpower State and Richmond, but the tilt at Duke next week will be slightly the other way as the Blue Devils downed Carolina in their first meeting January 20.

Carolina's basketballers fell victim to the top ranking Norfolk Air Station quint for the second time this season last Saturday night, 65-46, as the Sailors won their 16th straight tilt.

Norfolk jumped to an early lead, holding at 26-15 margin at halftime, and the Airmen held the Tar Heel crew to 11 markers in the second half while scoring 37 themselves to romp to victory. Jim Jordan, one of the leading scorers in the Southern conference, John Dillon and Manny Alvarez each tallied nine points for the Phantoms, but Norfolk's Bob Carpenter was high man for the night with 29.

The starting five for Carolina tonight will probably be: Ira Norfolk and Jim Jordan, forwards; Bill Allen, center; and Manny Alvarez and Clive Thompson, guards.

War conditions have led Indiana University to abandon plans for formal celebration of its 125th anniversary this year.

AL MATHES

Mathes As Coach of 'B' Outfit Prepares Players For Varsity

"Mathes The Maker Of Men" is the right term to use in connection with Coach Al Mathes, who is doing a commendable job as mentor of Carolina's "B" for the third straight season.

Mathes is directly responsible for priming basketball players until they reach varsity calibre. In other words he's been the man behind the scenes in many Carolina victories since he started coaching here in 1942.

Hailing from Newark, N. J., Mathes entered Carolina as a student in the fall of 1936 and played on the frosh cage team that winter. After that year's prepping with the Jayvees he played the next three years as a guard for the White Phantoms and was selected on the All-Southern team in his senior year, when the Tar Heels swept the Conference tourney in 1940.

During the summer of 1941 Mathes signed a professional baseball contract with the Boston Red Sox and was sent to a team in the Eastern Shore League where he batted a fine .319 average for the season. In the fall of '41 he accepted a position as coach and teacher at the Rocky Mount high school. The court team under his supervision placed second in the Class A conference.

In 1942 Mathes came to Carolina as freshman basketball coach and produced an unbeaten outfit. He also assisted in coaching duties of baseball that year. A few of the guys he has tutored up to the varsity in basketball are Don Anderson, Clyde King, Dick Donan and Buster Stevenson.

Other than his duties here at Carolina, Mathes has completed a Civil Air Patrol course and holds a private pilot's license. He is a member of Social Activities Junior Auto United American Mechanics and his favorite pastimes are fishing and hunting. Mathes is married and has one son. His Jayvee team of this year has a record of nine wins against only four setbacks.

Jayvee Squad Faces Cherry Point Tonight

The UNC "B" basketball team, piloted by Coach Al Mathes, will engage the Cherry Point marines in a preliminary to the Carolina-Catawba encounter at 6:30.

Carolina's baby Phantoms edged out Camp Butner in their last game.

Mathes will probably start Hughes and Hudson, at forwards, Bowman, at center, and Nathan and Gregory, at guards.

Highlands university students last year borrowed an average of 13.39 library books as compared with a national average of 12.
