YMCA Institute Set For April 3 To 10

Biennial Meet To Deal With Social Themes

Comer Maps Plans For Conference

By Mary Hill Gaston

Plans have been announced by Director Harry F. Comer for the eighth biennial Institute of Human Relations to be held here April 3-10 under the auspices of the YMCA cabinet.

A number of nationally known speakers have been invited to address the conference, which will make an extensive review and study of the leading social, economic and political problems in the region, nation and world community.

"Prices of Peace" will be the general conference theme, to be discussed at daily public assemblies, classroom seminars, luncheons, forums and panels.

Co-Chairmen

Student co-chairmen for the institute are Edith Owen and Douglass Hunt.

Among the feature speakers for the evening public assemblies are the following: Dr. Eduard Heimann of the faculty of the New School for Social Research in New York; Assistant Attorney General Wendell Berge of the Justice Department in Washington; Dr. Ervin P. Hexner of the political science faculty of the University of North Carolina and authority on world cartels; Senator J. W. Fulbright, of Arkansas, who will speak three evenings in succession as the 1945 Weil lecturer; Morris Ernst, of the law firm Greenbaum, Wolf & Ernst in New York and counsel for the Civil Liberties Union; and Dr. W.

Debaters Plan Second Trip

Following up last week's announcement of a debate tour to Atlanta, Georgia on March 22, 23 and 24, the Debate Council announces a second tour on the following week-end to Baltimore, Maryland.

The second tour will be on March 29, 30 and 31, and will include as prospective opponents the Naval Academy, Randolph Macon, University of Richmond, William and Mary and Johns Hopkins.

The topics for this tour will be the same as for the Atlanta tour which are, "Compulsory Labor Arbitration," and "The Dumbarton Oaks Proposals."

Tryouts for the Atlanta trip will be held tonight (Tuesday) in the Roland Parker Lounge of Graham Memorial at 7 o'clock and the tryouts for the second trip will be held the following week at the same time.

For each trip a two man team will be chosen by the Debate Council on the basis of the ability of the candidates shown at the tryouts. The Debate Council will pay all expenses of the teams and tryouts are open to all students.

Turtle Takes Over Third Floor Kenan

The latest information received in the Tar Heel office by the paper's Kenan correspondent has a turtle more or less ruling the roost these days.

It all started this way: A certain young Marine, while traveling up New York way, became attached to a little turtle. Just for the novelty of the thing he sent the amphib to a certain little Carolina coed who lives on third floor Kenan.

Since his arrival amidst the female lair he has been the object of a considerable amount of attention. The girls have secured hamburger meat for his daily diet. We failed to find out whether or not new inhabitant likes his menu, but the girls seem to think he will get along all right.

There is one peculiar characteristic about this particular turtle... he is never satisfied to stay in the same room two nights in succession. This traveling turtle takes turns taking naps in various rooms of third floor Kenan. This cute little animal mammal or something has been a constant worry of some of the local gobs who find that the turtle is getting just a little more attention than is necessary.

Morrison To Take Chair In Di Meet Wednesday Night

Chancellor R. B. House and Dean Francis Bradshaw will be guests of the Dialectic Senate when it meets Wednesday night at 9 o'clock in the Di hall on the third floor of New West. Topic for discussion will be: Resolved, That Carolina is liberal.

The Senate Chamber will open to all students and visitors, who may be recognized by the chair and enter into the discussion.

At 8 o'clock, directly preceding the discussion of whether Carolina is conservative, liberal or radical, the Senate will go into its inauguration and installation ceremonies. Officers to take seats will be Bob Morrison, president; Roy Thompson, president pro tem; Billy Mackie, critic; Charles Fulton, clerk; Dick Mottman, sergeant-at-arms; Banks Mebane, treasurer; and Harold Suits, CRIL representative.

The body of the first session will be devoted to President Morrison's inaugural address. Morrison will outline the 150 year history of student government on the Carolina campus under the Phi and Di societies. The future plans of the Di will be epitomized, and a plea for better programs and renewed campus activity will be made.

A committee has been appointed in the Senate to stage a Sesquicentennial Celebration June 3. This committee plans to bring a prominent national figure to the campus to speak at a banquet for Di members and at a program to be presented for the entire campus.

Carolina Independent Coeds Will Stage Formal Saturday

By Sara Spratt

The Carolina Independent Coed Association will hold its first campus-wide formal Saturday evening, March 17 from 9-12 in the Woman's Gym with music by Freddie Johnson and his band.

A figure by the executive committee and their dates will climax the evening. Each attending member will have three bids, one date and two stags. Those having not yet received their bids may do so at the regular weekly meeting Wednesday night, or contact Libba Wiggins or Tommy Slayton.

Four Years Old

Organized in 1941, the CICA's purpose is to further the social and political interests of all non-sorority girls and stray Greeks on campus. Membership includes approximately 600 girls who are not members of sororities on campus.

Previously, the CICA has given a dessert party for the new girls, a Halloween party, sponsored one of the eight attendants in the Yackety Yack Beauty Ball, sponsored one of the leading candidates in the Victory Contest, has two representatives in the Co-Ed Senate, and the president of the organization serves as member of the Advisory Orientation Committee.

One of the main objectives of the CICA is to interest girls in campus extra-curricula activities. Members active in CICA have distinguished themselves as speaker and as members of the Co-Ed Senate, as president and cabinet members of the Student Legislature, as editor and members of the staff of student publications, as president of the Women's Glee Club, as members of the Valkyries, and as student leaders selected president; Betsy Dickson, secretary; Who Among American Universities and Colleges.

Concerning the future plans of the organization, it is hoped that an annual formal will be a regular event. At present a committee is designing a pin, which will be available to all members before the end of the term. Tentative plans have been to secure an organization room in town for the convenience of the members.

The present officers are Libba Wiggins, president; Tommy Slayton, vice-president; Betsy Dickson, secretary; and Barbara Blitzer, treasurer. In addition to these officers there are

Cookie Maret Resigns Post As Yack Editor

Cookie Maret, senior from Atlanta, Ga., who was elected on the Student Party ticket in the November elections to edit the Yackety Yack, Carolina yearbook, resigned her post last week to become effective immediately.

The Yackety Yack has suffered for management since last Spring at which time Editor-elect Tyler Nourse stated that he would not return to Carolina this year. The summer passed without an editor of the publication and not until November was Maret able officially to take over the post. The PU Board had appointed her to

Twohey Gets Nomination For Presidency Of CAA

SP Backs Smith For Class Prexy

First big gun in the annual Carolina spring political battle was fired yesterday when the Student Party released its nominations for the major offices to be filled in the general elections on April 5.

Rene Bernard, Student Party chairman, announced that Bill Crisp would run for President of the Student Body, Douglass Hunt for speaker of the Legislature, Jimmy Wallace for Editor of the Tar Heel, and Ed Twohey for president of the Carolina Athletic Association. "The party has also endorsed

A. B. Smith for president of the senior class," Bernard said.

Sam Selden Announces Tour Plans

Drama Troupe Will Perform At Service Posts

Samuel Selden, executive director of the Carolina Playmakers, announced today the itinerary of the tour of the Playmakers' new show, "Playmakers' Polyphonic Pastimes."

"Pastimes" has been designed by Robert Douglas Hume expressly for camp touring. Shows varying in length from thirty minutes to an hour and a half can be presented with complete unity in any location.

A musical variety show, "Pastimes" will be presented first in Chapel Hill on March 21, 22, 23 and 24, in exactly the same form which will be witnessed by service men and women in North Carolina.

After the premiere production in Chapel Hill, the cast of 14 will present two complete shows at the Durham USO theatre on Sunday, March 25.

Camp Butner

"Pastimes" will move to Camp Butner for Monday and Tuesday. There the Playmakers will do two half-hour shows in hospital wards during the

Officials List Senior Nominations

Balloting for the four senior class officers of the June graduating class will be held Thursday at the YMCA from 9 to 5 and in Swain hall from 12:30 to 1:30. Eligible to vote are June-graduating seniors and those military students scheduled for transfer in June.

The candidates for president are as follows: Bill Jackson, John Matthes, Robert H. Parson, Edgar Lloyd Riggsbee, A. B. Smith, Jr., John Waldroup, Charlie Wickenberg, and Tharon Young.

For vice-president: Clifford Pearson, Winkie White and Libba Wiggins.

For secretary: Frances Cely, Virginia Edel, Mochie Morton and Dick Willingham.

For treasurer: Rene Bernard, Betty Lou Cypert, Robert Tate and Shirley Weatherwax.

All candidates are required to submit a notarized statement of their campaign expenses, not to exceed five dollars.

Bill Crisp, candidate for president of the student body, was elected to the vice president's post last November, winning his position in a three-cornered race. During his stay at Carolina, Crisp has served in a variety of offices. He is currently the president of the Debate Council, and recently retired from the office of President of the Dialectic Senate after having served four consecutive terms. He is a member of the Student Welfare Board, and was elected President of the N. C. Student Legislative Assembly of 1944 in which 13 colleges were represented.

Crisp was recently chosen for membership in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, and is a member of Tau Kappa Alpha, national debate fraternity. He is a member of the Carolina Political Union and the International Relations Club, a Tar Heel columnist and a writer for the Carolina Magazine. His home is in Candler.

Douglass Hunt, candidate for reelection as speaker of the legislature, is a native of Rocky Mount. He was the first governor of Tar Heel Boys State in 1938, president of his high school student body at Greensboro, and has served on the YMCA cabinet for three years. Hunt was recently appointed co-chairman of the Institute of Human Relations which will be held here in April; he was chairman of the Student Hinton James committee; he was elected Speaker of the N. C. Student Legislature held in Raleigh this year. Before becoming speaker of the Student Legislature here he served as a member of that body, and at present, as speaker of the legislature, he is chairman of the committee to investigate all student government organizations.

Candidate for editor of the Tar Heel on the Student Party ticket is veteran Tar Heel reporter, editorialist and columnist, Jimmy Wallace. Since 1940, Wallace has worked on the Tar Heel, being on the staff in various capacities at all times. He entered the School of Law last summer after having received his degree in Physics. Wallace is Chairman of the Carolina Political Union, having assumed that post last year. He has served on the Student Welfare Board and the Graham Memorial Board of Directors. He is at present a counselor in Steele Dormitory, and a member of the Interdormitory Council. He was Circulation Manager of the Tar Heel last year, and was recently named co-chairman of the Committee for Academic Freedom. Wallace has written his column, Listen Students, for three years. In addition to contributions to the Tar Heel, Wallace has written for the

Arts And Crafts Workshop To Be Established Here

Designed to meet the increasing need for therapeutic workers in centers now being set up in Army camps, such as the one at Camp Butner, a special studio workshop in arts and crafts has just been established by the Art department here.

The course will include silver-smithing, copper-smithing, jewelry design, enamelling, block printing, batik, sculpture and modelling, leather working and tool-making for these crafts, said Prof. Kenneth Ness, acting Head of the Department.

The course will be given in the Person Hall Art Gallery by Stephen Hopkins Walker, artist-craftsman, of Washington, D. C. Mr. Walker was formerly Zoo Sculptor in Washington; instructor in teacher-training in sculpture and allied arts, University of Virginia; and director of art, Fairfax County, Virginia. Last year he was teaching principal of reorientation classes for problem boys in the Washington Public School system. He is an artist as well as a teacher, being represented in the Phillips Memorial Gallery in Washington and other collections. He was a pupil of the famous Russian sculptor, Alexander Archipenko, in ceramics and sculpture; and studied with the Danish craftsmen, Lauritz Eichner and Adda Husted-Andersen, two of the world's leading silversmiths.

All members of the class will be eligible for certificates upon satisfactory completion of the work, the announcement said. Credit on degrees can be obtained by education, sociology and other students in the University successfully completing the course.

Classes begin Monday, March 19, at 7 p.m. and will continue on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 7 to 10 p.m. through June 16. Registration closes on Saturday, March 17. Full information may be obtained at the Art Department of the University.

"People with an eye for beauty and a wish to 'make something for themselves' will have an opportunity to develop their talents in this workshop," Professor Ness said. "They can make pins, brooches, rings and other jewelry. Tie-dyed batik materials, leather work and block prints that can be used will be made while learning practical working methods.

"Those with a professional interest in learning the methods so as to later help others find pleasure in making useful things can consider future possibilities in rehabilitation work. Rehabilitation programs are stressing the crafts because they provide emotional release and coordination in the use of the hands. Men are given the opportunity of acquiring new skill through which to earn a living.

"The rehabilitation program at Camp Butner is now being organized. Within the next few months there will be need for hundreds of therapeutic aides in various regions. Those trained to teach the crafts will be in great demand."
