Ford, Mallard Run For Key Offices

CAA President Yet To Be Selected

Releasing a complete slate of candidates with the exception of President of the Athletic Association, Winkie White, chairman of the University Party, fired the second salvo of a pitched political battle to elect a full slate of campus officers April 5.

Mills, Gaither Get Key Posts On TH Staff

Margaret Woodhouse, president of the Publications Union announced the appointments of two major Tar Heel staff officials following the meeting of the Board Friday afternoon.

Barron Mills was named managing editor and Betty Gaither business manager.

Barron Mills of Laurinburg began his newspaper career as sports editor of "The Scotchman" when a freshman in high school, the following year became associate editor and the third year succeeded the editor. Not stopping with holding the supreme office of one publication, he became editor of Laurinburg High School Yearbook during his senior year. In addition to experience on high school publications, he has had considerable experience as reporter on "The Laurinburg Exchange." Quite active as a news staff writer, Mills is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity.

Miss Gaither, a junior transfer from St. Mary's hails from Elizabeth City. She was advertising manager of the college annual and has pursued her interests in the business field here under the former business manager, Preston Lemly. Miss Gaither is an Alpha Delta Phi pledge.

Wallace Not Wanted By The Entire Staff Of The Tar Heel

An error has been called to the attention of the Tar Heel concerning a statement made in the last issue concerning the endorsement of Jimmy Wallace. The staff of the Tar Heel did NOT endorse Wallace by acclamation. Many members of the staff do not support him; among these are Charles Wickenberg, editor.

The original plan was to endorse a candidate for editor by using secret ballot, allowing only active staff members to vote, and permitting no discussion. None of these intentions were carried out.

Several times in the past the staff has agreed to support a candidate. The staff sincerely apologizes to the student body for the error in last issue and hopes that the damage has been corrected.

Heading the UP's slate is Bill McKenzie, candidate for President of the Student Body. President of four organizations: German Club, May Frolics Club, Inter-Fraternity Council, and Kappa Sigma, McKenzie is also chairman of the House Privileges Board, a member of the Graham Memorial Board of Directors, and a member of the Order of the Grail. Since coming to Carolina three years ago he has been a member of the Freshman Honor Council, and the varsity track team.

A senior from Winston-Salem, McKenzie attended Virginia Episcopal School in Lynchburg, Virginia, where he was on the track team, the newspaper staff and valedictorian of his graduating class. He is majoring in commerce.

For Vice-President of the Student Body the University Party presents Dick Ford of Asheville. Ford attended Blind School in Raleigh before coming to Carolina in 1942. He is a member of the Order of the Grail, Phi Mu, Alpha Sinfonia fraternity, the University Glee Club, St. Anthony Hall and Delta Sigma Pi commerce fraternity, and was tapped for the Golden Fleece this year. As a freshman he was a member of the legislature, and as a sophomore he was secretary-treasurer of his class.

ROTC Joe Mallard is the UP candidate for Secretary-Treasurer of student government. Mallard has been in the Navy for four years, serving in the Atlantic and Mediterranean theatres and was in the battle for Sicily and Salerno. He reported to Carolina last March and was elected to the legislature as a V-12 representative the following spring. Mallard held a scholarship to a naval preparatory school where he was on the football and baseball varsities. From Jersey City, he is a V-12 representative to the Student Council, a member of the Campus Cabinet and was on the football team last fall.

The candidate for Editor-in-Chief of the Yackety Yack is Gene Johnstone, a ROTC from Birmingham, Alabama. He was Associate Editor of the Yack this year, and upon the resignation of the Editor was appointed by the Publications Union Board to the editorship. In high school Johnstone was art and photography editor of the yearbook. At the University of Alabama he was Assistant Business Manager of the Corolla, Alabama's yearbook that won the Interscholastic Press Prize that year.

The only UP co-ed nominated for a top office is Connie Hendren from Washington, D. C. who is the candidate for editor of the Carolina Magazine.

IRC Presents Diplomat Inman Tomorrow

All students, faculty members, and residents of Chapel Hill are invited to attend the address of Dr. Samuel Guy Inman tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Hill Hall.

Dr. Inman, adviser to the State Department and a member of the United States delegation to the recent Mexico City Conference, will bring his audience a report direct from the conference.

Author, diplomat, churchman, professor and expert on Latin American affairs, Dr. Inman has represented the United States at several Pan-American conferences and has worked with the OWI in its radio broadcast.

Some of Dr. Inman's best known books are "Christian Cooperation in Latin America," "Latin America Today," and "Building an Inter-American Neighborhood." He has also written 66 pamphlets and more than 500 articles.

In the February issue of the New Republic appears Dr. Inman's latest article, "Catholics and Latin America." This article, on such a highly controversial subject, will no doubt arouse much discussion, both among the clergy and the laymen. The author presents his views frankly and bravely.

In the creation of better relations between the Americas, Dr. Inman stresses the importance of educational exchanges, that is, the exchange of students, professors, and books. He then stresses the need of what he calls "spiritual ambassadors."

In "Problems in Pan Americanism," Dr. Inman writes, "We need a number of spiritual ambassadors going up and down this America of ours, cultivating understanding and friendship by interpreting to all the people the great truth that God has made of one blood all the nations."

Not only an advocate of good inter-American relations, Dr. Inman believes in internationalism as well. During the life of the League of Nations, he was one of its strongest and most faithful supporters. In 1935 he visited 18 Latin American countries.

Mullis To Speak On Physical Ed. In Di Meeting

The fiery question of compulsory physical education which has the distinction of being the biggest gripe on Carolina campus will lend itself to debate and argument tomorrow night at the meeting of the Dialectic Senate.

Pete Mullis, director of physical education, will be the guest speaker of the evening. The bill which will be discussed by Di members and representatives from all student groups reads: Resolved: That there be a compulsory physical education program of five hours a week for male students and two hours for coeds. Furthermore, persons who are five minutes late shall be charged with absence, while those students who cut classes more than the number of times provided by the Board of Trustees shall be expelled from the University.

Because of the capacity crowd which is anticipated, the Di session will be held in Gerrard Hall instead of in the Di chamber. The meeting is scheduled for 9 o'clock p.m. Visitors are invited to attend, and the floor will be open to anyone who wishes to speak.

ASTRP To Open Program In July

All young men who desire to enter the Army Specialized Training Reserve Program will be given an opportunity next month to qualify for assignment to the program next July, August, or September, Dr. Edgar W. Knight, Regional Director for the Southeastern states, announced.

The test, which will be conducted throughout the United States in the high schools and colleges at 9 o'clock on the morning of April 2, is designed to determine whether or not a candidate has the aptitude and knowledge required for success in the Army Specialized Training Reserve Program.

Young men whose 17th birthdays fall between October 1, 1944, and August 31, 1945, are eligible to take the test providing they have met the educational and citizenship requirements. Applicants for the examination should notify their school principals or college deans who will furnish them necessary formation, Dr. Knight said.

Sound And Fury

Tryouts for singing parts in a new Sound and Fury show will be held Friday afternoon, March 23, from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m., at Memorial Hall. All students who would like to have singing parts in the production are urged to try out.

The theme of the new show will be the "Roaring Twenties," packed with songs, dances and thrills of the period.

Tryouts for dancing and acting will be held at another date.

Yack Pictures

All students who have snapshots which might be suitable for use in the Yackety Yack are requested to submit them to the Yack office, second floor Graham Memorial, or mail them to Box 987. All prints become the property of the Yackety Yack and will not be returned. Please identify all persons and places on the back of the picture.

CRIL Sponsors Martin Hall In GM Lounge

German Reporter To Appear Sunday

Martin Hall will be guest speaker Sunday, March 25, at 8 p.m. in the Graham Memorial lounge, sponsored by the Council for Religion in Life.

Born and educated in Germany and having traveled widely over Europe since 1924 as a free-lance journalist, Mr. Hall has personally seen the decline of democracy and the rise of Nazism. He has had direct contact with Hitler and most of the leading men of Germany. From 1933 to 1936 he covered the German underground movement for such foreign newspapers as the Manchester Guardian. In order to avoid arrest, Mr. Hall was forced to flee from Germany to be later exiled by the German government. Hall then spent one year in Paris, coming to the United States in 1938.

Since that time Hall has lectured over the country and has published articles in various newspapers and magazines.

In the summer of 1943, Mr. Hall was a member of the faculty of the Institute of Relations at Reed college, Portland, Oregon, and at Mills college, Oakland, California. From fall, 1943, to spring 1944, Mr. Hall has been teaching a special training course at the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, and at the same time he has lectured extensively for forums and teachers' institutes.

First In 'Great Name' Series Given On WDNC

The Chapel Hill radio station, under the direction of Lucile Culbert and in conjunction with the University Music department, presented Saturday over station WDNC in Durham the first in a series of programs on "Great Names in Music."

The purpose of the series is to provide entertaining and informative programs and to give the performers valuable radio experience.

Each program features some representative works of a composer. Between numbers there are brief comments on the life and work of the composer.

On the first program were three of Johann Sebastian Bach's works: Prelude and Fugue in C sharp minor from The Well Tempered Clavichord; two movements from the Violin and Clavier Sonata in E Minor; and the chorale, "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Him," from the cantata Sleepers Awake.

The first number was played by Richard Ford at the piano; the second, by Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Swalin on the violin; and the third, by Paul Young and the Men's Glee Club, with piano accompaniment by Charles Stevens.

The series will continue through June 9.

Staff Meeting

There will be an important meeting in the Tar Heel office at 4:30 Thursday afternoon of all persons who are now on the Tar Heel staff and any new members who wish to work on the publication. The Tar Heel is in need of reporters, desk men, rewrite men and business staff members. All students who would like to work on the paper are asked to be sure and attend the meeting.

New beats will be assigned and the paper will be put into shape for a new semester.

Debaters Plan To Take Trips

Potential Carolina representatives on the northern debate tour will assemble tonight at 7 o'clock in the Horace Williams lounge of Graham Memorial. Tryouts for the trip, which will include debates with five eastern colleges, will be concerned with three different topics.

The topics are: "Resolved, That the Several nations should adopt the Dumbarton Oaks proposals"; "Resolved, That the Several States Should Lower the Voting Age Requirement to 18 Years for All Citizens"; and, "Resolved, That the Federal Government Should Enact Legislation Requiring All Labor Disputes to Be Settled by Compulsory Arbitration."

Launching Carolina's first tour of the season, Bill Crisp, Bob Rosen, Fred Chamberlain and Vincent Williams will journey to Atlanta this week-end to debate Georgia Tech, Emory University, and Agnes Scott.

Rene Bernard, executive secretary of the Debate Council, has requested that all students, military, civilian or coed, who are interested in debating, attend the meeting tonight. Any student interested should contact the Debate Council.

NROTC Unit Publishes Annual 'Catapult'

Albert Jacobson Edits Yearbook

"The Catapult," yearbook for the NROTC unit here, rolled off the presses recently and is now officially out. Although "The Catapult" is a regular monthly magazine, the yearbook edition contains 136 pages and is handsomely bound in Navy leather with the name, year and the NROTC emblem embossed in gold on the front.

Pictures of the new Navy armory compose the front piece and the back space. Between the two spaces lie various campus scenes and sections on the staff, companies, graduates, academic classes, sports and recreation.

Albert Jacobson of Asheville was editor, John Bacchus of Chatham, N. J. was business-manager, while Capt. E. E. Hazlett, Jr., commander of the unit, Lt. Comdr. H. W. Carroll, Jr., Executive Officer and Lt. William R. Mueller, USNR, served as faculty advisor.

In dedicating the book to Comdr.

COMDR. HARRISS

George L. Harriss, USN, former executive officer of the Unit, Editor Jacobson wrote: "To Commander Harriss, somewhere in the Pacific, we dedicate this book of the graduating class of '45, and with it goes the threat that he may now expect one, two, three or more of us to appear on board his ship, ready to take his orders and serve him in the duties he has taught us to perform.

Comdr. Harriss, who graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1917, was executive officer of the unit here during 1943-44. When he was reassigned to sea duty in the Pacific last October, Comdr. Carroll succeeded him.

On the fourth page opposite a large picture of President Frank P. Graham is a message to the NROTC cadets from him. Congratulating the graduates and pointing out that it was the first NROTC class to enter the University after America entered the war, he says: "The class of 1945 is distinctly the class of the sesquicentennial."
