Morrison Wins Tar Heel Race

McKenzie, Ford, Flagler, Mallard, Hendren, Hunt Top Election Winners

Bringing to a climax five hectic weeks of Carolina politics, a complete slate of campus leaders was selected by a vote of 1691 strong, when the election committee finished counting the ballots late yesterday morning. The University Party came back almost to its pre-war status and carried its complete slate of major candidates with the exception of the speakership of the Legislature, and editor of the Yackety Yack.

All of the winning candidates won by such a margin that there will be no runoff in the offices tabulated. The ballots polled for representatives to the student legislature and the Honor Council have not been released by the election committee as the Tar Heel goes to press.

New Officers

The campus selected Bill McKenzie, president; Dick Ford, vice-president; Joe Mallard, secretary-treasurer; Douglass Hunt, speaker of legislature; Bob Morrison, editor of Tar Heel; Connie Hendren, editor of Carolina.

For the official tabulation of the votes of individual candidates by polling places see the back page.

Lina Mag; Fred Flagler, editor of Yack; Bill Ward, president of CAA; Del Leatherman, vice-president of CAA; Bill Stubbs, head cheerleader; Carroll Poplin, Linda Nobles, Fred Flagler, PU Board, and Tom Redfern, George Lilly for Debate Council.

Graham Memorial was filled with a mystic air of confused and worried candidates and spectators at the Tar Heel election party Thursday night. As fast as the election committee had counted a hundred votes they were rushed to the "news mad" election party crowd and there announced over a public address system and marked up on the blackboard.

Coed Votes

The polls of Kenan dormitory proved to be fairly evenly divided with neither party getting a runaway on the major candidates' slate. In the race for presidency, Bill McKenzie carried a three vote lead over his opponent, Bill Crisp, the vote being 198 to 195. Morrison carried the coed vote by a three vote margin. The votes cast were 196 to 193.

The coeds selected Dick Ford as their choice for vice-president of the student body with a 278 to 118 vote over Jim Trayham. In the race for secretary-treasurer of the student body, Dougald McMillan received 198
