Pannill Announces University Ticket

By James Sanford

As the Tar Heel goes to press only one of the two major political parties on the campus has announced its slate of candidates for the July 24 elections, in which one major officer and six minor ones will be filled.

Allen Pannill, president of the University Party, announced that Bob Fahey, member of the V-12, would be the candidate of his party for the important office of president of the Carolina Athletic Association. The candidate for the civilian member of the Debate Council will be Banks Mebane. University party candidate for student council will be Burt Dillon; Marine candidate for the Legislature is Tex Kindred; town coed candidate for the legislature is Jane Cromarty and town civilian candidate for the legislature is Jack Lackey.

"We've got a good group," Pannill said, "and the party is behind them one hundred per cent. We are going to have a short campaign but it should be an interesting one. And I would like to ask all students to be sure and vote on Tuesday, July 24, regardless of which candidates they vote for."

The Student Party met Wednesday night and elected Roy Thompson to serve as party chairman for the coming year. In his first statement Thompson announced that his party plans for the coming election had not been complete but observation that since the election would be held in mid-July, it should be a very "hot" election.

On the more serious side, Thompson said that his list of candidates would be ready by Sunday. He had no comment to make on the slate named by Pannill for the University ticket.

All-State Band Slates Fifth Music Program

E. A. Slocum, of the University Music Department, has announced the fifth concert by the All-State High School Band in Forest Theatre Sunday afternoon at 4:30. In case of rain, the program will be held in the Hill Music Hall.

Two feature numbers of the concert will be David Bennett's "Cubana," played as a violin solo, and "Deep Blues," a solo for muted trumpet, played by Tom Hearne. Both solos will have band accompaniment.

The Music Department in collaboration with University Extension Division is sponsoring the Band and Orchestra Clinic to be held this weekend from Friday to Sunday afternoon.

The purpose of the Clinic, which will be attended by music directors from all over the state, is to discuss problems in teaching and directing bands and orchestras.

Experts from the University music staff will give talks and demonstrations on the technique and difficulties of the playing and teaching of each instrument. Plenty of time will also be set aside for group discussions of problems common to all.

The sixth and final concert of the All-State High School Band will be given next Friday, July 20, at a time and place to be announced later.

Sound And Fury Organizes For Campus Summer Programs

Sound and Fury, the campus "problem child," is organizing for summer activities. At the last meeting of the Executive Council, the leaders decided to put on a show for the entertainment of the campus during the first summer session. This show is already in preparation.

This organization got its start several decades ago and has been entertaining audiences with a light variety of musical comedy ever since. Down through the years, many of the top names in the entertainment world have first appeared on Sound and Fury programs. . . . Hal Kemp and Kay Kyser, for example. Many students now at Carolina remember last year's highly successful production, "Gadabout," and this year's top ring-

Final Summer Registration Figures Given

More Than 4000 Attend University

Approximately 4,000 students are included in some phase of the University's summer program, according to statistics revealed yesterday by Guy B. Phillips, director of the summer school. This figure coincides almost exactly with expectations, Mr. Phillips said.

Composing the total sum are 1800 Pre-Flight students, 1322 civilians and 522 V-12s.

The Pre-Flight is continuing with the same enrollment as it has carried in the past, individuals going through the school in a period of 25 weeks.

The 522 V-12s are 115 less than last term. Graduation took a large portion of the students and partially replacing them are 40 Marines, five Pre-Theological students and three NROTC transfers.

The 1322 total for civilians includes graduates and those enrolled in public health, medicine and special education.

Jim Booth, president of the University Veterans Association, explained the purpose and aims of the group to new members at its first meeting of the summer session Thursday.

Also discussed were viewpoints on the physical education question and jobs open to qualified veterans.

A report was made by Treasurer Jim Hedrick and plans were made for several social events to take place this summer.

Selden Offered Position By University of Puerto Rico

By Betty Anne Ragland

An invitation from the University of Puerto Rico has been extended to Prof. Samuel Selden, director of the Carolina Playmakers and acting head of the Dramatic Art department, asking that he join the faculty there next year as visiting lecturer. As yet, Professor Selden is undecided about accepting the position, he told a Tar Heel reporter.

Several other positions have also been offered the Playmaker director, including the chairmanship of a new project in communications, and a position in the army's educational program in England, which he rejected last week.

At present Dr. Selden is teaching courses in dramatics in the University summer session and directing the State high school Dramatic Art course. He is also revising one book, "Modern Theater Practice," writing another, "An Introduction to Playwriting," and editing a third, a guidebook on community drama for returning veterans, which he is preparing for the National Theater conference.

Concerning the summer activities of the Playmakers and the Dramatic Arts department, Professor Selden mentioned the four courses being taught in the department this summer: play production, stage craft, playwriting, and voice training. The two former courses are being offered by Foster Fitz-Simons, of the Dramatic Arts department, and the latter two by Professor Selden, who will be assisted in the voice-training class by Miss Kathleen Arnold.

Playmaker project for the summer will be three experimental productions, written on campus, which will be presented See SELDEN, page 4.

OPA Probes Local Merchants On Price Ceiling Violations Following Tar Heel Attacks

(Special release to the Tar Heel, written by Scott Thomas, Public Relations official of the Office of Price Administration's Raleigh headquarters.)

Following the Tar Heel's expose of high prices and unsanitary conditions in Chapel Hill restaurants, an investigation is now being made by OPA enforcement attorneys in an effort to bring federal injunctions against "several" local price ceiling violators, the Tar Heel learned last night from an authoritative source.

Pending action by the OPA is the outgrowth of previous violations of price ceilings by the local firms now being re-checked. One of the firms, it is understood, refused and failed to comply with an order of the Chapel Hill War Price and Ration Board to pay a penalty of $25.00 for over-charging on cigarettes. More serious charges, it is believed, are pending against at least two other establishments here. The nature of the actions was not revealed.

The usual action in cases of non-compliance with sanctions imposed by the price panels is for OPA to go before a Federal district judge and seek an injunction requiring compliance together with a restraining order prohibiting further violations.

The Tar Heel is informed that district OPA headquarters is determined to crack down on Chapel Hill violators and thus strengthen the hand of the local War Price and Ration Board. Local activities have long been cramped by shortage of help required to properly handle the enormous task imposed by OPA regulations, it is said.

Vice president at Battle was not open. Herbert Alexander was voted into the vice presidency at Vance, with Vance Anderson capturing that office at Pettigrew and Leonard "Lumbo" Szafaryn winning at Steele. Battle, Vance, Pettigrew and Steele elected as Secretary, George Goodwin, Bobby Jenkins, Bob Mundy and Pete Long respectively. Athletic managers were chosen at all the dormitories. Doug Horner won at Battle, Tom Nelson at Vance, Jack Farmer at Pettigrew and Ted Fussell at Steele.

Representatives to the legislature were sent from Vance and Pettigrew. Battle voted 13 to 14 to retain its present representative, although it had been moved to recall him and elect a new man. Tom Traynham, who was elected to the legislature from Battle at the last election is not at school this summer. In accordance with a legislative rule, he appointed a proxy to serve in his place while he is away. It was felt by some men that it would be well to exercise the privilege of recalling the representative and either re-electing him by a vote of confidence or sending a new man to the legislature who would allegedly represent all the present residents of the dormitory. If the new man had been chosen he would have served until Traynham's return in the Fall when Traynham would have resumed his duties. When the motion was brought to a vote it was decided not to recall the proxy representative and elect another one, so Chauncy remains in office by a virtual vote of confidence. Vance sent Bill Jernigan to the legislature and Pettigrew sent Sandy Sprintz.

The elections were called by Jimmy Wallace, president of the Interdormitory Council and brought to order by the various dormitory counselors. Nominations for each office were accepted in turn, with the vote being taken after the nominations for each office were taken. The losing candidates joined all the other voters in pledging co-operation in the coming days.

Son Of French Head Arrives At Pre-Flight

Thirty French naval officers, including Lt. (jg) Philippe H. K. de Gaulle, 23-year-old son of the French leader, Gen. Charles de Gaulle, have reported to the Navy Pre-Flight School here for a four-week course of instruction in the Pre-Flight phase of the U. S. naval aviation program.

This is the second group of French officers to undergo training here, although French cadets have been receiving instruction at this Pre-Flight School since May, 1944. The first contingent of 29 officers has just completed their training at Chapel Hill and has proceeded to the Naval Air Station, Memphis, Tenn., for primary flight instruction.

The Pre-Flight course for the French officers includes instruction in aerology, navigation, recognition, gunnery, communications, engines, principles of flying, and English, in addition to physical training.

Thirteen of the new class of 30 officers have been decorated with the Croix de Guerre for heroic service to their country.
