

CRIL Plans Speakers For Coming Year

The Council for Religion in Life has outlined a program for the coming year which will present several outstanding religious and lay leaders in discussions and meetings designed to coordinate the moral, social and religious concerns of University students.

The CRIL is an organization composed of representatives from all secular and non-secular groups on the campus. Membership and voting power is granted only to these representatives, but all students are invited to attend the sessions. A program to stir up student interest in the organization is in progress. Topics for discussion will place emphasis on affairs of current interest, such as the topic for the meeting at 6 p.m. today: "The Place of Religion on the North Carolina Campus."

The group hopes to encourage through the various organizations on campus and through the faculty that there is a kind of religious program which can become basic and vital in the life of the campus. There is the expectation that through this program the opening of new religious courses will be encouraged and a new building dedicated to religious purposes will be opened.

One of the main motives of the coming program is to discover just what the average Carolina student considers right and wrong. The relation between religious interest and personal and social values can and must be vitalized, the group believes.

The following schedule of topics and speakers has been announced: "The Place of Christian Ethics in the World," Kenneth Foreman of Davidson College, October 7; "Religion and Education," Edwin McNeill Poteat of Colgate-Rochester, October 28; "Religion and Labor," Kermit Eby of the CIO, December 1 or 8; "Religion and Race," Aiken Smart of Emory University, January 20; "Religion and Rural Life," Monsignor L. L. Ligutti of Catholic Rural Life Conference, March 10.

The last two talks of the season, "Religion and Science" and "Religion and History," are scheduled for April and May respectively, but the speakers have not yet been secured.

The CRIL welcomes all those interested in its program to their first meeting of this session tonight at 6 o'clock in one of the back dining rooms of the Carolina Inn, where dinner will be served.

Friday Frolics Set For Saturday Night

Harvey White has announced that the regular Friday night frolic this week-end will be postponed until Saturday. Music will be provided by a pick-up and records.

The following Friday, September 28, after the pep rally, Graham Memorial will be the scene of one of the biggest frolics of the fall. Jimmy Fuller and his band will play from 8:30 to 11:30. Punch will be served.

Graduate School Sets New Rules On Course Credits

In agreement with the practice of many institutions of the country, the Graduate School of the University of North Carolina has placed time limits upon the period within which course credits may be accepted in fulfillment of requirements for graduate degrees.

This regulation is stated in the catalogue of the Graduate School as follows: "Work taken more than six years before the date at which the master's degree is expected may not be used to count for credit toward that degree; and work taken more than ten years before the Ph.D. degree is expected may not be counted for credit toward that degree."

The time limit with reference to the Ph.D. degree was adopted in 1926 and that with reference to the master's degree in 1930. The University of North Carolina was a signatory institution in the adoption of Standard 12, "Work taken more than six years before the date at which the master's degree is expected may not be used to count for credit toward that degree," adopted in 1935 by the Conference of Deans of Southern Graduate Schools. This limitation is reported to be operative in twenty-four southern institutions.

In 1942 the Graduate School adopted a resolution to the effect that students whose candidacy for graduate degrees was interrupted by service in the armed forces of the United States should not have the period of that service counted in the computation of the time limit within which credits are usable with reference to requirements for their degrees. This was essentially an act of justice, and it was adopted unanimously.

At the time of the adoption of this resolution it was anticipated that many persons not members of the armed forces might render essential services to the war effort and that they too might merit the same treatment. The performance of such services has been the occasion of consideration by the Administrative Board of the Graduate School. This board has taken notice of many types of war work and has found it difficult to adopt a definition of essential services in this period of what has been called total war which would be sufficiently comprehensive. Many students, the board is convinced, have with motives of patriotism interrupted the progress of their programs of study in order to contribute their services to the war effort. In consideration of many petitions and of the difficulty or even impossibility of making distinctions in appraising these services, the Administrative Board in its meeting of September 10, 1945, adopted the following resolution:

"1. Students registered prior to December 1, 1941, and not later enrolled during the course of the war should not have the period from December 7, 1941, to September 1, 1945, included in the computation of the maximum time limit allowed for the fulfillment of degree requirements.

"2. Students who were duly registered after December 7, 1941, and who were for a period of time enrolled for course credit should only have the time of actual residence within the period December 7, 1941-September 1, 1945, counted in the computation of time limits for their degrees."

The board adopted the further resolution that "all students affected by the foregoing legislation should be held responsible in final written and oral examinations for developments in bibliography and in subject matter occurring during the interval between the time when the course was taken and the examinations. Examining committees will be requested to report on the fulfillment of this responsibility.

All members of the board reaffirmed their endorsement of the practice and principle of setting time limits for the fulfillment of requirements for graduate degrees. It was felt, however, that the modifications of the present regulations were equitable by reason of the extraordinary circumstances occasioned by war.

New University Infirmary

The Navy hospital, pictured above, will be the new site of the University infirmary as soon as the reconversion to a peacetime campus is sufficiently advanced, administration officials have announced. The present infirmary, located on Columbia Street, will probably become a dormitory.

Men's Glee Club Begins Rehearsals For Coming Year

With 92 men enrolled, the Men's Glee Club has begun rehearsals for its yearly engagements, according to Professor Paul Young, director.

Tryouts for the group were concluded last week, with the biggest turnout recorded in years, Mr. Young declared. Enrollment is now closed for second tenors and baritones, but first tenors and second basses are still needed.

First public appearance of the singers will be at the Founder's Day services on October 12, when they will sing the traditional "Integer Vitae." Further concerts during the year at various women's colleges are being planned for presentation as soon as preparation of music and scheduling will allow.

Commenting on the outlook for the year Mr. Young said, "The talent which showed up for tryouts looks good. There are many talented and well trained singers."

have spent more than one-sixth of their lives in the service, are entitled to get back to a fairly normal way of life quickly. Many of them already are finding it a tough grind to begin their business and professional careers as late as 25 and 26 of his adult years.

To give an example of some very recent and undemocratic censorship in the Navy, we would like to refer to Mr. Pearson again. He is reporting an incident that occurred at the Banana River Naval Air Station, Florida. The station paper, "Banana Peelings," conducted a survey in which Navy men were asked what they thought of the discharge system. There were many gripes.

"Shortly after 'Banana Peelings' hit the streets, Commanding Officer W. J. Slattery, a regular Navy captain, cracked down. He ordered every copy of the newspaper confiscated and burned. Only a few of them survived, one of which reached this office."

After hearing of such outrages we KNOW there is justification for the opinion that the so-called brass hats are jealous of their lush wartime positions. If millions of men are discharged, they will have to revert to their old roles of lieutenant and commander. What a shame!

The war is over—so we are told. We are living in a democracy—so we are told. Let's remind Congress and ourselves of both these facts before our young men are sacrificed on the altar of senility just to satisfy the ambitious climbing of our Navy Gold Braid.

Number Of Fresh Past Expectations

The number of freshmen registering at the University this term far exceeds the number estimated by the Office of Admissions. Expecting only 175, they found themselves giving placement tests to 277.

On the basis of a survey made of all freshmen and sophomores, the majority of them expect to continue in November. Because of the comparatively small staff here during the summer session, only 96 are starting Freshman English now, although 133 are continuing from the first term. All the rest will take it starting in November.

Vets Meet Heads Of University At UVA Reception

The University Veterans Association introduced the veterans to the heads of the University at a reception in Graham Memorial Tuesday night. President Frank P. Graham expressed the faculty's gratitude to the veterans whose "contributions to victory made it possible for the University to continue." He offered his services in an advisory capacity.

Chancellor Robert B. House played a medley on his famous harmonica to the audience of over 75. In the receiving line were Dr. House, President Graham, Dean Charles P. Spruill, Colonel Joe B. Linker, professor of mathematics, Professor Guy B. Phillips, director of the summer session, Dean Ernest L. Mackie, YMCA Secretary Harry Comer, Registrar William H. Plemmons and Professor Cecil Johnson.

Punch and cookies were served by hostesses Martha Ann Mathews, Marilyn Floyd, Jill Floyd, Doris Upchurch, Gwen Bateman, Jean Candler, Sara Tillett and Charlotte Namor.

Freshman Field Meet Scheduled For Today

The Freshman Field Meet, postponed from last Saturday, will be held today at two o'clock at Fetzer Field. Bill McClammy has announced. This meet, sponsored by the YMCA, will last approximately an hour and a half. Numerous prizes will be awarded the winners of the various events. All members of the student body are urged to attend this meet, and all freshmen who have not already registered to participate are requested to do so today.

Physics Club Meets

The newly-formed Physics Club will organize and outline a program for the year at its first meeting at 7:15 p. m. Tuesday, September 25, in room 320 Phillips Hall. Doctor Karl H. Fussler, professor of physics, will deliver a short address on current events in physics. All students interested in the new club are invited to attend the meeting.

General College Law Students Eligible For Grid Tickets

Only those law students registered in the General College will be eligible for student tickets for the Georgia Tech game September 29 because of the postponement of the opening of the School of Law until October 1, David Hall, secretary of the Law Association, has announced.

In view of this Hall has arranged with the Athletic Office for a refund to those law students who wish to attend the game. If they, when purchasing their tickets, tell the ticket-seller their names and addresses, refunds will be made at the time of the issuance of the regular student ticket after registration.

Mineral Display On Exhibit

A fluorescent mineral display is now on exhibit in the geology museum in New East building, according to Dr. W. F. Prouty, head of the department. This display is open to all students and the general public. Complete instructions are provided near the mineral case for the operation of the various lights.

Soviet-Chinese Issue Discussion For IRC

At its Monday meeting the International Relations Club will discuss Soviet-Chinese Relations. The discourse will include the recent agreement between these two nations on the settlement of their differences.

The discussions will be prefaced by a short report by Elmo Roberds, graduate specialist in diplomatic history. The meeting is open to all students who desire to attend and participate.

Sound And Fury To Hold Its First Meeting Thursday

Sound and Fury asks all students interested in taking part in the productions of the 1945-46 season to attend the organization's first meeting in Gerrard Hall next Thursday evening at 8:15 o'clock. President Dick Stoker and Vice-President Margie Pullen are also expecting all old members of Sound and Fury to attend for they are now beginning to organize for the big show which is planned to be produced in the near future.

Dramatic experience is not needed to become active in Sound and Fury since it is strictly an amateur theatrical organization with an emphasis on the lighter side of the footlights. Anyone who would like to try singing, dancing, acting or curtain-pulling is urgently needed. President Stoker is particularly anxious to find some would-be Fred Astairs who might be hiding about campus, so any two-stepping Carolina gentlemen, along with all other tap and toe people, should come to the meeting Thursday night. Sound and Fury plans to have a big season and wants everyone to come and take a part to make it a success.

SHORT TERM

posed to be somewhat like this: 8:30 to 9:30, 9:40 to 10:40, 10:50 to 11:50, 12:00 to 1:00, 1:00 to 2:00, and 2:10 to 3:10.

Laboratory courses would run from 1:00 to 4:00, or from 1:00 to 3:00, or from 2:00 to 4:00. Such a daily schedule would have to be approved by the faculty, however, and the plan was submitted purely as a suggestion. Although the plan would make all classes 10 minutes longer and might reduce the 1:00 rush for lunch, it is uncertain that the faculty will give its approval.

Adopted Last Year

The semester program was adopted last year to co-ordinate the civilian and Navy programs on the campus. Before the semester system, the University was operating two schedules at the same time, thus decreasing the general efficiency.

The professional schools were not placed on the semester system, because the Navy did not require a semester system there as in the undergraduate work.

Another advantage of the semester system at the time it was adopted was that students would have greater freedom to select favorite instructors. For many years Carolina students have enjoyed the privilege of selecting their own teachers; this privilege is thought to be very wholesome by both the students and the administration.

At first there was some doubt that the administration could return to the quarter system without the consent of the faculty, but it was later pointed out that the faculty had authorized the administration in the summer of 1944 to return to the quarter system as soon as practical. The semester system was meant to be a purely emergency measure.

Sergeant Charles Afflick of the Army Air Forces is visiting on campus. Sergeant Afflick attended Carolina in 1943. He will be a guest of the Phi Deltas until October first.

Ben Townsend, who served in the Pacific as a captain in the Army Air Forces, is visiting the Beta Theta Pi's. He attended Carolina in 1940.

Parties Climax Two Weeks Of Coed Rushing

Indication parties to be given Sunday by the five campus sororities will climax two momentous weeks for the rushees. The incessant whirl of informal visits, silence periods and dating and invitation parties by them will have narrowed the choices of the candidates to one sorority. Acceptance of an invitation to one of these parties is the indication of a rushee's preference and is binding on the sorority which issues the invitation.

After the dating parties last Sunday and Monday, the sororities limited their prospective pledges in a series of invitation parties held Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons. The rushees increased their acquaintances with the different sororities through novel and appropriate entertainment. The AD Pi's presented a historical review of their sorority in the various dress of former AD Pi girls. At the Alpha Gam house the guests gathered on deck for a ship party. The Chi Omega sorority reviewed the fashions at a perfume party. For the rushees, the Tri Deltas modeled the current coed styles. Creating a night club effect, the Pi Beta Phi's presented to the visitors their perfume bar.

Two final invitation parties, one Friday and one Saturday night from 7 to 9 o'clock, give the sororities further opportunity to diminish the large number of rushees. Invitations to these parties were received on Thursday, and formal replies were required by Thursday night.

Chi Delta Phi To Present Tea

Chi Delta Phi, honorary literary sorority, will give a tea in the Horace Williams Lounge at Graham Memorial October 5 at 4:30 p. m. All persons applying for membership in the sorority are invited to attend.

Those wishing to submit manuscripts for consideration must do so before October 3. Submit manuscripts of either prose or poetry to Fran Brown, 220 Alderman, or Olive Ann Burns, second floor McIver.

Chi Delta Phi members of other colleges transferring to Carolina are invited to attend the next meeting at 4:30 Thursday, September 27, in the Horace Williams Lounge.

AT EASE

"But that's all over now and we veterans are once more back in the democracy we gave up for a short period to have the rest of our lives. Can't you see that, Lieutenant? Can't you see that you are to be judged from now on on what you do, not what insignia is on your collar? Can't you see you are no longer gentlemen by 'act of Congress'—only by your own deeds? This is democracy again, Lt., so 'at ease!'"
