Semi-Finals Of Softball Play Opens Monday

Smith, Phi Gams Advance In Race

The semi-finals of the intramural softball tournament will be reeled off on Monday afternoon to climax two months of action in the popular mural sport.

The contests on docket at 4:30 Monday will see the Ringers face Smith, who drubbed the 3rd Company, and Phi Kappa Sigma will tackle a strong Phi Gam team, which routed Zeta Psi to reach the semi-finals.

Those teams competing in the play-offs are the top two teams of each league and the championship race is based on single elimination.

The first round of the play-offs started last Thursday afternoon which saw two teams dropped from the running.

Smith, winners of the first half, looked like a possible second half champ as they edged out a 1-0 victory over the 3rd Company. Bowman on the mound for Smith held the NROTC team to two hits as his teammates touched Gallagher for five safeties in a tight pitchers' duel. The V-12ers scored their winning tally in the second frame as Rader doubled and Ripley followed with a sizzling two-bagger.

The Phi Gams, runner-ups to Smith for first half honors, knocked off a potent Zeta Psi crew by the tune of 9-1. Ted Haigler, smooth right-handed twirler, tossed his mates into the semi-finals by holding the Zetas to only five hits and some impressive defensive play aided the winners. Zeta Psi on the other hand played erratic ball by committing three mishaps. Gene Thomas, Zeta fireballer, whiffed 10 Phi Gam batters, but wildness gave the winners a few unearned runs. Carol paced the stick work for Phi Gam with two hits in as many times at bat.

Both Phi Kappa Sigma and the Ringers reached the semi-finals by virtue of a bye which was granted to them on basis of their undefeated record.

The Phi Kaps will send their ace hurler, Tony Jones, to the mound against Ted Haigler, Phi Gams' reliable chucker, as the two teams square off on Alexander No. 2. Phi Kaps won the spring softball tourney and again offer a strong outfit which is unbeaten after seven tilts.

Coach Ben Carnevale, shown above, will meet candidates for the 1945-46 basketball team on the main floor of Woollen gym Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. Carnevale, who is assisted by Pete Mullis, piloted the Tar Heels to the Southern conference championship last season.

Practice Will Begin At Once For Cage Boys

Drills To Begin At 4:30 O'clock

Practice for the first peacetime basketball season in four years will officially open Monday afternoon, it was announced yesterday by Coach (Lt.) Ben Carnevale, who issued a call for all interested in varsity and Jayvee ball to report on the main floor of Woollen gymnasium at 4:30 4:30 o'clock dressed and ready for work.

A large turnout is expected, according to Coach Carnevale, who with the aid of Pete Mullis turned out a Southern conference championship cage team here last winter. Mullis is slated to take care of assistant coaching duties again this year, and the Jayvee squad will be tutored by Doc Siewert, who was a member of the staff here before entering the Navy and who has just recently been discharged.

Drill sessions will be held daily at 4:30 o'clock, and after about two weeks of work, a roster of some 30 men will be chosen and the A and B teams will be taken from that group. This 30-odd man squad will be decided upon by the first week in November, and the cutting will begin Monday, with a little being done every day.

For the men entering school in November, a separate call will be issued, and another will come Oecember 1 for all those now out for football who are interested in the hardwood sport. Several new men are expected with the opening of the new term in November, and quite a few of the football men will be going out in December.

Coach Carnevale said yesterday that the boys who are cut from the squad during the first two weeks of drills will be advised to go out for intramural ball, and these mural skirmishes will be closely watched in order to get anyone who is looking good.

At present, there are five lettermen already in sight, and all five of these occupied starting berths on the quint at one time or another last season. Four of them were in the starting lineup in the tournament last March when the Tar Heels beat State, South Carolina and Duke in that order for the conference laurels.

Coming back are Jim Jordan, who made second string on the Esquire All-American team, Johnny Dillon, Box Paxton, Don Anderson and Ira Norfolk. This list of monogram men will be supplemented by several entering Carolina for the first time who already have some good experience behind them. Also, three men from last season's B team will be back, John Gregory, Red Hughes and Gene Thomas.

No schedule is available for release yet, but it is taking shape now and should be ready for publication sometime around the first of December. The season will get underway about the second or third week in December, and some 25 games will be played, approximately half at home. Already on the slate, in addition to the regular conference and Big Five games, are such quintets as NYU, St. Joseph of Philadelphia, Navy, Maryland and Virginia. Too, Georgia Tech is expected to be added for a home game, as will some of the stronger service teams of this section.

Coach Carnevale also stated yesterday that he wanted all men interested in the manager posts to report at the same time, Monday afternoon at 4:30, in street clothes.

Mike Rubish, shown above in his familiar pose of snagging a pass, is being counted on heavily this afternoon by Coach Carl Snavelly as the Tar Heels face Penn in Philadelphia. Rubish, who hails from West Virginia, came to Carolina after being discharged from the Army Air Force. He played with the Third Air Force in Hawaii for two years and was playing with Greensboro PDC earlier in the year. (Nefs Bureau photo.)

Snavelly Crew Will Be After Third Triumph

Carolina Gridders Rated As Underdogs

By Irwin Smallwood

For the second time this season, Carolina's Tar Heel football crew goes into battle today the underdog, this time against a high-powered Penn aggregation in Franklin field, Philadelphia. Kickoff time will be at 2 o'clock.

It will be the fourth official game of the young season for the Tar Heels, and they will be gunning for an upset and their third triumph, "We're playing one of the best teams in America, I think," Coach Carl Snavelly said yesterday as his gridders embarked for the Friendly City. "In all probability (and according to the experts' reports) they will beat us several touchdowns, but they haven't scored on us yet," Snavelly continued.

Beat Penn Twice

Even though the Tar Heels will be the underdog, Carolina is in a good position to upset the Penn gridders, having turned the trick from the same position in 1939 and 1943, the last two times the UNC eleven has played the footballers from Pennsylvania. It was Jim Lalanne's pass-catching in 1939, and the Carolina attack through the air that showed possibilities in the Georgia Tech game may prove a great asset again this year.

Carrying the most of the Tar Heel attack load will be the two Toms, Colfer and Gorman, in the air, Bob Oliphant from wingback, Bill Voris from fullback and Bill Walker from blocking back. Too, B. K. Grow, Joe Gurtis, and Paul Rizzo should see a lot of activity before the afternoon's work is finished. Don Clayton, a veteran back who was hurt in the Georgia Tech encounter and who missed action last week, will be back in the lineup and may prove a big help against the Penn squad.

The Dutchmen from up north sport one of the classiest backfield combinations in the east. Pacing the formidable backs is Don Schneider, a GI who played for Coach Munger back in 1942, and the rest of the potent running and passing combine includes Bob Deuber, Far Jones and Carmen Falcone. This group of outstanding backs has piled up a total of 62 points against none for the opposition in two games this season.

Returning

Coach Snavelly, who will be returning to what was his home grounds for many years, will be depending upon his line to bear the brunt of the defensive work today, even though the Penn line outweighs the UNC forward wall at its best. "We are in good condition," King Carl said yesterday, "and although I don't know how we will score, I think the boys will play well, play the best game in their system."

Said Coach Snavelly in conclusion yesterday: "I was born in Nebraska, but I lived in Pennsylvania long enough to want to beat them. The last time I turned the tables on the Penn crew was in 1939 when my Cornell team won, 26-0."

Slated to start for the Tar Heels this afternoon are Chuck Ellison and Mike Rubish at ends; Frank Curran and Ted Hazelwood at tackles; Ed Golding and Ed Twohey at guards; Burl Bevers at center; Bill Walker at blocking back, Bob Oliphant at wingback and Bill Voris at fullback.

With The Lassies: Girl's Volleyball Tourney Underway

By Jo Farris

Fall's here, gals! How do we know? Why, elementary, my dear child, elementary. There's a tang in the air, a briskness in the night, and volleyball has started. It's off with a bang, amid cheers and excitement. The games are divided into two sections, those against dorms, and those against sororities. Thus far we have three rounds played off with only two more to go.

October 8 was the first night of the tourneys, and the Women's Gym was crowded with all the stars-to-be.

October 8 was the first night of the tourneys, and the Women's Gym was crowded with all the stars-to-be. Spencer came out on top, with a score of 44 to Owen's 22. The last half proved to be Spencer's rallying part. The Town Girls had a bye, so their energy was held over to the next night. Carr forfeited to Alderman, Kenan knocked 41 good points over the net to defeat Archer's 27, the Tri Deltas proved to be the victors against the Alpha Gams with 34 points See VOLLEYBALL, page 4.

Cross Country Club Runs Against Georgians Today

Doug Erath, Bob Dodson To Lead Local Runners In Third Meet Of 1945 Season

The Carolina cross country team, with a victory over Duke already under its belt, goes after its second win of the season this afternoon, running against Georgia Tech in Atlanta. Seven men made the trip to carry the Carolina colors into battle.

This will be the third meet of the season for Coach Dale Ranson's club, which lost a one-sided contest to Navy last weekend, and the fray will be a toss-up, since nothing is known of the power of the Tech crew. However, Carolina has a fairly strong team, and the Tar Heel runners should give a good account of themselves.

Erath, Dodson

For the UNC squad it will be Doug Erath and Bob Dodson leading the way, with Whitey Holden, Art Lamb, Frank Hatch, John Strait and Oliver Allen making up the rest of the seven-man crew. These men finished in that order in the Navy meet, and all were among the leaders in the Duke running. Powell, who finished third with the Tar Heels against the Blue Devils, has been lost to the local club, having reported to the Navy.

After the contest with Tech today, the Carolina runners of the country trails will come back to the Hill for a meet with Cherry Point during the half of the Cherry Point-Carolina football game next weekend. The Ransonmen will meet the Marines again on October 28 at Cherry Point in a Sunday meet.

Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets will be in Chapel Hill on November 10 for a return running, and Duke will come here November 14, followed by State November 17 and Virginia December 1.

Among the Carolina hill-and-dale men who are not making the trip to Atlanta are George Harris, Mack Hob-

Riflemen Topple Brown University

Winning the fifth of the last six meets, the Carolina NROTC rifle team beat Brown University, 835-822, last week after turning back Oklahoma, 880-865, earlier in the week.

A. A. Toothman, leading his mates to victory in both contests, recorded his best mark of the year, 184 out of a possible 200, in the meet with Brown. Other high scorers in the matches last week were R. E. Comet, Blanton Belk, Log Whaley and R. J. Bryan.

The local riflemen, who are under the direction of Lt. (jg) Marker and who are coached by Gunner's Mate 2C Joe Gracie, fire against Northwestern today and will vie with Harvard on October 20.
