Brinkley And Pully Receive UCP Nominations

Walker Named By Independents For President

Tar Heel Grid Co-Captain To Enter Political Struggle

Need for Third Party Nomination Stressed by Presidential Candidate

Bill Walker of Atlanta, Georgia, co-captain of the varsity football team, has announced his candidacy on an independent ticket for the president of the student body. The announcement brought to three the number of candidates entered in the presidential race for elections next Thursday. Walker's opponents are Walt Brinkley, United Carolina Party nominee, and Charley Vance, who was nominated by the University Party.

Walker, besides being co-captain of the football team, is a member of the student legislature and was president of last year's freshman class. He held several important offices in high school before entering the University. Walker plans to remain at Carolina for at least another year.

Issues Statement

In announcing his candidacy, Walker issued the following statement: "I have affixed my signature to a copy of the principles of the UCP. I still believe in those principles and whether in office or not, I shall do my utmost to uphold them. Clean student government directed by a capable, industrious and efficient administrator is one of my fondest desires. I believe that this end can best be obtained by an administration that is not affiliated with any political pressure group of any type."

"A number of people have come to me suggesting the need for an independent candidate who could and would offer the students an administration free from campus politics. I decided to become a candidate for this office after assuring myself that such an administration will be possible, and after making sure that I shall have enough time and enough interest in student government to initiate and maintain an aggressive, efficient administration."

Monday Deadline Set For Entries In Beauty Ball

Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock is the absolute deadline for entry of photographs to be judged for the Yackety Yack beauty section. In order to have the pictures judged in time for the Beauty Ball, they will be mailed to Hollywood late Monday afternoon.

Only photographs will be accepted, and these must be of Carolina coeds. Any organization or dormitory on campus may submit any number of entries. A fee of $2.50 is payable at the time the photograph is submitted. Pictures may be brought to the Yack office on the mezzanine of Graham Memorial or mailed to Box 987.

Winners, to be selected by Lauren Bacall and Humphrey Bogart, two of Hollywood's leading stars, will be announced on Saturday night, November 24, as the highlight of the Duke-Carolina activities here that week-end.

Original plans had called for a Yack Beauty Ball December 1, but Editor Fred Flagler and other members of the Grail decided to hold the ball in conjunction with the Grail dance November 24. Bobby Sherwood and his orchestra will play for the event. At the climax of the dance will come the announcement of the 1946 Yackety Yack Beauty Queen and the eight members of her court, who will be featured in the book's beauty section.

Applications Sought For Tar Heel Post

Applications for the position of managing editor of the Tar Heel must be in by Friday, November 16, announces Fred Flagler, president of the Publications Union Board. Applications should be mailed or given to Flagler at the Kappa Alpha House. The letter of application should include a summary of experience and any letters of recommendation which they might be able to secure.

Candidates Will Address Coed Meeting

Candidates for major offices in the coming mid-term election will speak to the coed student body at the year's second Coed Hour to be held Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Hill Hall. Attendance is compulsory for all women students.

Plans for the program were planned by the Coed Senate Tuesday night. The Senate considered such a mass meeting necessary so that all coeds, especially those who do not know the candidates, might learn who they are and what they stand for.

Attendance will be checked by members of dormitory house councils and sorority house managers. Each coed must report to the council member from her floor or to her house manager before the meeting, in order to be counted present. Doors to Hill Hall will be closed at 5:10 p. m. and any who come after that time will be counted absent.

Bill Ratified

Besides passing on next week's Coed Hour, the Senate ratified the constitution of the Stray Greeks organization after some discussion of the article dealing with membership. This article would exclude all Stray Greeks on campus from membership in the Carolina Independent Coed Association and is in direct violation of a clause in the CICA constitution which states that all independents and Stray Greeks are eligible for membership in the independents' group.

The Senate recommended to the Stray Greeks that they change the article so as to permit Stray Greeks to join the CICA, though a coed may not belong to both organizations. The constitution has up until now stated that all girls who are members of national sororities not represented on the Carolina campus are "automatically" members of the Stray Greek association. The Senate's recommendation would leave it up to the individual Stray Greek as to which group she would join.

The Senate ratified the constitution with the provision that changes in the article would be made.

Harvest Moon Hop Planned For Friday

Main Lounge of Graham Memorial will be the scene of a Harvest Moon Ball Friday evening, Nov. 16, sponsored by Graham Memorial. Highlighting the evening will be various dance contests including fox trots, waltzes and jitter-bugging.

Jimmy Fuller and his orchestra has been scheduled for the informal dance. Authorities on dancing are to judge the contests, which will be participated in by representatives of organizations, frats, sororities or by individuals. An entrance fee of $2.00 per couple will be charged.

Prizes will be awarded the winners and their pictures will be published in the Tar Heel, the Yackety Yack and the Carolina Mag.

Applicants in the contest are to register with Peggy Jurgensen, Y secretary, before Friday morning, announces Ray Levine, assistant manager of Graham Memorial.

One More Week Left For Y-Y Photographs

The more than 700 juniors and seniors who signed up for pictures in the 1946 Yackety Yack are reminded that no pictures will be taken by Wootten-Moulton after next week.

Any student who has not gotten his proofs from the studio is urged to do so at once.

Appointments have been made for every afternoon next week, but there are a number of vacancies left on Friday afternoon. The Yack office is open every afternoon, and any junior or senior who has not signed up for space in the book yet is urged to drop by and do so Monday or Tuesday afternoon.

Open House

The whole community is invited to an open house at the public school Wednesday night at 8. The occasion is to celebrate American Education Week.

Satterfield Band Is Revived; Booked For Holiday Dances

By Mel Cohen

Johnny Satterfield is on the road to joining the multitude of "greats" that Carolina has produced in the entertainment world. At present Johnny is a sophomore here, but next summer he and his sixteen-piece all-star band are turning professional.

That the band has large possibilities is borne out by the fact that in 1939 George Simon, then editor of Metronome, chose it as the best college band in the Southeast. In 1941, John Hamond, vice-president of Columbia records, chose half of the boys in the band to play in an all-star southeastern band in a swing contest.

Johnny was at Carolina from 1939 till September, 1941, when he went into the Army. Upon arriving at Carolina, he and three fellow students bought the band from Charlie Wood. Bub Montgomery took over during Johnny's service period and during Bub's reign, the band played at numerous campus affairs.

Seven of the players have been in the war but they will probably all return by Christmas. Satterfield is already booked solid for the Yuletide holidays in states from Virginia to Florida. Johnny facetiously claims that he received his first musical inspiration when his father, a railway engineer, sang "Casey Jones" to him.

His first musical experience came at the age of eight at which time he started piano lessons. He didn't like practicing, so he used to go to a colored church and listen to the choir practicing hymns. The man that Satterfield respects the most is Willis Hargreaves, colored tenor, who is a janitor at the local post office.

University Party Releases Complete Political Slate

Dorset, Kelly, Warren Top List Of Student Council Nominations

In addition to the nominations of Charlie Vance for president and Ed Emack for vice president of the student body, the University Party has announced the completion of its slate for the coming election.

Ed Emack was nominated last Tuesday for vice-president of the student body by the University Party which also named Charlie Vance as its presidential candidate.

Dewey Dorset, Pat Kelly and Charlie Warren are the civilian nominees for the Student Council. NROTC nominees are Jim Burdin and Boots Walker, and the Marine candidate is Jack Shaffer.

For representative to the Legislature, the party nominated Charlie Revelle as NROTC candidate and Bill Lloyd for town girl representative.

University Party Chairman Allan Pannill has released the following information about these nominees. Dewey Dorset, who just returned this past September from serving in the Armed Forces, was formerly Secretary of the Debate Council, member of CPU and University Club. He is now Chairman of Veterans' Affairs Committee of the University Veterans' Association. Pat Kelly has been president of both the Freshman Friendship Council and YMCA; a member of the Student Welfare Board, Interdorm Council and the Legislature. He is also Associate Editor of the Tar Heel. Charlie Warren has been president of two dormitories and is now manager of Steele. He is a member of the Legislature, dance committee, and Interdormitory Council.

Burdin Active

Besides being in the NROTC, Jim Burdin is serving as a member of the Dance Committee, University Club, and Grail. He is also Chairman of House Privileges Board and vice-president and treasurer of the Interfraternity Council. See UNIVERSITY PARTY, page 4.

Legislature Acts To Hold Decision On Coed Eating

A decision to postpone action concerning coed eating privileges until after hearing a report on the matter by the House Privileges Board was reached by the Student Legislature at its regular meeting last Thursday night. This decision was reached after a report had been given by the special committee which had been sent to confer with Chancellor House about the situation. A report from the H.P.B. will be presented at the next Legislature meeting.

A bill introduced by the Ways and Means Committee amending the Constitution so that a polling place would be set up in Everett dormitory was unanimously approved by the Legislature. The bill, which was presented by Art Adams, also involved two other amendments providing that representation in the Legislature should be taken away from the Navy V-12 since the unit no longer exists on this campus.

Walt Brinkley, in his report on the Elections Committee, tendered his temporary resignation as chairman of the committee because he is a candidate in the forthcoming election. In view of this, Charles Fulton was elected temporary chairman of this committee and the following members were named to serve under him: Bill Jernigan, Warren Ficklen, Emily Alliton and Gloria Chapman.

Meeting Called To Organize Phi On Tuesday Night

The 150-year-old Philanthropic Assembly, the oldest student activity at Carolina, will be re-organized at a mass meeting in Gerrard Hall Tuesday night at 8:30. A special Tar Heel committee headed by Jack Lackey will be responsible for conducting the meeting and presenting a constitution.

"We are hoping that everyone interested in student government and forensics will attend and lend their support to an organization which has played such an important part in the history of the University," said Lackey.

The Phi was disbanded during the war when most of its membership entered the service. The Phi Hall, which houses part of the best portrait collection in North Carolina, is now being used by the Student Legislature, but will also be returned to the Phi after its re-organization.

Chancellor R. B. House has heartily approved of reviving the Phi, and said the administration wants to see the old society back to its pre-war strength.
