UP Nominee Defeats Walker By 99 Votes

Vance Fills Post Left By McKenzie; Other Officers Take Over Duties

Charlie Vance was elected president of the student body last Wednesday by a 99 vote margin. Vance, the University Party nominee, defeated Bill Walker who was running as an independent. The third candidate, Walt Brinkley was eliminated in an earlier election. The run-off election was requested by Walker after Vance received only a plurality in the first election.

Charlie Fulton, chairman of the Elections Committee of the Student Legislature, has announced that the final tabulation was 753 votes for Vance and 654 votes for Walker. The vote in Everett was 66 to 49 in favor of Vance; in the "Y" it was 359 to 216 in favor of Vance; at Swain it was 257 to 116 in favor of Walker; at the Medical School it was 63 to 16 in favor of Vance; and at Kenan it was 149 to 116 in favor of Vance.

Jimmie Wallace received nine write-in votes and Walt Brinkley received one. These had, however, no official standing.

Takes Over Office

Vance takes over the office immediately. He succeeds Bill McKenzie, who resigned and left school due to poor health. Pete Pully, the new vice-president, has already taken over the office left vacant by Dick Ford.

Vance comes from Winston-Salem. He recently returned to Carolina after serving in the army. While on campus before, he held many important offices including Speaker of the Legislature. He and the other newly elected officers will serve until the Spring election.

Imports May Obtain Special Game Tickets

Carolina students will be able to secure tickets to the game this afternoon for themselves and off-campus dates if desired, by applying at the Carolina gate at Duke stadium and presenting their athletic cards. It will cost fifty cents for the students and an additional three dollars for the dates.

Annual Yard-Display Scheduled Next Week

The University Club is again sponsoring the traditional yard-display contest preceding the Virginia-Carolina homecoming game, Dick Jente, president, has announced.

Fraternalities, sororities, dormitories and any other campus organizations may set up displays, getting their entries and $1.00 entrance fees in to Dean Mackie by 3 o'clock Friday, November 30. The University Club will award a $50 Victory Bond to the winning organization following the judging at 11 o'clock Saturday.

Here's Luck to You, Coach . . . .

Coach Carl Snavelly, pictured above, one of the top football men in the nation who returned to Carolina this season after a nine-year tour of coaching at Cornell, will be seeking his second win in three tries this afternoon as he pits his young, inexperienced Tar Heels against Duke.

Underdog Tar Heels May Spring Upset Of Season

More Than 40,000 May Attend Classic; Carolina Squad Plagued By Injuries

By Irwin Smallwood

With a crowd of more than 40,000 expected to be present, Carolina's Snavelly-coached footballers will pay a visit to Duke stadium this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and the annual classic grid skirmish between the arch rival Tar Heels and Blue Devils will be reeled off as the climax to the first peacetime season in four years.

The battle today, which finds the charges of Coach Eddie Cameron keyed high, will be the tilt that will send one of the schools ahead in the won lost column of the over quarter-century rivalry. Both institutions have won 14 games, five of the Blue Devils triumphs having come since 1940, when the UNC lads last turned the trick, 6-3.

Duke will be in the favored position for the tussle, on the basis of their season record, but as has been shown many times in the past, records don't mean much to the players of either side. The Tar Heels are rated in the best position to turn the trick since they fought the Blue Devils to a 13-all deadlock back in 1942.

Two Wins In Ten Years

A Carolina football team has not been able to beat the Dukesters but twice in the past 10 years, although they held the foes from Durham to a 13-13 tie once.

For the afternoon, it promises to be an interesting game, if nothing else, with the Tar Heels heaving plenty of passes, and the Duke charges ploughing away at the tough Carolina line. The Duke offense, long heralded, will be a big test for the UNC forward wall, coached so ably by Max Reed. The Carolina line fought Tennessee tooth and nail through four rough quarters, yielding only seven first downs, one of which was in the air. It was the line, too, that made such a good showing against Georgia Tech in the collegiate opener September 29, and again against Wake Forest this past week-end.

Coach Snavelly will be sending two backfield men in to start today who were in that same lineup when the opening whistle blew last year. That pair is Bobby Warren, tailback, and Jim Camp, wingback. It was Warren who engineered the two Carolina touchdowns last week-end against the Deacons from Wake Forest, heaving a pass to Max Cook for one and running around his own left end for the other. Camp, one of the fastest men on the team, has been showing up well in drills, but his spot will more than likely be shared with Bob Oliphant, rugged Marine wingback who has been a stalwart of the backfield

Count Reveals 671 Veterans

On campus at present are 671 veterans of World War II, according to figures released this week by the Veterans' Office in South Building. Of these 219 were here during the first short term and 452 entered this session.

Thirty-nine per cent of the veterans were students at Carolina prior to entering service; 33 per cent are freshmen, having entered service from high school; and 28 percent of the men transferred here from other colleges.

Married veterans number 139 and make up 21 per cent of the total. Prior to this term there were 26 of them, and 113 additional married veterans came in since October 29.

222 Freshmen

Old Carolina men returning to school this term total 192, and added to the 73 who were here in September and October, they total 265. Freshman veterans numbered 77 last term and 145 new ones came in this session to bring the total of veterans in the freshman class to 222. This figure, however, does not include veterans who were here as freshmen when they entered the service.

Transfers here for the first time this term come to 115. Sixty-nine were here last term, and the total of veterans transferring to Carolina so far is 184.

Old Twelfth Man Pep Reborn In Tremendous Fetzer Field Rally

The stage was set last night for today's classic between the Tar Heels and Duke with a tremendous bonfire pep rally held on Fetzer Field. More than 2,000 students attended the biggest rally of the season which started at the Y Court with the University band leading the torchlight parade down through town, past the women's dorms, and on to Fetzer Field where some of the finest examples of that Carolina twelfth man spirit were displayed.

Lenoir To Open At 11

Lenoir Dining Hall will be open at 11:00 a. m. this morning in order that students may eat before going to the Duke game. It will be almost impossible for students to get anything to eat in Durham.

Legislature Asks For New Election Of Frosh Officers

Announcement was made by Charlie Fulton, temporary chairman of the Elections Committee, at the Student Legislature's meeting Thursday night that a re-election of freshman officers will be held on Wednesday. The reason given for this was that the Elections Committee had overlooked the presence of some 25 freshman Marines on the campus and so these Marines were unable to cast their ballots.

The following bills were introduced to the Legislature and referred to the Ways and Means Committee for a report next week: A bill to set up a committee to organize and conduct the orientation of new students entering Carolina; a bill to establish an executive committee of the Student Welfare Board to take care of the Board's more important work; and a motion recommending that the Student Welfare Board conduct an investigation on the condition of wages and prices in the Book Exchange.

Pete Pully announced his resignation as Clerk of the Student Legislature due to his recent election as Vice-President of the Student Body. Lorena Dawson was elected to fill the vacant position.
