Christmas Party For All Veterans Set For Tonight

The University Veterans Association will entertain members and their friends at an annual Christmas Party tonight at 8 o'clock in the Veterans' Club. Dance music for the occasion will be furnished by a rhythm quintet, which has recently been organized among the campus veterans.

Ken Willis, chairman of the Social Committee, and Harry Burke, club manager, have decorated the club to suit the spirit of the occasion and have planned an evening of varied entertainment. Appropriate Christmas refreshments will be served throughout the evening.

Tickets for the affair at 50 cents per couple, may be secured at the club this evening. Veterans may purchase additional tickets for their friends in order to make up their own small parties.

Episcopal Students Meet Tomorrow

The Episcopal students of the University will have a Christmas Caroling and smorgasbord (Swedish buffet) at the Parish house tomorrow afternoon, from 5 to 6:30 o'clock, Rev. David Yates, rector, announced.

bowl games, but congratulations are in order for several of the Tar Heel gridders of last season. Four members of Carolina's top-notch line and one backfield man received honors, Ted Hazelwood, giant Marine tackle who did such a good job all year, being placed on the first string All-State team of the Greensboro Daily News, and Sid Varney and Al Bernot getting on the second string. Varney was a guard, one of the best, and Bernot was the up-and-coming center who blossomed out in the Tennessee game. Fullback Co-Captain Bill Voris got a berth on the second team also.

Course In Russian Grammar
An elementary course in Russian will be offered next term taught by Dr. George F. Lane. The course, designed for two quarters, will meet at 11 o'clock or at any other convenient time for the students. It will be an introductory course to Russian grammar and reading.

Infirmiry Asks Cooperation Of All Students

Due to the numerous cases of colds and flu among the students Dr. E. M. Hedgpeth, University physician, urges the students to cooperate with the routine of the infirmiry. The morning hours are from 9 to 11:30 and the afternoon hours from 2:30 to 5:00; on Sundays the morning hours are from 9 to 10 and the afternoon hour is from 4 to 5. However, the infirmiry is open 24 hours a day and is prepared at all times to handle emergency cases.

The staff, ordinarily overworked, now more than ever needs the cooperation of all the students in checking colds and flu in time, said Dr. Hedgpeth.

such as the flu epidemic we just had, will probably peg out at least most of the boys in these crowded dorms. Another reason against it is that with such a nice number of boys in the rooms, there will be excellent opportunities for bull-sessions, parties, and gambling, and little or no opportunity to study.

I agree that as many students as possible should be allowed to come to the University, but, if the administration wants more students, why not build more dorms? At the rate things are going, I expect the incoming freshmen of summer to be housed in tents pitched in Kenan Stadium.

"As for the attitude of the German people," he said, "many, of course, blame the Nazis for their troubles without identifying themselves with the Nazis. Many others seem to genuinely hate everything the party stood for. They all hate the Russians with a white hot fury. Though they obviously hate Americans too, in comparison they almost like us."

Expects Discharge Soon

Capt. Freeman expects to be discharged soon and retained in the Public Relations Office as a civilian. "The military government is trying wherever possible to replace the military," he said. "Many army men have been released and kept on as specialists. Quite a few women—Wacs, Red Cross workers and German girls—are doing secretarial work, welfare, investigations and work with UNNRA in Berlin."

News Coverage

In answer to the question, "How do they turn out news over there?" Capt. Freeman explained that it is done chiefly through the war correspondents. "The job of the army news service is to cover all conferences between the Allied powers and any other stories involving policy. The news is then released to the correspondents for dissemination. In every other way we try to make news-gathering easier for the correspondents, who in turn are generally very cooperative. Although there is no censorship, news often has to be held up a short time for diplomatic reasons."

Capt. Freeman will return to Berlin on January 1.

Phi Kappa Sig Initiation

Phi Kappa Sigma initiated seven new members December 6. They are: Carl Busch, Farrell Potts, Kurt Schrem, Ed Shumate, Charlie McDonald, Bob Turner and Jay Keeter.

Organizations Must Sign For Yack Space

Campus organizations which have not yet had their contracts for space in the 1946 Yackety Yack signed must attend to this matter before going home for the holidays. "Unless your contract is signed before December 13, your organization will not be included in the annual," said Editor Fred Flagler.

for the conduct of the fraternity."

"As to the general conduct of the individual coed we would like to state that we do not want to add more definite regulations to the ones that we already have, but that the coed should recognize the standards contained in the Campus Code. What we understand the Campus Code to mean should be given more stress during Orientation Week. It should be stated in the Social Regulations book that it is an Honor Council offense when a coed comes into the dormitory under the influence of alcohol."

"The WGA Cabinet also unanimously recommended that the lights in the 'baby lounge' of Graham Memorial be left on until the closing hour."

"The WGA Cabinet is working to uphold the standards but it realizes that it can do nothing without the cooperation of each coed. We recognize the freedom we have here, but also with that freedom comes extra responsibility. Privileges and freedom should not be confused, because responsibility comes with privilege."
