The Marine V-12 program will continue until July 1, according to Capt. Loomis, Naval ROTC Commandant. Originally the program was scheduled to be inactivated March 1.

The V-12 program has been losing men eligible for discharge but 103 men are still in the unit. Fifty-one of these men are veterans of the Pacific theatre. A certificate of merit from the Navy Department commending the University Medical Department for its work in the V-12 program has been presented to Dr. Berryhill, Dean of the Medical School.

Law Student To Give Concert Sunday Night In Student Union

Charles Johnson, a law student at Carolina and a versatile pianist, will make a return performance as entertainer at the Fireside Concert to be held in Graham Memorial this Sunday night at 9 o'clock. This fall, Johnson helped Miss Rice, Graham Memorial director, initiate the present Fireside Concert series by playing soft piano music, both popular classics and current hit tunes, for 90 minutes without pausing, much to the delight of his many listeners.

Johnson, who has just recently returned to Carolina, served two years as an American Field Service volunteer with the British forces in Africa and Italy. During the last six months of the war he was attached to the French First Army in France, Germany, and Austria.

A talented writer, Johnson has recently completed a novel which is now being considered by the University Press.

Grail Meeting

The Grail held its first meeting of the new term Thursday night in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial.

Alexander To Preside Over S & F

William "Pokey" Alexander, a returning veteran, has been appointed by Dick Stoker to act as president of Sound and Fury in his absence this term.

In the past, Sound and Fury has presented reviews, minstrels and musical comedies using campus talent exclusively. Fashioned after the Mask and Wig club of the University of Pennsylvania, the club has satirized campus personalities and events in comedy, song and dance. The fall production of 1942 went on the road for a week, touring from Fort Bragg to Greensboro. Last year, although hampered by wartime conditions, the organization presented two successful shows, the first a package show and the second a full-length variety production.

With the new coeds and veterans on campus now, there is an abundance of talent. Membership in Sound and Fury is open to those interested.

"Humorists, actors, skit writers, composers, singers, and pretty girls—you all are needed," said Alexander. The acting president added that coeds would be in the "Y" the early part of next week to receive applications for membership from interested persons. He also stated that a meeting of all applicants would be held next Tuesday night at 8 p. m. in Gerrard Hall.

Foreign Films Society To Begin Second Series

The Foreign Films Society begins its second series tomorrow, January 13, with the first of eight films to be presented, "Madame Bovary," in The Playmakers Theatre at 3:00 p.m. "Madame Bovary" is the colorful adaptation of Flaubert's famous novel, mirroring exactly its style and putting its dramatic reliance on the material and theme of the novel. The film stars Valentine Tessier as Emma Bovary and has English titles.

Charlie Vance, president of the student body, has announced the resignation of the secretary-treasurer of the student body, Joe Mallard. Mallard stated in his resignation that he regretted having to relinquish his post, but that it was necessary for him to do so because of the extra study load he has taken on in order to graduate in June instead of the following term.

Vance has appointed Pat Kelly to serve as secretary-treasurer until a successor to Mallard can be elected. Kelly is president of the campus YMCA and a member of the student legislature in addition to being a member of the student council.

Bill Introduced In Legislature For 1946 Budget

All was quiet on the legislature front Thursday night at Student Legislature meeting. Two bills were introduced, one resolution proposed, and a recommendation made.

Doug Hunt, Speaker, in the absence of the Finance Committee chairman, Ray Jeffries, presented the bill for the Student Council and Student Legislature budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946.

Every expenditure not specifically provided for was pruned out of last year's budget. The bill proposed that individual appropriations be made for special projects for which allowances have been made in previous budgets.

Jim Wallace, representative from law school, introduced a bill to provide for a representative from the law school on the Student Council whose members are ordinarily elected at large.

4,000 Students Enrolled Here In Winter Term

February Totals May Top Pre-War Figures

An estimated 4,000 students, only 100 short of Carolina's peak pre-war enrollment, have registered for the winter quarter, according to a statement from Edwin S. Lanier, director of the records office.

Late Thursday afternoon 3,975 registrants had been tallied, with a few still left to be taken care of.

When the Law School begins its spring semester, enough students may be enrolled to push student body numbers over the all-time high of 4,108 reached during the fall quarter of 1941. Fall semester enrollment in the Law School stands at 43, and it is estimated law students will total at least 100 when the next term begins in February.

Included in the present 4,000 enrollment are approximately 1,600 veterans. Over 900 newcoming veterans had been registered at the end of last week, and it is thought that latecomers have swelled the numbers to 1,000 ex-servicemen back on the campus for the first time this quarter.

Registration for the quarter closed Thursday, and final tabulations will be forthcoming soon, according to Mr. Lanier.

Pharmacy Students To Hear Fischelis On Tuesday Night

Dr. Robert P. Fischelis, executive secretary of the American Pharmaceutical Association, Washington, D. C., will be guest speaker at a dinner to be given Tuesday in honor of the School of Pharmacy of the University by the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association. The banquet will be held at the Carolina Inn at 7 o'clock.

All faculty members and students of the school have been invited to attend. Also present will be the executive board of the North Carolina Association and their wives. About 175 people are expected in all.

Toastmaster for the evening will be Mr. W. A. Gilliam, president of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association. Invocation will be given by Dr. I. W. Rose, professor, and Dr. M. L. Jacobs, assistant dean, will respond. A trio from the music department will conclude the program.

Vets Announce Clubhouse Rules

The Board of Governors of the Veterans Clubhouse on Raleigh Road has made the following announcements:

The club will be open every night for the use of members of the University Veterans Association, except Monday, from 7 p.m., and will open at 2 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

Wednesday night will be reserved for married veterans and their families. There will be opportunity for the families to meet, and a program of entertainment and games will be provided.

Membership in the Association costs $1.50 for the quarter, and entitles the veteran to all club privileges, as well as voting rights in the Association.

both Comptroller W. D. Carmichael and Assistant Comptroller C. E. Teague were out of town all day Thursday to discuss possibilities of helping overcrowded conditions here. Neither of the three had returned Thursday night in time for Tar Heel press time.

As yet there has been no further news on the University's application for a minimum of 450 pre-fabricated houses now located outside Portsmouth, Virginia, where they were occupied by shipbuilding employees during the war. Carolina's name is second on the list of applicants for some of the 5,000 houses outside Portsmouth, and it is almost certain they will be allocated to Chapel Hill once the government releases them.

Probable site selected for erection of the houses will be out beyond Kenan Stadium. They will be brought here in trucks and will be rented to married veterans and their wives.

If the present plan goes through, 40 trucks will bring 40 houses here every other day, one truckload consisting of one house, separated into sections. The trucks will bring the houses one day and will return to Portsmouth the next for another load.

The government transports and erects the houses. The University will provide the site, utilities (water, sewers and lighting), and the furniture and will build the small concrete piers required as foundations. After the piers are in place, a crew can erect a house in one hour.

Under the law providing for use of the houses as quarters for veterans, the Government will continue to own the houses and will decide upon the rental. The University, as an agent of the Government, will attend to the management.

The houses requested for Carolina's veterans are all exactly alike: one story, with two bedrooms, living room, kitchen, bath, several closets and a hearth. The timbers and walls are creosoted California redwood. Walls and floors are insulated, and the roof is of composition shingles. The creosoting has given the exterior of the houses a brownish color.

The University hopes to have a good proportion of the houses ready for use before the end of February, and Chancellor R. B. House has stated that the situation "looks hopeful." Meanwhile, University students have filled every available room in dormitories, fraternity and sorority houses, and in Chapel Hill homes offering living quarters to them.

Playmaker Revels Will Be Tonight

"Twelfth Night Revels," the annual Playmakers informal party, will be presented tonight at 7:30 in the Playmakers Theatre. The admission is free, and the campus is invited to see the variety and fun-for-all show as guests of the Playmakers.

The first part of the program is traditional with the faculty doing the reveal scene from "Twelfth Night" and holding an election for a king and queen of Revels. The Playmakers take over the second part with comedy skits, songs, dances and burlesques of former productions.
