Fraternities Commence Rush Week Tomorrow

Hours For Visiting Substantially Reduced; Students Receive Bids In Today's Mail

The formal rushing of over a thousand new students on campus will commence tomorrow afternoon and will continue during specified hours throughout the week. Not only are the students that entered the University this term eligible, but also those that entered in November.

Since the last issue of the Tar Heel, the hours of rushing each day have been substantially reduced in order to permit rushees and fraternity men time to devote to their scholastic studies. The hours tomorrow for rushing will be from 3 p. m. to 6 p. m. and again from 8 p. m. to 11 p. m. It must be emphasized that all new men who have received bids from fraternities are required to visit them at any time during those hours. The penalty for failure to do so is ineligibility to join a fraternity for one year.

On Monday, Wednesday and Thursday the rushing hours are from 7 p. m. to 9:30 p. m., the Interfraternity Council has announced, and on Tuesday and Friday from 2:30 to 5:30 p. m. The following Sunday, January 27, has been designated as "shake-up day." During the rushing hours that day, 3 p. m. to 6 p. m. and 8 p. m. to 11 p. m., the fraternities ask the rushees they wish to pledge to join them.

From 11 p. m. on Sunday, January 27, until Wednesday, January 30, there will be a period of complete silence. On Wednesday at 3 p. m. the rushees will report to Dean Mackie's office in South Building to state their choice and to pay the pledging fee of one dollar. Then they will visit the fraternity they have decided upon and be pledged.

The rules for the conduct of the fraternities during rush week as announced by the Interfraternity Council are as follows:

There will be a complete silence between fraternity members and rushees at all times except during rushing hours.

The fraternities are not allowed to serve any refreshments other than soft drinks, cigarettes, sandwiches, and cookies to rushees at any time or at any place during the entire rushing period.

Daily Tar Heel To Start Soon

Pugh Says Feb. 5 Is Possible Date

Return of the Tar Heel to a daily publication on the campus will be possible much sooner than the March 1 date set last term by the Publications Union Board, it was indicated yesterday by Fred Flagler, president of the Board.

The main problem in reconverting to a daily basis was a shortage of linotype operators and other printshop employees but William Pugh, manager of the Orange Printshop which publishes the paper, stated yesterday that it may be possible to resume a daily Tar Heel as early as February 5. A definite date will be set next week.

Tar Heel Offices

Horace Williams lounge in Graham Memorial will be turned over to the Tar Heel in line with the general expansion program. Present plans call for the editorial and sports department to be located in Horace Williams while the news department will remain in its present offices.

The agreement between the Publications Union Board and the printshop is that neither will be bound to hold to a regular contract. Mr. Pugh said he would publish on a trial basis subject to suspension if the trial period is not successful. The trial period will last approximately two months.

Teletype Service

A contract is being negotiated for the United Press to provide the Daily Tar Heel with complete teletype facilities to insure full state, national and international news coverage. A teletype machine running from noon until midnight will be installed in the

Frosh And Sophs Must Apply For Y-Y Photos

All freshmen and sophomores who desire to have their pictures in the 1946 Yackety Yack must register in the YMCA at the desk in the front lobby. The registration will be held for three days only—Monday, January 21, through Wednesday, January 23, from 8 a. m. until 1 p. m.

Due to increased publishing costs it will be necessary for freshmen and sophomores to be in group pictures. A fee of $1.50 must be paid upon registration in the Y. This fee was formerly collected by the organized classes, but since no classes are organized here at the present, it is necessary for the Yack to collect the fee.

Wednesday will be the last possible day to register, as the photographs will be taken soon thereafter.

Legislature Takes Action On Law Bill

Carolina's student legislature at a busy session Thursday night in Gerard Hall, acted upon eight bills and received new committee appointments from Speaker Douglas Hunt.

Chief interest of the evening was the request from the law school for a seat on the student council. Jack Lackey introduced a substitute resolution referring the original request, as made by Jimmy Wallace, to the campus constitution committee for its consideration. Previous to this the privilege of speaking on this bill was granted to members of the law school. Bud Coira, president of the Law Association, spoke at length on the desirability of having a law student on the council.

After further discussion the substitute bill introduced by Lackey was passed by a vote of 17-12. After the vote had been taken, Speaker Hunt took the floor and said that he was opposed to going back to the old system of selecting student honor council members from the class organizations.

A bill to improve the internal appearance and comfort of the YMCA was introduced by Rowena Dawson. It was unanimously passed and Pete Pully and Miss Dawson were appointed to head a committee to expedite provisions of the bill.

A substitute to the resolution endorsing Roland Parker for the office of Dean of Students was introduced by the ways and means committee, requesting that the committee for the selection of the Dean of Students meet with the student members of the student welfare board concerning the selection. This resolution was adopted after little discussion.

Still another resolution, introduced by Jimmy Wallace, was passed

Registration To Be Limited Next Session

Out-Of-State Men Not To Be Taken

By Mary Hill Gaston

No applications from out-of-state residents wishing to enter Carolina at the opening of either spring, summer or fall quarters are now being considered by the Admissions Office. Even with the return of Carr Dormitory to men students in June and with the acceptance of only 125 new coeds next fall, both moves announced by the office this week, shortage of housing facilities will prevent taking care of all North Carolinians who apply.

Counts made in the Admissions Office reveal that over 750 letters concerning entrance to the University were received there the first four days this week. These letters contained either application blanks, transcripts and records pursuant to previous applications or inquiries about entrance.

To all out-of-state students wishing to apply the office is now sending letters of refusal. And letters are also going to North Carolina girls wishing to come here, telling them that the Admissions Office has already committed itself to more young women who live in North Carolina than the 125 anticipated vacancies will accommodate.

All former University students now have priority on dormitory space, according to another letter, one addressed to all North Carolina men who apply. Next in line for consideration are North Carolina residents who have not been to any other college before; then come those wishing to transfer here, though these are advised to stay where they are.

It has always been the practice of the University to consider all applicants who have met entrance requirements and to accept them to the limit of the housing capacity. But according to the present rate of requests, there should be 300 veterans, old Carolina students, returning here in March. There is absolutely no dormitory space to care for any students other than these, according to admissions directors. Included in the 750 letters received this week were

Journalists To Hear AP Prexy At Statewide Meet Next Week

Secretary Of Treasury Vinson Listed Among Speakers To Address Newsmen

North Carolina newspaper men and women will have an opportunity next week to hear, first-hand, accounts and opinions of the nation's handling of its reconversion problems—problems about which they have been writing for many months.

Two top-ranking government officials and one internationally known newspaper publisher are the principal speakers on the program of the mid-winter North Carolina Newspaper Institute to be held here and in Durham next week, Thursday and Friday.

Fred M. Vinson, Secretary of the Treasury, and W. R. Davlin, Executive Secretary of the War Mobilization and Reconversion Advisory Board, which was formerly directed by Secretary Vinson, will speak at the Chapel Hill sessions, while Robert McLean, president of the Associated Press and president and publisher of

Check-Up Reveals Vacancies In Dorms

A check made this week by managers of the various men's dormitories reveals there are between 50 and 60 vacancies created by students who signed up for the rooms and have not occupied them.

Men desiring to change rooms should apply to the cashier's office in South Building to check on these vacancies. This notice applies particularly to men living in Nash and Eaton Hall, barracks buildings now being used to house 136 men.

Mid-Winter Dance Plans Announced

Both Dances To Be Held In Tin Can; Spivak And Famed Orchestra Will Play Three Times

Plans neared completion here today for the annual Mid-Winter dance set sponsored at the University by the German club. The set, to be held Friday and Saturday, February 1-2, will consist of a concert Saturday afternoon from 4 until 6 p. m., a closed dance Friday night for German club members and their dates, and an open dance Saturday night.

Charlie Spivak and his nationally famed band will play for all three occasions. It will be the second appearance of Spivak's band on the campus in recent years.

Tickets are now on sale for the Friday afternoon concert to be held in Memorial Hall and students and faculty members are urged to secure their tickets now before the seating capacity of Memorial Hall has been exhausted. The tickets are priced at $1 per person and may be obtained from any German Club representative or at the YMCA.

Both evening dances will be held in the Tin Can inasmuch as Woollen Gym will be the scene of the Carolina-Wake Forest basketball game the night of Feb. 2. Boots Walker, treasurer of the club, announced. The Friday night dance will be formal and the open dance Saturday night will be semi-formal, Walker added.

Bids for the entire set have been ordered and will be distributed to members sometime next week. In addition, each member of the club will be issued an additional ticket for Saturday night's dance which he may sell to anyone desiring to attend. Price of the single night's ticket will probably be $4, Walker reported.

Coed Senate Makes Petition For New Dorm Construction

Trustee Committee Receives Request For Two Girls To A Room Regulation

A resolution concerning dormitory conditions to be presented to the visiting committee of the University Board of Trustees yesterday afternoon and decision to hold elections for major women's government offices the last week in February highlighted the year's first Coed Senate meeting Tuesday night.

The Senate voted to ask that only two girls be housed in each dormitory room and that new dormitories be built as soon as possible. Crowded conditions making studying and neatness next to impossible, in addition to contributing to an increase in the number of serious illnesses among students in the past two years, were cited as the principal reasons behind the request.

The Senate's resolution was to be presented to the trustees yesterday afternoon by the WGA executive cabinet.

A slate of new election rules growing out of one-vote margins tallied in coed balloting last month was also adopted by the Senate. Provision was made that not more than three candidates may run for one vacancy and not more than five for offices to which two shall be elected. In the latter case each girl elected must be at least five votes ahead of the lowest candidate. When more than two girls are running for the same office, the winner must be at least five votes ahead of the runner-up. The Senate also appropriated money to buy ballot boxes so that those belonging to the men's government association will not have to be borrowed in the future.

Another appropriation made was $300 to the Women's Glee Club for music needed for the rest of this year and for next year.

Nina Guard Assumes Chair As President of Di Senate

NINA GUARD

Nina Guard, the second woman president of the 150-year-old Senate of the Dialectic Literary Society, took the cane Wednesday night to preside over a roaring session on the merits and demerits of registration for courses at Carolina.

Miss Guard, also the second youngest person to ever preside over the Di, edited the Hilltop, student newspaper at Mars Hill junior college. At Mars Hill she left an outstanding record in intercollegiate debating. Here at Carolina she was elected president of the Debate Council and representative from the Debate Squad, after an unsuccessful campus political campaign to be representative from the campus.

New Members Wanted
"I'd like to do my part to start the Di off right on its next 150 years," said Miss Guard, "and we are now be-
