LEGISLATURE

The finance committee recommended passage of the student government budget bill for the fiscal year ending June 31, 1946, which was passed unanimously. The Woman's Government budget was introduced and sent to the finance committee for a report next week.

A bill was introduced by the elections committee and passed providing for the election of officers of the graduating classes for March and June 1946. Both elections will be held before February 1.

REGISTRATION

The normal number of girls admitted each fall is 300, but this year not as many girls as usual are expected to graduate. That, coupled with the return of Carr, which has housed approximately 90 girls, and with the increase in the number of women graduate students, has forced a cutback in the number of girls to be accepted in 1946.

Meanwhile, though Carolina is already filled to overflowing, letters keep pouring in from students wishing to enter this year. "And every returning troopship brings more and more letters," says Guy B. Phillips, Director of Admissions.

JOURNALISTS

The Philadelphia Bulletin, will speak at a session in Durham.

The Institute, which is sponsored by the North Carolina Press Association with the cooperation of Carolina and Duke, will open with registration at the Carolina Inn on next Friday afternoon.

Secretary Vinson will give the opening address that night in Hill Hall at 8 o'clock. He will be introduced by former Governor O. Max Gardner, of Shelby and Washington, chairman of the War Mobilization and Reconversion Advisory Board.

Mr. Davlin, who has served under the Gardner chairmanship of the Board since it was put into operation a year ago, will speak at a luncheon session here Friday with the University as host.

Secretary Vinson, who is said never to have "walked around a fight—he always goes to the middle of it"—is popular with and has the confidence of both Democrats and Republicans alike. Although a New Dealer, he frequently asserted his independence and bucked both President Roosevelt and conservatives in Congress on more than one issue.

Secretary Vinson succeeded Secretary of State James F. Byrnes as director of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion. He also directed the Office of Economic Stabilization before President Truman called on him to take over in place of Henry Morgenthau, Jr.

NINA GUARD

In her inaugural address, she criticized the Di for reckless behavior in the past, and asked for smoother sailing in the future.

Ed Lanier, the administrative official in charge of registration, said on the floor of the Di Wednesday night, "When I was speaker of the Phi, the emphasis on parliamentary procedure came from the chair, it seems that the emphasis in the Di today comes from the floor." Lanier warned the membership that they should take advantage of the opportunity to learn parliamentary procedure, for to be ignorant of procedure in a deliberative assembly is like "going through dark woods at night without a flashlight." Lanier described the present registration system as "atrocious" and said that although he had been told that registration was worse at Cornell, he didn't see how this condition could be possible.

Y-Y Announces Return Of Proofs Next Week

Fraternity editor Fred Bauder has announced that all proofs of frat men will be returned to them at their houses next week. Wooten-Moulton Studios will enclose with each set of proofs instructions to the effect that all proofs must be returned to the studio not later than five days after they are received, or else the proofs will be selected by the Yack staff.

Bauder expresses his thanks for the cooperation of the fraternities while photographs were being made last week and asks for further aid in getting these proofs in as promptly as possible so that the deadline for copy will be met.

for its style and content being that the people for whom it is intended never read anything else, and especially not the Vargales magazines where something like this might appear) with a don't be fooled and blinded by the homespun, politician phrases the, "freenterprise," the communist," the "national sovereignty" and all the other meaningless phrases which accomplish nothing more than cannalizing our attention from the matter's real meaning. Community Goal For Drive Set At $3,550; Townspeople Invited To Informal Affair

A March of Dimes Dance will be held in Woollen Gymnasium Saturday, January 26, climaxing the campus infantile paralysis drive. George Jackson and his veterans' orchestra will set the pace for the affair sponsored by the Tar Heel.

Veteran Total Shows Rise In Winter Term

The first year of peace since 1941 finds 1,566 veterans enrolled in the University of North Carolina. Five hundred and eighty-six vets re-enrolled from the fall quarter and 980 enrolled for the first time.

These figures do not include 22 students who are now being checked as late registrants. This information is correct as of Jan. 15.

Of the 980 who registered this fall, 322 or 32 per cent are former students, 298 or 30 per cent are transfers, and 370 or 38 per cent are first-year students.

Of this group 225 or 23 per cent are out-of-state students and 235 or 24 per cent are married. Among the married vets 74 have children and 54 are from outside the state.

Out of 691 registered vets in the fall only 586 re-enrolled for the winter term, a loss of 105 men.

Prior to Oct. 29, 1945, there were 219 vets enrolled; and in the fall quarter the number jumped to 691 an increase of 315 per cent over the last quarter. The 1,566 enrollment made an increase of 227 per cent over the fall quarter.

The comparative increase in the number of married veterans ranges from 26, registering Oct. 29, to 235 on Jan. 3. In the fall term 113 registered, a 430 per cent increase over last quarter, and this term was a 101 per cent increase over the previous term.

Proceeds from the dance will go towards the Chapel Hill goal of $3,550. Tickets are on sale at the Y and the Carolina Theatre for $1 per couple or stag.

Jackson's 14-piece orchestra is composed of veterans from all branches of the service. Their special arrangements will be highlighted by Miss Gwenn Hughes, coed vocalist.

To Be Informal
The dance, lasting from 9 to 12, will be informal. It is the first open dance of the term. Visitors and townspeople are invited.

Co-chairmen sponsoring the Tar Heel dance are Leonard Blumberg and Trudy Walton. Other backers include E. Carrington Smith, chairman of the Chapel Hill March of Dimes drive, and various campus organizations, including the Order of the Grail and the Veterans Association.

Money collected during the nationwide March of Dimes drive, Jan. 14-31, will be used for care and treatment of diseased persons, for research into the cause of the disease and for training of personnel to carry on the fight.

Nationwide Campaign
The money contributed to the nationwide campaign is divided into two parts. Half remains in the county where it is subscribed, and the other half goes to headquarters of the National Foundation.

This dance probably will be the largest single contribution in this community.
