Mermen At Navy For Triangular Meet

Dolphins Are In Poor Shape For Pool Test

Carolina's Blue Dolphins will risk their perfect record in a triangular meet with Navy and Cornell at Annapolis this afternoon at 3:45 which will probably determine No. 1 tank outfit in the country.

Five of the Tar Heels' leading performers have been absent from workouts for the past several days, due to flu and colds, but the youthful brother coaching combination, Ralph and Willis Casey, took them along anyway.

Doubtful List

The swimmers on the doubtful list included co-captain Ben Ward, No. 2 ranking collegiate sprinter in the country this year, and their leading backstroke and breaststroker, Bo Jenkins and Ed Shumate, the last of whom is an ex-pilot officer with 281 missions "over the hump" in India and Burma.

The Dolphins, who have disposed of Camp Lejeune and Georgia Tech this season, will be seeking their third straight win over the Middies and their first from Cornell. Neither of the three teams have been defeated this campaign, while Cornell holds a string of 25 consecutive victories.

Workhorse Chores

Among those who are slated for workhorse chores in today's meet are Co-captain Snooky Proctor, former runner-up in the National Junior AAU mile; Jack Zimmerman, star distance performer, and Dick Twining, son of General Nathan Twining, who won two National Junior AAU titles in his first year of competitive swimming.

The Casey's will probably send the following line-up against Navy and Cornell: 300 medley relay, Jenkins, Shumate and Morrow; 220 freestyle, Zimmerman and Proctor; 50 freestyle, Ward and Twining; diving, Erle and Swigart; 100 yard freestyle, Ward and Twining; backstroke, Jenkins and Davies; Breaststroke, Shumate and Abrahamson; 440 freestyle, Zimmerman and Proctor; and relay, Ficklen, Morrow, Ward and Twining.

Cagers Invade Camp Lee For Engagement Tonight

By Irwin Smallwood

Early season tests and mid-season rebounds behind, the Carolina White Phantoms are now heading into the final stretch of the regular season, sporting a 15-2 record as they try to successfully defend their Southern conference crown. Coach Carnevale's Phants try for No. 2 against Camp Lee tonight in Virginia, having defeated the soldiers in the second game of the season.

Last night the Tar Heels met High Point college here in Woollen gym, but results were not available at this writing. However, the locals pushed aside the Panthers on home ground a week ago last night and were favored to turn the trick again.

The recently-strengthened Tar Heel cagers, losers this season to only Greensboro ORD and Duke, added State college to its already long list of victims here Wednesday night, crushing the Red Terrors by a 71-34 margin of victory. It was just a story of too much accurate shooting and good floor play that gave the Phantoms the win, Jim Jordan, high scoring veteran, bucketing 19 points for high honors. Johnny Dillon, leading conference scorer with 119 points, added 12 and Bob Paxton dropped in 11.

Bones McKinney, a former star at State himself, played his first game on home ground Wednesday, too, and the lanky (six, six) hardwood stand-out was the outstanding man of the night in floor work. McKinney's height, plus his added scoring punch, adds invaluable strength to the already potent Tar Heel crew.

Several more men have been breaking into the lineup during the past few games, and fairly successfully, too, those being Jim Hayworth, Red Hughes, Roger Scholbe and others. And Don Anderson, Jim White and Tee Thorne have been battling it out for the fifth spot in the starting quint. Anderson, probably the best all-around floor man on hand, was forced to miss the game Wednesday night, suffering from an infected arm.

In the tussle Wednesday, Coach Carnevale used no less than 16 players, playing virtually his entire squad. The Tar Heels got off to their usual slow start and were trailing 7-6 at the end of five minutes. But at the 10-minute mark, the Phantoms were ahead 16-12, and they never relinquished it thereafter. The halftime score was 31-14.

Other scoring for Carolina included White seven, McKinney and Thorne six each, and Scholbe, Hughes, Hayworth, Miles and Dilorenzo two apiece.

Girls' Sextet Plays Contest At 7 Tonight

By Jo Farris

Opening their 1946 basketball card, the North Carolina girls' hardwood sextet will clash with the Henderson All-Stars Saturday night in the Women's Gym at 7 o'clock.

Undeclared in play last year, the lassie Phants downed Duke, Women's College, St. Mary's, and the WACS at Camp Butner.

This year's powerful squad, composed of all of last season's vets, include Joyce Fowler, Ida Prince, Viola Hoyle, Louise Hull, Dot Janssen, Meadie Montgomery, Ann Farr, Grace Towery, Marilyn Carmichael, Jane Heilner, Nancy Helm, and Marjory Nichol.

The probable starting line-up for Saturday's clash:

Joyce Fowler, Vi Hoyle, Ida Prince, forwards; Ann Farr, Dot Janssen, Meadie Montgomery, guards.

Grid Practice Starts Monday

Equipment having been issued the latter part of last week, the Carolina football candidates are scheduled to meet Monday afternoon and begin regular winter practices if weather permits.

The gridgers met last Monday afternoon with Coach Carl Snavelly, and plans were made then to hold drills five days a week about one to two hours a day. Approximately 90 boys showed up for the meeting, and more are expected Monday.

A total of 10 games have been carded for the 1946 season, and newcomers include Miami (Fla.), Florida, and Navy. Dropped from last season are Penn and Georgia Tech. Other top-notch teams included are Duke, Tennessee and Wake Forest. The Miami skirmish will be played under the lights in the Orange Bowl.

Working with Snavelly in his pre-season grind have been his regular assistants, Russ Murphy and Max Reed, with George Stirnweiss, new addition to the staff, offering invaluable aid also. Stirny, who serves as an assistant coach in his off-season, now makes Chapel Hill his home, and the little New York Yankee second baseman was awarded the Mercer award by the New York baseball writers association last week.

Matmen Face Tough Foe That Tied Duke's Grapplers

The wrestling team will highlight the sports activities at Carolina this week-end as the Tar Heel grapplers scrap the Cavaliers from Virginia on the mats tonight at 7:30 in Woollen Gym. Carolina previously downed South Carolina, while Virginia tied Duke 14-14.

TOMMY HEARN

It was still uncertain whether the Tar Heels' sensational ex-National AAU champion, Al Crawford, would take on Virginia's Good in the unlimited event. But in all probability Crawford will be on the mat tonight.

Tommy Gray from Edwards and Arthur Bluethenthal from Wilmington, who both won their opening matches by falls, have moved down a weight to 121 and 165 pounds, respectively, to strengthen the club for the Cavaliers.

W. P. Kemp, a former freshman star here from Goldsboro, will replace Bluethenthal in the 175-pound class, and if Crawford doesn't wrestle the unlimited, it will be either Don Ryder or Bill Crutchfield.

Mat enthusiasts here are anxious to see more of the sensational performer in action, but Crawford says he will probably stick to the coaches' bench Saturday and let the other boys have the experience. He pinned his first rival to the mat in exactly 55 seconds.

Several feature matches are expected, headed by the 121-pound scrap between Gray and Virginia's Withington, who also won his first bout by a pin, and the 135 between Carolina's Tommy Hearn and Virginia's Adom, who both scored decisions.

Probable lineup for Carolina includes: Gray 121, Johnson 128, Hearn 135, Seaver 145, Roseman 155, Bluethenthal 165, Kemp 175, and Ryder or Crutchfield, unlimited.
