

Housing

Students, especially freshmen, who plan to continue in school for the fall quarter are urged by Housing Director James Wadsworth to make their room reservations as soon as possible.

Dormitories are expected to be overcrowded again this fall and many students who were here in the spring, but not in summer school, have already reserved specific rooms for the fall term.

ROTC Students Are At Pensacola

PENSACOLA—31 University of North Carolina students, members of the NROTC unit from the university, included three weeks of aviation indoctrination in their "junior summer" cruise training at the Naval Air Station here.

Included in the training they received here at the "Annapolis of the Air" was a brief indoctrination into the Naval Air Corps, through practical experience and academic class room study. Actual training for the midshipmen was set up in three phases at the Naval Air Station, Saufley and Correy fields. Members of the University of North Carolina NROTC unit spent two weeks in classroom study of the maintenance and operation of a Naval air base and a third week and the University of North Carolina midshipmen apparently enjoyed every minute of it. One day was spent aboard the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Monterey in practical study.

The University of North Carolina students were part of a group of 800 midshipmen from 52 colleges and universities over the nation, here at Pensacola for training. The other three weeks in actual flying.

Phases of study included: weather, radio, radar, operations, engineering and navigation. It was a brief and accelerated course phase of summer training was spent at the Marine amphibious base at Little Creek, Virginia.

New Lighting For Art Work

A new method of lighting is now in use in the memorial rotunda of the Morehead building where the Genevieve Morehead art collection is exhibited.

Specially designed projectors which reveal striking color and workmanship imperceptible under normal lighting have been introduced. The projectors consist of an intricate lens system and diaphragm which illuminates only the canvas of each portrait. The design of the rotunda affords semi-concealment of each projector to avoid distraction.

The art exhibit is open to the public Monday through Friday from 2 until 10 p.m., on Saturdays from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m., and on Sunday from 1 until 10 p.m.

- Negro -

The motion by Trustee Clark to abolish the doctorate courses offered by the Spanish department was defeated after Gray pointed out that Clark actually propose the ruin of the university.

"If every time a Negro comes along and applies for admission to the graduate school and you say you're going to abolish the graduate school, what kind of a university are you going to have," the president asked. "You're beginning to carve at the very vitals of the University if you pass Mr. Clark's motion," Gray stated. He was applauded and the motion was overwhelmingly killed.
