

Dub Graham To Lead Service In Tonight's Open Arboretum

William "Dub" Graham, senior at the University from Jackson Springs, will be the speaker for the weekly "Open Arboretum" tonight at 7 o'clock.

All students and faculty are invited to attend the program which includes singing, a devotional, and refreshments.

The "Open Arboretum" is sponsored through the combined efforts of the Religious and Social committees of the Summer Activities Program.

Co-chairmen for the weekly get-togethers are Dave Kerley and H. B. Glover. Freshman representative for the socials is Paul McCauley.

In case of rain the "Open Arboretum" will be held in the library on the second floor of the YMCA building.

Faculty advisor for the group is John Riebel, who has replaced Bob Barrus as assistant secretary of the YMCA.

Other cooperating states agencies which have copies of the film for loan are: Department of Conservation and Development, Department of Labor, Department of Public Instruction, Department of Public Welfare, North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission, and the State Board of Health.

AROUND CAMPUS

By MARY NELL BODDIE

"Mid-terms" is as familiar an expression to us as "28-Ski-doo" was to Mo and Dad, but did you ever stop to wonder where the "pros" latched on to the misery-lending word?

I have it all figured out. First of all, if you don't study for them your conscience will start hurting you right in the "Mid"-dle of a golf game, tennis match, or other outdoor "sport." Secondly, if you do study for them it involves staying up way past "Mid"-night. And thirdly, you wish you were in "Mid"-ocean when the prof finally hands you the lovely mimeographed questionnaire. The "terms" come in when you flunk the quiz and you are informed that your chances of coming out of the course with a passing mark are absolutely passe.

But on to the brighter side... Gloria Jackson, an ADPi alum from Charlotte, and Lambda Chi Bob Holmes, '51 grad from Burlington, are planning an October 6 wedding.

From the halls of Sigma Nu are still echoing affirmations of a weekend well spent at Wrightsville Beach. Last weekend brothers and dates stayed at the Carolina Yacht Club and were entertained with a round of festivities. On Saturday night Gene Hicks was host for a cocktail party and buffet dinner for the fraternity at the Yacht Club. Following a beach party later that night, the troops returned to the club for a waffle breakfast. Activities were brought to an end on Sunday afternoon with a water-skiing party.

Word has been received at the Zete house that Health Alexander and Billie Moore are engaged. Both are '51 grads.

Summer residents at the ATO house are Don Clausen of Baltimore, Md., and Jack Vilas of Tenafly, N. J. Both are attending the local branch of The Greater University, having transferred from Dook's college.

It seems we have one Tar Heel who has decided to do something about all this hot weather, namely leaving it far behind. Deke Creighton Brinson of Tarboro is leaving tomorrow for Alaska.

Last weekend the Dekes split forces as some chose to represent Carolina at Wrightsville Beach, while other were guests of E. C. Smith at his home in Asheville.

With Dr. Hugh T. Lefler, member of the history department here, Dr. Newsome authored a junior high school history textbook, "The Growth of North Carolina." He also was the author of a number of other publications on history and at the time of his death was collaborating again with Dr. Lefler on a comprehensive history of the State.

Born in Union County on June 4, 1894, Dr. Newsome received his undergraduate training here, where he was president of Phi Beta Kappa, and one of the most brilliant students ever to graduate from the University.

He took graduate work at Columbia and the University of Michigan, taking his doctorate at Michigan.

Funeral services Tuesday were held at the Chapel Hill Cemetery and conducted by the Rev. David Yates, rector of the Chapel of the Cross. No services were held at the church.

(Continued from Page 4) "the most pronounced individualist I have ever known. He was never a member of the Communist party, the arch foe of individualism, and I have in consequence always considered his avowed belief in Communism the perfect antinomy. Had he, as a comrade under the U.S.S.R. published a document comparable to 'Common Sense About the War,' he would have been liquidated. Nothing irked and saddened him so much as to be taxed 19 shilling sixpence in the pound under the Socialist-Labour government of Attlee, Cripps and Company. It was Lady Astor who said (I cannot quote her precisely): 'Bernard Shaw, more than any Socialist I have ever known, was concerned for the rights of private property, particularly his own.'"

Shaw's Credo in Religion. Commenting on Shaw's religion, Henderson says "out of concepts drawn from Lamarck, Schopenhauer, Nietzsche, Bergson, and Butler, Shaw evolved a weird mystic power which he named the Life Force after the 'elan vital' of creative evolution. This immanent force is slowly evolving through aeons—amoeba, orangutan, man, superman, angel, archangel—toward ultimate Godhead. Not long before his death Shaw asserted that his was the only credible religion; but he seems to have been his only convert."

Shaw's own Credo, Henderson says, was this: "I am a resolute Protestant; I believe in the Holy Catholic Church; in the Holy Trinity of Father, Son (or Mother, Daughter) and Spirit; in the Communion of Saints, the Life to Come, the Immaculate Conception, and the everyday reality of Godhead and the Kingdom of Heaven."

Zeta Psi Buddy Wallace entertained for the brothers at his home in Morehead City last weekend.

I know you've heard of "party-poopers" but here is the most classic excuse registered as of late. Jim "Cassie" Cowan left the Sigma Chi beach party at Myrtle last weekend and returned to Chapel Hill on Saturday night because of an acute case of hiccups.

Back in Chapel Hill are Bill and Nancy Burkholder who were married on July 7. Mrs. B. is the former Nancy Iler who was graduated from Carolina last June. Just for the record, they are now living at 124 Bagley in Victory Village.

Customers' Corner

Have you noticed that chickens generally are plumper, meatier than they were a few years ago? The principal reason for this is the "Chicken-of-Tomorrow" breeding program, sponsored by A&P with the cooperation of the poultry industry.

This six-year program has resulted in chickens that mature when they are younger and more tender, and have more meat in relation to bone.

Why don't you try the superior chickens at your A&P and let us know what you think of them? Please write:
