

Dancing Class For Students

Dancing—ball room or square, as you prefer—is being taught free on Tuesday and Thursday nights at Woolen Gym. The classes are informal and free. They are taught by Anne Voorhis of Chapel Hill, a physical education major. "Student interest will determine the type of dancing we teach," she said. Those interested are invited. Class lasts from 7 p. m. to 8:30.

Post Office To Increase Box Rent Effective July 1

An increase in box rents at the Chapel Hill post office, to become effective July 1, was announced yesterday by Postmaster Bill Hogan.

The rate changes will be as follows: boxes that are now $1 per quarter will be $1.50; those now $1.50 will be $2.25; those $2 will be $3; those $3 will be $4.50, and those $4 will be $6.

(Grand Canyon)" and "In the Name of Freedom."

"In the Name of Freedom" is a technicolor film of campus life. It was made two years ago and features students, faculty and other university personnel. Among the shots in it, are some excellent scenes of card stunts at football games.

The films are chosen from the film library of the University Extension Service. Russell Grumman, extension director, urged teachers here this Summer to acquaint themselves with the offerings of the film library. The films are easily procured for interested groups, he said.

UNC Coaches Help In Meets

Several University athletic officials have participated in recent armed services sports events.

R. A. (Coach Bob) Fetzer refereed the all-Army track meet at Camp Jackson last weekend. The all-Navy and all-Marine meets at Camp Lejeune were done by Track Coach Dale Ransom. Football Coach George Barclay was head finish judge at the Lejeune meet and L. J. Phipps, former Chapel Hill judge, was field judge.

This weekend Fetzer will referee the all-service meet at Camp Jackson, starting today. This is virtually a world-wide meeting of the best of the services have to offer in competition. Fetzer was former athletic director and track coach here. Presently he is executive secretary of the Morehead Foundation.

Chorus Invites New Members, Meets Monday

Students interested in singing with a chorus are invited to the rehearsal of the Summer Session Chorus, Monday night at 7:30 in the choral room of Hill Music Hall.

The group is directed by John Park, a University graduate, who has been voice instructor and director of the Glee Club at Virginia Intermont College, Bristol, Va. Tommy Sibley of the Department of Music is the accompanist.

It is hoped that a concert can be given during the first Summer Session.

Voices are needed in all sections: Soprano, alto, tenor and bass, but especially alto. There are no tryouts required to sing in the chorus. "The only requirements are a love for singing and a willingness to come to rehearsal," said Park.

Council Forms 4 Committees

Four committees were formed at the first meeting of the Summer Activities Council this week. They were Watermelon Festival, square dance, community sings, and films on foreign countries.

Next meeting of the council will be from 7 p. m. to 8 Tuesday in the Y. Reports will be made concerning the possibilities of student trips to "The Lost Colony," "Unto These Hills" and the Tennessee Valley Authority. Those interested in these programs are asked to attend Tuesday's meeting.

Camp Tiny Tar Heel Will Have Registration Monday, Tuesday

Camp Tiny Tar Heel, an annual day camp sponsored by the Junior Service League and the Chapel Hill Girl Scout Council, will be in operation for two weeks, beginning June 29 through July 10, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Any girl who has completed the second grade in school through the seventh grade is eligible to attend—those in Chapel Hill or Carrboro.

Activities of the Camp include arts and crafts, music, camp craft, folk dancing, games and sports, nature study, hikes, dramatics, training in citizenship. Credit will be given toward Girl Scout badges. The schedule will be arranged so those girls enrolled in the University swimming classes may continue their swimming during the two-week camp period. Transportation to and from the pool will be provided, and counsellors will accompany the girls to and from swimming classes.

The staff is composed of Mrs. Sam Joyner, director, and trained volunteers from the community to both junior and senior counsellors.

This is a non-profit venture; the only fee required of the campers is $10 to cover the two weeks. Lunches should be brought by the campers and the two sponsoring organizations will furnish fruit juice or milk each day, as well as insurance on each girl.

Camp Tiny Tar Heel is to be held at the Recreation Center on East Franklin Street, with the use of Mrs. Robert Wettach's kindergarten school granted for arts and crafts.

Registration is Monday and Tuesday, 10 to noon at the Recreation Center. At this time, health cards previously mailed to applicants should be turned in.

Further information may be secured by calling Mrs. F. N. Cleaveland at 9-7393 or Mrs. N. J. Demerath at 5106.

Son Is Born To Woodhouses

Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Woodhouse announce the birth of a son, Edward James Woodhouse III, Thursday, June 11 at Watts Hospital in Durham. An eight pound and five ounce, E. J. III arrived at 1:52 a.m.

Dr. Woodhouse has taught at Carolina for 27 years and his political science courses have been the favorite of many student generations. He will retire next year, having reached the mandatory age limit.
