

17 Visiting Profs Will Give Lectures Here This Summer

Seventeen visiting professors, all well-known authorities in their fields, have been brought to the campus this summer to conduct courses in law, political science, sociology, education, and the classics.

Those here for the first summer session are Cora Paul Bomar, M.A., school library adviser, Department of Public Instruction in Raleigh to teach Library Science; Ch'eng-K'un Cheng, Ph.D., associate professor of sociology, University of Hawaii, in sociology and political science; W. Ray Forrester, J.D., dean and professor of law, Tulane, in law; Gerald R. Leslie, Ph.D., assistant professor of sociology, Purdue, in sociology; Norwood Marquis, Ph.D., professor of elementary education, Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, in education;

Robert A. Miller, B.S. in L.S., M.A., librarian, Cornell, in library science; Laurens H. Rhinelander, LL.B., professor of law, University of Virginia, in law; Robert S. Rogers, Ph.D., professor of Latin, Duke, in the classics; Carroll W. Weather, LL.B., dean and professor of law, Wake Forest, in law; Dr. Frank Hames, associate professor of Chemistry, Millsaps College, in chemistry; and Dr. James E. Land, department of chemistry, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, in chemistry.

Visiting professors here for the second term are John L. Chase, Ph.D., in political science; Mildred Priscilla Harrington, M.A., formerly professor, library school, Louisiana State, in library science; W. Page Keeton, LL.B., S.J.D., dean and professor of law, University of Texas, in law; Herbert S. Livingston, Ph.D., Michigan State, in Music; and Carlyle J. Frarey, assistant librarian, Duke, in library science.

Katherine Murray, M.A., supervisor of Guilford County Schools, Greensboro, will be on campus for both terms of Summer School in the School of Education.

Noland Becomes Head of Dept.

Dr. E. William Noland, professor of industrial sociology in the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, has been appointed Chairman of the Department.

Dr. Noland's appointment follows the retirement of Howard W. Odum, who has been head of the department since its founding in 1920, and the relinquishing by Dr. Lee M. Brooks of his co-chairmanship in order to devote full time to teaching and writing.

The department has been for many years rated alongside those at Chicago, Columbia, Harvard, Wisconsin and Minnesota as among the top departments in the United States. Besides Odum, Brooks and Noland, other members include a number of distinguished scholars who have made substantial contributions to North Carolina as well as to social science.

Dr. Noland, 41, studied at the University of Chicago and holds his Ph.D. from Cornell University. He is author of "Workers Wanted" (with E. Wight Bakke) and has contributed more than 40 articles to various learned journals.

FOLK FESTIVAL

(Continued from page 1)

Another new feature will be Prof. Marshall Ward of Balm, who is scheduled to appear at the festival as teller of the humorous "Jack Tales" and other folk stories found in the Blue Ridge region. He has appeared before the North Carolina Folklore Society and other groups.

Richard Chase, who once lived in Chapel Hill, made these tales nationally famous by publishing some of them in "Southern Folklore Quarterly" and in two books, "Jack Tales"

Knapp Antiques On Display Here

The famous Knapp Collection of antique furniture, Waterford glass, Lowestoft porcelain, paintings and other art objects are on display at the Morehead Planetarium.

This collection, which eventually will become the property of the people of North Carolina, came from the exquisite drawing room and gallery in the New York River House apartment of Mrs. Joseph Palmer Knapp of New York, formerly of Mackey's Island.

Mrs. Knapp, who spent many years collecting the valuable furnishings, is the widow of the late publisher of Collier's, the American and Woman's Home Companion magazines, and other publications.

Mrs. Knapp has given the 200-year-old panelling from her living room to the university, and it will be permanently installed in the university's Auckland Museum upon its completion. In addition to her collection, the rugs, draperies and all furnishings of Mrs. Knapp's rooms will be a permanent exhibit in the Auckland building.

ings of Mrs. Knapp's rooms will be a permanent exhibit in the Auckland building.

The antique furniture on exhibition at the Planetarium includes cabinets, armchairs, sofas of Chippendale mahogany, and a clock dating back to 1807.

going on vacation?

take along a new
Kodak Duaflex II Camera
Kodak Lens

Its big reflex finder makes picture composing easy. Takes black-and-white or color pictures - 12 shots per roll.

SPECIAL PRICES

WITH KODAK LENS
$9.70

WITH KODAK F 8 LENS
$15.70

FOISTER'S CAMERA STORE

Home-like Atmosphere

Well-Seasoned Food

Delicious Salads

Wonderful Pastry

DANZIGER'S
Old World Restaurant

"The Coolest Place in Town!"

STUDENTS

SHOP BEFORE YOU BUY YOUR

TEXTS

- We have 'em new, used, and very used— at prices tinged with mercy.
- Now, and all through your college, you'll always get a better deal on used texts at

The Intimate Bookshop

Opposite Graham Memorial
Near the Post Office
Open 10 A.M. to 9 P.M.