

Business Deans

(Continued from page 1)

Professor Hobbs, a member of the faculty of the University of North Carolina since 1929, holds degrees from Guilford College, Haverford College and from Columbia University Law School.

Prior to teaching here, he practiced law in Greensboro. Active in city and county government, Professor Hobbs was a member of the Board of Aldermen of Chapel Hill for many years and is at present a member of the Orange County Board of Commissioners.

He has taught extensively in the area of government and business and is co-author of the fourth edition of "Britton and Bauer's Cases and Materials on Business Law".

Professor Hobbs has done much work in the field of industrial arbitration throughout the South and is a member of the American Arbitration Association. He has been appointed to membership on the panel of arbitrators of the Department of Labor of the State of North Carolina and of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Crash Prevention

(Continued from page 3)

Industrial accidents. Community safety resources will be emphasized.

The purpose of the five-day meeting is to give an understanding of accidents as a major community problem and to suggest means of accident prevention through community action, Dr. Cameron pointed out.

Weaver's Have Baby

Born to Dean and Mrs. Fred H. Weaver on Sunday, July 11: A nine-pound girl, named Margaret Dunn. The Weavers also have another daughter, Elizabeth, 2 years old.

Unassuming Art Prof Gets High Honors Upon Retiring

The highest honor in his 71-year career has just been bestowed upon Archie Daniels, a quiet, unassuming man, who on July 1 retired from the staff of the University of North Carolina Art Department, which he has served faithfully for 15 years.

At a special ceremony held in the office of Chancellor Robert B. House, with members of the Art Department staff and other well-wishers attending, the University conferred upon Mr. Daniels the title of "Honorary Curator-Emeritus of Person Hall Art Gallery" in recognition of his 15 years of devoted service to the University.

Chancellor House presented to Mr. Daniels an engraved certificate bearing the inscription of the citation. The certificate was signed by the Chancellor, by John V. Allcott, head of the Art Department, and by J. A. Williams, personnel officer.

Chancellor House paid high tribute to the retiring member of the University staff, pointing out that his paintings, homespun philosophy, his attractive garden, and his hospitable home had won for him a large and devoted following.

"He is loved and admired not only by the hundreds of Chapel Hillians who know him well, but also by alumni who have come to know him during their student days here," Chancellor House said.

"He is a primitive style artist who paints or draws something that really looks like what he paints or draws. In his home, where many visitors call he has his own gallery in which more than 50 examples of his work are shown."

Chancellor House called Mr. Daniels an "outstanding example of good neighbor and friend and a strong influence in the religious development of the community. He has endeared himself in the affections of the whole community. I know of no one who has more wholeheartedly entered into the life of the community and state."

The Chancellor said Mr. Daniels' philosophy is well summarized in a book "Sunshine and Shadows" which the author hopes to publish soon.

He announced that an exhibition of Mr. Daniels' paintings and drawings, of which there are thousands, will be held in the Person Hall Art Gallery early in August.

Art Chairman Allcott said that "Archie Daniels is one of few people in the Art Department who can sell their paintings." He pointed out that one of Daniels' paintings, a water color entitled "American Beauty Rose", now hangs in Town Hall, New York, being bought by former Town Hall Manager George V. Denny.

Before coming to Chapel Hill 15 years ago Mr. Daniels served in several positions. He was reared on a tobacco farm at Hurdle Mills, Person County, the third son of Francis M. and Frances R. Daniels.

He was educated in the schools of Person County and was active in church work, being a Sunday school superintendent for 16 years. He taught in the public schools two years, was justice of peace, and served for 12 years in the United States government—as postmaster, rural mail carrier, and postoffice clerk.

For six years he was editor and owner of a weekly newspaper.

He considers painting a hobby as well as a vocation. His other hobbies include raising flowers and playing the accordion.

He designed his own home at 318 A West Rosemary Street and did all the landscaping. His small private art gallery is open to the public.

Campus Society

Spencer—The students invited friends and dates over to their big Picnic Supper on the porch and in the front yard last Friday night. About 70 enjoyed the fine evening, the singing, and the great number of hot dogs, sandwiches, cupcakes, and trimmings. Mrs. Buchanan was a most gracious hostess in spite of her broken arm; the girls agreed she was the best among sports!

Kenan—The Graduate Women had their fling at the Formal Dance Friday night. Graduate men and faculty members were invited; the crowd was about 200-300. Cynthia Mendenhall and George Smith were in charge of planning.

Alderman—Great hospitality was shown by the Alderman students Saturday night. Their informal dance was well suited to the cool, lovely evening—and the ladies dressed in their summer finery. The men came streaming from all the dormitories and fraternities, keeping the girls busy on the dance floor. Music was provided by the Graham Memorial Combo.

Community Work Conference Opens

A Workshop on Leadership Training for Community Education will be held at the University of North Carolina July 18-22.

The Workshop will be sponsored by the North Carolina Woman's Council and the American Foundation for Political Education in Cooperation with the N. C. State College Home Demonstration Extension Service and the UNC Extension Division.

Participants will attend group sessions where public speaking, human relations and program planning will be emphasized.

Sessions will be held each morning from 9 to 9:50 o'clock.

Registration will begin Sunday, July 18, at 3 p.m. in Cobb Dormitory. An informal reception will follow at 7 p.m. in the Monogram Club.

The program will conclude with a banquet in Lenoir Hall Thursday night, July 22, at 6:30 o'clock.

—everything from Bunny Hop to Charleston, foxtrot to jitterbug.

McIver and Carr—Sunday Breakfast and Study Breaks have kept the busy students healthy and happy. But with the second session coming up, the Graduate Women's Dorms will really go to town. A hang-up Free Picnic and Dance Affair is being planned for the graduate students and faculty on July 24. So watch for further publicity.

About 75-100 people attended last Sunday's Community Sing on the Graham Memorial lawn. Bob Andrews, of WCHL, dished out the ballads and guitar music; he was ably assisted by Mollie Hough on the piano.

CHOICE BARGAINS

48c or 3 for $1

72c 97c

R for Insomnia

Pocket Books

3 for 25c

INTIMATE BOOKSHOP

Open 10 A.M.-9 P.M.

Monday-Saturday

This Is It Sale

This is the right time to buy the right clothes at the right prices. Save on summer and fall apparel.

Just reduced 225 pairs of summer pants, values to 12.95, now only 3.99

375 pairs of flannel and worsted flannel pants on 1c sale. Pay regular price for 1st pair, pay 1c for 2nd pair

Worsted cotton suits, sanforized, reduced from 32.50 to 26.99

65 sport coats, imported shetlands, reduced 50% to 21.25

47 cotton baby cord suits reduced to 21.99

210 flannel suits reduced from 57.00 to 39.99

All co-ed summer sportswear greatly reduced

Sizeable group shoes substantially reduced

All short sleeve sport shirts from 4.95 now 3.49; 3.95 now 2.99; 2.95 now 1.99

Rayon acetate suits reduced from 35.00 to 19.99

MANY OTHER IMPORTANT SAVINGS WELL WORTH LOOKING INTO

Milton's Clothing Cupboard

163 East Franklin St.