

Carolina Meets State In Second Big Five Tilt

TAR HEELS MAY SHOW NEW PLAYS THIS AFTERNOON

Practically Entire Carolina Squad In Shape For Clash In Kenan Stadium; Both Have Victories Over Wake Forest.

Backed by a week of heavy defensive scrimmage, a Tar Heel team boasting full strength for the first time in a month takes the field at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon against State College favorites to win the 36th renewal of their rivalry.

On the outcome of the contest today rests the probable State championship. Neither team has met defeat by a State team, while both turned back Wake Forest. The Tar Heels won 48-0 while the Wolfpack managed to eke out an 8-6 victory.

Fearing a let-up after the victory over V. P. I. last week, Tar Heel mentors scrimmaged their charges for the greater part of the week. Freshman elevens versed in Wolfpack plays have bucked varsity lineups every afternoon during the time. Satisfied with the new offensive prepared for the Wolfpack, Coach Collins began heavy defensive work Thursday. Defense against passes was stressed as it was shown in the V. P. I. game that the Tar Heels were weak in this department.

In the State camp Gus Tebell and Peck Slaughter worked overtime pointing their charges for today's game. The contest is the most important on the Tech schedule and a win would go a long way to soothe the hurt of defeats earlier in the season.

Following the loss to Michigan State last week, a shakeup was made in the State lineup. Regulars were removed from the first string eleven to make way for more ambitious raw material. The revamped line reads: Gardner and Patterson, ends; Smathers and Lepo, tackles; May and Vann, guards; and Stout, center.

Two Tar Heel veterans are due to remain on the sidelines when the whistle blows for today's game. The regulars, Bill Koenig, left tackle, and Julian Fenner, right-end, will probably see service in the latter stages of the game. Neither have engaged in hard work, during the week, resting while two rookies played in their positions during practice sessions.

An interesting sideline to today's struggle should be the fight between Jimmy Ward and Jim Wagner for high scoring honors in the state. Both Ward and Wagner have garnered five touchdowns during the first half of the season, and both are in the van for the State title.

Ward, a triple threat and a third-year man, opened the season with a bang, scoring twice on Wake Forest and three times on Maryland. Injuries have held down his scoring since.

Magner, on the other hand, started his string of markers with a 65-yard sprint against the Old Liners. Two touchdowns in the Georgia Tech game one against Georgia and another at V. P. I.'s expense brought his total to five.

1929 Tar Heels

Whenever Carolina battles State, that game always assumes the headline on the grid slate in North Carolina. This Saturday's game will be no exception.

The game this week-end will be the 22nd between the two schools. Regardless of the comparative strengths of the teams, the games have always proved hard fought battles, often surprising the dopesters who had picked one of the elevens to overwhelm the other without any trouble. This fall, although Gus Tebell has little to boast about on his team's early season showing, and it is generally conceded that Coach Collins has, there is still the chance that an upset may occur. Witness the game last year. The Tar Heels were admittedly the stronger team and were doped to win, yet they were exceedingly lucky to tie the game. Just another instance where the unexpected happened. State had scored in the first half on a blocked punt. It remained for Maus and Gray to execute a pass on the last play of the game to save the day for the Tar Heels.

This fall the State team has been lacking in punch and has been handicapped by a light line. However, Tebell always has a bunch of tricks and he may spring them again this Saturday. The game will mark the first appearance of the State eleven in Kenan stadium. For the past two seasons the games have been played in Raleigh. The first meeting between State and Carolina football teams was in 1894. That fall the Tar Heels scored two victories by the scores of 44 to 0 and 16 to 0. During the next ten years the State teams were unable to score against Carolina. In 1904, however, they broke through to score one touchdown and tie the game at six all.

Since the beginning of football between the two schools there have been 21 games. Of these Carolina has won 13. Five have resulted in ties and State has won three. From 1905 to 1919 there were no games between the two schools. Since the war games have been played annually. Since the resumption of the series all the games have been marked by exceptionally low scores regardless of the comparative strength of the teams before the battle. The 19 points scored by State in the game year before last is the highest total that has been amassed during this period. The 44 points scored by the Carolina team in the first game ever played between the two teams has never been surpassed.

SPORTS EDITOR PICKS WINNERS FOR DAY'S GAMES

Thinks Kentucky and Tennessee Will Remain Undefeated.

(By Joe Eagles)

Today the Tar Heels meet the Wolfpack in the 22nd game played between the two teams in a series which has been going on since 1894. Seasons records show that the Carolina team is perhaps the stronger both on offense and defense. Carolina boasts wins over Georgia Tech, Maryland and other strong teams, and has suffered defeat only once. State, on the contrary, has experienced a bad year. Starting the season with a scarcity of experienced material the Wolfpack has suffered greatly by injuries and other unforeseen accidents. To date they have won only one battle, that against Wake Forest, a team which Carolina defeated by a 48 to 0 score. Accordingly there seems little doubt that the Tar Heels will win this afternoon when the two teams battle in Kenan stadium.

The Kentucky-Clemson battle brings together two teams undefeated in southern conference play this year. Each boasts an exceptionally strong team. Kentucky has won decisive victories over Maryville, W. and L., Carson-Newman and Centre. Clemson, on the other hand, has won six games chief of which were those with Davidson, Woffard, and South Carolina. The game this afternoon will be close, undoubtedly. However we venture to predict that Kentucky will score a win by one or two touchdowns. In any event one team will emerge from the battle as a strong contender for the conference crown while the other will have its hopes wrecked.

We also predict: Maryland to win over Virginia; Tennessee to win over Auburn; V. P. I. to win over W. and L.; Florida to win over Harvard.

Cross-country Men Meet State Today

Coach Alexander Redfern will bring his N. C. State harriers to Chapel Hill this afternoon to meet the Tar Heel cross countrymen. Both varsity and freshman teams will compete in this meet, the varsity teams running a four-mile course and the freshmen running a three-mile course.

The starting and finishing point for the harriers will be the goal nearest the field house in Kenan stadium. The runners will be started on the south side of the stadium before the first half of the football game is over.

Coach Dale Ranson, Tar Heel mentor, has announced the following varsity lineup for this afternoon's meet: Barkley (captain), Baucum, J. J. Cohen, Lowry, Phoenix, Pierce and Wrenn. Boyce, Purser, Rhodes and Simpson will run with the team, but their scores will not be included in the official score. Jensen (captain), Cordle, Cox, Lewis, Lumpkin, Strikeleather, and Zelly will compose the freshman team.

FROSH HARRIERS ELECT CAPTAIN

Clarence A. Jensen, former Newark prep star, was elected captain of the freshman cross country team yesterday afternoon. Jensen hails from East Orange, N. J., and while in attendance at Newark Prep he broke many scholastic sprint records.

The new captain of the freshman harriers has the distinction of being all-American scholastic two miler. While running in the eastern interscholastic meet at Newark last year he created the fastest time in the country, covering the distance in 10:05. Jensen also placed second in the American scholastic cross country meet in 1928.

A SUGGESTION TO THE GOVERNOR OF NORTH CAROLINA

Let Him Do Tomorrow as the President Used to Do at the Army-Navy Game

SOLUTION OF A DILEMMA

(From The Chapel Hill Weekly)

"Governor O. Max Gardner finds himself in a dilemma this week," says a despatch to the newspapers from Chapel Hill. He is an alumnus of both the University and the State College. Where will his heart be when he comes to the game here tomorrow between his two almae matres? Which team will he cheer for?

I suggest that the Governor do as the President of the United States does at Army-Navy games. Or, rather as he used to do, for the Army and the Navy, having fallen out over eligibility rules, are not meeting each other on the grid-iron now.

The stand on one side of the field was the Army's, and the stand on the other side was the Navy's. The President of the United States sat on one side during the first half and on the other side during the second half. Many a time I have seen the Presidential party—the President, cabinet officers, several wives and daughters, and detectives, with a surrounding fringe of policemen—march across the field between the halves, to the playing of a band and the cheers of the multitude.

Key Town selling -a new telephone idea

Commercial development men of the Bell System have originated a new use of the telephone which is proving economical and efficient for modern salesmanship. From important central towns the salesman makes periodic visits to customers and prospects by telephone.

To conceive this idea, to make it practical by selecting Key Towns on a basis of most advantageous rates to surrounding points, and to sell it as a business practice—all this illustrates how telephone service is as open as any commodity to constructive imagination.

Key Town selling is one of many indications of the steady demand, present and to come, for more and more telephone service.
