GUEST OF THE UNIVERSITY

The University through the courtesy of the Y. M. C. A. will be host Tuesday and Wednesday, February 4 and 5, to Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, founder of the Zionist Organization of America, for a two-day lecture series on Jewish-American subjects. This will be the first appearance of the organizer and present rabbi of the Free Synagogue of New York in any university in the south.

The subject of the first speech to be delivered Tuesday night has been announced as "Jew and Christian; Agreements and Disagreements." His second speech the following morning will be "My Vision of America." Due to the lack of an adequate auditorium because of the condemnation of Memorial hall, the night address will be held in the Methodist church.

Arriving in Greensboro at 9:45 o'clock Tuesday morning, the rabbi will be met by a delegation of the Jewish people of Greensboro. From the station he will be accompanied by friends to a private home where an informal luncheon will be given in his honor.

The same afternoon Rabbi Wise and his wife, who is accompanying him on the tour, will drive to Burlington where he will spend a few hours with Dr. Thomas F. Opie, pastor of the Church of the Holy Comforter of that city. The rabbi will also be the guests of Dr. Opie at dinner.

Following his short visit in Burlington, Dr. Wise will drive on to Chapel Hill with Dr. Opie for his first address.

The next morning he will appear before an audience composed mainly of students for a second speech. Following the address he will return to Greensboro in time to take a train for Culver, Ind., where he is scheduled to speak.

WOOFER TELLS CABINETS OF ST. HELENA ISLAND

Life Among Negro Colonists There Is Subject Of Sociology Professor's Talk To Y. M. C. A. Groups Last Night.

(By Charles Rose)

T. J. Woofter, Jr., of the sociology department spoke last night to a joint meeting of the sophomore and junior-senior cabinets. His talk was based on a study that he had made on the conditions of a negro colony of St. Helena Island, a small island just off the coast of South Carolina.

Mr. Woofter, after being introduced by J. E. Dungan, president of the sophomore Y cabinet, began by saying that this study helps to show what the negro is capable of doing when left to himself. Giving a short history of the island, he told how it had been inhabited by large plantation owners who were driven away by the northern army at the opening of the Civil War, how the slaves of these owners had been left to till the soil, and how the north had taken them over and had put supervisors over them. "Today," continued the speaker, "this island is inhabited by some 5000 negroes and about 50 white people. All of this number are land owners and make their living from the soil."

He went on to say that there are a few old African traits still evident among these people. "Their dialect, however," said Mr. Woofter, "is nearly all English in origin, while their spirituals seem to be left over from a revival wave that swept over the country some time ago."

The speaker stated further that there is no crime on the island to amount to anything, and what little there is is taken care of by a magistrate. This magistrate is helped by a governing body known as the Praise House. This Praise House is a group that meets twice a week and usually disposes of disorders, if any such exist.

The program for the freshman cabinet was taken up with a discussion of the plans for having better programs; many suggestions were made. President Kerfees announced a few of the committees that had been appointed. After a short discussion, the program was brought to a close by sentence prayers.

Committee Selected To Give Winter Dance; To Be Sponsored By Local Societies.

FOURTH ANNUAL AFFAIR

At a meeting of all students in the school of engineering held yesterday during chapel period it was decided that the engineers' dance this year will be given on the evening of Friday, February 28. A committee composed of three members from each of the engineering societies will make further arrangements for the dance and report its progress at a similar meeting to be held at a later date.

The committee consists of C. H. West, J. P. Scurlock and "Chuck" Erickson, representing the William Cain Society; E. R. Davis, D. A. Nims and W. B. White from the A. I. E. E. and J. B. Pittana of the mechanical engineering society.

This will be the fourth of the annual dances to be given by the members of the school of engineering. As in the past, this dance will be sponsored by the local student branches of the national engineering societies.

At this meeting it was also decided that no action would be taken until the spring quarter on the question of holding an open house in the school of engineering. Two years ago the engineers held open house, throwing open to the observation of the public all the apparatus in the engineering school.

Check Committee Reports Decrease In Bad Checks

In a recent report to the dean of students, the student council check committee stated that a total of 637 student checks had been returned to Chapel Hill merchants and business people since the opening of school in September. This number of checks represented an amount of $4,276.07. The number of individuals involved was 292, or approximately 11.26 per cent of the student body. This is compared with the same length of time during the term 1927-28, which showed 773 checks amounting to $6,211.11, and which comprised from 10 to 15 per cent of the student body. The statistics for the term 1928-29 are not available for comparison.

The check committee has been attempting to cooperate with the merchants of Chapel Hill in eliminating the commercial nuisance this year. In a letter of inquiry sent out to 50 business men this fall, it was found that 31 reported no losses, 11 reported losses ranging from three of four hundred dollars, and 8 failed to respond. The total accumulated loss reported from these eleven businesses was $622.18. There is some possibility of clearing up part of this present reported loss, it is said.

In addition to the above, the committee has recommended the use of a blank counter check which should be usable in this locality. This check carries blanks for the names of the towns, the drawee banks, date drawn, registration number, and local address of the student. Fully 75 per cent of the checks returned this year have been so

UNIVERSITY GLEE CLUB DRAWS FIRST AND LAST PLACES

Local Musical Contingent Draws Favorable Positions For Southern Meet.

The drawing for places, to ascertain the order in which various glee clubs are to appear in the southern intercollegiate glee club contest, was held here Sunday afternoon at the Carolina Inn.

Those participating in the drawing were Max Noah, president of the glee club association; J. Foster Barnes, secretary, and H. S. Dyer, serving as president of the executive committee. Troxell Reynolds, president of the local glee club, and Gilles Brown, were present, representing the Carolina group.

The double number-name system of drawing, used officially throughout the country, was employed.

Three separate drawings were held, one for each part of the contest. In the drawing for the choice song group, in which each club sings a selection of its own choice, the order came out as follows: University of North Carolina, Erskine College, Wofford College, Furman University and Guilford College. The order of the second group, in which each club sings the same "prize" song, is: Wofford College, Furman University, University of North Carolina and Erskine University. The final drawing, for the group in which each club sings its school alma mater, resulted in the order: Guilford College, Wofford College, Furman University, Erskine and University of North Carolina.

Thus, the Carolina glee club by chance has been chosen to appear first as well as last on the contest program. It was the general feeling among directors, however, that the drawing will mean very little to the participants, having been a mere formality made necessary by the contest ruling.

The contest will be held in Greenville February 7.
