

NOTED RABBI TO GIVE TWO TALKS HERE THIS WEEK

To Speak On "My Vision Of America" And "Jew And Christian: Agreements And Disagreements."

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, founder of the Zionist Organization of America, will be the guest of the Y here Tuesday and Wednesday, February 4 and 5, to deliver two addresses. His first address will be given Tuesday night at the Methodist church at 8:30 on the subject of "My Vision of America." Immediately following this talk there will be an informal reception given to Rabbi and Mrs. Wise at the Carolina Inn. This reception, being given by the Jewish students at the University, will be for all students and faculty members who care to meet Rabbi and Mrs. Wise.

His second lecture will be given Wednesday morning during chapel period at 10:00 in Gerrard hall. At this time he will speak on "Jew and Christian: Agreements and Disagreements." All 9:30 classes will be cut short 25 minutes so that the speaker will have more time for his address. It was previously announced that this lecture would be given in the Methodist church, but because of the distance of the church from the campus, it was thought that it would be hard for the students to get to the lecture and then get back to their classes without having to cut the talk short. Although Gerrard hall is small it is hoped that many townspeople and faculty as well as students will be present to hear the address.

Rabbi Wise is probably one
(Continued on last page)

WOLF TO SPEAK BEFORE SOCIETY

Professor To Discuss Technological Unemployment Before Taylor Society Tuesday Night.

Dr. H. D. Wolf, associate professor of economics and instructor of labor problems, will speak before the University student branch of the Taylor Society Tuesday evening on the topic, "Management and Technological Unemployment."

In his talk, which is to be the second of a series to be given before the Taylor Society by members of the faculty, Dr. Wolf will discuss the problem of unemployment resulting from technological advancements in certain industries.

Dr. Wolf will cite concrete examples of industries in which the problem of technological unemployment has appeared, and will show how the problem has been met in certain plants where it has arisen.

The Taylor Society, which is an international organization for the promotion of the science of business management, meets weekly on Tuesday evenings to hear talks by faculty members. The programs for the remainder of this quarter is as follows: February 11, Professor C. T. Murchison, "Management Problems in the Textile Industry"; February 18, E. D. Strong, "Long-range Economic Planning in Russia"; February 25, M. D. Taylor, "Scientific Marketing Management"; March 4, Dean D. D. Carroll, "Education for Business Leadership."

Freshman Picture

The group picture of the freshman class for the Yackety Yack will be taken Monday morning at chapel period in front of the law building. All freshmen are requested to be present at the beginning of the period, as the class will be divided into alphabetical groups.

EDITOR, Yackety Yack.

PHARMACY GROUP ELECTS OFFICERS

L. G. Barefoot, President; B. B. Forrest, Vice-President; C. B. Clark, Secretary; and H. M. Dellinger Treasurer.

The University of North Carolina branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association held its regular meeting January 29 in Pharmacy hall.

The main feature of the meeting was the election of the officers for the ensuing year. They are: president, L. G. Barefoot of Four Oaks; vice-presidents, B. B. Forrest, Hillsboro, and C. B. Clark of Williamston; secretary and treasurer, H. M. Dellinger of Stanly.

The organization decided to hold bi-monthly meetings the second and last Wednesday of each month. One of these meetings will be devoted to a student program in which various students in the school of Pharmacy will present subjects of pharmaceutical interest. The other meeting will be talks by the faculty of this and other schools.

It has been the custom of the A.P.A. to bring several prominent speakers to Chapel Hill every year and this practice will be continued.

The branch will be very glad to have anyone interested in pharmacy to attend its meetings which are held in Pharmacy hall.

The next meeting will be held February 12 at 2:15 p. m. The speaker will be announced later.

Mr. C. E. Burwell of Miami, Fla., has recently presented to the school of pharmacy a copy of the U. S. Pharmacopeia of 1890, and also a copy of the National Dispensatory (second edition). These books will be catalogued and placed in the pharmacy library.

Dr. Wager Granted Leave Of Absence

Dr. Paul Wager of the rural-social economics department of the University has been granted a leave of absence by the University until September so that he may serve as taxation economist for the United States Forest Service.

He has just gone to New Haven, Conn., where he will begin his research. On his way to Connecticut he is to stop in New York to attend a meeting of the county manager committee of the National Municipal League. He will return to North Carolina in a few days.

VAN HECKES TO FETE LAW MAGAZINE STAFF

The members of the editorial staff of the Law Review will be entertained Monday evening by Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Van Hecke at their home on Pittsboro road. The dinner will mark the appearance of the February issue of the magazine, which will appear on the following day.

Y CABINETS TO MEET TOMORROW

All Cabinets Will Conduct Forums On Subject Of Recent Speeches.

The usual weekly meetings of the freshman, sophomore and junior-senior cabinets will be held at the Y at 7:15 tomorrow night. A very important meeting has been planned for the freshmen, and the president urges that as many members as possible try to attend. Parson Moss will speak at the meeting.

The sophomore cabinet will conduct a discussion, which will take up all the main points advanced by recent speakers on the negro problem. It has been the habit of the cabinet to have speakers for the first three meetings of the month and then on the last meeting to conduct an open forum discussion.

The junior-senior cabinet will discuss business matters.

After these cabinet meetings the weekly dormitory discussion groups will be held in the dormitories. This meeting of the groups will be the second that has been held this year.

TEXTILE LEADER HERE TOMORROW

Will Speak In Bingham Hall Monday Evening at 8 O'clock On Present Day Textile Problems.

Bernard Cone, head of the Cone textile mills in Greensboro since 1917, will speak in the auditorium of Bingham hall, the school of commerce building, at 8 o'clock Monday night. His subject will be "Some Present-Day Problems in the Textile Industry." The talk will be open to the public.

In view of the keen interest in the textile manufacturing situation in North Carolina, the school of commerce, in keeping with its policy, is bringing to the University men who have had experience in textile milling and who represent various points of view. The idea is to give the school of commerce students, and other persons interested, an understanding of all phases of the industry.

Mr. Cone is a graduate of Johns Hopkins University, where he specialized in economics. After leaving Johns Hopkins he studied law at Columbia. Since then, as head of one of the largest groups of mills in the state, he has devoted constant study to both the manufacture and the marketing of textile products. He is a former president of the North Carolina Cotton Manufacturers' Association.

Village May Have Gas In The Future

Gas for Chapel Hill approached somewhat nearer Friday when the local board of aldermen appointed G. M. Braune, dean of the engineering school, and P. L. Burch, head of the building department, to investigate the feasibility of granting a franchise to one of two companies who have applied for it.

The Durham Gas company is competing for official favor in Chapel Hill with the D. L. Thompson company, a Chicago bond house.

Gas will form a topic of discussion at the next meeting of the city fathers.

COMMUNITY CLUB ISSUES PROGRAM

February Bulletin Carries Complete Schedules Of All Departments.

The Chapel Hill community club recently issued its February bulletin and programs as scheduled for this month follow:

The art department announces meetings of the Sketch Club to work with models in costume on February 5, 12, 19, and 26. All meetings are scheduled for 3 o'clock at 412 Rosemary lane. At 5 o'clock of the last afternoon scheduled, Mrs. John Couch will give a talk on etchings.

The garden club will meet February 19 with Mrs. C. E. Preston at 3 o'clock. Dr. J. H. Beaumont of State college will conduct a round table discussion on horticulture.

The health department is scheduled to meet with Mrs. Ot Stuhlman on February 11 at 3 o'clock.

The home department will meet with Mrs. F. H. Edmister, February 26 at 3:30 o'clock. Early American china will be discussed by Mrs. Ralph Trimble.

The literature department will meet Tuesdays at 7:30 in the Methodist social rooms. On February 4, Mrs. Howard Mumford Jones will review "The Life of George Meredith" by Robert Esmond Fencourt. On February 18, Mrs. Raymond Adams, Miss Nora Beust, and Mrs. Urban T. Holmes will give a program of story telling.

The music club will meet on February 12 and 26 at 3:30 o'clock in the music building. Miss Henrietta Smedes will conduct programs on Russian music.

GLANDON DRIVE TO BE IMPROVED SOON

Glandon Drive, a winding road to Gimghoul Castle, will be improved and be maintained henceforth at civic expense, according to a decision reached last week by the board of aldermen.

Inasmuch as the rule for street maintenance does not permit acquisition of streets not sufficiently improved, the Gimghouls have agreed to spend $300 graveling, surfacing and draining the road, for a length of nearly a quarter of a mile.

At the same time Collier Cobb agreed to spend a like amount improving Cobb Terrace, and changing its grade. This street leads from the postoffice northward, and terminates in a circle. Upon completion of these improvements, Chapel Hill will also maintain it.

Twenty Law Students Pass Bar Examination

As a consequence of the bar examination held January 27 in Raleigh, the following members of the law school have received licenses to practice: Hal Weaver Blackstock, Henry Bane, Millard Breckenridge, Hubert Lynwood Elmore, John Frazier Glenn, Jr., Alfred Waddell Gholson, Jr., Walter Hoyle, Charles Edward Johnson, John Baker Lewis, James Birney Linn, Balfour Thorn Lord, Glenwood Crowder Meads, Francis Ogden Parker, Henry Thurman Powell, Jr., Parker Roland, Neil Sharpe Sowers, Clay Carter Studdert, William David Pope Sharpe, Jr., Young Merritt Smith and Lawrence Henry Wallace.

Russian Symphonic Choir To Appear Here February 10th

Students Requested To Identify Coats

Mrs. Lee, matron of Spencer hall, requests that any boys who attended the co-ed dance Friday night, and who either did not get their coats, or picked up by mistake any coat other than their own, call by Spencer hall and get their own coats and leave those taken through error.

There are three top-coats and a large derby which were left after the dance. The owners of these may get them by calling by Spencer hall and seeing Mrs. Lee or the maid.

BODY OF NEGRO FOUND IN SNOW

Local Coroner Unable To Determine Cause Of Death: Foul Play Hinted.

Jordan Austin, 21, colored, was found dead in the snow Friday afternoon near the New Hope church, nine miles from Chapel Hill.

Coroner S. A. Nathan and a jury of six men, accompanied by Sheriff W. T. Sloan and County Physician R. B. Hayes, were unable to determine the cause of death at a preliminary inquest Friday evening, and planned a post-mortem examination.

A possibility of foul play was hinted, although Coroner Nathan believes that the negro "just lay down in the snow and died." It has not been determined if the deceased man was intoxicated.

Death occurred during the progress of the snowstorm a few days ago, for snow lay not only on the corpse, but beneath it, as well, and the boots worn by the colored man were encrusted with snow, giving evidence that he had walked for some distance through the storm.

The dead man had been employed as a woodchopper, and his body was found by members of a negro family living near the church.

BISHOP DARST TO CONDUCT SERVICES

Bishop Thomas C. Darst, of the Episcopal diocese of East Carolina, arrived in Chapel Hill yesterday afternoon to be the week-end guest of the Chapel of the Cross. During his stay in Chapel Hill, he will be the house guest of the Rev. and Mrs. Alfred S. Lawrence at their home. He will conduct services this morning at the Episcopal church.

Bishop Darst received students from the diocese of East Carolina last night at 7:30 in the Episcopal Parish house. He will have an informal reception at the regular Sunday afternoon tea at the Episcopal parish house. The student vestry of the Episcopal church announces that all students of the University are cordially invited to attend these Sunday afternoon teas regardless of denomination.

Bishop Darst and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence will be the guests of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity at dinner today, and of St. Hilda's Guild at a supper at the rectory tonight at 6:30. Following this engagement, Bishop Darst will have an appointment with Dr. Lay.

Group Replaces Cancelled Ben Greet Players On Student Entertainment Program.

WILL BE IN SWAIN HALL

Program Divided Into Three Parts: Sacred, Classical And Russian Folk Music.

The Russian Symphonic Choir program, which will be given at Swain hall on Monday night, February 10, is one of the regular series of student entertainment programs, having been scheduled to take the place of the cancelled Ben Greet performances. The regular entertainment tickets will admit students to the performance.

The program to be sung by the choir is in three parts.

The first of these will be made up of Russian sacred music. No country today is as rich in this type of music as Russia, due to the fact that the Russian Catholic church has one of the oldest heritages of any of the churches now active.

The celebration of feast days and other occasions on the church calendar have been so frequent that the volume of musical literature which has been created is much greater than that of other churches. The calendar calls for some 250 liturgical occasions annually in addition to the 52 Sundays. Hence, the Russian composers have created an abundance of religious pieces, many of which will be represented on the first part of the program.

The second division is that of classical music, opening with Rachmaninoff's famous "Prelude in C Sharp Minor," arranged for the choir by Mr. Kabalchich, the director. No number will display the marvelous choir begins to sing each selection without any preceding tone being given, as if perfectly trained on which note to begin. The choir begins to sing each selection without any preceding tone being given, as if perfectly trained on which note to begin. The choir begins to sing each selection without any preceding tone being given, as if perfectly trained on which note to begin. The choir begins to sing each selection without any preceding tone being given, as if perfectly trained on which note to begin.

(Continued on last page)

WHITE DOG TRUE TO LOCAL FIRE EATERS

Her grandfather was with the High Point fire department and her mother, Sadie, was for many years the only feminine member of the Chapel Hill department.

Now the granddaughter of the High Point veteran is one of the three paid employees of the local volunteer fire fighting organization. The other two are men, and they receive a crisp check every month for their services.

But the lady gets no check. Bones and a free license constitute the only pay of "White Dog," as the mascot of the Hill fireman is called. Half English Bull and half Pitt Bull the young daughter of Sadie is invaluable.

She has formed a great friendship with the 20 men who fight the fires. She knows each of them, and her job keeps her on the truck during its working hours. Woe betide anyone else who attempts to unwind fire hose or take an axe from the truck, or who attempts to ride to a fire.

In bygone days, negroes had been troublesome, but they are so no longer. White Dog, with one exception, dislikes the colored race—the exception being Johnnie Johnson, a member of the department, with whom she is on cordial barking terms.