SOCIAL SERVICE CONFERENCE FOR N. C. APRIL 13-15

Annual Meeting of Organization
Scheduled for Charlotte; Local Men on Program.

The annual meeting of the North Carolina Conference for Social Service will be held in Charlotte on April 13, 14, and 15. At this meeting a student section of the conference is to be organized for the first time.

The conference was started some 18 years ago by a small group of prominent men on the state for the purpose of studying some of the human problems of the commonwealth and to do all possible to remedy them. Many remedies have been brought about by these men. Some of the things that this group has done is to help child life, create the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare, establish the juvenile courts in North Carolina, abolish flogging in the state prison, establish tubercular prison camps, and do numerous other such things that have been beneficial to the general public. At present this small group of men is a large, thriving organization composed of committees, on which are men well-suited for the type of work that has been assigned to them.

On Sunday, April 13, the annual meeting of the conference opens with a session at 8:00 p. m. in the Baptist church, at which time Dr. W. L. Poteat will be the speaker. Monday morning at 10:00 a business meeting and a discussion will be led by Frank Graham and H. F. Comer. Other meetings will be held throughout the day with such speakers as Dr. Elbert Russell, of Duke University, and Prof. Wiley Sanders of the University. At 8:30 that night the annual address of the president of the conference will be delivered by President Frank Graham.

Tuesday morning at 9:45 a forum will be conducted by Dr. C. C. Taylor of State College; a business meeting will be held at 11:30, and a luncheon meeting will be given at 1:00, at which time Kemp Battle of Rocky Mount will speak. Dr. Baity Withdraws Name for Presidency

Dr. Herman G. Baity, head of the department of civil engineering, who has been prominently mentioned as a possible successor to President Harry W. Chase yesterday issued a statement declaring that he is not a candidate "either active or receptive" for the University presidency.

Dr. Baity's statement in full follows:

"I find upon my return to the state, after an absence of two weeks, that some of my friends have been actively interesting themselves in my behalf for the presidency of the University of North Carolina.

"I need not state that I shall be forever grateful for this manifestation of confidence and esteem. The presidency of the University of North Carolina offers such unique and appealing avenues of service to the state that no right-spirited citizen could be indifferent to its great opportunities.

"I am not, however, a candidate, either active or receptive, for the place and under these circumstances I feel that, in fairness to my friends who have so generously interested themselves in my behalf, this public declaration should be made now."

RECORDER'S COURT HAS BUSY SESSION

Henry "Step-on-it" Brown, local negro, made an unusual request of Judge C. P. Hinshaw in the regular session of recorder's court held Monday morning. When sentenced to one month on the roads for being drunk and disorderly, he asked to be permitted to make an appeal to the audience. The judge assented, whereupon Brown proceeded to ask if there wasn't some good fraternity brother in the crowd to help him out. When his appeal met with silence he shouted, "You all sounds like a bunch of tombstones."

Besides Brown's case, there were six others tried at the session, five decisions being rendered and one case being not proessed. The cases tried were as follows:

James Shelby and Joe Brown, local negro youths, were found guilty of trespass and affray. They were fined one-half the costs.

R. H. Long, white, was bound over to superior court charged with passing a worthless check.

George Hargraves, local negro, was tried on three charges, possessing intoxicating liquor for sale, aiding and abetting in the manufacture of intoxicating liquor, and having in his possession material and equipment for the manufacture of intoxicating liquor. He was found guilty on all charges and was sentenced to eight months on the roads.

The case against E. P. Cates and W. L. Tankersley, charged with maintaining a fire hazard, was not proessed.

Albert Saylor, negro youth, charged and found guilty of stealing 50 pounds of hog meat, was ordered by the court to pay $15 damages.

A meeting of the army troop school was held in Davie hall last night.

INDIVIDUALITY HAMPERED

Routine Tasks Develop and Take Away Independence of Country Lawyer.

"The chief danger to the country lawyer is the influence of the chain system," Kenneth C. Royall, president of the North Carolina Bar Association, said here yesterday in an address before the law school of the University.

"The earnings of the country lawyer are not made by clerical work," he said, "for what pays in law and business is judgment, intelligence, and the use of the brain. As routine tasks develop, independence is threatened. This is the problem of the country and small town lawyer."

The rise of the chain stores, groceries, banks, service stations, and now even chain barbers, was pointed out. The coming of the chain barber shop, Mr. Royall declared, tends to destroy one of the fundamental institutions of the country, curbing as it does the free and time-honored expressions of opinion of the barber.

Public meetings protesting against the chain store will get nowhere, for they are merely gestures. The only solution is to develop a better economic means. As a result of the influence of the chains, Mr. Royall pointed out, lawyer's clients are becoming more and more non-residents of the state. The work is becoming routine. Corporations and big businesses tell the lawyer how and where to gather evidence, what points to investigate, and even supply blanks in title-searching, so that the country lawyer need merely fill it in and do no original work of his own.

In stating the advantages of the country lawyer as against those of the city lawyer, Mr. Royall said that the city lawyer had more chances of obtaining large fees, and a better chance of obtaining prominence, in addition to the advantages of city life.

On the other hand, the country lawyer is able to start practicing immediately, without a period of clerkship, he is in a position of independence, has a far more diversified law practice, and may easily become a man of prominence and position in his home town.

The country lawyer, Mr. Royall stated further, gets a general training. A man who specializes so that he knows only one side of the law, is not a good lawyer, he said. Through the variety and volume of his business, the country lawyer obtains a good knowledge of human nature, and acquires a readiness, ability and wit to meet unexpected situations. Because of his more general experience, a trial lawyer of North Carolina, according to the speaker, will be a star in New York or any other part of the country.

"The North Carolina lawyer relies on his wits too much," Mr. Royall said. "He must be better prepared, and he must have an organized bar association to back him up. Such an association can fix a minimum schedule of fees, prevent lay practice of law by corporations and big
