POST OFFICE TO STAY OPEN UNTIL ELEVEN O'CLOCK

Senator Simmons Telegraphs P. L. Burch That Change Will Be Made After Failing In First Attempt.

The recent agitation for keeping the post-office lobby open until 11 o'clock culminated, after what appeared to be a defeat, in the following telegram, received yesterday morning by Mr. P. L. Burch, superintendent of buildings:

"P. L. Burch, Supt. Bldgs. Univ. Consol. Service Plants, Chapel Hill, N. C.

With further reference to your recent communication am very glad to advise that Postmaster General has agreed to issue order to keep lobby of post-office at Chapel Hill open until eleven o'clock postmeridian. F. M. Simmons."

Senator Simmons apparently changed the mind of the Postmaster General for in a letter received Friday by Mr. Burch, Furnifold McLain Simmons says:

"My dear Mr. Burch:

I am sending you herewith a copy of a letter that I have received this morning from the Postmaster General, refusing the request to keep the lobby of the post office at Chapel Hill open until 11:00 p.m. You will note the reasons given by Postmaster General Brown.

"I regret the attitude on his part but I am not disposed to acquiesce in his decision without some further efforts through another channel. Very cordially yours, (signed) F. M. Simmons."

Negro Charged With Thanksgiving Murder

Chief of Police L. B. Lloyd and Deputy Sheriff George A. Hearne, have returned from Jonesboro, Tenn., where they took into custody Fred Managa, alias Tom Moore, a negro, who was wanted here in connection with the death on last Thanksgiving Day of John Owen, another Negro.

Managa is charged with the shooting of Owen during a dispute over money matters. Managa is being held in the Hillsboro jail without bond pending the next term of the Orange county superior court.

20 LAW STUDENTS SEEK MEMBERSHIP BAR ASSOCIATION

Practically Entire Contingent of Students Passing Recent Bar Examination Apply.

ONE PROFESSOR IN GROUP

Indicative of the great progressive strides being made by the North Carolina Bar Association is the fact that 20 Carolina law students, virtually the whole of the University contingent who passed the recent bar exam; and one Carolina professor are applicants for membership in the State Bar Association.

The 21 applications were given to President Kenneth C. Royall, of Goldsboro, at the conclusion of Mr. Royall's recent lecture before the law school.

Bar associations are recognized by leaders in the law to be doing great things in the way of raising legal standards, and Dean C. T. McCormick of the Law school is highly pleased at the large number of applications for membership from the University.

Prof. M. S. Breckenridge, who came to the University from a northern institution, is the one faculty applicant for membership.

The 20 students are John H. Anderson, Jr., John B. Lewis, Walter Hoyle, Thos. W. Sprinkle, Neil S. Sowers, James E. Johnson, Henry T. Powell, Glenward C. Meads, Henry Bane, W. D. P. Sharpe, Jr., F. O. Parker, Edward F. Taylor, James B. Linn, Odell Sapp, B. Thorn Lord, Young M. Smith, H. W. Blackstock, George D. McDaniel, John Frazier Glenn, Jr., and A. W. Gholson, Jr.

FORMER PRESIDENT BAR ASSOCIATION WILL SPEAK HERE

W. M. Hendren, a former president of the North Carolina Bar Association, and one of the most prominent and widely known attorneys in the state, is to speak at the law school here during the coming week.

Mr. Hendren's subject will be "The Chief Justices of the United States Supreme Court. His lecture will be in the first year classroom, probably Thursday, the exact time to be announced through the Daily Tar Heel by Dean C. T. McCormick.

Mr. Hendren is a member of the law firm which is counsel for R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. He is prominent, besides as a practicing attorney, for his work with the American Law Institute, of which he is a member, which is the organization engaged in restating the law.

FINLEY TO GIVE BACCALAUREATE ADDRESS JUNE 10

Editor of New York Times Will Deliver Speech at 136th Commencement.

FAMOUS AS EDUCATOR

Dr. John H. Finley, editor of the New York Times, has accepted an invitation to deliver the baccalaureate address at the 136th Commencement exercises of the University on June 10, it was announced last night by President Harry W. Chase.

Voting On Enforcement, Modification Or Repeal 18th Amendment Begins

Economics Seminar

There will be a seminar held tomorrow night at seven o'clock in 309 Bingham hall for all Juniors and Seniors majoring in Economics. All students taking Economics 1 or 2 who are contemplating in Economics are invited to attend.

Following steps in formulation of plans and organization undertaken at last week's meeting, this undergraduate Seminar will concern itself with one of three phases of Economics in each of the next three quarters: the field of banking, the field of industry and agriculture, the field of general economic theory.

Tomorrow night's discussion will center about a recent article by Professor Murchison in The Annalist.

TWO LAW STUDENTS GET SCHOLARSHIPS

Announcement yesterday of the appointment of A. K. Smith and Walter Hoyle, Carolina law students, to research fellowships at Columbia and Yale Universities for next year, is the latest of a number of high honors which have come the way of the University school of law.

J. B. Fordham, who graduated with honors last year, is the present holder of a Sterling Research Fellowship at Yale, but Smith's appointment marks the first time that a Carolina law student has ever been awarded a research fellowship at the Columbia University school of law.

Both fellowships carry substantial stipends for advanced research in the law.

Smith, who goes to Columbia, was the student editor-in-chief of this year's University of North Carolina Law Review. Hoyle was faculty research assistant to Professor M. T. VanHecke, and both men were among the leading students in the third-year class.

Nazareno To Be At United Church Today

Alfredo Nazareno will give the first of a series of talks at the United Church Forum tonight at 7 o'clock.

Students Also To Indicate Whether They Drink or Not On Same Ballot.

VOTING TO BE IN Y LOBBY

Poll Similar To Those Conducted By Literary Digest and Yale News; Virginia Also Voting.

Appearing in today's issue of the Daily Tar Heel is a ballot seeking student sentiment in regard to enforcement, modification or repeal of the 18th Amendment and seeking to approximate the number of students who drink. The balloting opens today and closes noon Wednesday. Ballot boxes will be maintained in the Y.M.C.A. lobby until that time. Results will be announced Thursday.

Similar surveys have been conducted by the Yale News and other eastern collegiate papers, while at present the Literary Digest is conducting a poll on the question of the 18th amendment. Considerable sentiment regarding both sides of the question has been aroused by the Congressional hearings on bills introduced to repeal the amendment.

Editor Holder has received inquiries regarding sentiment here. Lacking any expression of student sentiment it was decided to conduct this survey through the Daily Tar Heel.

The ballots will be divided into two sections. The first will seek to determine the percentage of the student body which does not drink, drinks occasionally, and drinks frequently and the second part will duplicate the ballot of the Literary Digest.

A similar survey is now being conducted by the College Topics, University of Virginia paper.

In order to prevent duplication of voting students are requested to sign only their initials to the ballots.

Esperanto To Meet Tuesday Afternoon

As there seems to be a number of students still interested in Esperanto, it was resolved to have a few more meetings of its friends during the spring quarter. Dr. E. C. Metzenthin has agreed to continue conducting classes in this international language, provided there is a sufficient demand for its study. Therefore a meeting will be held next Tuesday, April 1 in 109 Saunders hall at 5 p. m. for the purpose of deciding definitely whether and how long to continue the classes in Esperanto. A general survey of this world language will be presented with a review of the elements of its grammar and vocabulary, after which some definite practice in reading and translation will be given.

All those wishing to obtain information about the principles and aims of this universal language as well as the old friends who want to complete its study are urged to attend this meeting. Copies of the "Esperanto," the bi-monthly magazine, will be handed out to the subscribers.
