

ZANHEISER WILL ADDRESS Y MEN MONDAY NIGHT

Representing Federal Council of Churches; Will Speak On Religious Cooperation.

Dr. Chas. Zanheiser, traveling secretary of the Federal Council of Churches, will be the speaker at a joint meeting of the three Y cabinets tomorrow night in the parlor of the Y at 7:15. Dr. Zanheiser will address the cabinets on the subject of "The Progress of Cooperation Between Religious Bodies." Immediately following his talk, the speaker will conduct a forum for all those wishing to ask questions on the subject.

Dr. Zanheiser, who has been speaking in all the larger universities and colleges in the South, has for the past two or three days been conducting seminars and delivering addresses at Duke University. After making his address here tomorrow night, he will go to Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn., where he is to deliver a long series of addresses and seminars.

This meeting tomorrow will probably take the place of the usual monthly joint meeting of the three cabinets. A discussion will be conducted sometime during the meeting concerning the Blue Ridge Conference, which is to be held this summer from June 14 to 23. Plans will also be brought up in regard to the delegation that is to be sent to the North Carolina Conference for Social Service, which will meet April 13, 14, and 15 in Charlotte. For the first time in its existence this conference is to organize a student section, which is to act as a division of the conference. The presidents of the three cabinets request that all members attend this important joint meeting.

PSYCHOLOGY AND LAW SUBJECT OF DASHIELL'S TALK

Demonstration of Detection of Guilt To Be Conducted By De Wick.

A lecture by Dr. J. F. Dashiell and a demonstration of the much-discussed psychological technique of guilt detection will be the feature of an interesting program planned for the third meeting of the Pre-Law School Association, to be held in the law building Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Dr. Dashiell will open the program with a discussion of the relation between "Psychology and the Law." Instructor H. N. De Wick, who is specializing in experiments in guilt detection, will follow with a demonstration of the psychological technique. Dean C. T. McCormick of the law school will lead a general discussion of Dr. Dashiell's lecture and of De Wick's demonstration.

Psychology is playing an ever-increasing role in legal technique. The apparatus with which De Wick will conduct his experiment, measuring blood pressure, respiration and emotional height of the subject, has come to be almost per-

CANADIAN THINKS U. S. WILL ENTER LEAGUE FINALLY

Sir Herbert Ames Believes That United States Will Join Within Ten Years.

DISCUSSES PROHIBITION

(By K. C. Ramsay)

"I think that the United States will join the League of Nations within five or ten years," stated Sir Herbert Ames in discussing the future of the league with a small group after one of his lectures. He went on to say that the United States would never join the league because of agitation or propaganda, but that in due time would become so closely connected with the league in peace movements, that it would be a very small step for the United States to become officially a member of the League of Nations.

Several persons wanted to know something of Europe's reaction to the United States' staying out of the league after President Wilson had founded the organization. To this he replied that some even predicted the downfall of the league without the United States, and that many people severely criticized the United States Senate for its action after the work of President Wilson. Sir Herbert Ames thinks that America is not as skeptical as it was in 1920 as to the real sincerity of Europe in working for peace.

In a round-table meeting at the Carolina Inn yesterday morning Sir Herbert discussed very thoroughly the Corfu incident between Italy and Greece and pointed out that the league went through a serious crisis at that time. Italy, being one of the five large powers in the league, created a very delicate situation and the council was called upon to settle a very difficult problem. The council voted unanimously to settle by arbitration, and one of the members being an Italian caused many to fear that a decision would not be reached. Within a few weeks the matter was peace-

Ames' Last Lecture Given With Slides

After having delivered a series of lectures and forums here for the past three days, Sir Herbert Ames completed his program here last night with an illustrated lecture in Murphey hall at 7:30.

Tracing the rise and the development of the League of Nations, he showed many pictures of the organizers of the league, including Woodrow Wilson. Several views of the famous Lake Geneva were also shown. The city of Geneva, which is at one end of this lake, is the meeting place of the league.

Numerous maps were also included among the other pictures in the lecture. Most of these maps showed many of the numerous disputes that the league has settled during its existence.

Bradshaw Suggests Light Manufacturing

In an interview with Dean Francis Bradshaw Saturday afternoon a Tar Heel reporter was advised that the possibilities in the field of manufacturing in this state are practically unlimited.

Textiles and tobacco manufacturing and processing are practically the only two branches of the industry which North Carolinians have developed.

Park Mathewson, director of the division of commerce and industry in the Department of Conservation and Development at Raleigh, reports that the state of North Carolina needs diversified industries in order to avoid economic depressions in the future.

The Bureau of vocational guidance at the University here has been conducting an investigation into this field of endeavor for several months and has discovered that there is a need for the manufacture and refining within the borders of the state of asbestos fibre, auto-top material, asphaltum, alcohol, boxes, bags, buttons, bottles, brass, bolts, nuts and washers, broadcloths, cartons, coke, dynamite, glass, glue, gelatine, iron and steel, plaster of paris, lard, lumber, mica, potash, packing material, paper, sugar silks, twine, thread, veneer, wheat and carpet waste.

Dean Bradshaw says, "The opportunity for a capable graduate to start in a small way producing some of the manufactured articles for which there is a ready market in the state is as worthy of consideration as the opportunities for college graduates in the professions and in the well established corporations."

Summer Just Around The Corner Says Weather Man

(By Beaumert Whitton)

The presence of the lawn mowers on the campus seems to indicate that spring has come, but signs are deceiving.

The truth of the matter is that summer is here, and if you happen to be the least bit doubtful, data from the weather bureau station in Chapel Hill shows that Friday old Sol pushed the temperature up to 91 and that the temperature of water exposed to the sun was 81. If that isn't swimming weather and therefore summer, what is?

Besides the fact that Friday was the hottest day this year, the low humidity did its part to convey the impression that it is actually summer. The evaporation for that day was only 1.6, while the usual evaporation shown during the previous three or four days was about 2.0.

During the first part of the week the temperature rose steadily: 65 on Monday, 70 on Tuesday, 72 on Wednesday, 81 on Thursday, and the top score of 91 on Friday. Conditions yesterday morning seemed to indicate that this rise would continue and yesterday, for which no records were available at the time this went to press, may have exceeded the maximum of the year.

A comparison of these temperatures with those of last year shows that the maximum reached Friday was higher than that of last spring on the same date. On April 11, 1929 the highest

NEW YORK CRITIC ADDRESSES STATE DRAMA MEETING

Barrett Clark Enjoins Drama Enthusiasts To Be Provincial Always.

The seventh annual festival of the Carolina Dramatic Association ended last night with a supper for the directors at the Carolina Inn, and the final play production contest and an invitation performance at the Playmaker theatre. The festival opened Thursday afternoon with a preliminary contest and included contests, conferences and lectures Friday and Saturday.

The festival was described by the directors as the biggest thing yet done by the association. The attendance reached approximately 20 delegates from all parts of the state. Frederick Koch, president ex-officio of the dramatic association, stated that the improvement in quality of original playwriting and acting was very marked. "That young people could write plays so convincing, so beautiful as those given during the festival is uncanny," he said.

An outstanding feature of the convention was an address by Barrett H. Clark, dramatic critic and publisher, on "The Advantages of Being Provincial." Paul Green gave a discussion on "Backgrounds for Drama Teaching." Frederick Koch spoke on "Toward a New American Theatre." Elmer Hall, technical director of the Playmakers, gave an exhibit and discussion of stage scenery. He showed a model of the setting he constructed for the recent production of "Death Valley"

Senior Invitations

J. Stacy Grant, chairman of the senior invitation committee, announced to the Daily Tar Heel yesterday that the senior invitations will commemorate the dedication of the new library this year by engraving the outline of the building on the outside of the covers, and will have a picture of President Chase.

Despite the added features, the price will be the same as last year at which time more than three thousand invitations were sold to graduating seniors.

Orders may be placed on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday at Sutton's, Patterson's and the Y. M. C. A. and with individual members of the committee composed of Grant, President Greene, and "Red" Williams.

Numerous requests have already been made for these invitations and a much larger sale than ever before is expected.

JITNEY PLAYERS TO TOUR SOUTH FOR FIRST TIME

The Company Played Five Weeks At Cherry Lane Theatre In New York.

The Jitney Players will present "A Trip to Scarborough" and "The Wonder" at the Playmaker theatre tomorrow and Tuesday nights at 8:30 o'clock. Shepperd Strudwick, formerly a student actor with the Carolina Playmakers, will play the lead in Sheridan's comedy and will also have a role in "The Wonder."

Organized seven years ago by the late Bushnell Cheyney, well-known actor, the Jitney Players have presented performances throughout the New England states and are playing in this vicinity for the first time. This is the second time in over 20 years that a professional group has given such a performance at the University, the Shakespeare Players who appeared here recently in "Julius Caesar" being the first.

These pre-Victorian dramatic couriers are organized after the manner of the old strolling troupes of Renaissance Europe and travel about the countryside in trucks. All of the players have had professional experience.

"A Trip to Scarborough" is thoroughly representative of its period. It partakes of contemporary artificiality of plot and manners and the ever-fresh wit and humor of its day. The costumes which the players use are correct and the settings are sketched in with a purposeful naivete. David Elliott, who plays the part of Lord Foppington, has been accorded praise by critics over the country. Shepperd Strudwick will carry the role of Tom Fashion. Ada Cafagna will play Mrs Calico, and Lovell will be played by Harrison Dowd.

The Jitney Players stayed for over five weeks at the Cherry Lane Theatre in New York where their performances were praised by critics. Willela Waldorf in the New York Evening Post said of "A Trip to Scarborough": "The piece is as much fun as anything we have en-

COLORFUL DANCES FEATURE SOCIAL EVENTS OF WEEK

Sophomore Hop and Grail Dance Are Brilliantly Staged In Gymnasium.

Spring was well ushered in over the week-end, if such may be judged by the number of dances that were given by the social students of the University. Numerous attractive visitors of the desired sex spent the past two days on the Hill, which doubtless gave an added incentive to the much heralded spring fever, the same appearing to be very prevalent at the present time. Linen suits made their appearance for the first time this year over the week-end. Beau Gent will probably sanction this due to the extreme warmth in Chapel Hill, and the ever-increasing proximity of June.

Two dances were given Friday night, showing the confidence of both factions concerning the ever necessary girls at their respective dances. This confidence did not appear to be misplaced judging from the number that were present at each of the dances. The third dance was given last night by the Order of the Grail.

Larry Johnson, with Miss Jerry Lee of Lynchburg, Va., led the sophomores in their hop Friday evening. Ward Thompson, with Miss Mary Lillian Correll of Chapel Hill, and Lynn Wilder, with Miss Nancy Fish of Raleigh, served as assistant leaders. According to the sophs,

DI SENATE WILL THROW OUT ALL USELESS TIMBER

Motion Passed Calls For Audition of Non-Attendees Before Full Senate Tuesday Night.

According to a motion made at the last meeting of the Di Senate, all members of the senate who have not attended at least one-half of the meetings during the year will be automatically dropped from the senate's roll unless they appear next Tuesday to show cause why their names should not be struck off. This motion was made in an effort to raise the standard of attendance.

All members, who are dropped from the roll, desiring to be reinstated in the senate must appear before the group at the next meeting and present sufficient reason to the senate for the absences against them. The executive committee of the senate does not believe that the majority of the members have taken their membership in this group seriously enough, and the main purpose of the motion was to clear the senate of a lot of its dead-wood. All members of this body who do not and have not regarded their attendance as a sense of duty will not be given much consideration by the executive committee, says one of this committee.

It is hoped that many of the members will pay more attention to their attendance at the senate and will take it upon themselves to see that they are present at all the other meetings, or be able to show some excuse for not doing so.
