

Carolina Wins From V.P.I. Gobblers 39-21

Tar Heels Prove Their Superiority In Great Offensive Grid Tilt

Johnny Branch and Henry House Star With Several Long Runs; Captain Hooper and Spear Play Well for Losers; George Thompson Shows Up Well in Tar Heel Line.

Miles Stadium, Blacksburg, Va., Oct. 4.—The University of North Carolina football team came, saw and conquered Virginia Polytechnic Institute here today by the score of 39-21 before a homecoming crowd of 5,000 persons, and broke the Gobblers' record of never having been defeated in Miles Stadium. The Tar Heels also upheld the "homecoming" tradition of upsetting the home eleven before the alumni.

Johnny Branch was the star of the day with his many long runs, his passing and brainy work as a field general. Along with Branch will be remembered the names of Jim Magner and Henry House.

In the Tar Heel line credit is due to George Thompson, tackle, Larry Johnson, end, and Red Gilbreath, center. The entire line was functioning well today, however.

Captain Byrd Hooper and Spear played superb ball for the losing Gobblers and are deserving of credit for their work.

First Quarter

Hooper kicked to Carolina's thirty yard line. Branch receiving, was downed in his tracks.

Branch lost seven yards on an attempted end run, then punted to mid-field. Two short Gobbler passes advanced the ball to Carolina's ten yard line and Harwick took it around end for a touchdown. Hooper placed kicked the extra point. Score V. P. I. 7-N. C. 0.

After an exchange of punts Carolina got the ball on her own thirty yard line and Branch completed a sixteen yard pass to Slusser. Slusser passed to Branch who twisted and wriggles through the V. P. I. team the remaining 55 yards for the Tar Heels' first score. Branch made the extra point, tying the score at 7 all.

Toward the end of the first quarter Hooper made a poor punt, the ball going out at V. P. I.'s forty yard line. Branch, Slusser, and House advanced the ball to V. P. I.'s twenty-five yard line. Magner replaced Maus and on the first play passed to Branch for seventeen yards. House made two yards through tackle and Magner passed to Parsley for a touchdown. Branch kicked the extra point. Score Carolina 14-V. P. I. 7.

Second Quarter

An exchange of punts put the ball on Carolina's thirty-one yard line where Magner circled left end for nine yards. On a fake play, House smashed his way through left guard for sixty yards and a touchdown. Branch kicked the extra point.

Both teams played evenly until near the end of the half when V. P. I. had the ball on North Carolina's three yard line. The end of the half stopped an almost certain V. P. I. touchdown. Score: Carolina 21—V. P. I. 7.

Third Quarter

The Gobblers threatened Carolina's goal with a series of passes thrown by Captain Hooper and advanced the ball to the visitor's five yard line where Carolina took possession of the

Johnny Branch played a wonderful game for the Tar Heels yesterday, returning one punt for 80 yards and a touchdown. Jim Magner and Henry House were powers in the backfield for the Tar Heels also, making many long gains which resulted in score. George Thompson played a very consistent game at tackle.

Captain Byrd Hooper continued to show his superb ability at booting the ball... His punting, passing and running were all very good for the losers.

Duke Blue Devils Swamp Virginia With 32-0 Score

Entire Duke Team Functions Perfectly During Game in Home Stadium.

THOMAS IS VIRGINIA STAR

Special to The Daily Tar Heel

Duke Stadium, Durham, Oct. 4.—Duke University's Blue Devils smothered the University of Virginia here this afternoon by the score 32-0 for the biggest upset of the day on the grid. The whole Duke team clicked on every play, running beautiful interference on the offense, and smothering every effort of the Cavaliers.

Bill Thomas, halfback for Virginia, was without doubt the outstanding star of the game, both in advancing the ball and stopping Duke backs under the shadow of his own goal. The Cavalier halfback got loose from scrimmage once for a run of 58 yards, placing the ball on Duke's 17-yard line, but four thrusts at the line failed to net a first down and Duke took the ball. He ran back punts for considerable yardage several times with a minimum of interference.

Selecting individual stars for the Duke eleven would be a difficult task for the starting line-up on down to the last substitute clicked smoothly and did his part.

Duke Kicks Off

Virginia won the toss up and elected to receive. Bill Thomas took the ball and brought it out to the 35-yard line. The Cavalier offense worked smoothly on a drive up the field, but lost the ball on the 20-yard line by fumbling.

Duke took the ball and started a drive down the field which was only the beginning of the massacre which followed. A series of plays, Warner reverses off tackle, fullback through the line, and end runs, placed the ball on Virginia's 15-yard line. Bill Murray took the ball, ran wide around left end and stepped over the goal line just inside the edge of the line. "Kid" Brewer hit the line for the three yards and the extra point. The score was Duke 7, Virginia 0.

Virginia received the ball again but was unable to make any substantial gains and kicked out to Murray, who was playing safety for Duke. A stiff battle continued for the rest of the period with the ball deep in Virginia's territory. Duke missed a touchdown by inches just as the first period ended.

On the first play of the second quarter the Blue Devils made it 13-0. Neither team was unable to advance the ball for another score during the rest of the first half, and the second period ended with the score 13-0 in favor of Duke.

Second Half

Virginia kicked off to Duke to open the third quarter and the Blue Devils received on their 20-yard line, returning it 15

ANCIENT RIVALS BATTLE ON GRID NEXT SATURDAY

Maryland University Will Come Here To Meet Carolina For 12th Time.

The University of North Carolina football squad stays at home this week to meet an ancient rival. The Tar Heels and the Old Liners of Maryland have been meeting on the gridiron at intervals over a 31-year period, and Saturday will mark their 12th renewal of an argument that started in 1899.

North Carolina won that game in 1899 by 6-0. There was no renewal of the series until the fall of 1920, when Maryland won a 13 to 0 victory. Each year since has brought another of the "dog fall" battles, all close and hard fought, with the margin of victory small, except for last year, when Carolina's star backs won 43-0.

The entire series show the Tar Heels leading in games won and lost by 7-4. Carolina has won its three game margin in the last three years, while Maryland has been upsetting all dope and tying Yale's Bulldogs regularly, 13-13 last year, after taking a 43-0 drubbing from the Tar Heels.

Carolina won by 7-6 in 1927. The Tar Heels jumped into an early lead then the heavens opened and deluged the field, and Billy Ferrell's great punting preserved the narrow margin. Ward, Magner, and the other star backs led Carolina to a 26-19 triumph the next year, and these same backs ran the margin up to 43-0 last year.

Maryland won a 14-6 decision in 1926 in the face of a brilliant 93-yard touchdown return by Gus McPherson, Carolina's sprint ace. Sides and Jenkins, Carolina reserves, rose to victory to lead the Tar Heel "mudhorses" to a 16-0 victory in 1925, and before that it was a nip and tuck series of close games with the tide of victory shifting almost every year.

The approaching contest bears all the pre-game earmarks of another epic struggle. Maryland showed tremendous offensive power in an opening 60-0 win over Washington College.

Chapel Hill Wins From Hillsboro 13-7

The Chapel Hill High School football team won the second game played this year when Hillsboro high was defeated by a count of 13-0. Dick Dashiell, fleet half-back, of the local high school team, scored two touchdowns, while captain Ray grabbed a pass to score the extra point.

Chapel Hill's touchdowns came in the first and fourth quarters as the results of passes from Dashiell to King, Dashfield made the two touchdowns.

Hillsboro was on the defensive throughout the game, the ball being in their territory practically the whole game. Chapel Hill seemed to be able to gain at will.

Dashiell, King, Pendergraph, and McKnight starred on the lo-
