

TAR HEEL TOPICS BEGINS NEW YEAR

University Advisory Sheet Enters Fourth Year of Service To High School Students.

Every student in his senior year in high school is faced by the many problems of his impending college career. What institution shall he attend? What are the entrance requirements? What expenses can he expect? These and many other similar questions somewhat mar the pleasure which he experiences at the thought of leaving the public or preparatory schools. This University has attempted to relieve this situation by issuing to prospective collegians a little paper, Tar Heel Topics.

Tar Heel Topics will enter its fourth year with its November number. It is sent every month except September and October to 10,000 students and parents of students who are in their last year of preparatory school. All such institutions in North Carolina are covered and, too, some selected ones out of state. The paper has won the commendation of numerous superintendents, many of whom use its contents as a basis for chapel talks. No other university regularly issues a like advisory sheet. While it is, naturally, primarily a University of North Carolina feature, there is no insistence that the student come to this university; Chapel Hill data are merely given as the standard of comparison.

The ten numbers of each year really constitute a series of one-sided "chats" which familiarize the prospect with college conditions. The fall numbers deal with the history of the University, famous alumni and the like, with perhaps a word on the value of a degree. The winter numbers get down to facts; they survey the various divisions of the school. One issue takes up the College of Liberal Arts and outlines its three types of courses. Another discusses the profession of law, while still others tell of the library, debating, music, and campus activities. Toward spring a considerable amount of space is devoted to athletics. Then, usually in June, the less pleasing but unavoidable problem of finance claims practically the entire leaflet. The paper quotes the approximate figures and gives many practical tips.

Edward Scheidt, the editor of Tar Heel Topics, has made the sheet attractive by the inclusion of frequent pictures and the careful avoidance of a preachy tone. He has done much to clear away the difficulties facing the high school senior.

METZ RESIGNS AT LUTHERAN CHURCH

Rev. George A. Metz at the conclusion of the Sunday services announced his resignation as pastor of the University Lutheran Student Association. Mr. Metz is resigning this position which he has held for over a year, in order to devote all of time to the study of law. His resignation takes effect November first. The members of the association are extremely regretful that their student pastor finds himself unable to spare the time which the work requires. Services will be continued without interruption pending the completion of new arrangements, as Mr. Metz has offered to serve until that time.

CHEERIOS PLAN TO 'PUT ON SHOW' FOR HOMECOMING GAME

Billy Arthur, chief cheerleader, is expecting the student body to cooperate with him in his plans for a Cheerio section at the homecoming game with Georgia Tech Saturday. He has arranged for students who expect to come to the game alone (that is, without a girl) to secure seats in a special section of the stadium, directly on the fifty-yard line. In order to get these tickets, a student must attend practice twice this week.

Since Grantland Rice is to film the game for his "Sportlight" it is especially desirable that a good show be put on for him and the homecoming alumni. The first practice will be held at Emerson field, three o'clock this afternoon.

Speak-Greet-Meet Week Starts Today

Due to a conflict in the arrangement of the chapel programs, the freshman friendship council did not start its program for the Speak-Greet-Meet Week yesterday. The week's program, however, will start today with a larger variety of speakers and a greater spirit of co-operation from the different departments of the school.

Jack Ward, president of the inter-fraternity council, says, "The plan is good and the friendship council can depend upon the fraternities of this university to co-operate with them in every phase of the week's program."

Last night an announcement of the program was made by Hamilton Hobgood to the students in Swain hall.

Pat Patterson and Ed Hamer will speak to the freshmen at chapel on the subjects of old traditions.

Several years ago a similar program was held at the University and the dynamic Kay Kyser aroused the interest of the students, but the interest in speaking on the campus has fallen off and as a final resort to revive the old tradition the freshman friendship council asks the co-operation of each student on the campus of the University of North Carolina.

Several University men addressed the annual district meeting of the North Carolina Education Association which was held in High Point, Friday. Dr. L. R. Wilson, University librarian, addressed the library division on "The Library's Contribution to the Pupil." Dr. G. A. Harter of the Latin department spoke to the Latin teachers section on "The Times of Virgil." The Social Science division was addressed by A. K. King of the school of education whose subject was "The High School Course and Study of Citizenship." Dr. E. T. Browne of the mathematics department spoke about "Human Elements in Mathematics."

Beside the departmental programs, there were three general sessions in the High Point high school auditorium.

Mrs. Mosher Visits

Mrs. E. R. Mosher, state president of the Aemican Association of University Women, has returned from a visit to the Statesville and Asheville branches of the association.

JOHNSTON GIVES VOCATION TALK

Freshmen Hear of Economic Values To Be Gained From A College Education.

The two greatest purposes of the university were presented by Henry Johnston of the bureau of Vocational Information to the freshmen at chapel hour yesterday. He stated that college mainly prepares the student, first for the solving of problems that present themselves after graduation and, second, by increasing his capacity to enjoy life more fully.

He further brought out the traits an employer usually desires of an applicant. These traits are primarily cultivated during the college days by the activities one enters into. To take advantage of all college privileges, the freshman should try to realize his varied talents and cultivate these from the beginning.

Character above all can be established. A consideration of this and also of dependability, a good physique, personality, diplomacy, elocution, and carefulness is always paramount in either the acceptance or rejection of the employment applicant after graduation.

Student Federation Is Sponsor Of Lecture Tour Through State

The meeting of the students of nine Western Carolina colleges in Greensboro Friday night brought to a close Student-Government Week. John A. Lang, president of the North Carolina Student Federation, seemed greatly pleased with the results accomplished by the week set aside for the improvement of student government and student relations in the state.

Lang and E. R. Murrow, of the National Student Federation, made a tour of the state, visiting colleges which are members of the state federation group, and led the campaign for better student government and intercollegiate relations.

A large number of students throughout the entire state took part in the discussion of student problems and issues and a greater number heard the problems discussed. Lang believes that faculty members and students have been brought more closely together and made to feel that they must work in harmony with each other.

Besides the effort in the directing toward improvement of student government and student relations, a complete survey of student governmental machinery has been made in practically every college of the state.

The week's program began

GROVE WILL PUBLISH ARTICLE IN McCALL'S

Professor Earnest Rutherford Grove of the sociology department of the University and Mrs. Grove are the joint authors of a leading article in the November issue of McCall's magazine. The title of the article is Lost Birthrights.

Professor Grove is an authority on the family, marriage, and childhood problems and has written a number of books pertaining to these topics.

In this article, in which Mrs. Grove has collaborated with him, he tells how children can be instilled with the right habits of work to their future happiness and success.

PLAYMAKERS TO PRODUCE COMEDY

"Importance of Being Earnest" Is Next Presentation Selected.

Professor Koch announced yesterday that the Carolina Playmakers will produce Oscar Wilde's London society comedy, "The Importance of Being Earnest" for the second bill of the year. This play, a highly amusing three act comedy was chosen after much debate by the play committee, consisting of Professor Koch, Samuel Selden, and Ralph Westerman, largely because of its reputation as one of the most mirthful comedies ever written.

The production will be staged December 11, 12, 13. Try-outs for parts in this play will be held in the Playmakers Theatre Wednesday evening beginning at 7:30. As usual the try-outs are open to anyone having an interest in acting or any other phases of dramatics. Copies of this play have been placed on reserve in the library for the convenience of those who are not familiar with the script.

Sigma Chi announces the pledging of F. Michaels and Earl Harlee of Greensboro.

RULE REGARDING QUIZ ABSENCES TO BE ENFORCED

Because of some misunderstanding concerning absences from quizzes, the Registrar's office wishes to explain the manner in which they must be obtained. Unexcused absences, especially among the freshmen, have been numerous since the opening of school, and the Registrar's office feels that an explanation of the rules governing the granting of absences from quizzes is necessary.

In order for a student to be eligible for a make-up quiz, his excuse of absences must be approved by the Registrar, or by the dean of his school, before he absents himself from the quiz. Some laxity has been allowed in the approval of excuses given after the date of absence of the apparent ignorance of this regulation, but from now on the rule will be rigidly enforced.

Rees And Weisiger To Speak This Week

Col. Rees, vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and Kendall Weisiger, assistant to the vice-president of the Southern Bell Telephone Company of Atlanta, will be in Chapel Hill this week to address the civil and electrical engineering students.

Col. Rees will address both the Southern Conference on Education, which will be in session from Thursday, October 30, to Saturday, November 1, and the Taylor Society. The Taylor Society is composed for the most part of engineering seniors taking business administration, and for this reason Rees will confine his talk to phases of engineering.

Weisiger will talk to the members of the student branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers at their meeting this week.

Senate To Consider Jim Magner 'Affair'

The Di senate meets tonight in its weekly meeting at seven o'clock. President Medford states that all senators planning to retain their membership in the society are expected to attend this meeting.

Discussion of the two next bills on the calendar will be conducted. The bills are:

1. Resolved: That the Republican administration is responsible for the present economic condition.

2. Resolved: That Coach Collins was not justified in allowing Jim Magner to play in the Tennessee game.

Fraternity Head Visits Campus

Dr. A. Pelzer Wagener, national president of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity, was a visitor on the campus Sunday. Kappa chapter, the local unit of the organization, was host at a dinner given in his honor, which was attended also by the faculty members of Pi Kappa Phi.

Dr. Wagener is at present head of the department of classical languages of William and Mary College.

Woodhouse Returns Today

Professor Woodhouse of the history department is expected to return to the university today. He has been at his home in Sedgfield for the past few days following his automobile accident.

N. C. CLUB HEARS TALK BY M'RAE

Discussion Centers Around "Shifting Agriculture" of North Carolina.

Mr. Hugh MacRae of Wilmington spoke before the North Carolina Club last night at 7:30 o'clock in Bingham hall. The subject of his address was Shifting Agriculture, with special reference to North Carolina.

Mr. MacRae is one of the leading business men of the state, with varied financial interests. He is one of the largest and most successful farmers in the state, and is a close student of our agricultural life and problems. He is serving this year as president of the North Carolina Conference for Social Service and is Acting Chairman of the Southeastern Council. Mr. MacRae lead off in the Agricultural Program of the North Carolina Club.

The North Carolina Club is composed of students and faculty members who are interested in the economic and social life of the state. Membership is open to the student body. An organization was perfected at the first meeting last night. The Club was started in 1914 by Dr. E. C. Branson. The programs have been very instrumental in improving economic and social conditions in the state. President Graham was the first president of the North Carolina Club. You are invited to join the Club and to attend its bi-weekly meetings. The speakers for the year are all outstanding leaders in North Carolina, including J. W. Harrelson and Governor O. Max Gardner.

MOTION PICTURES WILL BE SHOWN EACH WEDNESDAY

Beginning Wednesday night a motion picture will be shown in the lecture room of Venable hall each Wednesday. The first picture, to be shown tomorrow night, starts at seven thirty o'clock, and consists of five reels. The first two reels are on the subject of waterpower, and were made in co-operation with the Westinghouse Electric Company. They should be of particular interest to persons interested in hydraulics. The next three reels are entitled "Open and Shut" and were made in co-operation with the Crane Company of Chicago. These reels deal with all kinds and all sizes of valves. The public is cordially invited and there is no admission charge.

Phi Has Medley Of Bills On Calendar

With a medley of resolutions on the calendar for discussion, the Phi Assembly will convene for its regular weekly meeting in the Assembly chamber of New East Building tonight at 7:15.

The bills on the calendar for discussion by the Phi are:

Resolved: that the Phi Assembly go on record as favoring the resolution that all bus and transfer companies be required to build and maintain roads of their own.

Resolved: That the present high tariff is the cause of the business depression in the United States.

Resolved: That, in voting, the party should be considered rather than the man.
