

ALBRIGHT TALKS TO FRESHMEN AT CHAPEL MEETING

Mayne Albright, student council representative of the senior class, delivered a short talk to the freshmen in chapel yesterday morning on the proper relationship that should exist with Duke. "Rivalry is natural," said Albright, "but it should be fruitful. A better spirit must be encouraged between the two institutions for the welfare of both."

The trophy to be presented to the captain of the winning team by the captain of the losing team for the first time this year is expected to increase the mutual good feeling between the two schools. This cup is to be offered by the representatives of the senior class of both Duke and Carolina and is to change over into the winner's possession each year to be kept until the next year's game.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI PLEDGES NINETEEN

Russell Foster, Jr., Wilmington; Clyde Owen, Winter Haven, Florida; P. C. Idol, High Point; W. A. Lane, Monroe; Frank Bennett, Wadesboro; B. C. Prince, Norfolk, Virginia; J. W. Peacock, Wilson; Robert Hanscome, Washington, D. C.; J. G. Stikeleather, Asheville; E. S. Mann, Lake Landing; McBride Fleming-Jones, Chapel Hill; Robert W. Drane, Jr., Florence, Alabama; John S. The Moocher

You know the type. You see them and talk with them every day. Some act just as ordinary as usual, while others are all sugar and sweetness as they await their chance to beg for lecture notes, reading notes, or already-written experiments.

The moocher is an artist in concocting excuses for failure of preparation. As a rule, he has had so much more work to do than anyone else that it really is not his fault that he must mooch his notes or experiments. He just has not had time to get them all.

You have seen the student who has been given at least two weeks for a certain amount of outside reading, yet the night before an examination he had not been inside of the library. In panic he runs to his more conscientious fraternity brother and pleads with tears in his eyes for a chance to see the other's notes. To climax the incident, the moocher goes to class the next day with Lady Luck, takes the quiz, and makes a better score than his aide.

Friends of German Will Meet Sunday

As in former years, the Friends of German are to meet Sunday afternoon from four to six at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Metzenthin, 402 Hillsboro street.

For some time, it has been the custom of the many students of German, and of former students whose interest in things German still continue, to meet on the first Sunday of every month. Everyone is invited, and the songs, entertainments and light refreshments that have marked each of the meetings will again be part of Sunday's meeting.

The only requirement for attendance will be a desire to speak German and a willingness to struggle along with it as best one can. The subjects to be discussed will be those which relate to Germany and the Germans, and everything will be discussed from the viewpoint of an American student traveling in Central Europe.

expect from Carolina. The first two days of this week's work saw the Devils being crammed full of new plays and formations which were given test in scrimmage with a strong reserve eleven furnishing opposition.

In giving only a small amount of work on the defensive it is evident that the Duke coach is taking into serious consideration the fact that in nine games only four touchdowns have been scored against the Devils.

The grind that the Blue Devils have gone through in making football history for any Blue Devil grid outfit, has told on the Duke line. They started the season with an average of 139 1-2; now they average 136 1-2. The backfield is holding its own at 172 pounds.

Bill Murray, Duke's brilliant halfback, needs to gain only 18 points in the Carolina game to put him at 1,000 yards gained from running plays during the season. He has run 174 times for 982 yards, an average of nearly six yards per trip. Brewer has run 108 times for 763 yards.

SPORT SLANTS

As the pass that Don Hyatt caught in the Duke Wake Forest game was described as an impossible play from the standpoint of gridiron etiquette, so was the Dodd-Hackmann aerial maneuver up at Knoxville several weeks ago. That, and that alone, defeated Carolina numerically, but there is little doubt that the Tar Heels gained a moral victory.

None anticipated such a demoralizing upset in the Davidson game. The Wildcats lunched on raw meat and then went out and wiped up the Heels by excellent football plus spirit. Davidson deserves the glory of that victory for she earned it in a noble style, but it cannot be denied that a quality of spirit was lacking in the Carolinians' ranks that day.

A letter from Kay Kyser appearing in the Tar Heel today states that that dynamo of enthusiasm will be unable to lead the rejuvenated Cheerios Saturday. Some associate stated that the game should be called off on this account, for what would a Carolina-Duke game be without Kay? We recommend a demonstration similar to that prior to the Virginia game last week, with torch light parades, speeches and a tea party later for that portion of the student body who would shudder at appearing in the crowd with delicate monacles and ivory headed walking sticks, which dontchaknow, would be endangered in the midst of such a rabble as an enthusiastic pep meeting.

Flying Circus Here

The Brinton-Bayles flying circus will be in Chapel Hill Saturday and Sunday. According to its agents, "nationally known pilots will give the greatest exhibition of acrobatic and thrilling flying ever shown." Admission and parking will be free.

Carolina Debaters Lose To N. C. State

Carolina debaters representing the affirmative side of the query: Resolved: that the nations should adopt a policy of free trade, lost to N. C. State Tuesday night by an audience vote in Raleigh. It was the exchange debate for the one held here November 25, when the State affirmative team defeated the Carolina negative on the same subject. D. M. Lacy and R. A. Merritt debated for Carolina in the Raleigh contest.

No Debate Meeting

The debating squad will not meet tonight on account of the Di senate dinner at which Judge John J. Parker is to speak. However, there will be a short but very important meeting Thursday night, December 11.
