

ALUMNI CONSIDER BREACH BETWEEN TEACHER-STUDENT

Alumni Assembly and Faculty Deliberate at Banquet at Inn.

The Assembly meeting of the General Alumni association was well attended last evening at the Carolina Inn. The general problem of discussion was "What has Happened to the Relation Between Teacher and Student At the University." Members of the University faculty discussed points in connection with this problem.

There was much lively discussion among the more than one hundred representatives of alumni chapters scattered over this state and others. It is considered a noteworthy fact by many that on the eve of a big football game the alumni should come together to consider seriously problems existing between the student and the professor. It would indicate that the alumni are deeply interested in the problems of their Alma Mater.

W. T. Shore, of the class of 1905 and president of the Alumni Association, presided over the dinner which opened the meeting.

President-elect Graham in his introductory remarks showed the necessity of a progressive attitude of the state toward its educational program. He expressed the opinion that the University can not elect to follow a program of educational retrenchment. In the future the State must strive to maintain the high standards of education to which it has climbed to thus far.

R. B. House, executive secretary of the University, presided over the discussion for the evening.

Dean D. D. Carroll, of the school of commerce, chose as his talk "The Deans' Office." In this he described a typical day in a dean's office, when students come in to see the Dean about their life work, the best cure for boils, whether or not to drop a course, or hundreds of other similar problems. The dean's office is an intermediary between the faculty and the student, says Mr. Carroll.

Francis F. Bradshaw, dean of students, asserted that one of the most important functions of the University was personal advice to the students.

Dr. English Bagby, of the Psychology department, pointed out the advantage of teaching the student better study methods for the daily preparation of their work. In conclusion to his address Dr. Bagby gave several examples of cases handled here.

This morning at breakfast, nine o'clock, in the Carolina Inn the board of directors will hold a short meeting.

At ten-thirty this morning the association will hold a routine meeting for the purpose of making their annual reports and nominating men for next year's offices.

McNAMEE AMONG GAME VISITORS

Graham McNamee, world famous radio announcer, and Mrs. McNamee will be the guests of President Frank P. Graham in the official box at the Duke-Carolina game today. Mr. McNamee is generally thought to be the outstanding sports announcer of the decade. He has announced the World Series numerous times and has been engaged to broadcast such football classics as the Fordham-West Virginia game, the University of Southern California-University of Pittsburgh contest, and other nationally important sporting events.

Two Plays To Be Produced Monday

Dramatic talent has been exceptionally productive in the local playwriting course this past fall. In fact, so much so that an especial device by way of studio productions has had to be introduced in order to relieve the congestion formed from the abundance of effort. Through this procedure, which calls for the production and presentation of a play before an invited audience consisting mostly of critics, and experienced "flaw-finders," a play, if it escapes alive, is well prepared to take a chance with an audience in the Playmakers Theatre and elsewhere.

A few plays have already been exposed to the treatment. Git up and Bar the Door was the first, to profit by the pre-natal massage. Last week Irene Fessler's Ever Snitch was so tried and although it received, in general, many justified compliments numerous faults in its construction were detected. The play concerns fisherfolk in Nag's Head with a humorous plot built around the age-old "eternal triangle" theme. In the production, Donald Wood acted the part of Henry Jeffcoat, a fisherman, Gertrude Wilson Coffin, acted Huldy, his wife, and Mary Griffith, Philip Millhouse, and D. D. Carroll, Jr., took the parts of Mrs. Bickles, Tom Gatlin, and the widow's boy, respectively.

The Desert Shadow and The White Senorita, two one-act plays by Laurabelle Dietrich of Hollywood, California, are now undergoing the last finishing touches prior to their studio presentation next Monday evening. Both these plays have a distinctive quality that entitles them to a place apart from the ordinary run of single act dramas. The first, a psychoanalytical drama, is of a young wife's fighting attempt to overcome the fear of a desert. The second is a romantic drama dealing with an American flapper's struggle to retain her sweetheart's affection in competition with the beautiful Spanish senorita.

The following casts have been selected for these two plays: The Shadow of the Desert—Barbara LaMont, Ellen Stewart; Joan Hilliard, Margaret Vale; Edward P. Page, M. D., William Harris; Holt Hilliard, Henry Wood, III. For The White Senorita—Kenneth Galloway, Henry Wood, III, Dolores Fernandez, Margaret Vale; Patricia Ravenelle, Elizabeth Perrow; Mrs. Galloway, Bess Jones Winburn.

'BAMA COACH SEES TEAM PLAY ONCE

University, Alabama, December 4.—A coach who has seen his team play only once, and that on Thanksgiving, is Tiny Hewitt, one of the backfield mentors of the University of Alabama.

After drilling with the 'Bama backs all week, Hewitt packs his grip and goes about scouting Alabama opponents.

VALENTINE TO EXHIBIT NEW BIRD COLLECTION

Dr. J. M. Valentine will exhibit at 4 p. m., Wednesday, December the tenth the birds recently added to the collections of the department of Zoology. The exhibit will be made on the second floor of Davie Hall, main entrance.

CAMPUS INTEREST IN BATTLE RUNS HIGH AT MEETING

(Continued from preceding page)

will be playing their last games today, and will be fighting hard to help turn in another victory over Duke. The Tar Heels playing their last game are: Captain Strud Nash, Jim Magner, Jimmy Maus, Pete Wyrick, Chuck Erickson, and Henry House, the bulk of Carolina's "hundred backs"; Ned Lipscomb, second all-southern center; Ellis Crew, tackle; Aubrey Parsley and Shields Tabb, ends; and possibly George Thompson, who is eligible for another year, but is a senior.

Duke loses five after today's game, Bill Murray, Buz Rosky, Captain Davis, Hayes and Rupp being the ones to don their uniforms for the last time.

Team Takes Light Workout

The Carolina team took its final workout before the game yesterday afternoon after the Reserves-Kiski prep game, and retired to the field house early. The work was concentrated on signal drills, returning kick-offs, and calisthenics.

The Duke outfit is expected to come over this morning late and stay at the field house until time for the game. Probable lineups as announced last night by the rival coaches were for Carolina: Walker and Brown or Parsley, ends; McDade and Thompson, tackles; Fysal and Blackwood, guards; Lipscomb, center; Branch, quarterback; Captain Nash and Magner, halfbacks; and House, fullback; for Duke: Rosky and Hyatt, ends; Captain Davis and Bryan, tackles; Werner and Taylor, guards; Mullen, quarterback; Murray and Mason, halfbacks; and Brewer, fullback.

Baley Beats McKee In Tennis Final

Jim Baley of the first year law class won the upperclassman tennis tournament yesterday afternoon by defeating Billy McKee in the final round 7-5; 6-3.

Baley had to make an uphill battle in both sets, but by steadiness and good head work was able to even the scores and then go on to win. McKee led 4-0 in the first set and led again 2-0 in the second, but was unable to play through for the deciding games.

Selection of All-State Teams Hangs On Duke Encounter

The two high-scoring teams in the state clash for the Big Five title here Saturday, and the result may go far toward telling whether Murray, Brewer and Company of Duke or Captain Nash, Branch, Magner, Slusser, House and the other Tar Heels form the strongest backfield in the Big Five. It may have a lot to do with who'll make the all-state teams too.

Intensity of Battle Makes Cripples Rise from Beds

The intensity of the Carolina-Duke rivalry to be renewed here Saturday is shown by the fact that it makes the cripples rise from their sick beds. Last year halfbacks Magner, Erickson and Slusser of Carolina were suffering with a bad leg, a broken finger, and a broken nose, respectively; yet every man asked and got permission to play against the Devils.

BLUE DEVILS TO UNLEASH VARIED ATTACK IN GAME

(Continued from preceding page)

lor, guards; and Adkins, center. The power of the Duke offensive depends on the functioning of the linemen. Davis and Rosky will be in their last game.

Three of Duke's backs were famous in high school circles: Murray was an all-state fullback from Rocky Mount; Brewer an all-state half from Winston-Salem; and Mason an all-state and all-southern back from Charlotte.

In the line Hyatt was an all-state back from Waynesville; Bryan played at Winston-Salem; Davis' home is in Waynesville; and Adkins played for Durham high school.

Big Pep Meeting at Duke

The biggest pep-session of the year was held by Duke students tonight in Page auditorium. Student bodies of the two universities will stage a cheering contest of their own while the title-settling contest is in progress.

Duke's 65-piece band will accompany the largest delegation of students ever to leave the campus for an out-of-town game.

Coach Jimmie DeHart will send his last Duke squad into action on Saturday, and the loyal members of his team are for this reason among others ready to break a leg for their little mentor.

Prep Team Unable To Develop Scoring Punch

(Continued from preceding page)

in the final quarter was abruptly terminated when Brandin, center, made a bad pass from center to Dutrich after the latter had hurtled around end for thirty yards to the ten. Bridges broke through to recover the pass which floated far above Dutrich's head to the thirty-six yard line. On two successive plays following Daniels and Bridges took passes to the seven yard line, but there, for some reason, the aerial scoring track was abandoned and the Heels took to line plunges.

Reserves	Kiski
Cole	Blissman
Smith	L. E.
Philpot	L. T.
Allen	L. G.
Donovan	C.
Alexander	R. G.
Bridges	R. T.
Moore	R. E.
Croom	Q. B.
Daniels	L. H.
McNeal	R. H.
	F. B.

Carolina substitutions: Lasater, Thompson, Reinshuff; Kiski: Wisenbaugh, Shaw, Cobar.

TAR HEEL PICKS CAROLINA TEAM TO DEFEAT DUKE

(Continued from preceding page)

ton. So it looks like the Tar Heels have the best team on paper. Although Duke has been very successful this season, a fast charging line will spell disaster for them. For example, Wake Forest's line out played and outcharged Duke's forward wall, and Duke was fortunate in obtaining a tie; this was largely due to the double and triple reverses that the Dukemen use in their system of play. The Tar Heels are a more versatile club than the "Millionaires." Duke's attack is largely confined to the ground and very little passing is done. Moreover the Tar Heels have better punters than Duke. But the greatest advantage for Carolina is the fact that the Blue Devils have not won in such a long time. Undoubtedly there is a slight inferiority complex hovering over the Duke squad when they meet Carolina; on the other hand, North Carolina may take too much for granted, and what have you? At any rate the fighting Tar Heels are in rare form and should send DeHart's boys back to the "Woods of Durham" still seeking the Golden Fleece.

Down in Jacksonville, Fla., Tennessee and Florida meet in one of the most evenly matched games of the year. Both teams are powerful and have had very successful seasons, but the hot climate should favor the 'Gators. All things have an ending, and Notre Dame's remarkable winning streak may end today at Los Angeles. Rockne's men looked pretty bad against Army, and Southern California appears to be much stronger than the West Point aggregation. The Ramblers have lost the services of their fullback, Moon Mullens, who was injured in the Army game. The Trojans appear to have a heavier and stronger line than the Irish, while the two backfields seem to be about even.

Ernie Picknert, the Trojan's great back, averaged 13 yards every time he carried the ball in the California game, and is one of the finest backs in the country. Duffield, Apsitt, Musick, Mohler, and "Chick" Shaver are some of the other backs Howard Jones is counting on against "Rock's" boys. Ralph Wilcox and Arbelbide, ends, are considered the cream of the West Coast's wingmen. The long train ride will not do Notre Dame any good; nor will the hot California sun put drive and energy in the South Bend players. Also the Trojans have been defeated once whereas Notre Dame has marched through their schedule undefeated so far which will place them under a terrific strain. All in all it looks like such Irishmen as Schwartz, Carideo, Jaskwich and Kosky will have the championship cup dashed from their lips just as they were preparing to drink it.

Georgia Tech should be an easy mark for Georgia, but—! It is interesting to note that Alexander kept his stars under wraps the greater part of the Florida game. Then too, the game is being played at Grant field where the Yellow Jackets are always hard to down. Nevertheless, Georgia's stronger line and backfield should give them a victory over their ancient rivals.

Georgia Tech should be an easy mark for Georgia, but—! It is interesting to note that Alexander kept his stars under wraps the greater part of the Florida game. Then too, the game is being played at Grant field where the Yellow Jackets are always hard to down. Nevertheless, Georgia's stronger line and backfield should give them a victory over their ancient rivals.

Watch This Column Daily

Each day two names will be placed in this column. Each person whose name appears will be given a guest ticket to the Carolina Theatre.

JOSEPH M. SCIENCK PRESENTS
"THE BAT WHISPERS"
ROLAND WEST'S PRODUCTION WITH CHESTER MORRIS
A man and a girl pit their brains against the sinister mind of an arch criminal who has baffled the greatest detectives.

Other Features
Our Gang Comedy "Teacher's Pet"
A Crazy Kat Novelty "The Old Flame"
Special Morning Show Today at 10:30

CAROLINA THEATRE

J. C. WOOD

SANDWICHES

Don't forget to stop and get a hot sandwich on the way to Durham after the Duke-Carolina game. Carolina-Duke Service Station (on the Durham-Chapel Hill road). Steward C. Rigsbee, Mgr.

LOST

Between Pritchard - Lloyd Drug Store and Smoke Shop a ladies wrist watch with black bracelet. Return to 408 E. Rosemary Street and receive reward.

CALVIN TODD

FOR SALE

Essex car; sport model; $75. George Bason, 501 E. Franklin Street. Phone 5821.

A
Turkey Dinner
FOR 50c
SATURDAY — 12 to 1:30
Bring Your Friends to
Mrs. Wendley's

FANCY ICES SHERBETS
DURHAM ICE CREAM CO., Inc.
"Blue Ribbon"
Ice Cream
DURHAM, N. C.
"Won Its Favor By Its Flavor"
BLOCKS PUNCH

9-12

DANCE TONIGHT

Washington Duke Hotel

Music By Jelly Leftwich

Script