COMMITTEE WILL CONSIDER GRANT FOR UNIVERSITY

Hearing Set for Next Wednesday to Thrash Out Appropriations Problem.

Consideration of higher education in the state again came before the joint appropriations committee of the General Assembly Thursday with the announcement that the committee had tentatively set next Wednesday as the date for thrashing out provision for the appropriation to the University.

The chief item relating to higher education in the committee's activities Thursday was a recommendation for sweeping changes in state teacher-training colleges made in a report by a sub-committee appointed to investigate duplicating functions of the institutions.

May Transfer Geologist

Another recommendation concerning the University, which was announced Thursday, proposes to transfer the office of state geologist from Raleigh to the Chapel Hill division of the Greater University with the $4,645 annual appropriation for the office coming to the University.

Consideration of the University's appropriation Wednesday, the day tentatively set, is expected to take the form of discussion and drafting part of the appropriations bill regarding the University. The session will probably be conducted behind closed doors and the results will not be announced until the end of next week when presentation of the full bill is expected.

The recommendation regarding the teachers' colleges was

Comprehensive Examinations Give Students Responsibility In Work

Educators Throughout Country Hold Comprehensives as Important Because They Encourage College Men to Cooperate With Professors in Discussions and Conferences.

Comprehensive examinations, popularly considered one of the blacker moments of the senior year, have been introduced into leading American universities in an attempt to give students a more responsible attitude to their work. They are also aimed at effecting greater correlation between the individual courses comprising a major subject.

Contrary to a widespread rumor, comprehensive examinations at the University will not be discontinued. A flat denial of the likelihood of any such move was issued yesterday from the office of the college of liberal arts. As officials feel that since their founding in 1928, the tests have proven most successful, the system will be maintained with increased activity and rigor.

Nationally Approved

Educators throughout the country hold comprehensives as singularly important. At the last meeting of the American association of collegiate registrars, this development of the past decade was emphasized as the most significant of recent innovations in the field of higher education.

The present system in the University requires seniors in the college of liberal arts and the commerce school to pass to the satisfaction of the head of the department a comprehensive examination in their field of major study during their senior year. However, a student must have completed five courses in his chosen department before he is eligible to take the examination. They are given four times a year, once during each quarter of the regular term and once during the summer session. A student is given three opportunities to pass and if he fails to pass in all of these trials, his degree is withheld.

The heads of the respective departments prepare the questions with the assistance of the other departmental professors for the tests are devised to cover the entire range of the subject. A committee from each department grades the papers.

Reduced Failures

The fact that the number of failures has steadily decreased since the establishment of this system has justified its existence and points to its acceptance as a permanent part of graduation requirements. An attempt is being made this year to give

FORUM LECTURE DATE POSTPONED TO NEXT FRIDAY

Rippy and Herring Will Discuss Latin American Relations at Meeting February 24.

Due to a conflict in calendar arrangements with the scheduled Beard lecture series here next week, the seventh Open Forum Discussion has been postponed to Friday, February 24. Dr. Fred Rippy, professor of history at Duke University, and Dr. Hubert Herring, director for the Council for Cultural Relations with Latin America, will lecture. The topic is "America In An Interdependent World."

An "American" in the continental sense, Dr. Herring is noted for the good work he has accomplished in keeping relations between the United States and the countries to the south of us on terms of cordiality. Herring is perhaps best noted for his activity in promoting goodwill between the United States and Mexico during the tense days preceding the Morrow mission. In constant touch with the Mexican problem, Herring contends that our large volume of trade with Latin America makes the problem of peaceful relations with the southern countries as important as relations with Europe. This contention is based on a recent declaration by Washington authorities that "Mexican affairs may take a turn for the worse in the next few months."

Appears Before Committee

President Frank P. Graham of the University was a member of a group which appeared before the House judiciary committee No. 1 Thursday afternoon to speak against the criminal syndicalism bill proposed by Representative Taylor of Mecklenburg. Without a dissenting vote the bill was reported unfavorably.

STRINGFIELD WILL PLAY WEDNESDAY AT STATESVILLE

Flutist, Assisted by Pianist and Cellist, Will Present Recital at Mitchell College.

Lamar Stringfield, assisted by Adeline McCall, pianist, and Ralph Weatherford, cellist, will present a trio recital at Mitchell College in Statesville Wednesday evening, March 1, at 8:30 o'clock.

This trio has appeared several times here and recently presented a recital at Queens-Chicora College in Charlotte. The program in Statesville will feature a composition by Stringfield, Mountain Sketches, which since its completion in 1923 has been recognized as one of the outstanding modern American chamber music works, and has been performed repeatedly in the large musical centers of the country.

The program will include Sonata No. 2 for flute and piano by J. S. Bach, Nocturn by Georges Barrere, Syrinx (for flute unaccompanied) by Claude Debussy, and Tityre by Albert Roussel. The trio will play the Five Petite Trios of Caesar Cui and the two Mountain Sketches, Morning and In a Log Cabin, by Stringfield. Representing the works of modern American composers will be the Poeme for flute and piano of Charles T. Griffes.

Comprehensive Exams

Comprehensive examinations for seniors in the schools of liberal arts and commerce will be conducted this morning at 9:00 o'clock in rooms set by the various departments.

These examinations are given each quarter and seniors must pass one of them before receiving their degrees. The English department has announced that its examination will be conducted in 201 Murphey.

BAND TO PLAY AT SOUTHERN PINES SUNDAY EVENING

Symphonic Organization to Appear at Church of Wide Fellowship at 7:30 O'clock.

The University Symphonic band, conducted by Professor T. Smith McCorkle, will present a concert at the Church of the Wide Fellowship in Southern Pines Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

This concert has been arranged in connection with the plan of the University music department to present a spring series of concerts by a symphonic organization drawn from the University parade band, which provides music for the football games in the fall. The University is recognized throughout the south as a pioneer in this respect. A survey has revealed that there are very few organizations of a symphonic type among the college bands of the country. The Carleton College band of Northfield, Minnesota, is an outstanding exception.

Band Rated 'High'

In 1929 the University band was chosen in a national survey as one of the ten outstanding college bands in the country. At that time a press critic remarked "These boys are starting something in the musical line that will be heard far from the borders of the state. Their band is a symphony orchestra without stringed instruments."

The program to be played in Southern Pines will consist of music from the literature ranging from the ancient classic suite to the modern works by living American composers. A feature of the program will be a violin solo played by Thor Martin Johnson, student musician, with band accompaniment. This is the first time such a combination has been presented to audiences in this section. The

Cigarette Price Reduction Aims To Run Cheaper Brands Off Market

Announcement of Reduced Cost of Popular Smokes Brings Many New Customers Into Chain Store; Increases Demand for Penny Boxes of Matches and Free Paper Folders.

In an effort to run cheaper cigarettes off the market, manufacturers of many brands of popular cigarettes have made it possible for chain stores throughout the country to sell the usual fifteen-cent pack for ten cents.

At 4:00 p. m. last Saturday, this reduction became effective in Chapel Hill. It has continued up to the present time, and will be, to the knowledge of the local chain store manager, effective until the cheaper brands of cigarettes are forced out of competition.

Large Sales Increase

In the chain store sales on cigarettes were highest Monday, when the cash register recorded 1150 separate sales. This was an increase of approximately 300 persons over the average number of shoppers to enter the store on a Monday.

Tuesday, the number decreased slightly, falling to 1025. Of course, all who entered the store did not buy cigarettes, but the decrease of one hundred may well be attributed to the decreased number of purchasers of foods. Monday is nearly always

Student Leaves University After Ruling Of Immigration Officials

Frosh Class Meets

Freshmen Vote Tentative Loan of One Hundred Dollars to Emergency Student Fund.

A tentative loan of one hundred dollars to be added to the Emergency Loan Fund was voted yesterday by the freshman class meeting. This loan is subject to a report by President Frank Rogers on the capacity of the class budget to stand the gift.

A provision of the addition to the fund was created to the effect that the amount would be used for short-term unsecured loans to freshmen only. The power to recall in event of class financial deficiency was also reserved. Student dues are the only means of financial accumulation employed by the class.

Graduates' Articles Published In Journal

Two University graduates, H. C. Thomas and W. L. Mattox, contributed articles to the February issue of the Journal of the American Chemical Society. Thomas' article "The Debye-Hiickel Ion Size Parameter in terms of Ionic Radii; the Activity Coefficient of Lead Chloride in Solution of Cadmium Nitrate" was an extract from his M. S. thesis.

"Nepthol Studies" by Mattox was taken from his thesis for a degree of doctor of philosophy. The work was a continuation of research by Dr. Wheeler and D. J. Ergle. The first article by Wheeler and Ergle appeared in 1930.

Thomas now holds a fellowship at Yale. Mattox is working for the Universal Oil Products Company at Riverside, Illinois.

Feature Board Meeting

There will be a short but important meeting of the feature board this morning at 11:30 o'clock in the offices of the publication.

Jisaku Fukusato, Japanese College Graduate, Fails to Meet Immigration Requirements.

DEPARTS FOR TOKYO

Student of Economics in Graduate School Brought Here Through Efforts of Raper.

Jisaku Fukusato, the University's only Japanese student, was forced to leave Chapel Hill Wednesday for Tokyo, Japan, on the action of the federal immigration authorities. Fukusato, it was stated yesterday, failed to comply with regulations of the Immigration Bureau concerning non-quota immigrants engaged in educational work in this country.

His departure came as a result of a decision of the authorities reached after a hearing before a district representative. Under the immigration law, such a student must carry satisfactorily a certain amount of course work, in the University graduate school ten hours of semester work per quarter. Fukusato's lack of knowledge of the English language made it impossible for him to fulfill the requirements.

Japanese Graduate

Fukusato was a graduate of Waseda University in Tokyo in 1915 and has been a student here since September, 1931. He has been engaged in special study in economics and literature. It is understood that he has published in Japan several short stories or articles.

His admittance to the University came as a result of correspondence in 1916 with Dr. Ra-
