

Regulars Eke Out Second Win Over Yannigans In Fast Game

First Team Rallies Late to Take Second Practice Tilt by Count of 5-4.

HURLERS IMPROVE FORM

Brown and Whitley Stingy With Base-Hits; Game Scheduled For 3:30 Today.

Carolina's regulars scored in the last frame for the second day in succession to down the Yannigans by one run in a baseball practice contest. The game played yesterday afternoon on Emerson field ended 5 to 4.

The whole Tar Heel squad, realizing the tough schedule before them, played fast, heads-up ball, the whole nine-inning game lasting less than one and a half hours. The hitting, however, is still weak on the first team, the regulars getting only seven safe blows, all singles. Ten hits for the Yannigans was a little better.

Whitley, Brown Pitch Well

Whitley, hurling the first five frames for the Yannigans, was the main reason the varsity didn't connect. He held the first team to four hits and two runs. Brown, a southpaw, working for the regulars during the opening five innings, showed up as well, giving up only four blows and one run. Vick, rightfield, Leonard, short, and Temple, first base, all of them Yannigans, were the only batters to get more than one hit. Temple was the only player able to get an extra base hit, that a double in the second inning.

Barham, sophomore, who went in for Captain Powell in the ninth, drove in the winning marker with a one-timer to centerfield. Phipps scored the run after reaching first on an error and going to second on Croom's single. The rest of the varsity score came as results of errors. Weathers counted in the third on Dixon's hit, McCaskill scored in the fourth on Hornaday's safe blow, and two runs were marked down in the eighth on two walks, a fielder's choice, and an error.

The Yannigans counted all their runs in the fifth, sixth, and seventh frames. Brown walked the first one in the fifth on three straight passes after Barham had hit safely. Leonard and Temple scored in the sixth after each had gotten singles. Both runs were on fielders' choices. Leonard drove Vick in for the last Yannigan run in the seventh after the latter had reached base on an error.

Infield Still a Problem

Coach Hearn's infield is still uncertain. Dixon is looking better at first and has slight advantage over Temple, as a result of his height. Temple has shown a marked improvement in his hitting and may give the veteran Dixon a stiff fight for the post. Leonard and Phipps are still battling for the short-stop position and Coach Hearn's choice is still doubtful. Captain Powell, third, and Weathers, second, are almost sure starters. Probably the biggest battle on the squad is the backstop. Tatum, Matheson, McCaskill, and Strayhorn are all looking good. Another practice game is scheduled for this afternoon, starting at 3:00 o'clock.

Checks Go to Bank Today

Students who have given out checks during the bank holiday are expected to meet payments today. Checks will be sent in to the local bank Monday. If arrangements are not made to make them good, the usual bad check rules will be enforced, according to a statement of William C. Medford, chairman of the student council check committee.

IDOL WORKS OUT FOR TOURNAMENT

Percy Idol, captain of this year's wrestling team, is working out daily in the Tin Can, prepping himself for the National Intercollegiate Wrestling tournament which will be run off at Lehigh March 24-25.

Idol is the only Carolina entrant in the tournament. He has two Dixie wrestling titles besides vast knowledge and experience. He will be entered in the 175-pound class although he has fought all year in the unlimited division.

During the past week, Idol has worked with Shipman, freshman captain and promising heavy, Marshall Thompson, varsity heavy, and Connell, another yearling wrestler. This trio had all that it could do to give Idol the right amount of work, but Percy is rapidly gaining his mid-season form and should go far in the tournament.

He will leave Wednesday night via train from Durham.

FRESHMEN WORK FOR HEAVY CARD

Coach Cerney Sends Yearling Baseball Squad Through Another Long Work-out.

Coach Cerney sent his freshman baseball squad through another long work-out yesterday afternoon in an effort to find some outstanding players among the large crop out.

About fifty-one are reporting daily and consequently it takes some time for each man to get his share of swings. Quite a few of the batters have been lining out some long blows while others haven't shown any signs of being hitters as yet. Little can be told of the fielding ability of the various players this early in the season.

Coach Cerney will probably keep his present squad intact for another week in order to give everybody a chance. As to possible candidates for the starting nine Coach Cerney said that as yet none could be named as likely players.

The Tar Baby nine is undertaking an unusually hard schedule this season with thirteen games already carded and a possibility of more being added. The yearlings open the season against Roanoke Rapids High, class B state high school champions, April 1. Seven of the contests will be opposite Big Five first year teams. Eight of the games are scheduled for Chapel Hill.

The tentative schedule follows:

April 1, Roanoke Rapids, here.
April 3, A. M. A., here.
April 6, Mt. Pleasant, here.
April 11, Durham High, here.
April 15, Oak Ridge, here.
April 20, Duke, here.
April 22, Oak Ridge, there.
April 27, State, here.
April 29, Wake Forest, here.

RANSON PLEASED OVER PROSPECTS FOR TRACK TEAM

Schedule for 1933 Shows Six Meets Carded; Coach Expects Records to Be Broken.

Although a casual glance at the roster of this year's track team would not cause any degree of excitement concerning the possibilities of the Tar Heels smashing any records, Dale Ranson, assistant coach of track, believes that this year's team, if at all successful, will be capable of setting new school records.

In an official statement issued yesterday afternoon, Ranson said: "The 1933 track schedule shows six difficult meets (Navy, Virginia, Duke, Penn State, State Championship, and the Southern Conference meets). A number of new University records are likely to be created if the season is successful. There are a number of men on this year's squad capable of making records in their events."

Ranson went further in explaining the basis for his statement, saying that watching the varsity track squad which seems to have an abundance of enthusiasm and ambition spread among each individual, the team which triumphs over the Tar Heels this spring will have to go some. This fine spirit is a necessary essential for a fine morale that all track coaches seek from their proteges.

The school records as they now stand and the names of the individuals who set them are as follows:

100 yd. dash, 9.8 seconds, Gus McPherson, '26 and Charlie Farmer, '30.
220 yd. dash, 21 seconds, Charlie Farmer, '32.
440 yd. run, 49:4 seconds, Ken Marland, '32.
880 yd. run, 1:56:5 minutes, Minor Barkley, '30.
2 mile run, 9:38.1 minutes, Johnny Henderson, '28.
120 high hurdles, 15.2 seconds, Holt Moore, '25.
220 low hurdles, 24.1, Holt Moore, '25.
Pole vault, 13 feet, Brodie Arnold, '30.
High jump, six feet and one-half inches, George Bagby, '30.
Broad jump, 22 feet 9-3-4 inches, Floyd Higby, '32.
Shot, 46 feet 8 1-4 inches, Oscar Mullis, '32.
Discus, 138 feet 1 1-2 inches, Theron Brown, '32.
Javelin, 208 feet 7 inches, Ralston LeGore.

Mile relay, 3:24.7 minutes, Lionel Weil, John Stafford, Ken Gay, and Captain Dave Nims, '30.

One-half mile relay, 1:29.6 minutes, Ken Gay, Rip Slusser, Captain Dave Nims, and Charlie Farmer, '30.

Four mile relay, 18:06 minutes, Captain Hoytt Pritchett, June Fisher, Minor Barkley, and Galen Elliott, '28.

Mile run, 4:21.2 minutes, Galen Elliott, '26.

All but two of the school records were set on the Emerson field track. Those two records which were not hung up at home were made at Penn State and Navy. Minor Barkley ran a great 880 in the Penn State dual meet in 1930, making the school record of 1:56.5 minutes. The other school mark was made by Ralston LeGore in the sensational Navy meet last year at Annapolis. The gigantic Tar Heel javelin tosser threw the spear 208 feet seven inches. One will also notice that six out of the seventeen events were records hung up by members of last year's 1932 track team. The oldest records are those in both the hurdle events. PLANS COMPLETE FOR TENNIS AND BASEBALL RACES

Copies of Rulings Being Mailed to Managers of Various Teams by Intramural Heads.

Arrangements for the intramural baseball and tennis campaigns have been completed, according to announcement made yesterday by intramural authorities. Copies of these regulations are being sent to the managers of the various teams along with the first schedule of the season.

Hereafter the policy adhered to during the winter quarter will be followed. Schedules will appear in THE DAILY TAR HEEL every day and a complete week's schedule will be run every Sunday. No schedules will be mailed out with the exception of the first one now in the mails.

Baseball Regulations
In the baseball campaign regulation playground rules will apply with certain exceptions. No spikes will be allowed in any games.

A batter will be out on a third strike whether it is caught or not, no base-runner may steal until the ball has passed the batter, and a pitched ball hitting the batter will be dead.

Only one step may be taken in delivering a pitch, and an illegal pitch will count as a ball. A balk will be treated in the usual way, advancing base-runner but not entitling the batter to first base.

Games will be seven innings unless one team scores twenty runs, in which case the game will be terminated at the end of the fifth inning. Ten men will constitute a team, but seven men will prevent a team's being forfeited.

Arrangements for Tennis
Six courts are to be used in intramural tennis again this year. An intramural official will be on hand every day to see that courts are cleared in time for matches.

Each match will consist of one doubles and two singles matches. Instead of the regular sets, however, sets will be the best five out of nine games. Each match will consist of the usual two out of three sets.

BOARD APPROVES GENERAL POLICY OF "SPECTATOR"

Reports Columbia Paper to Be "Courageous, Liberal, and Intelligent in Tendencies."

After an extensive investigation by a student board committee in regard to its policies and financial and general organization, the Columbia University Spectator was reported to be "courageous, liberal, and intelligent in its tendencies," though the paper was said to have been at times ill-informed.

The report of the student committee includes a recommendation that the Spectator staff should permit no member of the managing board to represent a downtown paper during his term in office. This recommendation was made following charges that news stories in the paper have been on several occasions colored with editorial comment.

Also certain editorials of the Spectator were criticized as fostering sensationalism and stooping to sarcastic insinuations. Policies of Arthur J. Lelyveld, editor of the Spectator, and the general organization of the paper were approved by the student board, however.

New York City bank, won laurels clearing the timber in record time in 1925. His records have withstood the inroads of time, and should last through this season.

VARSITY GOLFERS MEET TO DISCUSS QUARTER'S PLANS

Strong Heel Aggregation Will Have First Meet of Season With Richmond University.

At a meeting of the varsity golfers at Emerson stadium yesterday morning, Coach Kenfield discussed this spring's schedule, the squad prospects, and the practice times. This meeting was attended by several candidates: Captain Billy O'Brien, Will Sadler, Alan Smith, Carl Cramer, Erwin Laxton, Fred Laxton, Henry Bridges, Ed Michaels, Gwynn Harper, Pete Tyree, and Frank Sisson.

Coach Kenfield urged the men to get down to serious practice as the first match is less than a week off. The schedule opens Thursday at Hope Valley with Richmond University in what is expected to be a close affair. The following week at Hope Valley the Tar Heels take on W. and L., who will be represented by Billy Howell, national star and Walker Cup player. Captained by Howell, the Generals should make the going tough for Coach Kenfield's crew.

Defending Champions
The Tar Heels, present Southern Conference champions, will have the services of all of last year's squad with the exception of Al Brown, who graduated, and Joe Adams, who is now a law student. Joe was the individual Southern Conference title-holder in 1931. Despite the fact that these two men are lost to the team, the Tar Heels will have the strongest team they have had in years.

MANY WILL PLAY IN HUGE TOURNEY

Over Fifty Carolina Students Post Names for Play in Meet With Duke April 3-8.

More than fifty tennis players have posted their names for the mass tennis meet with the Duke University student body the week of April 3 to 8. Everyone is urged to enter this meet, regardless of the style or quality of his playing.

Coach Kenfield has posted a notice on the bulletin board at the tennis courts on which all interested in entering the meet are asked to list their names. The bulletin will remain posted all next week. Carolina would like to show more than 200 players before the meet.

Entry Fee Small
The only entry fee will be one new ball, which each contestant is requested to furnish. Transportation will probably be provided in student automobiles, for that half of the players which will play at Duke. One half of the meet will be played here.

Talent is not a requirement; and bashfulness should be tossed to the winds when considering entering the meet. There is no one on this campus who is not able to play in the meet, just so long as he can wield a racket.

Co-eds May Play
It was suggested that the co-eds of the two schools engage in a smiliar meet. This may be arranged by the women if they so desire. Carolina has a few good women players, but has never been represented by a tennis team.

Anyone registered in either the undergraduate or graduate school of either university is eligible to enter competition. The team winning the greatest number matches will be declared the winner of the carnival.

With the sun shining, the courts in good shape, and rackets re-strung, Carolina ought to more than amass the desired number of contestants before next week.

NETMEN WORKING TO BETTER STYLE FOR HARD SEASON

Challenge Tournament to Rearrange Standings Is Scheduled to Start Monday.

If stiff bodies and creaking bones are the only obstacles in the Carolina tennis team's renewed campaign for the national championship, these will be overcome in the next few weeks. From yesterday's practice, only the ragged form of most of the players was outstanding.

The players have not as yet reached their usual form, but Hines, Levitan, Willis, Shuford, and Morgan worked into a better playing style yesterday. Harris, Dillard, and Wright did not attend the practice.

Hines and Levitan Teamed
Although Wilmer Hines and Walter Levitan worked together as a doubles team yesterday, it is most probable that Walter will play with Harvey Harris. Shuford was teamed with Dave Morgan against the Hines-Levitan combination. The latter team won the match by the scores of 6-3, 8-6.

Harley Shuford was extended to a 10-8 practice singles in defeating Dave Morgan. Shuford has not reached his top form, but the sturdy left-hander ought to show well a little later in the season.

The challenge tournament to rearrange the standings of the fall quarter will begin Monday afternoon. A player will be able to challenge any man two places above him. The freshman team, as well as the varsity, will be ranked in this tournament.

Connie Mack's Son Will Play At Duke

North Carolina collegiate baseball ranks will be graced with the name of Connie Mack this spring.

It's not the grand old man of the Athletics, but the youngest of the Mack clan, who goes by the name of Connie Mack, Jr. This youngest McGillicuddy, who is a freshman at Duke, will be put through his paces by Jack Coombs, Blue Devil mentor, who performed for the elder Mack on the American League mound back in the days of Chief Bender.

Mack, Jr., is a candidate for a slab position on the Imp outfit.

Jackson Speaks Sunday

Dean W. C. Jackson, head of the school of administration, will speak Sunday at the 11:00 o'clock service in the Baptist church.
