HYBRID MEASURE WILL COME UP IN SENATE TUESDAY

Upper Division Puts Appropriations Bill Evolved by House On Special Calendar.

COMMITTEE CONSIDERS IT

Approved by the house Thursday, the hybrid appropriations bill, including a grant for the University, was yesterday put on the senate's special calendar for next Tuesday morning.

This measure, which spent six tempestuous days in the house, would give the Greater University of North Carolina $760,240 annually for the next two years, approximately $390,000 of which would come to the University in Chapel Hill.

Original Bill Favored

After the Senate received the bill yesterday afternoon, Senator Clement of Rowan, appropriations chairman, told the upper division that he favored the original appropriations bill reported by the joint committee. This bill allotted some $83,000,000 for the next biennium, of which the Greater University would receive $832,000.

The senate, however, gave Clement's committee the hybrid bill evolved in the house which would appropriate $78,919,000 for state expenses for 1933-1934. The committee studied the question yesterday afternoon.

Time alone will tell what figures the senate will set as appropriations for the University and other state-supported agencies, but observers report that the senate is inclined to be more liberal with educational and other appropriations.

HELEN MCGRAW GIVES RECITAL IN MUSIC BUILDING

Outstanding Pianist Offers Program Culminating Series of Concerts in America.

Helen McGraw, one of the outstanding American pianists, gave a recital here last night in Hill Music hall, culminating a series of concerts following her return to this country from London and Paris.

Following her Paris debut last year, Miss McGraw gave a number of concerts on the continent and in England and was then declared a leading artist. Since her return to her own country, critics have enthusiastically confirmed early predictions of her genius.

The program last night consisted of the following selections: Prelude in E Flat, by Bach; Sonata in A Flat, by Beethoven; Sonata Fantasia, by Scriabin; Nocturne, by Chopin; The White Peacock, by Griffes; What the West Wind Saw, by Debussy; and Ballerade, by Chopin.

Miss McGraw's recital is sponsored by the committee in charge of the spring Dogwood festival. Proceeds from the concert will be used to help defray the expenses of this event.

Sheiks Announce Pledging

Kirk Swann of Phi Delta Theta and Hal Miller of Alpha Tau Omega have been pledged to the Order of Sheiks. They will be initiated into the order later in the spring.

Over $5,600 Tied Up In Returned Checks Due To Unopened Banks

J. D. Winslow Will Represent Carolina At State Meeting to Promote Friendly Relations.

The Carolina sophomore class will be represented by J. D. Winslow, president of the class, at a meeting of sophomore class presidents from leading North Carolina colleges in Raleigh tomorrow. The formal meeting will be conducted in the Sir Walter hotel at 3:00 o'clock.

The purpose of the meeting is to promote friendly relations and mutual understanding among colleges of the state. Tentative plans have been made to have annual meetings at a one-day convention each year until the class of '35 graduates.

MISS KIMEL WINS CROWN IN YOUNG ARTIST CONTEST

Contralto From Winston-Salem And Fletcher Moore, Pianist-Organist, Chosen Best.

Winners in the contest for young artists and student musicians sponsored here yesterday by the state federation of music clubs were announced by Mrs. Eric Norden of Wilmington, state chairman of the federation. Vocal judges for the contest were Professor Harold S. Dyer, Dwight Steer of Elon College, and Francis Griffith of Wilmington. Judges in the organ competition were Mrs. Eugene Davis, Professor Nelson O. Kennedy, and Mrs. Wheeler. Piano judges were Mrs. T. S. McCorkle, of Chapel Hill, Mrs. Atkisson, of Greensboro, and Mrs. Huneycutt of Lexington.

Winner in the young artist division was Miss Doris Kimel, contralto, of Winston-Salem. The young artist classification requires that vocal contestants have sufficient selections prepared for two concert programs, including two numbers suitable for performance with orchestra.

Moore Wins Piano Contest

Fletcher Moore of Burlington was winner in the piano and organ contests in the student musician division, which includes contests below the young artist ranking. In this division Miss Mary Mills, contralto, and Ward Wilcox, bass, were also selected by the judges as the outstanding contestants in their classifications.

These winners will compete in the contest of the South Atlantic district of the federation here in April from which winners will compete in the national contest of the federation in Minneapolis during May.

Oak Trees Planted

The planting of eighteen white oak trees that were bought by the University grounds committee from Mayor Paul Lindley, noted nurseryman, of Greensboro, has just been completed.

Sixteen were placed on the campus between the library and South building while the other two were planted in front of Graham Memorial and New East buildings. An expert was sent by Mayor Lindley to supervise their planting.

More Than $2,700 in Checks Has Been Returned to Merchants Since Bank Holiday.

Well over $5,600 has been tied up in Chapel Hill through checks returned due to banks being closed. Most of these checks will be made good when the banks reopen completely, but have caused considerable inconvenience in the meantime.

When Obie Harmon, manager of Swain hall, found that a little over $250 in checks had come back on Swain hall, and an additional $100 on him personally, he became a bit cautious about cashing checks. The business office reports that checks come back to them every day and that on one peak day they received $2,500 worth. The "Y" had twenty-five to thirty checks returned, valued at about $140, many having been taken in by the service rooms.

Merchants Hold Many Checks

A survey of several of the busier stores in town shows that the Chapel Hill merchants have had over $2,700 tied up in the form of returned checks. Pritchard-Lloyd's, who cashed a number of checks for students, reached the high water mark with 250, the combined value of which is about $1,000. The Strowd Motor Company had only a dozen returned, but is a close second from point of value because one was for $500. Altogether they had about $800 returned.

The Model-Market and Grocery, together with the A. & P., come next with $300 each. The Ledbetter-Pickard stationery shop had twelve to fifteen checks, worth $200, to come back. Sutton's had little trouble with only $40 or $50 tied up. Eubank's reported that checks were coming back at the rate of five a day, about $10 a day. Strangely enough, the Carolina theatre had little trouble with returned checks.

Most of the men consulted pointed out that the checks returned were not bad in any way but were merely being held up prior to the reopening of banks still closed. Little worry or hard feeling was manifested by those with returned checks on their hands, as they seemed to feel that when the smoke cleared completely on the financial front, there would be little loss sustained.

Dyer To Judge Music Contests In Salisbury

Professor Harold S. Dyer, head of the department of music, will leave this morning for Salisbury where he will act as principal judge in the music contest convened there today by the junior division of the North Carolina federation of music clubs.

Today's contest in Salisbury will decide the final winners for the state in the junior division composed of students between the ages of ten and eighteen. Contestants were chosen in the preliminary elimination contests over the entire state last Saturday.

Professor Dyer officiated as judge at the preliminary contest in the junior division here last week and at the young artists' and students' contest sponsored here by the state federation.

FUKUSATO MUST LEAVE COUNTRY BEFORE AUGUST

Bureau of Immigration Rules That University Student May Depart Voluntarily.

CASE CREATED INTEREST

Jisaku Fukusato, Japanese student whose difficulties with immigration officials have created considerable interest at the University, received word yesterday from the Bureau of Immigration that he may depart from the United States voluntarily and to any country of his choice, and that on the basis worked out by officials, is given until August 1 to make necessary arrangements.

Entered University in 1931

Fukusato entered the University as a graduate student in 1931 after having been admitted into the country on a consular visa. His inadequate knowledge of the English language hindered him in his scholastic work to such an extent that he was unable to meet the requirements of the immigration law relating to special foreign students. A warrant was executed for his detention pending deportation, but he was released to President Frank Graham after a fight in his favor by University officials. He has resumed his work in the University.

A report issued by Dean W. W. Pierson of the graduate school on February 26 stated Fukusato held two University scholarships. His linguistic difficulty was given as the main reason for his scholastic deficiency.

New Weather Records Set And Precedents Broken Last Year

Residents of State Experienced All Types of Out-of-Season Weather During 1932.

Last December 31 brought to a close a year the weather records of which are well-nigh unprecedented in the history of North Carolina. At certain periods, the year was the hottest, in others the coldest, in some the driest, and in some the wettest that has ever been recorded by the weather bureau.

The average temperature for the year 1932 was 62.2 degrees, 2.8 degrees above normal for North Carolina. With the exception of the years 1890, 1911, and 1921, this average has not been surpassed. This exceptional record was due largely to the extraordinary heat during the months of January, February, July, and August. On the other hand, the months of March and November were unusually colder.

Temperatures Compared

January topped the records of the other months with an average temperature of 51.4 degrees, 10.8 degrees above the normal. February followed closely with an average temperature of 51 degrees, which was 7.2 degrees above normal temperature for that month. July and August were 3.5 and 2.5 degrees above normal respectively.

The months whose averages fell below the usual temperature were March and November. The average temperatures

Administration Sanctions Recess Which Banking Holidays Delayed

BAPTIST CHURCH PROPERTY BURNED

Firemen Called Early Yesterday to Put Out Fire at Old Parsonage On Church Street.

The local fire department was called out at 2:20 o'clock yesterday morning to extinguish a blaze at the old Baptist parsonage house on the corner of Rosemary and Church streets. The house, occupied by Willie McCauley, was burning in several places when the firemen arrived. The roof was the only part of the building badly burned. Most of the furniture and other articles were saved by volunteers.

The cause of the blaze is unknown, but a complete investigation is planned by local fire officials.

GRUMMAN ELECTED HEAD OF EXTENSION WORKERS

R. M. Grumman, director of the extension division of the University, was elected president of the North Carolina Association of Extension Directors at the annual meeting of the association in Raleigh Thursday.

E. W. Ruggles, assistant director of the extension division at State College, was elected vice president and John C. Hadley, extension director at Catawba College, was elected secretary and treasurer.

Redivision of territory to prevent duplication of effort, standards of work to be done by extension students, and plans for the coming year were major topics discussed by the association members.

President Graham Announces Vacation Which Will Last From April 15 to 24.

CAMPUS FAVORS ACTION

Regular spring holidays to begin noon Saturday, April 15, and to extend until Monday morning, April 24, were granted yesterday by President Frank Porter Graham. This announcement is in accordance with President Graham's declaration made at the general convocation, March 6, at which time he announced the postponement of the regular holidays between the winter and spring quarters.

President Graham had held final decision open for study and recommendation on the part of the Student Council. The Union Forum and several campus organizations voted overwhelmingly during the past week in favor of the nine-day holiday period, and petitions were sent by the law school and the graduate club.

The postponement of the originally-scheduled recess was made by President Graham with the unanimous recommendation of the Student Council in view of the complications which threatened to arise from the presidential and state-wide declaration of a national banking holiday on March 5. President Graham thought that if the University quit work with the holidays, many students would be unable to return, and that it would be advisable for them to remain in Chapel Hill until the momentary paralysis was over.

Regular classes will begin Monday morning, April 24, at 8:30 o'clock.

CHILDREN TESTED FOR PLAYMAKERS' JUVENILE DRAMA

Junior Playmakers Will Present "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves" April 21 and 22.

Approximately 100 children of the community have been tried so far for parts in the major Junior Playmakers production of the season, Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves.

The Arabian Nights story, rewritten by Harry Davis for the juvenile dramatic presentation, will be enacted with elaborate scenic and costume effects during the week-end of April 21 and 22. The second matinee performance will be especially for children.

Mrs. Harry Davis will have charge of costuming the cast, but assistance from the mothers of the players will be welcomed. Phoebe Barr will direct the oriental dances performed by slave girls in the play.

The Junior Playmakers, organized last year by Davis, offered Cinderella as their first presentation. Many requests for extra performances of Ali Baba, both out-of-town and in Chapel Hill, have already been received.

Although the cast has not been definitely chosen, the following are expected to take parts:

Milton Hogan, Nell Booker, Nancy Murchison, Virginia Clark, David Hoefler, Lindon Correll, Kimball Dyer, Lauren McKinney, Henry Whitfield, George Hogan, Cameron Mur-
