Appropriations Prospects For University Brighter

House Adopts Conference Report Carrying $832,240 Grant for Three Units.

REVENUE COMMITTEE ADVOCATES SALES TAX

Eight Months School Term Provided for; to appropriate $16,000,000 for support.

With the House adopting the report of conferees ironing out Senate and House differences in appropriations Thursday, and the joint revenue committee approving yesterday a three per cent sales tax to supply the means, prospects of state aid for the University stand more favorably today than any time since appropriations measures have been before the general assembly.

After a week of work, the conference committee received Thursday the House's approval of its decisions on the biennial appropriations bill for 1933-34. The measure provides for an eight-months school, a $16,000,000 provision for it, an approximate $4,000,000 increase for budget supply figures set in the house and a $1,000,000 cut from the Senate's figures.

Appropriations for the Greater University remained at the Senate's allotment of $832,240 annually, which would give the University here $426,000.

The strength of the Bowie-Cherry anti-sales tax, anti-administration forces seemed broken when, in speaking against the measure, members of the bloc virtually admitted

STAFF MEMBERS ENJOY KING KONG

Seventy-Five Tar Heelers See Special Preview of Show Thursday Night.

Members of the editorial and business staffs of THE DAILY TAR HEEL were liberal with their praise of "King Kong" yesterday, which they had seen at a special pre-view given in their honor through the courtesy of E. Carrington Smith. Some seventy-five or more staff members attended the show.

After a successful run yesterday, "King Kong" is offered again today at the Carolina theatre. Besides the fifty-foot tall King Kong and prehistoric reptiles, the show features Fay Wray, Robert Armstrong, and Bruce Cabot.

In the story a moving picture company lands on a strange island to find the natives worshipping a gigantic ape, which they call Kong. The heroine is captured by natives and offered to the monster as a living sacrifice. Plenty of thrills are furnished when Kong carries off the white girl and is pursued by sailors with rifles and dynamite bombs. Among other things the audience is entertained with fights between Kong and reptilian monsters.

The heroine is rescued and the great ape is captured and taken alive to New York. In the midst of an exhibition in a theatre, Kong again sees the girl and breaks from his chains. After breaking through the side of the theatre and wrecking a train, he climbs to the top of the Empire State building with Fay Wray in one paw. There he is finally killed by airplanes, after snatching several from the air.

CONFERENCE OF LIBRARY HEADS CONVENES HERE

Leaders in Several Speeches Outline Major Problems and Proposed Remedies.

Aroused by a recent survey which showed that two-thirds of the people of the south are without access to local public library service, southern leaders in religion, education, culture, and social welfare, opening a two-day conference today at the University of North Carolina under the auspices of the American and Southeastern Library Associations, discussed plans for providing improved library facilities.

Although chief attention was devoted to public library service, topics in several related fields, such as religion, adult education, illiteracy, and county government, occupied a considerable portion of the discussion.

The meeting is considering all these agencies in a well-rounded community program.

More than 100 leaders in the fields represented were in attendance. They came from ten southern states.

At this time when the whole economic, political, and social fabric is being tested, the library is an agency for making the means of intelligence easily available to all the people, the conference was told.

France Prefers Hohenzollerns To Hitlerism, Frazer Believes

Head of Government Department Finds Manchuria, Russia, Hitlerism, Disarmament, and Depression All Interwoven in Complex Field of International Affairs.

Interwoven with the political developments of Germany, according to K. C. Frazer of the department of government, is the Sino-Japanese situation; and cutting across the whole field of international diplomacy and pulling in the opposite direction is the world-wide depression.

Speculating on the trend of future events, Frazer said that under present conditions he did not think France would bring the pressure of arms to bear on Hitler's regime. He reported, however, that last summer an official in the French foreign office told him that France would rather see even the old Hohenzollerns return than see Hitler in power. The attitude of the French, as Frazer sees it, is one of aversion for irresponsible Hitlerism, and a preference for stable government, even if it be the old regime.

English and Russian Attitude Because of the influence of Jews in both the English and Russian governments, Dr. Frazer expects an attitude of disapproval towards Hitler's anti-Semitic moves from these countries. Frazer pointed out that in England the Jews are influential in both the conservative and the liberal factions, but not in the labor party.

Aside from the Jewish aspect of Hitler's rule, Frazer thinks Russia would be friendly. England, he thinks, is likely to ob-

KOCH RETURNS FROM MEETING OF DRAMATISTS

Foundation for Negro Theatre Is Being Laid, Koch Declares.

Returning from the Negro Intercollegiate Dramatic Association tournament at Virginia Union University in Richmond, Professor F. H. Koch stated his conviction that foundations are being laid for a native American negro theatre. Professor Koch attended the tournament as critic judge of productions presented by the four negro colleges of the association.

Three Carolina folk-plays were included in the spring program of the Dramatic Association for this year: Fixin' by Emma and Paul Green, The Man Who Died at Twelve O'clock by Paul Green, and Magnolia's Man by Gertrude Wilson Coffin. The second production was played by the Carolina Playmakers several years ago at Hampton Institute, one of the members of the Dramatic Association. This performance is credited with arousing much of the interest in dramatic activity now revealed at the Institute.

Howard University, Hampton Institute, Virginia State College, and Virginia Union University are the present members of the Negro Intercollegiate Dramatic Institute, which was organized three years ago.

Barnes Gets 1046 Votes to 793 For Arlindo Cate in Yesterday's Balloting.

1839 VOTES ARE POLLED

Voting Marks Close of One of Hottest Political Battles in Campus History.

A steady stream of student voters flowed into Graham Memorial yesterday and cast a total of 1839 ballots to elect Harper Barnes president of the student body and E. C. Daniel editor of the Carolina Magazine for next year.

Running against Barnes for the honor was Arlindo Cate of Greensboro who received 793 votes to Barnes' 1046. Daniel polled 972 votes to Miss Mary Frances Parker's 862.

Surprising to all was the fact that the total of votes yesterday approached anywhere near the record ballot in the regular spring elections Wednesday when 1996 were cast. From appearances it seemed that only about fourteen or fifteen hundred were being polled but the voting was considered more gradual than in the previous election, students going to the poll in a steadier stream.

Both the winning candidates picked about sixty vote margins over the leads they had in the general election when they failed to receive enough votes over their opponents to be elected.

Barnes had a 253 margin over Cate yesterday while his plurality Wednesday was 933 to 738

RAILROAD HEAD STATES TRUCKS DAMAGE ROADS

Vaughan Declares Trucking Concerns Are Escaping Their Just Proportion of Tax.

"Trucks undoubtedly will continue to haul freight over our highways and they should be permitted to do so, but at present they are getting away with murder when it comes to paying taxes and escaping a just proportion of the cost of maintaining highways, to which they are daily doing irreparable damage," W. R. Vaughan, of Henderson, president of the Railroad Employers and Taxpayers Association, declared in an address before the Chapel Hill Rotary club at its regular weekly meeting.

"For years the railroads have been contributing largely to the cost of government, and there is no reason why the trucks should not be regulated so as to contribute their proportionate share of this cost," Vaughan asserted. "At present they are being allowed to give the railroads unfair competition, for the carriers spend big sums yearly for building and maintaining their roadbeds while the trucks have their roadbeds maintained for them by the state with practically no cost."

Damage to Highways

Vaughan said it was ridiculous to believe the testimony of "so-called experts" to the effect that the trucks are doing
