FAMOUS SEAMAN TO SPEAK TODAY

Former Captain of Leviathan to Make Second Address Here At Chapel Period.

Commodore Herbert Hartley, former captain of the Leviathan will speak at Chapel period here today. Hartley was enthusiastically received when he addressed an assembly here in October. The speaker has had thirty-five years' experience on the seas and has made some 850 trips across the Atlantic.

In speaking here last fall, Commodore Hartley recounted several of his early experiences and incidents which occurred while he was captain of the Leviathan. Among these were the occasion of the crossing of Queen Marie of Roumania and an account concerning Mrs. Martin Johnson.

Great Responsibility

The captain gave an idea of the enormous amount of responsibility attached to managing the ship by stating that his position was like a housewife operating a house three city blocks long and watching out for the needs of guests.

While commander of the Leviathan, which as the Vaterland was once the largest ship in the world, Hartley entertained a number of the world celebrities.

Sponsors For Annual Dance Set

Pictured above are the seven young ladies who, with their escorts, will lead the annual May Frolics dance set, which begins this afternoon with a tea dance at the Carolina Inn. They are: Miss Nell Adams, with Fred Laxton; Miss Hilton Roller, with Robert R. Reynolds, Jr.; Miss Marjorie Ris, with Robert Carmichael; Miss Anne Jones, with Alex Webb; Miss Cotton Skinner, with Pig Skinner; Miss Louie Brown Michaels, with Arlindo Cate; and Miss Margaret Williams, with Pete Tyree.

DEBATE GROUP TO BE PHOTOGRAPHED TODAY

The debate group will meet this morning at chapel period in front of Gerrard hall to have a picture taken for the Yachety Yack. The picture, scheduled to be taken yesterday, was postponed until this morning.

The following are particularly requested to be present: Edwin Lanier, John Wilkinson, McBride Fleming-Jones, Don Seawell, Phillip Russell, A. S. Kaplan, A. A. Lawrence, J. R. Jenkins, Bill Eddleman, B. C. Proctor, V. C. Royster, F. A. Rankin, Dan Lacy, James Baxley, Dave Morgan, Ike Minor and J. W. Kirkpatrick. Any other men who have tried for debates are also asked to attend.

Famous Oratorio Will Be Presented Here

The chorus to appear in the presentation of Mendelssohn's oratorio, The Elijah here on Baccalaureate Sunday, June 4, began rehearsals this week under the direction of Professor Harold S. Dyer. Mrs. A. S. Wheeler is accompanist for the group.

The performance of The Elijah this year will be its second annual presentation. This composition is considered Mendelssohn's greatest work and is generally conceded to be the finest oratorio of any composer. The chorus will consist of about one hundred students, faculty members and residents of Chapel Hill.

JUVENILES OFFER ALI BABA TONIGHT

Junior Playmakers to Present Arabian Night's Story at Three Performances.

The Junior Playmakers production, Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves, will be presented at three performances today and tomorrow in the Playmaker theatre. Tonight's performance will begin at 8:30 o'clock. The play, adapted from the Arabian Night's story, was directed by Harry Davis.

Davis has written several successful dramatizations of popular stories, all in three-act form, and has had considerable experience in juvenile productions. Among his former plays was Cinderella, which was tremendously successful last year as the original presentation of the Junior Playmakers. The organization was organized here last year by Davis to further the work begun by the Playmakers.

Other Productions
Other juvenile plays by Davis have been Robin Hood, Beauty and the Beast, and The Sleeping Beauty.

Before coming to the Carolina Playmakers two years ago, Davis was director at the Town theatre of Columbia, South Carolina, where he organized a well-known junior acting group, The Scalawags. These players produced two to four full-length plays each season on a regular program.

MAGAZINE STAFF TO MEET SUNDAY NIGHT

The last meeting of the year for the entire staff of the Carolina Magazine has been set for Sunday night at 7:00 o'clock in Graham Memorial. Robert W. Barnett, retiring editor, will turn over his position to E. C. Daniel, incoming editor.

Every person who has contributed to the Magazine in the past, and those who intend to contribute during the coming year, are asked to be present. The new editor will outline his program and policy and name his staff. All students who wish to demonstrate their abilities to write for the publication will be given an opportunity to do so during the next month, Daniel has announced.

ANNUAL FROLICS BEGIN WITH BALL IN CAROLINA INN

Kay Kyser and Former Carolinians Play as May Frolics Start This Afternoon.

With dancing to the music of Kay Kyser and his former University of North Carolina orchestra, the May Frolics for 1933 will begin this afternoon at 5:00 o'clock at the Carolina Inn. The annual affair consists of a series of six dances which make up the set.

The Thirteen Club will open the series this afternoon with a tea dance to which all the members of the May Frolics are invited. A dinner dance in the main dining room of the Inn will follow at 7:30 o'clock. The Minotaur will attend a banquet in the ball room of the Inn at the same time. The evening's entertainments will be closed by a formal evening dance in the Tin Can from 9:00 to 1:00 o'clock.

Continues Tomorrow

The series will continue with a luncheon dance to take place from 12:30 to 2:30 o'clock Saturday in the Washington Duke Hotel in Durham. A tea dance will be featured from 4:30 to 6:30 o'clock in the Tin Can. The set will be concluded tomorrow night by another formal evening dance in the Tin Can lasting from 9:00 to 12:00 o'clock. The Order of Sheiks will hold a banquet in the Carolina Inn tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock.

This annual series of dances given by a group of fraternities on the campus is considered one of the highlights of the year's social season. A host of attractive young ladies are expected to be present.

Dance Leaders

The girls who will lead the series and their escorts are: Nell Adams, High Point, with Fred Laxton of Charlotte, Zeta Psi, president of the May Frolics; Hilton Roller, Fort Defiance, Va., with Robert R. Reynolds, Jr., of Asheville, Beta Theta Pi, vice-president; Marjorie Ris of New York, with Robert H. Carmichael, Delta Kappa Epsilon, secretary-treasurer; Ann Jones of Little Rock, Ark., with Alex Webb of Raleigh, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, who will be dance leader; Cotton Skinner of Greenville, with Pig Skinner of Greenville, Sigma Nu, assistant dance leader; Louie Brown Michaels of Greensboro, with Arlindo Cates of Greensboro, Sigma Chi, second assistant dance leader; and Margaret Williams of Winston-Salem, with Pete Tyree of Winston-Salem, Kappa Sigma, assistant secretary-treasurer of the Frolics.

This will be the first occasion that Kay Kyser and his orchestra, eight of the members of which were former students of the University and members of the original band as organized here, have played at the University since the time of Kay's graduation four years ago. They are expected to appear in concert in Memorial hall for the benefit of the student loan fund

THIRTY-FIRST CEREMONY

Governor States That Laws of Work, Ideas, and Ideals Are Fundamental for Success.

The Order of the Golden Fleece, highest campus honorary organization, accorded the honor of membership to ten campus leaders last night at the 31st annual tapping ceremony. Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus was made an honorary member.

The chosen students were Vergil Weathers of Shelby, Donald C. Shoemaker of Middletown, Ohio, E. P. Dameron of Clinton, Harper Barnes of Lillington, John O'Neil of Henderson, Nutt Parsley of Wilmington, Robert Barnett of Shanghai, China, George Brandt of Washington, D. C., E. C. Daniel, Jr., of Zebulon, and Claiborn M. Carr of Long Island, New York.

Governor Speaks

Preceding the impressive tapping ceremonies, Governor Ehringhaus delivered an inspiring address to the throng assembled to watch the induction. He was introduced by Horace Williams of the department of philosophy, one of the founders of the Order. Bill McKee, Jason, presided.

Ehringhaus, an alumnus of the University, included in his address the three fundamental laws for the success and the development of the human character, namely: the law of work, the law of ideas, and the law of ideals. All are equally and basically essential in the struggle of life, asserted the governor.

HANDBOOK STAFF NAMED BY EDITOR

Royster Is Appointed Associate Editor of Annual Publication of Y. M. C. A.

The complete staff of the 1933-34 freshman Handbook has been announced by Carl Thompson, new editor. As associate editor, Vermont C. Royster has been selected. Phil Hammer has accepted the position of assistant editor, Charles Bond will edit the Y. M. C. A. material and Billy Anderson will handle the sports copy for the pamphlet.

Contrary to a former statement, there will be no change in the size of the Handbook. Its present dimensions are six by nine inches, which is considered the most preferable size as pictures of campus buildings, campus officers, and faculty members can be included. Renewing a practice which has been dormant for several years, the new Handbook will carry a sketch map of the campus and town.

Following a custom which formerly followed and which was used last year, the cover of the book will be decorated with the colors of the class of 1937. Attempts will be made to make the material in the book of more interest to the freshmen than it has formerly been.
