Board Passes Motions Pertaining To University Students' Welfare

Recommendations of Administrative Group Will Be Referred To School Administration

JOINT SESSION OF TWO WELFARE GROUPS HELD

At a joint luncheon meeting of the Administrative Board of the Division of Student Welfare and the Student Advisory board in Graham Memorial yesterday afternoon, the administrative group adopted a series of motions pertaining to student welfare and passed them on to the University administration for appropriate action.

The motions were the result of a meeting of the Student Advisory board and were presented to the Administrative board by Haywood Weeks, president, as recommendations of the advisory group.

Audit Board

A motion was adopted to the effect that all student activities representing the University before the public or using University equipment or connections for income-producing programs be under the auditing authority of the Student Audit board.

In the matter of editorial guidance, motion was passed to the effect that since the advisory editorial staff for the "Buccaneer" recommended to the Student Activities group is now set up and presumably functioning, and since the DAILY TAR HEEL has given no cause for concern over its editorial discretion and responsibility

UNIVERSITY CLUB MAKES PROGRESS IN LOYALTY WORK

Club Receives Support From Other Organizations at Second Meeting.

The University club, newly formed organization devoting itself toward furthering the spirit of loyalty in the University, last night held its second meeting since formation. Agnew Bahnsen presided over the meeting.

To open the meeting Claiborn Carr gave a brief outline of the purpose of the organization. Carr is one of the organizers of the club. Continuing brief talks, Coach Bob Fetzer who, as director of athletics is a member of the advisory committee of the club, presented the needs of such a loyalty organization on the campus.

John Phipps, president of the Monogram club, was the next speaker. He requested that each member of the club contribute something really worth while to the organization. He pledged the full support of the Monogram club in carrying out the ideals of the University club. Phipps is also a member of the advisory committee.

Mayne Albright, who as director of Graham Memorial is another advisory member, put the services of Graham Memorial at the club's disposal at all times.

The new business of the club commenced with the suggestion of Ralph Gardner that the club meet before every football game

NEW 'Y' OFFICERS INDUCTED DURING HILLSIDE MEETING

The annual Hillside meeting of the Y. M. C. A. cabinets was conducted Sunday afternoon in the Forest theatre. The meeting was the final gathering of all 'Y' members and cabinet members, and officially closed the year.

Reports by retiring presidents of the three cabinets were given. Bill McKee, outgoing president of the organization, officially turned the office over to John Acee, newly elected president, who replied with a short talk.

Jesse Parker entertained the group with a solo, and Dean Francis F. Bradshaw addressed the body on "Spiritual Relations of Today with Those of the Past." Each year the Hillside meeting is conducted for the purpose of closing the 'Y' year and inducting new officers.

COUNCIL OPPOSES PROPOSED FROSH HOUSING RULING

Interfraternity Council Declares Requirement Would "Spell Ruin to Fraternities."

Declaring that the proposed ruling to require freshmen to live in dormitories next year would "spell absolute ruin to practically all fraternities on the campus," and citing benefits that fraternities have brought to the University and Chapel Hill, the Interfraternity council, through President Irvin Boyle, presented at a joint meeting of the Administrative Board of the Division of Student Welfare and the Student Advisory board yesterday five recommendations to the University administration.

The suggestions are as follows:

1. Require the freshmen to room in the dormitories, but in return put the fraternities on the same tax basis as the dormitories and supply them with light, water, and coal at the same rate that the University is now supplying the dormitories. The tax basis can be obtained by turning over all the fraternity property to the University and the University in return will give each fraternity a lease for 50 or 90 years. The fraternities are a part of the school: they are performing the same functions as the dormitories, they are non-profit organizations, and they are boarding and rooming students just as efficiently as the University, with its dormitories, is doing.

Rent Vacant Dorm

2. Rent the vacant dormitory to professional fraternities and small social fraternities that have no house now or that have some small house they are renting.

3. Rent the dormitory on week-ends to girls for house parties and to visitors at football games.

4. Turn this dormitory over to the two girls' sororities and other girls who now live out in town.

5. Turn it over to the faculty as a faculty club and quarters for bachelor professors and instructors.

CHOIR TO SING IN BENEFIT CONCERT AT HALL TONIGHT

Guilford College Group to Present Concert for University Student Loan Fund.

The Guilford College Cappella choir directed by Max Noah will present a concert in Hill Music hall this evening at 8:30 o'clock. The concert is sponsored by the University department of music for the benefit of the student loan fund.

Formed in 1929 by Noah, a graduate of Columbia University and the Westminster choir school, the Guilford group is now in its fifth concert season. The organization's tours have included the eastern states from Massachusetts to Georgia, eliciting favorable comment from the press in all of its engagements. Its members were originally selected from the 400 students, which comprise the student body at Guilford, singing experience was limited to the special course in choir singing given by Noah. Since its inception, however, the choir has attracted such a great amount of musical talent to the school that it is regarded as one of the best trained organizations in the country.

Tonight's program will be a duplicate of the one offered by the choir in the Music hall of Columbia University April 1, and will include compositions of Bach, Mendelssohn, Palestrina, Gretchaninoff, Christiansen, and Bolst. The admission price will be 30 cents; all proceeds will be turned over to the student loan fund.

DAILY TAR HEEL STAFF MEETINGS SET TODAY

Reporters, city editors, and desk men will meet with the editor and managing editor at 3:00 o'clock. Plans for the alumni issue of the paper, which will be distributed June 5, will be announced.

The editorial board will meet with the chairman, Virgil J. Lee, Jr., and the editor at 3:30 o'clock.

The Staff Election Theory Exploded

—AN EDITORIAL—

Staff elections of editors, or even of men to handle the executive positions on the staff, are not worthwhile. This statement is founded on the definite evidence that politics was being used within the staff as a means of obtaining offices.

The new administration announced earlier that a system of competition had been instituted for the purpose of selecting the executive heads. This move was taken in an effort to ascertain whether or not the proposal that all University publications elect their own editors was a well-founded one. Had the TAR HEEL staff been able to conduct its own elections devoid of any politics, then the way for staff election of the various editors would have been opened up, provided the staff executive choices proved to be sensible.

ANNUAL AWARDS NIGHT THURSDAY TO BE COLORFUL

Talk by President Graham and Skits on Campus Affairs Head Entertainment Program.

The annual awards night, which has in the past been one of the most colorful events of the year, will take place Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock in Memorial hall. Awards for all extra-curricular activities of this year will be given.

Ed Martin, chairman of the student council committee to provide entertainment for the affair, announced yesterday a tentative program and list of awards. Several skits concerning campus affairs are expected to be presented and an effort is being made to have various members of athletic teams take part in the plays.

Graham to Speak

Dr. Frank P. Graham is scheduled to be the principal speaker for the affair. Harper Barnes, president of the student body, will preside over the evening's activities. Barnes has announced that in order to speed up the proceedings and leave more time for entertainment, the winners of awards will not come to the platform, but the names will simply be read out and the awards given later.

The awards to be given Thursday include the publication awards, scholarship awards, athletic awards, debate charms, Playmaker awards, band and Glee club prizes.

Several individual awards are on the schedule of prizes, including the Grail awards which are given to the outstanding scholar-athlete in each of the four major sports, freshman athletics, and intramural competition. Other awards from organizations to individuals are the D. K. E., Alpha Kappa Psi, and Delta Sigma Pi scholarship awards, and the Patterson Memorial award.

Last Meeting for A. I. C. E.

The student chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers will meet for the last time this year in Graham Memorial at 7:30 o'clock. Dr. A. M. White will give a short talk, after which the year's activities will be closed with the election of officers for next year.

PARSLEY SOUNDS PESSIMISTIC NOTE FOR NEW ANNUAL

Yackety Yack, to Be Released During Week-end, Called "Lousy" by Editor.

This year's publication of the "Yackety Yack", University year book, is "just better than rotten," Nutt Parsley, editor of the annual, stated yesterday. "In my opinion, it's lousy, but students are gullible and, we hope, sympathetic."

Barring hold-ups, the editor announced that the 1933 volume will be delivered to students just prior to examinations, which is the customary date of delivery. The publication is being printed in Raleigh.

Sounding another pessimistic note, Parsley stated that this number of the year book "would have more errors per square inch than any other issue on record, which for the 'Yackety Yack' is no mean accomplishment." He maintains, however, a Promethian determination that the book this year will lead to better annuals in the future, which, he continued, is what year book editors have been saying for years.

Obligations Failed

Charging that "certain musical organizations and individuals have failed to meet the matter fairly" by failing to pay immediate financial obligations, the editor stated that any delay in release of the annual will be due to "quibblings" over debts. Parsley indicated that it is incredible to the staff that in the face of tremendous financial difficulties and even sacrifices that those publishing the book should be put to such conditions. "Every possible effort is made by the staff to make student life permanent for the students," he asserted, "and cooperation in small matters is the least that can be expected."

A. B. Seniors Attention

All seniors in the college of Liberal arts are requested to present confirmations of the completion of major and minor credits which are required for graduation, at Dean A. W. Hobbs' office as soon as possible.

New Position Covers Work Formerly Done by Graduate Manager of Athletics.

NEW ASSISTANT ALSO BASKETBALL COACH

George E. (Bo) Shepard, assistant graduate manager and varsity basketball coach at the University, was last night promoted by the University Athletic council to a newly created position of Assistant Director of Athletics.

The council assigned to him and to R. A. Fetzer, director of athletics, the graduate manager's work formerly covered by Charles T. Woolen, whose recent election to the position of comptroller of the Greater University made it necessary for him to give up his work in athletics, in the management of which he had been identified for 23 years.

Native of Wilmington

A native of Wilmington and a member of the University class of 1929, Coach Shepard, who is 28 years of age, captained the freshman football team at Carolina in 1924 and the following year entered West Point where he won recognition as all-eastern guard in basketball.

Returning to Carolina in 1926 he helped coach the varsity five for a couple of seasons and was assistant to the graduate manager, but he first came into real prominence as a coach in 1931 when he stepped into

SPRING CAPER TO CLOSE ACTIVITIES OF DRAMA GROUP

Celebration Conducted for Playmakers and Connected Persons Is Annual Affair.

This Saturday night, in the Playmakers theatre, the Carolina Playmakers cut their Annual Caper. Every year, after working long and intensely on a full nine months' program of original plays, professional plays, a Forest theatre presentation, Sunday night readings, experimental and studio bills, the drama group caps the year with a night of exuberant and spontaneous fun.

This Caper is only for those who have been connected at any time with Playmaker activities, and includes an impromptu "mellowdrummer" entitled in part: "Our Little Nell, or Fate Intervenes, or Diamond in the Rough, or Angel of the Attic, or Fortune's Frolic" done by stock character types much in the fashion of Comedia dell'Arte.

The Caper Committee, composed of Ellen Stewart, Wilbur Dorsett, Bill Bonyun, and James McConaughy, asks that all interested Playmakers, new or old, submit their skits by Thursday. The best six or eight will be chosen for presentation. All those wishing to take part in the programs are also asked to notify the committee.

The program concludes with the awarding of Playmaker masks to those who have completed a sufficient amount of work, cakes and ale served in the Green Room, and dancing on the stage.
