

NEW REGULATIONS FOR FRATERNITY RUSHING POSTED

Boyle, Council President, Urges Lodge Men and Candidates To Study 1933 Rules.

Fraternity rushing rules for 1933 were published and posted Wednesday by the Interfraternity Council. Irvin Boyle, council president, has urged all fraternity men and freshmen to carefully study the regulations before the beginning of the actual rushing period Sunday.

A period of silence has been in effect since Monday during the week commonly known as "Freshmen Week" and will continue through tomorrow. Sunday will be devoted to visits of freshmen to the fraternities through invitation. Actual rushing will extend from Monday to midnight, October 7, a period of twelve days.

Give Bids October 9

A second period of silence will then be in order from midnight of the 7th to 6:00 o'clock on the afternoon of October 9. On the latter date bids will be tendered freshmen from the fraternities through the faculty advisor on fraternities and his assistants.

Fraternities will submit a list of those whom they wish to bid through the council secretary to the advisor on October 8, the first day of the second period of silence. The distribution of the bids to the freshmen will take place at a convenient spot which will be selected by the advisor and announced next week.

Freshmen Visit Sunday

Rushing on Sunday, September 24 (Continued on page five)

FEINSTEIN URGES STUDENT BACKING

Business Manager Wants Student Buyers to Support Advertisers in Tar Heel.

Marcus Feinstein, business manager of the DAILY TAR HEEL, announced yesterday that plans for the DAILY TAR HEEL advertising agency have been completed and are at present being placed in motion. The service is extended to local merchants and is managed by the business department of this publication.

Conceived last spring as a means of providing suitable advertising service for Chapel Hill and surrounding business houses, the agency has been hailed as a distinct innovation in the field of college publications.

"The success of the project," said Feinstein in explaining his plan, "depends largely on the student body's supporting firms which advertise in the paper. Without such co-operation elaborate measures for the improvement of the paper are incapable of realization."

"It is to the advantage of every student who is interested in Chapel Hill, the University, and the DAILY TAR HEEL to grant patronage to business establishments which have shown interest in the welfare of a major University activity."

"Stimulated interest in advertising will lead to a better paper containing many photographs, utilizing a press wire, and gaining swifter coverage of sporting events," believes Feinstein. "Once again, the whole project for servicing local firms"

(Continued on page five)

Tar Heel Begins Forty-First Year As Organ of Carolina Student Body

Started as Publication for Athletic Association, Paper Expanded Into Medium of University Activity and Campus Thought; Many Changes Have Taken Place During Publication.

Although the DAILY TAR HEEL, consumed its fortieth birthday cake last February, this first fall issue is considered the official opening of the publication's forty-first year. Through four decades the paper has passed through every journalistic form, ranging from a single sheet published weekly to the present format.

Founded in 1892 as the official organ of the Athletic Association, the paper weathered competition from a rival publication and carried on to a position of stability and influence on the campus. Despite the fact that a group interested primarily in sports had inaugurated the paper, the ever-expanding interests of the student body soon reduced athletics to a less prominent place in the DAILY TAR HEEL.

P. U. Board Established

Shortly after the paper had become a semi-weekly, there developed the present system of control. The Publications Union Board was devised to supervise the financial affairs of the Carolina publications, and direct choice of editors was granted the student when a compulsory fee was approved.

The DAILY TAR HEEL achieved national recognition under the regime of Jack Dungan, editor 1931-32. During his editorship the paper conducted symposiums on disarmament, prohibition, presidential campaigns, and university problems. He also introduced special features by Senator Royal S. Copeland, Katharine Cornell, Will Cuppy, Stephen Leacock, Ella Boole, and ex-Senator James Wadsworth.

The 1932 Tar Heel

The year in which Charles G. Rose, Jr., was editor proved less spectacular and less startling than the previous Dungan editorship. The paper concerned

(Continued on page five)

STUDENTS URGED TO TAKE T.B. TEST

Test for Tuberculosis Being Given in Universities and High Schools of Country.

Dr. W. R. Berryhill, the University physician, has announced that upperclassmen who so desire may take the tuberculin test which was made part of the freshman physical examination this year, in the infirmary up until tomorrow noon.

These tuberculin tests are part of the work of the North Carolina Sanatorium, and the work here is being supervised by Dr. P. P. McCain. The tests have been taken by most of the students at the Women's College of the University and by over 200,000 high school students in North Carolina. Most northern universities are now giving these tests to students who desire them. Yale and Harvard Universities have a high percentage of students who have had the test.

The tuberculin test is on practically the same principle as the Schick test for diphtheria. Less than 1-10cc. of the extract of dead tubercular germs are injected into the skin. At the end of 48 hours the examiner can determine by the appearance of the skin, whether the patient is immune from tuberculosis. If there is not immune from the disease, X-rays of the lungs will be taken to determine the exact condition of the patient.

Besides students, the faculty and members of their families, and all University employees are invited to be tested. Women students will be tested tonight in Spencer Hall from 6:45 to 7:30 o'clock.

"Y" Cabinet Meetings

The sophomore, junior, and senior "Y" cabinets will convene Monday night at 7:30 o'clock at their regular places in the "Y" building. The Freshman Friendship council, which was organized last Friday night at the Hi-Y banquet, will meet at the same time in Gerrard hall.

UNION PLANS FOR YEAR ANNOUNCED

Graham Memorial Is Opened With Freshman Reception; Other Events Scheduled.

The year's program for Graham Memorial, student union, was announced yesterday by Director Mayne Albright. The schedule was opened Tuesday evening with the freshman reception.

The next event this quarter will be in connection with University day, October 12. At this time the staff of Graham Memorial will act as host to the parents of the students at a luncheon which will be followed by a tour of the campus.

Throughout each quarter tournaments are on schedule in bowling, pool, and ping pong, and during the winter quarter intramural competition will open in each of these fields. Toward the end of forming intramural teams, each dormitory convenes for organization purposes in the union, at which time refreshments are served and entertainment provided.

Once each quarter the students and faculty are entertained at a tea. Music in the past has been furnished by Thor Johnson and his Carolina Salon Ensemble and Lamar Stringfield's trio.

There will be a series of regular radio programs which attained great popularity last year.

In addition to these scheduled activities, Graham Memorial maintains for the student body and others connected with the University, a game room which is open from noon until 10:00 o'clock every evening.

The board of directors appoints the director of Graham Memorial, who is usually intimately concerned in campus affairs, for a period of two years. Mayne Albright, the present director, is now serving his second year. The board, which will meet early next week, passed at a meeting last year a resolution which provides that members of the faculty and others connected with the University are eligible to membership.

The only radical difference in (Continued on page five)

ASSEMBLY THIS MORNING OPENS UNIVERSITY YEAR

No Special Program Planned for School Opening Due to Interfering Factors.

The first freshman assembly of the year, commencing this morning at 10:30 o'clock and lasting until 11:00 o'clock, will open the University year. The assembly will be conducted in Memorial hall.

Because of interfering factors there will be no special program for the opening, and the convocation in the hall will be merely the regular assembly with music and short talks.

R. B. House, executive secretary of the University, will make a short address to the new men.

Last year Kemp P. Lewis, the president of the Alumni association, was the principal speaker and welcomed the first year men on behalf of the alumni and impressed upon them the inheritance into which the new men were coming.

President Graham also made a welcoming address last year and explained to the new men the ideals of the University, and the standards which must be upheld.

Buccaneer Staff To Meet Tonight

There will be a short meeting of old members of the "Buccaneer" staff tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the office of the publication, 203 Graham Memorial.

Monday night at 8:30 o'clock in the same room there will be a gathering of old and new men. Candidates for positions on the staff are urged to be present. Previous experience is not necessary.

Editor Pete Ivey announced yesterday that the first issue of the year, the Football number, will be out October 15.

Boners and Bumpkins Scarce As Frosh Walk Initial Plank

Reception and Free Show Demonstrate Strength of the Class of 1937.

The high schools of the nation opened their capacious pouch last week-end and for better or worse deposited some six hundred freshmen on the Carolina campus.

Feeling not in the least inferior because they numbered a remarkably small group for this University, the yearlings took root with amazing rapidity. Twenty minutes after one gentleman had arrived from Connecticut he was confidentially advising a senior "to lay off Archibald Henderson's relativity course," because that's tough stuff.

A Room, A Bench, A Bed

Those from the north were a little surprised when they found only Aycock dorm open in the new quadrangle. Well-circulated tales of the exploits of the inmates of Lewis and Everett had whetted their appetites. Twenty sons or grandsons revealed in occupying their sires' rooms in Old East and Old West. As yet no freshman has applied for a room at President Graham's home as was done by a peculiar member of last year's entering class.

Harper Barnes drained down

Try-Outs for Daily Tar Heel Staff Set for This Afternoon

Music Head

Professor T. Smith McCorkle, who has just been appointed acting head of the University music department for the academic year 1933-34 to take over the duties of Professor Harold S. Dyer, resigned.

New "Y" Directory Nearing Completion

The 1933-34 edition of the Y. M. C. A. campus and town directory will be distributed within two weeks. A full list of University student, faculty, and employees, and Chapel Hill residents will be included.

Marcus Feinstein, business manager of the DAILY TAR HEEL, is managing the printing of the latest edition, and Phil Hammer is compiling the various lists of names included in the census.

Numerous changes have been noticed in town addresses, although they indicate residential street number differences rather than any actual loss of Chapel Hill population. It is expected that the town and campus population will be very near the same size as last year.

Men Desiring Positions in Various Departments to Meet in Office at 3:00 O'clock.

PLANS TO BE DISCUSSED

At try-outs in the office of the publication in Graham Memorial this afternoon, students interested in collegiate journalism will be given an opportunity to obtain positions in the various departments of the DAILY TAR HEEL editorial staff.

Old members of the staff who wish to continue work on the paper will gather at the office at 2:00 o'clock. There will be a discussion of plans for the year, and a reorganization of the departments will be made among old men.

Freshmen wishing to try out for positions on the reportorial staff will meet with the editor and the managing editor at 3:00 in the office, located at 205 Graham Memorial.

Style books will be issued to the new men, and plans for a reporters' "school" will be announced. This will be conducted by members of the city desk staff during next week, and freshmen will be quizzed on points outlined in the style book.

Although the try-outs today are being conducted mainly in order that freshmen may become acquainted with the operation of the paper, upperclassmen are urged to attend the meeting. Previous experience is not necessary.

Work on the DAILY TAR HEEL affords interested students an opportunity to gain experience (Continued on page eight)

MCCORKLE NEW HEAD OF MUSIC

Professors Earl A. Slocum and Grady Miller Also Appointed To Music Department.

Professor T. Smith McCorkle, who has been a member of the University faculty for the last eight years, has been appointed acting head of the University music department for the academic year 1933-34 and will take over for the year the duties of Professor Harold S. Dyer, who resigned recently. President Graham has named a faculty committee to survey the field and recommend a permanent head for the department.

Before coming here, Professor McCorkle, who is a native of Texas, was head of the music department in Kansas City University. He has won distinction as concert violinist and director of the University band and has had considerable experience as music educator.

Announcement has also been made by the President's office that Professor H. Grady Miller, head of the music department of the Greensboro public schools for the last eight years, and Professor Earl A. Slocum, supervisor of instrumental music in the Greensboro system for the last seven years, have been added to the music faculty of the University.

Professor Slocum will instruct in wind instruments, teach certain academic classes in music, and direct the University band and orchestra, while Professor Miller will teach voice and certain academic classes and direct (Continued on page eight)

(Continued on page four)

(Continued on page eight)

243949